BACKGROUND

Enactment by the 84th Congress of the Rural Library Services Act of 1956 (Public Law 84-597) provided the first Nation-wide Federal support for public library services. In 1960 the law was extended for 5 years (Public Law 86-679), and amendments to the original law enacted in 1964 (Public Law 88-269) extended eligibility to urban areas and authorized use of Federal funds for construction of public library facilities.

Two years later, the law was again extended (Public Law 89-511). This enactment also made State library administrative agencies responsible for planning future library development, especially through interlibrary cooperation, and for providing specialized library services in each State. In 1967 certain technical amendments were enacted (Public Law 90-154).

The Library Services and Construction Act will expire on June 30, 1971. H.R. 19363 proposes to extend the act for 5 years, simplify its administration, and strengthen its contributions to State and community library programs. H.R. 19363 embodies many of the recommendations of the Administration.

LIBRARY NEEDS

Between 1970 and 1980, our student population, the heaviest users of libraries, will increase by 50 percent. In the coming decade, too, our population will increasingly be better educated, and a rising level of education will create greater demands on libraries as sources for self-enlightenment, reference, cultural enrichment, and vocational competence.

In addition, the needs of libraries to maintain and improve their collections will tax resources at local, State, and Federal levels. Keith Doms, Director of the Free Library of Philadelphia, noted in testimony before the Committee:

Americans were borrowing three million books daily from their public libraries in 1968. To meet the increasing needs of the 70's, public library collections must be increased substantially. For 1970, the estimated deficit is 357 million volumes, or slightly below 50 percent of recognized requirements (3.5 volumes per capita). While students use public libraries significantly, we are also talking here about millions of citizens engaged in purely self-educating endeavors.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE LIBRARY SERVICES AND CONSTRUCTION ACT

The record of the Library Services and Construction Act has been one of steady success since its inception. From Fiscal 1957 to Fiscal 1969, the Federal Government has committed $200 million to extending public library services to areas without adequate services. Some 45 millions books and other library materials have been purchased for this purpose from Federal funds matched by funds from local and State sources.

An estimated 85 million people have benefited in one way or another from library programs which have frequently used "outreach" services to bring the advantages of libraries to ghetto residents, migrant workers, and residents of isolated areas.

One Committee witness, Mrs. Margaret S. Warden, Trustee of the Great Falls Public Library in Great Falls, Montana, noted that:

Prior to 1956 and the passage of the Library Services Act, we [in Montana] had scattered municipal library service and a number of county libraries, but there were people who had no library at all. Almost 200,000 lived in counties where there were no libraries, or in rural areas not served by city libraries . . .

The Library Services Act and its successor, Library Services and Construction Act, have stimulated the development of public library service in Montana, the growth of the State library in strength, and fostered a spirit of genuine cooperation between libraries to make resources available to more people.

Since 1965, the first year that construction funds were authorized under Title II, approximately $140 million in Federal funds for new library construction has been provided, which has been matched by $343 million in State and local funds. These funds have aided about 1,565 new, enlarged and remodeled library facilities within reach of over 50 million people, some for the first time.

Title III of the Act provides for interlibrary cooperation—the creation and operation of library networks for sharing resources among a variety of libraries within localities, regions, States, and among States. During the first 3 years of Title III, $4,563,000 has been obligated to States for the program, which has resulted in the creation of 45 interlibrary networks and centers serving 904 libraries. Thirty-five Title III-supported telecommunications systems now connect 800 libraries; and 14 technical centers, available to 300 libraries, have been established.

Title IV of the Act, authorizes two different programs. Part A authorizes library materials and services for patients, inmates, and residents of State-operated or substantially State-supported institutions. By the end of Fiscal 1969, $4,189,000 in funds obligated under Title IV—A had brought library services to an estimated 300,000 people in 500 State institutions. Of these, 400 were correctional institutions, 65 were State hospitals, and 20 were residential schools. One of the major by-products of Part A were several State surveys carried out to assess library services in State institutions. Many of the States discovered shocking inadequacies in library resources at their major institutions, and have been prompted to take action to rectify some of these deplorable conditions.

Title IV—B has aided States and localities in serving an estimated 2 million physically handicapped, many of them blind or partially blind, who cannot use ordinary library materials and who would benefit from special materials, equipment and services. An estimated 70,000 handicapped people have already benefited from Title IV—B funds, which have been invested in a variety of programs, including added staff for regional libraries for the handicapped, better identification of potential users, and added library resources such as braille materials, books and periodicals in large print, records, tapes, "talking book" machines, and other specialized equipment such as book holders and page turners.

Local levels of government have traditionally been the main source of funds for public libraries. Library income from the States increased from 1.9 percent in 1940 to 8 percent in 1965. In the same year, a decade after enactment of the Rural Library Services Act, Federal support of State and local library service was estimated at 13 percent of the total.

Under Title I, State funds for library services have exceeded the Federal contribution by three to one; under Title II construction programs, State funds have exceeded Federal funds by a two-to-one margin, indicating the value of Federal seed money in encouraging other sources of support. The Committee regards the State contributions as an impressive record of support for one of the basic aims of the Act, a Federal-State partnership.

1 Preliminary report.

2 Not required.

3 Fiscal years 1967 and 1968, 100 percent Federal funding.

Useful and economical as the library services supported and expanded under this Act have been, much still remains to be done. Public library income this year is expected to be $450 million short of the level of $5 per capita recommended by the American Library Association. Enactment and full funding of H.R. 19363 can assure no more than half the construction of public library facilities known to be needed. For lack of funds, less than half the institutions either operated or substantially supported by States which are eligible for assistance under this Act actually receive it. Only half the physically handicapped persons who need library service and are eligible for indirect aid under this statute can be assisted at the current level of funding.

MAJOR PROVISIONS OF THE BILL

Simplified administration

Under the existing Act, State plans must be submitted for each of five categorical programs and separate accounts must be kept for each of the five allocations for these programs. In addition, three advisory councils must be appointed in each State. The Committee is concerned that these requirements place a heavy administrative burden on State library agencies.

One of the basic purposes of H.R. 19363 is to simplify and streamline the administration of library programs. To that end the bill provides that each State must annually submit for approval a single basic State plan. This basic State plan would apply to all titles of the Act, thereby eliminating any repetition or duplication. It would contain necessary assurances regarding the legal, administrative, and fiscal responsibilities of the State in administering library programs. It would also set forth the criteria to be used in approving applications and allocating funds, including those designed to ensure that priority would be given to projects in urban and rural low-income areas.

Because the Committee feels that long-range planning for library services promotes the most advantageous use of Federal library assistance, the bill requires that each State also submit a "long-range program." This planning document would explain how Library Services and Construction Act funds would be used over a 3 to 5 year period to carry out a long-range program of library services. It would be developed in consultation with the Office of Education. This program will not have to be approved but it will be submitted.

In addition, States are to submit an "annual program," for each title, each year. These will consist mainly of a description of projects to be funded each year. It is the Committee's intention that the basic State plan and annual and long-range programs may be submitted as a single document, if the Commissioner determines this would streamline the submissions.

With these provisions to simplify the applications and approval process, State personnel will be freed to devote more time and energy to administering the library program.

Evaluation

H.R. 19363 authorizes an appropriation of such sums as may be necessary for the evaluation of Library Services and Construction Act programs. Present law contains no specific provision for evaluating the impact of programs carried out under the Act. As a result, to date evaluation activities have been inadequate.

Evaluation on a national level has been hampered by the lack of funds available under the Act for use in evaluating library programs. State reports on the impact of programs have, on the whole, not been adequate for identifying and disseminating successful approaches.

The Committee feels strongly that adequate evaluation and dissemination—on the national as well as State and local level—are critical to the improvement and ultimate success of library programs authorized by the Library Services and Construction Act.

Those concerned with bettering library services at all levels—local, State, and Federal—need to know more about what approaches for improving services have been successful under what conditions. This kind of information has not been available under the operation of the existing Library Services and Construction Act.

The Committee has therefore added a specific authorization for evaluation funds. It intends that these funds be used by the Secretary solely for evaluating programs carried out under the Library Services and Construction Act. This does not mean that evaluation activities should be limited to those undertaken with funds appropriated under this special authorization. The Committee expects States and localities to strengthen their own efforts, using funds provided under the regular authority, to evaluate their efforts and improve them accordingly. It is the need for an overall evaluation effort, that has persuaded the Committee to add a separate funding authority for a continuing evaluation of library services.

Public library services—Title I

For grants to States for library services, the bill authorizes an appropriation of $112 million for fiscal year 1972; $117.6 million for fiscal year 1973; $123.5 million for fiscal year 1974; $129.7 million for fiscal year 1975; and $137.1 million for fiscal year 1976.

The minimum annual State allotment which must be matched (except by the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands) would be raised by the bill to $200,000 for each State, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia and $40,000 each for Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands. Allotment of the remainder would be on the basis of population.

Title I funds are used for extending public library services to geographical areas and population groups without access to library services and for the purpose of improving public library services where these are inadequate.

Also Title I library services funds would now be available for establishing, continuing or expanding library services in institutions operated or substantially supported by States, such as residential schools, reformatories, hospitals, and training institutions. Previously this authority was contained in Title IV of the Act.

Services for the physically handicapped, formerly under Title IV-B of the Act, have also been consolidated into Title I. Keith Doms, in his testimony before the Committee noted:

Additional materials are needed for the physically handicapped. National estimates are that there will be 2,250,000 of these persons by fiscal 1971. They need talking books, braille books, page turners, and other special materials for reading. With the fiscal 1971 budget recommendation, only 70,000 of these people can be served.

The Committee recognizes the importance of library resources to broaden the horizons of those who may be immobilized or suffering from physical disabilities. Accordingly, the Committee attaches great significance to this section of the bill.

Under H.R. 19363 explicit authority for library service programs for the disadvantaged is provided for the first time. The Committee believes that libraries can play a key role in determining whether the disadvantaged child or adult can acquire the motivation and knowledge to escape the often confining existence of the urban ghetto or of isolated rural areas and to improve his prospects for a secure future.

Alexander Allain, Trustee of the St. Mary's Parish County Library in Franklin, Louisiana, said in his testimony before the Committee:

Placing priority on special programs to meet the needs of disadvantaged persons in both rural and urban areas is of particular importance in this complex age, when basic reading ability and access to current information is vital to job security. Equality of man presupposes the right to equal treatment, but is meaningless unless man has access to equal knowledge. Yet this access is too often determined by circumstances over which he has no control. This new priority authorized in the proposed legislation is an acknowledgement of these needs and hopefully the beginning of an attempt to fill them.

The Committee is in agreement with the thrust of Mr. Allain's remarks, and feels that the new authority in the bill accords recognition to the need for library services for the disadvantaged.

Indeed, the new bill requires that the basic state plans to be submitted annually specifically outline the criteria designed to assure that priority will be given to programs or projects which serve urban and rural areas with high concentrations of low income families.

In an article in the November 1, 1969 issue of Library Journal, Ervin J. Gaines, Director of the Minneapolis Public Library, noted:

In 12 years in two city libraries, I have seen almost every budget year produce a budget fight to prevent disaster from overtaking the library. I think the experience is not uncommon. Only the most extraordinary efforts keep most urban libraries from going under. Libraries seldom thrive; they survive. Periods of calm and prosperity are rare for urban public libraries in the richest nation in the world.

The predominant reason for the fiscal crisis in the metropolitan library is the migration of affluent city dwellers to the suburbs, a movement which shrinks the tax base and affects the outlay for public services. At the same time, the suburbanite continues to use the library without contributing to its support.

Carlton Rochell, Director of the Public Library of Atlanta, told the Committee:

The Atlanta City Library is an island in a sea of suburbia, maintaining the only in-depth collection of public library materials for an area of almost one and a half million people. Over one-third of the use of Central Library collections is by nonresidents or, in more specific terms, by people who do not help support the collections. At the present level of funding, the State Library is so overextended in the maintenance of a regional library system in the state that, without new money coming into the city, we see no way of alleviating this situation.

The testimony of Mr. Rochell and other witnesses indicated clearly that Federal support tends to reimburse the central city libraries for their use by suburban residents. Accordingly H.R. 19363 accords a priority to programs designed to strengthen metropolitan public libraries.

In addition, the Committee believes that describing the urban library as a "regional resource center," as the bill does, serves to emphasize its role as a repository of materials for areas that lie outside the city boundaries.

Public library construction—Title II

For grants to the States for public library construction, the bill authorizes appropriation of $80 million for fiscal year 1972; $84 million for fiscal year 1973; $88 million for fiscal year 1974; $92.5 million for fiscal year 1975; and $97 million for fiscal year 1976.

The basic allotment would be raised to $100,000 for each State, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia and would remain at $20,000 each for American Samoa, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, Guam and the Virgin Islands. The amounts appropriated would be available in the fiscal year in which they were appropriated and the following fiscal year.

These grants, which must be fully matched by State and local funds, would be available for construction of new public library buildings and for acquisition, expansion, remodeling or alteration of existing buildings. At present, applications for more than 270 construction projects, involving a total of more than $51 million in Federal funds, are awaiting extension of the Act.

Library representatives appearing before the Committee related how the recent cutbacks in Federal support had adversely affected library construction in their respective areas.

For example, Roger McDonough of New Jersey told the Committee:

The most disappointing factor in Federal support to public libraries has been the recent reduction in funds under Title II construction . . . During the first four years of Title II, an average of approximately 15 libraries per year were constructed in New Jersey. . . . Last year, we got only $200,000 and were able to fund only two libraries.

The Committee regards the authorization levels requested in the new bill for library construction as extremely modest, and realizes that library construction needs far outdistance the specified levels. But the Committee also believes that they reflect a realistic goal for Federal contributions to library construction for the immediate future.

Interlibrary cooperation Title III

For grants to the States for interlibrary cooperation, the bill authorizes $15 million for fiscal year 1972; $15.7 million for fiscal year 1973; $16.5 million for fiscal year 1974; $17.3 million for fiscal year 1975; and $18.2 million for fiscal year 1976. The basic allotment would be $40,000 for each State, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia and $10,000 each for Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

These allotments may be used to pay the full cost of planning, developing and operating local, regional, and interstate cooperative networks of libraries. Cooperative networks involve the systematic and effective coordination of the resources of school, public, academic, and special libraries and information centers. One of the results of coordination is improved service for the users of each of the cooperating libraries and information centers.

The importance of Title III cannot be overstated. Interlibrary cooperation is the key to surmounting many of the problems presently facing libraries—the shortages in library collections, the isolation of rural libraries, the movement of Americans to the suburbs in greater numbers with an attendant increase on the resources of suburban libraries. A pooling of resources by libraries to provide quality services to a wide variety of people covering broad geographical areas is the logical answer to many of these problems.

Because the Committee recognizes the value of Title III, it changed the present law, which requires 50% matching from local sources under programs of interlibrary cooperation, to enable the Federal government to provide the full 100% in funds to support these programs.

The Committee also recognizes the difficulty of raising matching funds from groups of libraries working together, and it heeded the words of Carlton Rochelle of Atlanta, who said, "When we get into the business of anteing up matching proportions of funds through various types of libraries, it becomes almost an impossible situation."

The Committee believes that increasing the Federal share from 50% to 100% will improve the administration and expand the impact of Title III programs.

Amendment to the Adult Education Act

Public Law 91-230 enacted in April of this year amended the Adult Education Act so as to change the formula for the allocation of funds among the states. Under the old formula, each state was provided a basic allotment of $100,000 with the remainder allocated among the states according to the relative number of persons aged 16 years and over with less than a sixth grade education.

The new formula provides each state with a $150,000 basic allotment with the remainder allocated on the basis of the relative numbers of persons 16 years and over with less than a high school education.

Under the terms of Public Law 91-230, the change in the formula became effective with respect to the FY 1971 appropriation. During the early months of FY 1971, while awaiting the final enactment of the FY 1971 appropriation measure, the Office of Education administered programs under authority of a continuing resolution.

With respect to the adult basic education program, this meant using state allotment figures based on the old formula. The states therefore were a quarter into the fiscal year operating on the basis of a formula no longer in effect.

The change in the allocation as provided by PL 91-230 results in the loss this year of a substantial share of last year's allocation in a number of states. Seventeen states will be subjected to substantial cuts which had not been anticipated. Several will have to cut the scope of their adult basic education program in half.

The new formula will force numerous states to revise drastically program operations well underway. It is the Committee's belief that this sudden loss of substantial moneys in a number of states was not intended by the Congress in PL 91-230. An amendment has therefore been adopted which is designed to postpone the effective date of the formula change.

Under the Committee bill, the new formula would not be operative until FY 1972, thus allowing the states to proceed as they have been until the end of the current fiscal year. With this postponement, states will have an opportunity to plan accordingly and not be forced to take unexpected cuts in program operations.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

Section 1.—Title

This section stated that the Act may be cited as the "Library Services and Construction Amendments of 1970".

Section 2.—Purpose; Amendment to the Library Services and Construction Act

This section states the purpose of the amendments and revises the Library Services and Construction Act.

PURPOSE

Section 2(a) states that it is the purpose of the amendatory Act to improve the administration, implementation, and purposes of the programs authorized by the Library Services and Construction Act (hereinafter in this analysis referred to as the "Act") by—

- (1) lessening the administrative burden upon the States through a reduction in the number of State plans which must be submitted and approved annually under the Act;
- (2) affording the States greater flexibility in the allocation of funds among the various purposes of the Act to meet specific needs of the people of the States for library services; and
- (3) providing for—
 - (A) special programs to meet the needs of disadvantaged persons (in both urban and rural areas) for library services, and
 - (B) strengthening the capacity of State library administrative agencies for meeting the needs of all the people of the States.

AMENDMENTS TO THE LIBRARY SERVICES AND CONSTRUCTION ACT

Section 2(b) amends the Act by striking out all that follows the first section thereof, and inserting in lieu of the struck out sections a new text. The reorganized Act contains seven sections of general provisions followed by three titles which authorize three types of library activities. As revised, the Act provides:

Section 2(a) of the Act (Declaration of Policy) states that it is the purpose of the Act to assist the States in extending and improving public library services in areas of the States which are without such services, and in which such services are inadequate, in public library construction, in strengthening State library administrative agencies, in promoting interlibrary cooperation, and in improving other State library services, such as library services for the physically handicapped and institutionalized and disadvantaged persons.

Section 2(b) reserves initiative and responsibility in the conduct of library services, including the selection of books, materials, and personnel and the determination of the uses of the funds, to the States and their local subdivisions.

Section 3 (Definitions) contains definitions for the Library Services and Construction Act.

(1) The term "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Education.

(2) The term "construction" includes construction of a new building and the acquisition, expansion, remodeling, and alteration of existing buildings, and the initial equipment of such building, or other related activities (including architects' fees and the cost of land acquisition). The term "equipment" means, for the purposes of this definition, all items necessary to function as a facility providing library services, which may include machinery, utilities, and built-in equipment and enclosures or structures necessary to house them.

(3) The term "library service" means the performance of library activities relating to the collection and organization of library materials, and making such library materials and information available available to a clientele.

(4) The term "library services to the physically handicapped" means providing library services, through public or nonprofit libraries, agencies, or organizations, to physically handicapped persons who have been certified by competent authorities as unable to read or use conventional printed materials as a result of physical limitations.

(5) The term "public library" means a library that serves, free of charge, all residents of a community, district, or region and is supported in whole or in part by public funds.

(6) The term "public library services" means library services furnished by a public library.

(7) The term "State" includes a State, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, or the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

(8) The term "State Advisory Council on Libraries" means an advisory council provided for under clause 3 of section 6(a) of the Act, which sets forth the requirements for participation under the Act. As defined in paragraph (8), the State advisory council on libraries shall—

(a) be broadly representative of public, school, academic, special, and institutional libraries, and libraries serving the handicapped, and of persons using such libraries, including disadvantaged persons within the State;

(b) advise the State library administrative agency on the development and administration of the State plan; and

(c) assist the State library administrative agency in the evaluation of activities assisted under this Act.

(9) The term "State institutional library services" means the providing of books and other library materials, and of library services to those persons confined to or residing in penal institutions, reformatories, residential training schools, orphanages, or general or special institutions or hospitals operated or substantially supported by the State, and students in residential schools for the physically handicapped operated or substantially supported by the State.

(10) The term "State library administrative agency" means the official agency of a State charged by the law of that State with the extension and development of public library services, and which has adequate authority under the law of the State to administer State plans in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(11) "Basic State plan" means the document which gives assurances that the officially designated State library administrative agency has the fiscal and legal authority and capability to administer all aspects of this Act; provides assurances for establishing the State's policies, priorities, criteria and procedures necessary to the implementation of all programs under provisions of this Act; and submits copies for approval as required by regulations promulgated by the Commissioner.

(12) "Long-range program" means the comprehensive 5-year program which identifies a State's library needs and sets forth the activities to be taken toward meeting the identified needs supported with the assistance of Federal funds made available under this Act. Such long-range programs shall be developed by the State library administrative agency and shall specify the State's policies, criteria, priorities and procedures consistent with the Act as required by the regulations promulgated by the Commissioner and shall be updated as library progress requires.

(13) "Annual program" means the projects which are developed and submitted to describe the specific activities to be carried out annually toward achieving fulfillment of the long-range program. These annual programs shall be submitted in such detail as required by regulations promulgated by the Commissioner.

Section 4(b) provides that any funds appropriated under paragraph (2) of such section 4(a) of the Act shall remain available for expenditure for the year specified in the appropriation Act and for the next succeeding year. Funds appropriated under paragraph (1) or (3) thereof shall remain available for expenditure for the period specified in the appropriation Act.

Section 5 of the Act (Allotment to States) allots sums appropriated among the States.

Section 5(a) requires that the Commissioner shall allot a minimum allotment to each State and any sums remaining after such allotments shall be allotted according to the ratio of the population of the State to the population of all the States.

Paragraph (3) of such section 5(a) defines minimum allotment.

(A) The minimum allotment for the purposes of title I shall be $200,000 for each State, excepting Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, to each of which $40,000 shall be allotted.

(B) The minimum allotment for the purposes of title II shall be $100,000 for each State, excepting Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands to each of which $20,000 shall be allotted.

(C) The minimum allotment for the purposes of title III shall be $40,000 for each State, excepting Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands to each of which $10,000 shall be allotted.

If the sums appropriated under paragraph (1), (2), or (3) of section 4(a) for any fiscal year are insufficient to fully satisfy the aggregate of the minimum allotments for that purpose, each of such minimum allotments shall be ratably reduced.

Paragraph (4) of such section 5(a) states that the Commissioner shall determine the State population on the basis of the most recent satisfactory data available.

Paragraph (5) of section 5(a) authorized such sums as may be necessary each year for evaluation (either directly or through grants or contracts) of programs carried on under the Act.

Section 5(b) states that sums allotted to each State under section (a) which the Commissioner deems will not be required for the period and purpose for which such allotment is available for carrying out the State plan pursuant to section 6 of the Act, shall be available for the reallocation at such times as the Commissioner shall fix. Such amounts shall be available for reallocation to other States in proportion to the original allotment prescribed under subsection (a), except that no State will be eligible to receive more than it needs and will be able to use.

Section 6 (State Plans and Programs) sets forth requirements for State plans for participation in programs authorized under the Act. Any State desiring to receive its allotment for any purpose of the Act for any fiscal year shall (1) have in effect a basic State plan, as defined under section 3(1), (2) submit an annual program, stating the purposes for which allotments are desired, which shall include a long-range program for the purpose of carrying out programs set forth in the Act, and (3) establish a State Advisory Council on Libraries pursuant to section 3(8) of the Act.

Section 6(b) states that a basic State plan shall:

(1) provide for the administration, or supervision of the administration of the program authorized by the Act by the State library administrative agency;

(2) provide that any funds paid to the State for an approved long-range program shall be expended solely for the purposes for which funds have been authorized and appropriated, and that such fiscal controls and accounting procedures have been adopted as are necessary to assure proper disbursement of, and accounting for, Federal funds paid to the State under the Act, which includes any funds paid by the State to any other agency;

(3) provide satisfactory assurance that the State agency administering the plan will report to the Commissioner, containing such information as the Commissioner may require to carry out his functions under the Act, and determine and evaluate the effectiveness of funds provided under the Act in carrying out the purposes of the Act;

(4) set forth the criteria to be used in determining the adequacy of public library services in geographical areas and for groups of persons in the State, including criteria designed to assure that priority will be given to programs or projects which serve urban and rural areas with high concentrations of low income families.

Such programs shall be made public as they are finally adopted.

Section 6(c) sets forth the conditions for approval of any basic State plan.

Clause (A) of such subsection (c)(1) states that the plan must fulfill the conditions specified in section 3(11) and (b) of this section and the appropriate title of the Act.

Clause (B) of such subsection (c)(1) states that the Commissioner must make specific findings as to the compliance of such plan with the requirements of the Act and be satisfied that adequate procedures are set forth therein to insure that any assurances and provisions of such plan will be carried out.

Paragraph (2) of such subsection (c) states that the State plan shall be made public upon approval.

Paragraph (3) of such subsection (c) states that the Commissioner shall not finally disapprove any plan submitted pursuant to subsection (a), or any modification thereof, without affording the State reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing.

Section 6(d) sets forth the requirements for the State long-range program. Such program shall be developed in consultation with the Commissioner and shall—

(1) set forth a program under which the funds received by the State will be used to carry out a long-range program of library services and construction for a period of not less than 3 years nor more than 5 years;

(2) be annually reviewed and revised in accordance with changing needs for assistance under the Act and the results of the evaluation and surveys of State library administrative agencies;

(3) set forth policies and procedures for the periodic evaluation of the effectiveness of, and for appropriate dissemination of the results of such evaluations and other information which pertain to, programs and projects supported by the Act; and

(4) set forth effective policies and procedures for the coordination of programs and projects supported under the State plan with library programs and projects operated by institutions of higher education or local elementary or secondary schools and with other public or private library services programs.

Section 6(e) provides that whenever the Commissioner, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the State agency administering a program under the Act, finds that such program has been so changed that it no longer complies with the provisions of the Act, or that the administration of the program fails to comply substantially with any such provisions contained in the basic plan, then, until he is so satisfied that there is no longer any such failure, after appropriate notice to such State agency, he shall make no further payments to the State under the Act or shall limit payments to programs or projects under the State plan which are not affected by the failure, or shall require that payments by such State agency under the Act shall be limited to local or other public library agencies not affected by the failure.

Section 6(f) states that any State, if dissatisfied with the Commissioner's final action with respect to the approval of a plan submitted under the Act or with his final action under subsection (e), may file, within 60 days after notice of such action, with the U.S. court of appeals for the circuit in which such State is located a petition for review of that action. A copy of the petition shall be transmitted by the clerk of the court to the Commissioner, and the Commissioner shall file in the court the record of the proceedings on which he based his action as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code.

Paragraph (2) of such subsection (f) provides that the findings of the Commissioner shall be conclusive, if supported by substantial evidence; but the court, for good cause shown, may remand the case to the Commissioner to take further evidence, and the Commissioner may take new or modified findings of fact and may modify his previous action, and shall certify to the court the record of further proceedings.

Paragraph (3) of such subsection (f) provides that the court shall have the jurisdiction to affirm or to set aside, in whole or in part, the action of the Commissioner. The judgment of the court shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States upon certiorari or certification as provided in section 1254 of title 28, United States Code.

Section 7 (Payments to States) provides the rate of payments to States from the allotments available under section 5 from the appropriations pursuant to paragraph (1), (2), or (3) of section 4(a).

Section 7(a) states that the Commissioner shall pay to each State which has a basis State plan approved under section 6(a)(1), an annual program and a long-range program as defined in sections 3(12) and (13) an amount equal to the Federal share of the total sums expended by the State and its political subdivisions in carrying out such plan. Before payments shall be made from appropriations pursuant to paragraph (1) for the purposes of library services to any State (other than the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands) for any fiscal year, the Commissioner shall determine that there will be available for expenditure under the plan from State and local sources, (1) sums sufficient to enable the State to receive not less than its minimum allotment, and (2) not less than the total amount actually expended, for the purposes of such plan, in the second preceding fiscal year.

Section 7(b) provides that the "Federal share," for the purposes of this section, for any State shall be, unless provided otherwise in title III, 100 per centum less the State percentage, and the State percentage shall be that percentage which bears the same ratio to 50 per centum as the per capita income of such State bears to the per capita income of all the States (excluding Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands). The Federal share shall in no case be more than 66 per centum, or less than 33 per centum. The Federal share for Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, and the Virgin Islands shall be 66 per centum and the Federal share for the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands shall be 100 per centum.

Paragraph (2) of subsection (b) requires the Commissioner to promulgate the "Federal share" for each State within 60 days after the beginning of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971, and of every second fiscal year thereafter. Such promulgation shall be based on the basis of the average per capita incomes of each of the States and of all the States (excluding Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands), for the three most recent consecutive years for which satisfactory data are available from the Department of Commerce, and shall be conclusive for each of the 2 fiscal years beginning after the promulgation.

(2) follow the criteria, policies, and procedures for the approval of applications for the construction of public library facilities under the program set forth in clause (1);

Subsection (a) amends section 305(a) of that Act to provide that, for the fiscal years 1970 and 1971, funds available for purposes of section 304(b) will continue to be allotted in the same manner as such funds were allotted for the fiscal year 1969. Thereafter such funds will be allotted in the manner presently provided in section 305(a). Subsection (b) amends section 312(b) of the Act to provide that the provision of existing law limiting to 5 percent of appropriations, the amount which may be used for State plan administration and development, shall not be applicable for the fiscal years 1970 and 1971, but that the amount which may be so used shall be subject to limitations of the Commissioner.

The Commissioner thereupon shall file in the court the record of the proceedings on which he based his action as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code.

(2) The findings of fact by the Commissioner, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive; but the court, for good cause shown, may remand the case to the Commissioner to take further evidence, and the Commissioner may thereupon take new or modified findings of fact and may modify his previous action, and shall certify to the court the record of further proceedings.

(3) The court shall have jurisdiction to affirm the action of the Commissioner or to set it aside, in whole or in part. The judgment of the court shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States upon certiorari or certification as provided in section 1254 of title 28, United States Code.
