WHICH NUTRITION BOOKS
TO BUY
OR READ?

Choosing a reliable book on nutrition is difficult because many people write about food. We do not recommend the fad books because they often misinterpret scientific knowledge or even distort scientific statements for profit, thereby actually giving us false information. You may not realize that these books may present information which can be dangerous to health. Here are some questions to answer in order to select wisely from the flood of books published about food and nutrition.

ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS:

- _____ Who is the author?
- ... Does he have a background of education in nutrition from a college or university?
  - ... Is he associated with a responsible organization?
  - ... Is he presently teaching or doing research or other work in the field of nutrition?
- _____ What do official agencies say about the book?
- ... Nutritionists at the Nutrition Branch, Hawaii State Department of Health. Tel. 548-6553.
  - ... Nutritionists at the University of Hawaii:
    - Dept. of Food and Nutritional Sciences. Tel. 944-8236.
    - School of Public Health. Tel. 944-8577.
    - Cooperative Extension Service. Tel. 944-8205.
- _____ What do professional organizations say about the book?
- ... The American Dietetic Association.
  - ... The American Medical Association.
  - ... The American Public Health Association.

In this booklet we have listed books, pamphlets, and films which we feel give sound information on nutrition. We have added some resources for you to call or write for additional information.
