ABSTRACT

An attempt to meet the need for resource materials available for Adult Basic Education (ABE) personnel who work with Spanish-speaking adults is presented. The information presented was acquired by writing to commercial publishers throughout the country. Evaluations included were completed by identifying the usefulness of the curricular offerings for Spanish-speaking adults. Portions of the evaluations are designed for children and junior and senior high school students; some of these have proven useful to adults. Evaluative criteria used when the materials were assessed include: Title, Author, Publisher, Objectives, Criterion Measures, Instructional Components, Learner Prerequisite, Teacher Requirements, Reliability Effect, Cost and Time. INTRODUCTION

There has been, and is now, a need for resource materials available for Adult Basic Education personnel who work with Spanish speaking adults. This three-volume document has been prepared to meet that need.

Teachers, aides, and administrators should be able to make good use of this publication. The original curriculum documents reviewed for this publication were evaluated by qualified, objective ABE instructors who work continually with a Spanish speaking population that includes students at levels One, Two, Three and GED.

This document is likely to be controversial since there is considerable divergence of opinion between the assessments made by the teachers and the promotional literature which has, in some cases, been produced by commercial publishers.

Certainly, the reader can determine for himself the importance, effectiveness and accuracy of the evaluations in this document when he compares the source materials.

The information was acquired by writing to commercial publishers throughout the country. In turn, they gave or loaned those materials they had available for Adult Basic Education students.

The evaluations included in this publication were completed by identifying the usefulness of the curricular offerings for Spanish speaking adults.

A portion of the evaluations in this publication are designed for children and junior and senior high school students. Some of these have proven useful to adults.

The reader, in identifying and determining relevant material to meet specific needs, should give careful attention to the evaluative criteria used when the materials were assessed.

Those criteria include:

Title, Author, Publisher

Objectives

Criterion Measures

Instructional Components

Learner Prerequisite

Teacher Requirements

Comments and Evaluation

This is part of a general education curriculum designed for the Job Corp. It is attractive and well done covering the fields of Language and Communication, Social Science, Natural Science and Mathematics. Literature includes 6 books with 13 lessons dealing with feeling, character, style and interpretation. It could be a very helpful resource for G.E.D.

Comments and Evaluation
 72 individual Pilot books are offered at each level 4-6-8. Attractive format makes this appealing, but the average student is not going to read this much, even in all the variation of fields--drama, biography, fiction, etc. Doubtful use in ABE.

Comments and Evaluation

This evaluation must be adapted because this instrument is designed for ABE materials for students rather than teacher-training. However, this is an excellent manual for helping those who plan to teach adults get a sound philosophical approach to working with adults. It has a fine plan and format to make teachers more aware.

Buying and Caring for Your Car. K. S. Hughes. 1966.
Financing, credit, protection, safety, and care are discussed simply and well.

How to Order from a Catalog. K. S. Hughes. 1967.
A fine, simple guide to catalog ordering, discussing quality, quantity, postage, taxes and all the detail of how to order with accuracy. Excellent illustrations.

Be a Safe Driver. K. S. Hughes. 1966.
An excellent manual for safe driving with clear, simple illustrations.

Driver Education. Nina Jeffrey, 1965.
A very fine manual to help the under-educated adult drive with knowledge and safety.

How to Use the Telephone. K. S. Hughes, 1965.
A simple, clear guide on the specifics of how to use the telephone in an urban community designed for the Indian American who is not familiar with a dial phone.

A Good Home for Your Family. Nina Jeffery, 1966.
A simple guide stressing care of household equipment and the need for appropriate toilet facilities and good clean water. It does not belittle the Indian Pueblo or hogan, yet tries to give helpful hints about using a more modern house if one is acquired.

Table Manners. K. S. Hughes, 1966.
This is a simple guide to the more widely used table manners of the urban community and restaurant. It is an effort to give guidance to the Indian American who is moving into the urban community. It is a bit middle class oriented, but it in no way belittles Indian customs. In fact, it discusses eating customs in other countries.

Comments and Evaluation
 A fascinating series of highly illustrated pamphlets dealing with every aspect of English. Although there might be situations where a class would profit from the chance for each student to use a copy, the biggest use is for the teacher to use these to project on an opaque machine or to make into transparencies for an overhead. The illustrations are clever with diagrammed clues for emphasis. Each pamphlet is printed in two colors for clarity of titles versus narrative. A unique resource for the teacher who wants good illustrative material.

An excellent programmed series for grammar etc. A kit includes 35 diagnostic sets, 35 mastery tests, & 6 sets of 88 cards for individual use. It could be adapted for GED review if classes were long enough (a trimester of two three hour lessons each) so half the session could be individual study and half the session review of rubs and practice of GED tests.

Comments and Evaluation
 These are designed to help the "disadvantaged" youth who has been "turned off" in learning and especially in English. The format is concise and attractive and the linguistics approach is emphasized. This could be a resource for the GED English although there are books equally good designed for adults.

Comments and Evaluation

A bit dated in approach, but an attractive format and fine subject matter of practical concerns for adults -- clothing, shopping, jobs, etc. Good illustrations -- a bit middle-class oriented. Good to use with the educated foreigner, but not for undereducated. Stresses conversation.

Comments and Evaluation

A fine introduction to Spanish author from Spain. It goes into the Spanish heritage of Western civilization -- back to 15th and 20th century writers. It is for students of comparative literature. Too advanced for ABE.

Comments and Evaluation

This is part of a general education curriculum designed for the Job Corp. It is attractive and well done covering the fields of Language and Communication, Social Science, Natural Science and mathematics. Literature includes 6 books with 13 lessons dealing with feeling, character, style and interpretation. It could be a very helpful resource for G.E.D.

Fourteen chapters in basic arithmetic; however, it begins well beyond the elementary level and is designed for the older student. It could be used for basic review in G.E.D. but is cluttered and over condensed for beginning math. Usable, but far from the best. It is designed for self-study and review, rather than a class. Comments and Evaluation

Too difficult for an average A.B.E. class. A citizenship class might get some use from it, but even then, it is not geared low enough for a beginning citizenship class. Explanations are too difficult.

Comments and Evaluation

Eighteen fascinating booklets about all the fields in social studies -- cleverly done in two colors for emphasis and clarity. These would be excellent for overhead projection, occasionally to include all the material. Excellent bibliographies are included in each field. Selective use of these for citizenship, GED, social studies, etc. Would be a great help in A.B.E., i.e.,

Comments and Evaluation

This is an excellent condensed "American History" book that would be useful in a Citizenship class. It includes from the "Age of Discovery and Exploration" to present day history. The format is that of raising specific questions and then supplying paragraph answers. Adequate for resource material, but very condensed.

Comments and Evaluation

An outstanding book for preparation of the G.E.D. A fine discussion of reading skills and interpretation as well as the five sections for the G.E.D. Excellent background material in each field, a specialized vocabulary list for science, social science, literature, English and math with materials for analysis and practice. Very fine.

* A very fine book for preparation for the G.E.D. Excellent considering the price.

Comments and Evaluation

A lot of context but most inferior format. Crowded, cluttered, bulky. The consultants have had only negative feelings about the ARCO publications because they are always over-crammed and difficult to use.

This series is designed for the potential dropout. Although it uses older teenagers this could be very helpful to the younger A.B.E. student who has dropped out. It is very practical, oriented to the non-academic student but with high level interest and three reading levels. Could be a fine resource in ESL for the unemployed or in reading improvement.

Comments and Evaluation
 A recent and very inclusive text for health education with well-done pictures, graphs, etc. A broad selection of topics includes drugs, V.D., alcoholism, wise-consumer, plus communicable and problem diseases. The chapter on Dating and Engagement (#26) is very dated and naive about teenagers today. The title is misleading for the book is intended for grades 9-12, not young adults (ages 18-25).
