INTRODUCTION

This bibliography was compiled to help teachers guide their students to a better understanding of the people whose religious beliefs are different than their own. It includes history and fiction of four major groups; The Society of Friends, The Jewish Peoples, the Mennonites, the Mormons and others.

These books are aimed at the Elementary level up through the eighth grade. Some of them may be used for older students also. The indication for age level is in parentheses following the name of the publisher.

Some groups are not included because of the great lack of Children's Literature about them.

COMPARATIVE FAITHS

Daves, Michael. YOUNG READER'S BOOK OF CHRISTIAN SYMBOLISM. Abingdon, 1967. (8-12)

This well-designed book, telling the story of major Christian symbols and their relationships to the history and traditions of the Christian Church, would be especially useful for Church Schools.

Fitch, Florence. ONE GOD . Lothrop, 1944 (10-up)
Simple explanations for mutual understanding of the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant ways of worship.

Gaer, Joseph. HOLIDAYS AROUND THE WORLD. Little, 1953
(12-up)

After a good introductory chapter on the origins of holidays, those of the five major religions are discussed. A valuable reference book.

Hanff, Helene. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM; THE AMERICAN STORY.
(a Who, When, Where Book) (11-13)

Shows how the concept of religious freedom developed in Colonial times through the examination of settlements in Maryland, Rhode Island, New York, and Pennsylvania colonies where men of all nations and creeds could live together in peace.

Jones, Jessie Orton. THIS IS THE WAY. Viking, 1951
(7-up)

Brief verses from the world's religions are directed to the child. The graceful illustrations of children of all races are shown first in their natural environment and then in final assembly suggest the spiritual unity of mankind.

Savage, Katherine. THE STORY OF WORLD RELIGIONS
Walck, 1967. (12-16)

Historical development and beliefs of Judaism, Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Christianity and Islam make this a good reference book which can also serve for recreational reading.

Sechrist, Elizabeth Hough. IT'S TIME FOR BROTHERHOOD
pp. 25-39 "Christian Unity" (10-13)
After a brief comment on how the concept "Love thy Neighbor" appears in many religions, "There are stories of individuals and groups whose lives and work have been shining examples of this principle of Brotherhood put into action.

Voss, Carl Herman. IN SEARCH OF MEANING: LIVING RELIGIONS
OF THE WORLD. World, 1968 (12-up)
