V. MINI-LAB SESSIONS

1. Try it, you'll like it...
Principals Evaluate Gifted/Talented Programs.
Principals evaluate their first and subsequent reactions to gifted programs being placed in their schools. They will share the guidelines for assisting teachers in developing successful relations with parents and other faculty members.
Group Leaders -- Donald Dearborn, Vincent Kashuda, Harriet Parrott
2. Beyond Dick and Jane...
Primary Gifted Children And A Differentiated Curriculum.
Primary programs for young gifted Learners need special strategies which respect the fact that emotionally the children are 8 years old, but intellectually 12. The teachers, who team teach, will demonstrate their strategies and the children's work.
Group Leaders -- Tracey Battley, Sylvia Lewis
3. A gingerbread curriculum is obsolete...
Criteria For Gifted Programs.
Themes, curriculum, and techniques which builds respectable gifted programs. Teachers demonstrate the difference between frivolous, discounted, so-called creative experiences and a sequential program for gifted/talented students. The presenter will demonstrate how curriculum for gifted is written.
Group Leader -- Dee Bennett
4. Do boys make passes at girls in gifted classes?
Prognosis For Success Among Gifted Girls.
What progress have talented girls made in actualizing their potential? Why, if gifted girls are as achieving as gifted boys do they wind up in less satisfying progressions? Fairfax County Public Schools Title IX Officer discuss these and other problems of talented girls. Guidelines for parents will be included.
Group Leader -- Bonnie Polk

11. Relativity, computers, and leaps in math...
Unique Math Programs For Gifted/Talented.

- Bella Kranz (2)
- mini-lab #14
- participation rather than observing (2)
- friendliness of conference leaders
- helpfulness and interest of leaders to answer questions
- classes began and ended on time
- minimum of administrative detail
- good length of mini-labs

- professional expertise of speakers
- cooperation of many
- broad spectrum of presentors
- exchange of ideas helpful to teachers, supervisors
- warm group
- variety, enthusiasm, experience
- plenty of space
- excellent motel closeby
- timing perfect
- large number of people all are enthusiastic
- the spirit of discovery was evident
- Isabel Rucker
- practical information for classroom teacher
- offering UVA credit (and ease of registration)
- Groveton student performers
- the drama workshop
- good handouts
- most group leaders were classroom teachers (more credibility)
- facility
- 45 minute labs

D. What, in your opinion, is the greatest weakness of the conference?

Credit (Item VIII from evaluation form)

- too little time to sample all offered (5)
- mini-lab description not same as presentation (5)
- not enough time to talk informally with personnel from other systems (3)
- not enough space in the mini-lab sessions (2)
- more handouts needed (2)
- lack of participation from outside the immediate area
- too many mini-labs that sounded interest to attend
- hours
- too many speakers
- program basically geared to gifted rather than gifted/talented
- students did not give their opinion of their gifted program
- started late
- keynote addresses were lengthy
- not enough on music and fine arts.
- no time for hangover dialogue with lab leader or group member
- not enough use of students
- some mini-lab speakers overlapped with their information
- some speakers assumed that all participants understood the "educational jargon"
- not enough seats
- not enough information was sent prior to the conference - maps of area and information on housing would be helpful

Non-Credit (Item IV from evaluation form)

- more time for mini-labs needed (13)
- Friday night sessions (6)

- rooms too small and sterile (4)
- not advertised enough (4)
- need more handout material (3)
- some mini-labs were not informative and not well planned by lab speakers (3)
- too many mini-labs (2)
- need more exhibits from kids (2)
- Saturday date (2)
- parking facilities (2)
- not enough information as to "level" of presentation listed on program (2)
- repetition for those who have attended other workshops (2)
- more information for in-school gifted/talented programs (2)
- lunch
- lecture-reading speech rather than speaking
- more information should be sent on location of conference and nearby lodging
- send program before registration day (2)
- more children should be used
- too much Fairfax
- poetry
- too great a distance between two sets of rooms
- time of Friday night program - ended too late
- location of conference should be in center of state
- mini-lab, in some cases, did not follow course description
- no knives served at lunch
- availability to keynote speaker lacking
- assumed the laymen knew the Williams strategies
- could have a bibliography for the conference
- handouts poor quality
- repetition of information
- overlap of materials by presenters
- not enough material for secondary level
- more parents
- lack of information for out-of-towners
- length of welcome speeches
- too many conflicts between mini-labs
- no opportunity to attend each of the mini-lab sessions - conference should have been a day longer
- not enough chairs in some rooms
- some terms unknown to laymen
- browsing table limited
- poor quality handouts
- the conference seemed secondary oriented
- some of the mini courses needed to be more inspirational
- no films
- two keynote speakers unnecessary
- the afternoon sessions did not have the interest as the morning sessions
- lack of materials applicable to actual classroom methods for stimulating the gifted/talented attendance on Saturday

E. What are your suggestions for improving the conference, if held, in the future?

Credit (Item VII from evaluation form)

- mini-labs should be longer (17)
- more student participation (3)
- hours - do not have late evening - early morning (3)
- more handouts of activities and resource materials (3)
- make the conference another day longer. (2)
- include information on kindergarten, grade 1 and 2 (2)
- more mini-labs needed (2)
- performances are given (2)
