PREFACE

With the emergence of the American Indian into the mainstream of American life, as it should rightfully be, the demand and interest for resource materials and data concerning all aspects of our First American has been tremendous.

In view of this need, A Reference Resource Guide of the American Indian has been researched and prepared for the use of all people interested in Indian education and Indian affairs. The welcome response to the anticipated printing of this publication has been great. Those that have reviewed this annotated guide consider it to be a most comprehensive and useful endeavor.

Special thanks is extended to the following Arizona State University students whose educational research was a prime factor in determining the contents of such a publication:

Katherine Bluedog
Beatrice Byron
Jessie Colson
James DeHaas
Cynthia Duncan
Gloria Esquerra

John Foster
Randy Gill
Lynn Hawk
Jacque Littlejohn
Helen Metropoulos

Gloria Wagner

Much gratitude is also given to Ms. Gwyn Keech, Secretary, and Marlene Kull, Graduate Assistant, ASU Center for Indian Education, for their many hours of typing and assistance in compiling this Guide.
