LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Baton Rouge, La.
November 10, 1969

Honorable James M. Menefee, Commissioner
Louisiana Department of Conservation
Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70804

Dear Commissioner Menefee:

The Louisiana Geological Survey is publishing as Anthropological Study No. 4, "A Bibliography Relative to Indians of the State of Louisiana", by Robert W. Neuman, Curator of Anthropology, Louisiana State University, and Mrs. Lanier A. Simmons, Associate, Louisiana Archaeological Survey, Louisiana State University. It contains 456 entries, most of which are annotated. These published and unpublished references date from 1752 to 1969 and relate to the historic as well as to the prehistoric record.

The Archaeological program at Louisiana State University, after many years of inactivity has been reactivated and it is expected that more articles will be submitted for publication. This bibliography will be especially helpful to anthropology workers in the State and is an important contribution to the literature.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUISIANA GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

LEO W. HOUGH
State Geologist

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The authors wish to express their gratitude to William G. Haag and Miles E. Richardson of the Department of Geography and Anthropology, Louisiana State University. These gentlemen supplied a large number of the references appearing in this bibliography. They also render their sincere appreciation to Marguarette E. Pousson and Maria Teresa P. Aguirre who patiently managed the typing task from the first draft to the completed manuscript.

A BIBLIOGRAPHY RELATIVE TO INDIANS OF THE STATE OF LOUISIANA

Introduction

Most of the historic Indian tribes which once inhabited the area now constituting the State of Louisiana have long since been removed to other regions or have become extinct. Consequently, over the years there has developed a popular unawareness regarding the Indians and their contributions and influences upon the historical development of our State. Furthermore, one might add that there is even a greater lack of general knowledge respecting the numerous and divers prehistoric Indian cultures, the remains of which constitute an astonishing archaeological record dating back as far as ten thousand years ago.

Conversely, it is obvious that interest and research regarding the Indian cultures have experienced a tremendous spurt in recent years. As Curator of Anthropology, at Louisiana State University, the senior author of this article is sincerely rewarded by the continuous chain of inquiries and scientific endeavors that are brought to his office. In fact, it was this very quest for information, bearing upon the Indians of Louisiana, that lead to the compilation of the bibliography. Herein are presented 456 entries, most of which are annotated. These published and manuscript references date from 1752 to 1969 and they relate to the prehistoric as well as to the historic record.
