

12p.

The bibliography lists 134 sources of information on education of the deaf-blind including journal articles, books, workshop and conference proceedings, bibliographies, films, and tapes. Entries are grouped under general topics such as parents, family and community; medical neurological management and concerns; educational evaluation and testing; programs and services; training and education of children and youths; and the adult deaf blind. Sub-topics pinpoint such areas as principles and practices in parent education, rubella syndrome, early childhood education, communication and language development and adult case studies and personal experiences. (LS)

Boniuk, Milton. Glaucoma in the congenital rubella syndrome. in Rubella and other Intraocular Viral Diseases in Infancy edited by Milton Boniuk. pp.121-136

Boniuk, Vivien. Systemic and ocular manifestations of the rubella syndrome. in Rubella and other Intraocular Viral Diseases in Infancy edited by Milton Boniuk. pp.67-76.

Krill, Alex E. Retinopathy secondary to rubella. in Rubella and other Intraocular Viral Diseases in Infancy edited by Milton Boniuk. pp.89-103.

Rudolph, Arnold J. and Desmond, Murina M. Clinical manifestations of the congenital rubella syndrome. in Rubella and Other Intraocular Diseases in Infancy edited by Milton Boniuk. pp.3-19.

Medical Neurological Management and Concerns Other Syndromes

Vision Primary Sense:

Hearing

Touch: Assessment of Function

Feather, Diane. Evaluation and assessment for entry to Homai-Deaf-Blind unit. in Proc. of the Australian and New Zealand Assoc. of Teachers of the Visually Handicapped Conference held in Brisbane, Australia, 1974. 15pp.

Michigan School for the Blind, Deaf-Blind Dept. Manual for the assessment of a "Deaf-Blind" multiple handicapped child. Lansing, Michigan. 1973. 82pp. This book was developed to provide the teacher of a young deaf-blind multiple handicapped child with an assessment tool to be used in setting goals for various areas of development.

Programs and Services
United States

Programs and Services

Other Countries

Gardner, M. Programme for Deaf-Blind trainable Children conducted by: The Royal New South Wales Institution for Deaf and Blind Children at its Deaf-Blind Children's Center, North Rocks. in Proc. of the Australian and New Zealand Association of Teachers of the Visually Handicapped Conference held in Brisbane, Australia 1974. 10pp.

McMillan, Lindsay. Teaching Deaf-Blind Children at Monnington. in The Educational Magazine, 30:4, 1973. pp.22-23. This article presents some of the authors teaching experiences at Monnington Special Education Center, Educational Services to Deaf-Blind, Kew, Victoria, Aus.

Mincin, Clare. Pre-school deaf/blind child. in Proc. of the Australian and New Zealand Assoc. of Teachers of the Visually Handicapped Conference held in Brisbane. Australia 1974. 10pp.

Training and Education of Children and Youths
General Articles

Training and Education of Children and Youths
Philosophical Bases

Waterhouse, Edward J. Why educate the deaf-blind. in Proc. of the Australian and New Zealand Assoc. of Teachers of the Visually Handicapped Conference held in Brisbane, Aus. 1974. 10pp.

Training and Education of Children and Youths
Early Childhood Education

Training and Education of Children and Youths
Movement: Mobility and Orientation

Success story in the making. In VCVH Vice & Ventures, February 10, 1973. pp 5-6. The story of a deaf-blind young man who has received training at the National Center and who has now been successfully placed in employment as a sanitation worker in a hospital.

Gunderson, Robert W. Audio transducers. In AFN Research Bulletin, No. 26, June 1973. pp.205-206. The author at the New York Institute for the Blind has developed a vibrating chair which introduces the deaf-blind child to the world of sound through vibrations, also transducers have been placed in the floor of a rhythm room.

Kruger, Frederick. "Let your fingers do the talking" in OQ The Radio Amateur's Journal, 30:3, March 1974. pp.35-37. An article by the Director of Research at the National Center for Deaf-Blind Youths and Adults on communication devices for the deaf-blind and how the radio amateur can help the deaf-blind by supplying the labor to assemble some of the various devices.

Adult Deaf-Blind
Adult Case Studies and
Personal Experiences

Keller, Helen:

Kinney, Richard:

Roehrig, Arthur:

Sculthorpe, Arthur:
A talk which was given by the Author some time before his death, at a Social Services Staff Seminar held at the Department of Health.

The extraordinary story of a Russian women writer, deaf-blind from the age of five. She talks in this article of her perception of hearing, colors, her sense of touch and smell.

Adult Deaf-Blind
Hearing Aids

Adult Deaf-Blind
Mobility

Conferences, Institutes,
Workshops, Seminars etc.
Proceedings

Bibliographies

Films & Video Tapes

Howard, Jane and others. "Where is He? Where is He?" New Mexico Program for Deaf-Blind Children. 1973. Dr. Patricia Merheon, University of New Mexico, Medical School, Albuquerque, New Mexico. A one-hour tape contrasting deaf-blind children and normal children.

Late Additions.

Copies of the Bibliography are still available at a cost of $2.00. Unless the material is listed from Perkins please obtain material listed from the sources noted. I hope you find these references of use. If you know of other material which you think should be listed, please let me know, or if you can send a copy to the Library.

Kenneth A. Stickney
Research Librarian.