FOREWORD

Progress in the field of mental health has accelerated rapidly during the past few years; this growth is expressed in an expansion of Federal and State programs as well as community facilities. At the State level, mental health organization is becoming more complex, with frequent consolidation of diverse programs into an overall State mental health structure, usually within the State Mental Health Authority.

An information and communication tool is needed by those concerned with planning, organizing, and administering mental health programs. This Mental Health Directory was compiled to meet this need for a ready source of information on programs, personnel, and facilities. It encompasses the major programs throughout the United States and lists over 2000 outpatient psychiatric clinics and day-night services.

Only through the combined efforts of many individuals could this Directory be compiled. Staff of the National Clearinghouse for Mental Health Information had primary responsibility for assembling the information, with the invaluable assistance of the mental health staff in the Regional Offices and the staff of the Office of Biometry.

INTRODUCTION

The Mental Health Directory 1966 is intended as a reference guide to mental health programs and services throughout the United States. It is organized into a Federal Section and a State and Community Section. Each of these Sections is preceded by an introductory statement concerning the listings in that Section. In addition, there is a listing of mental health associations and of other sources of mental health information.

This Directory was compiled by the staff of the National Clearinghouse for Mental Health Information with the assistance of the mental health staff in the Regional Offices and the State Mental Health Authorities. The Office of Biometry, National Institute of Mental Health, provided the information on out-patient clinics and day-night services.

Plans call for the issuance of an up-to-date Directory on an annual basis. It is anticipated that future directories will be expanded in coverage to include additional Federal, State, and local programs and services.

Comments about the present Directory and suggestions concerning future directories are welcome. Please address communications to:

FEDERAL SECTION

This section of the Directory provides information about the National Institute of Mental Health, the Federal agency responsible for planning, conducting, stimulating, supporting, and evaluating a national mental health program. The National Institute of Mental Health is one of the several Institutes of the National Institutes of Health, which is the principal research arm of the U.S. Public Health Service. The Public Health Service is organizationally an agency in the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. St. Elizabeths Hospital, a Federal Hospital for the mentally ill, is also within the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Other agencies within the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, as well as other departments within the Federal Government, have programs related to various aspects of mental health. Inasmuch as this Mental Health Directory is focused entirely on programs and services for mental health and mental retardation, detailed information on these many related programs was not assembled.

The information below provides a guide to the organizational structure of the National Institute of Mental Health and a listing of incumbents in the positions, including mental health staff in the nine Regional Offices of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

State and Community Section

This section provides a listing of the mental health programs and services within the States, Territories, District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. For each State (or other governmental component) the material is organized as follows:

State Mental Health Authority
Mental Health Programs in Other State Agencies
State Institutions for the Mentally Ill
State Institutions for the Mentally Retarded
Outpatient Psychiatric Clinics and Day-Night Services

STATE MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAMS.—There is great variation in the ways in which the States have organized their mental health programs. In order to present the material in this Directory in as consistent an arrangement as possible, it was decided to include only seven “core” mental health programs. These programs are:

Mental Health Programs: A broad range of community-based mental health services administered by the agency designated to receive Federal grants-in-aid authorized by the National Mental Health Act of 1946.

Community Mental Health Program: Central State-level responsibility for the administration of community-centered mental health programs for the mentally ill within the community.

Mental Hospitals: Central State-level responsibility for the administration of State hospitals for the mentally ill.

Mental Retardation Institutions: Central State-level responsibility for the administration of State institutions for the mentally retarded.

Mental Retardation Planning: A program for planning comprehensive State and community action to combat mental retardation, authorized by Title XVIII of the Social Security Act of 1963.

Mental Health Center Construction: A program for the development and construction of mental health centers, authorized by Title II of the Mental Retardation Facilities and Community Mental Health Centers Construction Act of 1963.

Hospital Facilities Construction: The Hill-Burton program for comprehensive hospital and related health facility planning authorized by the Hospital Survey and Construction Act of 1946.

These programs may be administered by the “State Mental Health Authority” or by other State agencies. The Directory, therefore, lists under the State Mental Health Authority the programs in that agency. It also lists any of these programs that are administered by other State agencies.

MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES.—State facilities for the treatment of the mentally ill and the mentally retarded are listed alphabetically under "State Institutions for the Mentally Ill" and "State Institutions for the Mentally Retarded."

Private mental hospitals, Veterans Administration Hospitals, and general hospitals with psychiatric services are not included. For all of the preceding information, every effort has been made to provide accurate and up-to-date information as of May 1966.

OUTPATIENT PSYCHIATRIC CLINICS AND DAY-NIGHT SERVICES.—These facilities are listed alphabetically by name within a city. The cities are also arranged alphabetically. Each clinic listing contains the following information:

Name, address, and telephone number as reported by the clinic.

Clinic auspices: where not indicated in the name of the clinic, auspices are specified after the address.

Geographic area served by clinic: county, metropolitan area, region, or other geographic restrictions usually observed in determining the eligibility of persons for clinic services.

Special groups, if any, to whom service may be limited, such as veterans, alcoholics, juvenile court cases, mental hospital patients in extramural care.

Age limitations, if any, in determining persons eligible for clinic service.

Information on outpatient psychiatric clinics and day-night services is based on data from a 1965 nationwide survey by the Office of Biometry, National Institute of Mental Health. Only those clinics that responded to the survey and satisfied the definition (see below) of an outpatient psychiatric clinic or psychiatric day-night service are included. The information on outpatient psychiatric clinics was reported as of April 1965; information on psychiatric day-night services was reported as of February 1965.

The definition of an "Outpatient Psychiatric Clinic" in this Directory is: "An administratively distinct governmental, other public, private or independent unit or part of such unit that provides outpatient mental health services and that has a position (filled or unfilled) for a psychiatrist who has regularly scheduled hours in the clinic and who assumes medical responsibility for all patients."

The definition of a "Psychiatric Day-Night Service" is: "A therapeutic facility for patients with mental or emotional illness or mental retardation who spend part of the day or night in a planned treatment program in the facility and in which a psychiatrist is present on a regularly scheduled basis who assumes medical responsibility for all patients."

Some clinics provide services at more than one location; all such branches of a clinic are listed in the Directory as separate clinics at their respective locations.

This section of the Directory is not to be regarded in any sense as an accredited list of outpatient psychiatric clinics or day-night services, and no endorsement of a particular facility is implied by including it.

It should be noted that not all States have listed all the categories of information described in the preceding paragraphs. Whenever there was no information for a given State in a given category, that category was omitted.

OTHER SOURCES OF MENTAL HEALTH INFORMATION

Additional information related to mental health programs and services is available from many other sources. The National Clearinghouse for Mental Health Information of the National Institute of Mental Health has been established to provide scientific and professional information on all aspects of mental health. Information about State and local mental health resources is often available from the State Mental Health Authority (see listing under each State), and the State mental health associations (see page 207).

A list of other published sources of mental health information is given below. This list does not include every mental health publication, but, rather, is a selected list of directories and other publications considered to be of interest to users of the Mental Health Directory.
