WHAT IS HACHE?

The Handicapped Children's Education Program, a project of the Education Commission of the States, seeks as its goal to obtain within each state a commitment at the highest policy level to increase provisions for educational services to handicapped children.

The activities conducted by the HACHE project are based on the following three objectives and have been planned to assist each state in developing and implementing a commitment to full educational opportunities for the handicapped:

- Improve state legislation for handicapped children by assisting states in initiating, reviewing, amending and implementing legislation.
- Improve the utilization and allocation of each state's resources for providing educational services for the handicapped through the study and analysis of legislative issues and administrative procedures.

- Provide for the formulation and application of state policies for the education of the handicapped through task force activities, staff services to state governments and the promotion of the value of improved educational opportunities.

A task force consisting of 10 ECS commissioners and five professional and lay persons meets four times annually to develop recommendations related to program activities and to assist the states with legislative and administrative policies for the benefit of the handicapped.

PREFACE

The following report contains summarized versions of bills relating to the education of exceptional children that have been introduced in state legislatures in 1974. It is the second report in this series, which is produced by the Handicapped Children's Education Project of the Education Commission of the States.

The report does not attempt to present all the bills that have been introduced, but rather represents an overview of major state legislation affecting exceptional children. HACHE intends to publish a final report covering 1974 legislative action related to special education. The purpose of the document is to keep you informed of what is happening in the states.

HACHE is able to provide more detailed information relating to state legislation upon request. Please contact C. D. Jones, Assistant Project Director, HACHE, Education Commission of the States, 1860 Lincoln St., Denver, Colo. 80203.

The project presented or reported herein was performed pursuant to a grant from the U.S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare. However, the opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the U.S. Office of Education, and no official endorsement by the U.S. Office of Education should be inferred. agency board will meet with the county and joint county boards in their area education agency and arrange for a division of assets and liabilities; the county and joint county boards will assist the area education agency board in establishing programs and services. The superintendent, director of special education and necessary support personnel may be employed prior to July 1, 1975. The bill requires that the area education agencies provide for special education services and media services and allows the area education agencies to provide for inservice training, educational data processing, research and educational planning, auxiliary services and supplemental services. The bill provides for the chief executive officer to be the area education agency superintendent and mandates the employment of a director of special education. The special education instructional services are mandated, and a weighting plan is established for each type of handicap. The handicapped pupils receive a weight for enrollment purposes of from 1.8 for the least handicapped to 4.4 for the most handicapped. The enrollment of a local school district is increased by adding the weights, and state foundation aid is paid on the basis of the adjusted enrollment to provide additional funds for the local district to pay for costs of special education instructional services. For the cost of special education support services in 1975, each district in an area adds to its allowable growth the per-pupil cost of special education support services for that area pursuant to plans approved by the department of public instruction. For each succeeding year the cost of providing special education support services to newly identified children who require services is added to the allowable growth. The state cost in the foundation aid chapter is increased in 1975 by the average amount of special education support services needed in the state, so that state aid will share in providing these services.

BASIC PROVISIONS OF THE BILL

Expands the definitions of handicapped children to include educationally handicapped persons requiring mandatory special education services after July 1, 1979, and provides for the establishment of special education services for educationally handicapped persons. Special education is a kind of instruction requiring special facilities or programs for mentally retarded or physically handicapped children or for educationally handicapped persons. An educationally handicapped person is a child or young adult under the age of 21 years who requires special assistance to the extent that he cannot reasonably profit from the regular program. After July 1, 1979, every school district must provide or establish and maintain a special education program for every handicapped person defined between the ages of 6 and 21 years in the district who cannot benefit sufficiently from the regular program of instruction by reason of his mental, physical, emotional or learning problems. A school district may meet its obligations to handicapped persons by establishing its own special education program, by establishing a cooperative special education program or by participating in a regional service program.

programs for children with special education needs be noncategorical. Appropriate placement in educational services to be provided not later than the fall of 1976 for those pupils now attending school and for those who will be eligible during that period and no later than the school year beginning in the fall of 1977 for those children in institutions to be evaluated and who, to the maximum extent practicable, should be placed in an appropriate community-based program. The bill also provides a right of appeal by parent or guardian and program evaluation.

Gives the responsibility for the education of all handicapped children between the ages of 3 and 21 to boards of education. Deletes IQ and handicap as reasons for excluding children from public school education. Every school district would be required to submit a plan for providing services by July 1, 1976. Prior to July 1, 1978, school districts would be permitted to contract with the director of Mental Health and Retardation for services. Thereafter, the school district would be responsible for providing services itself. Also contains a detailed due process procedure to review determinations made on the assignment of pupils to programs when parents object.

Establishes a three-year trainable mentally retarded program and authorizes the state board of education to select school districts and county superintendents of schools to begin programs for vocational education instruction and on-the-job training of trainable mentally retarded persons between the ages of 21 and 25 years. Requires the development of criteria for participation in the program by the department of education in cooperation with the department of social welfare and the department of rehabilitation. Also requires participating districts and county superintendents to keep continuous records of the progress of each student and to transfer records upon termination in the program to any other state or local agency that intends to provide assistance. This bill is to remain in effect until July 1, 1978, and appropriates $1,500,000 to the department of education.

Lowers the age from 5 to 3 years for severely mentally retarded pupils for whom school districts and county superintendents of schools may provide special education.

Senate Finance Committee

Special education support services act of 1974. Authorizes the department of education, division of elementary and secondary education, to award grants to local school districts for the establishment or expansion of special education support services to: (1) assure the availability of a full range of education assessment, medical, psychological, social and prescriptive instructional services and other related services through direct services or purchased services; and (2) provide consultant services within a district or districts to parents, regular teachers, exceptional child teachers, principals and other school personnel and community organizations who provide instructional programs. Appropriates to the department of education, division of elementary and secondary education, from the general revenue fund for the fiscal year 1974-75. $2,860,000 to provide grants to school districts for administration, staff and other services for the implementation of special education support programs. $60,000 to administer and carry out the purposes of this act.

Senate Ways and
