ABSTRACT  The bibliography lists almost 4,000 books, articles, pamphlets, and research papers about women and feminism. All items in this third volume were published or in progress in 1973-1974. The items are classified by the topics of abortion, arts and media, contemporary women's movement, cultural studies, education, employment, family organization, government and politics, history, legal status, literary criticism, mental and physical health, rape, religion, sex roles and sex differences, sexuality, and bibliographies and resources. Most topics are divided into specific subtopics with each entry listed only once; thus, there are no cross-references. Some of the entries are annotated. A list of related bibliographical sources and an index to authors conclude the bibliography. (ND)

This is the third volume of WOMEN'S WORK AND WOMEN'S STUDIES, a bibliography of books, articles, papers, pamphlets, and research about women and feminism published or in progress in 1973-1974. Questionnaires were sent to over four thousand women's studies teachers throughout the United States, and notices were placed in several feminist publications requesting information on pertinent research. Standard periodical indexes and abstracts dated 1973 or 1974 were combed for citations on women. Hence, some material from 1971 and 1972, if it was cited in the 1973-1974 index, may be included. Finally, many listings were garnered by systematically going through the BirdsGoldsmith Aust Resource Collection of the Barnard Women's Center. See the Appendix for a complete list of sources.

Designing useful subject categories was a major consideration in putting together the bibliography. Research about women often defies traditional categorization by discipline. The categories chosen derive, as much as possible, from the thrust of the material itself, rather than from predetermined subject headings. You will note, however, that there are no cross-references. We urge you to consult a variety of categories for any given inquiry.

Writings on women have mushroomed in the past few years. In an effort to include only that material which could be covered comprehensively, the bibliography no longer contains work published outside the United States, technical research, or poetry and fiction by women. Listings of activist groups and feminist periodicals have also been omitted as they are now readily available elsewhere. As with earlier editions of WOMEN'S WORK AND WOMEN'S STUDIES, articles from newspapers and popular magazines by and large have not been included.

We would like to thank all the women who contributed time, energy, and ideas to this volume of the bibliography. Our special thanks go to Pat Ballou and Sandra M. Whieler for their valuable advice and to the many librarians who generously participated in compiling this bibliography.
The publication of this volume was made possible by a bequest from the Estate of Helen Rogers Reid, a distinguished Barnard graduate of the Class of 1903.

Eliot has created in Will Ladislaw, Dorothea's husband, an early example of the liberated male who fails to correspond to the sex role stereotype. He is not the dominant male; he lacks the "manly" self assurance of the stereotype, the competitiveness that exploits others in pursuit of economic success; he can play freely, show his emotions openly, be gentle, and show weakness.

A study of rape complaints made to the Berkeley (California) Police Department.

Suggestion is to remove rape as a special crime because it is already defined as illegal in the definition of assault, sexual abuse, and coercion, and is therefore a redundant legal concept. It singles out female sexual organs and therefore reinforces traditional sex roles and the double standard. Now, the law and court process denigrate and transfer guilt to the victim.

Edward James, Janet Boyer, and Paul S. Boyer, NOTABLE AMERICAN WOMEN 1607-1950: A BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY. Cambridge: The Belknap Press of the Harvard University Press, 1971. 3 volumes. Work was begun on this major biographical dictionary of American women in 1958. The signed entries were each done by scholars with special knowledge and vary in length according to the importance of the individual, complexity of career, and availability of material. Each entry includes primary sources.

Barbara J. Love, FOREMOST WOMEN IN COMMUNICATIONS. New York: Foremost Americans Publishing/R.R. Bowker, 1970. Includes accomplished women in the fields of broadcasting, advertising, public relations, and allied professions. The nearly 8,000 entries are listed alphabetically, and there are geographical and subject indexes.

WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN. Chicago: Marquis Who's Who, 1958-date. Current biography of women outstanding as women, the only criterion for inclusion being reference value. Listed alphabetically, the entries include name, position, vital statistics, parents, education, marital status, children, career, civic and political activities, awards, religion, associations and clubs, writings, home and office addresses. For the most part, the biographiees supplied their own data.

This partially annotated bibliography is one of the first women's bibliographies to appear and has been the personal project of Ms. Cisler through six editions. It is classified into fourteen subjects which cover nearly every avenue of knowledge and also includes a periodical list. Notations indicate editions in paperback and those worthy of special attention.

3895 FINDING WOMEN'S LIBERATION MOVEMENT MATERIALS IN THE MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES. East Lansing: Michigan State University Libraries, 1973. (East Lansing, Michigan 48823) Guide to finding materials on women and women's liberation in the Michigan State University libraries. It is also a basic guide to library use. It gives locations and call number for the MSU collections, but could be useful for students anywhere who need help doing research on women.

3897 Sue Galloway, "Women," WILSON LIBRARY BULLETIN 47(2):150-152. October 1972. Highly selective and annotated list of the periodicals of the women's movement. The selection represents a good cross section of the best of the different kinds of publications available, but by no means lists all of them. Several sources for comprehensive lists of periodicals are given. The annotations are evaluative.

3899 John Halligan, WOMEN: A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF PERIODICAL ARTICLES. 1973 (2409 Sixth Avenue, Sacramento, California 95818) Lists over three hundred articles on women from approximately seventy periodicals published between January 1 and December 31, 1972. The periodicals indexed cover a wide spectrum, but are primarily general literature.

3901 Albert Krichmar, WOMEN'S STUDIES: A GUIDE TO PUBLICATIONS AVAILABLE IN THE LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA AT SANTA BARBARA, 1975. (Santa Barbara University Library, Santa Barbara, California 93106) 71 pages.

3903 Patricia O'Connor, Linda Headrick, and Peter Coveney, WOMEN: A SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY. Springfield (Ohio): Wittenberg University, 1973. (Springfield, Ohio 45504) 111 pages. Principles of selection for this compilation were to include a sampling of classic works, some period pieces and current research, with entries arbitrarily limited to three per author.

3905 Elizabeth M. Salzer, A SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY OF BOOKS ON WOMEN IN THE LIBRARIES OF THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY. Albany (New York): State University Libraries, 1972. 222 pages. Listing in subject arrangement of the books about women in the SUNY Albany Library. Omitted are books about women in sports, medical books on gynecology and obstetrics, literary works by women unless related to women, and biographies of individual women. Library of Congress classification notations are given. There is a corporate author and title index and a personal author and editor index.

3906 Pat Schuman and Gay Detlefson, "Sisterhood is serious: an annotated bibliography," LIBRARY JOURNAL 96(15):2587-2594, September 1, 1971. This bibliography, which is an attempt to select from the mass of material currently available, was compiled for women librarians and readers to offer a brief picture of the spectrum of thought, history, experience and action in the women's movement.

3909 WOMEN STUDIES ABSTRACTS. Quarterly. Winter 1972-date. This quarterly journal includes a book review essay, book reviews, and occasional special bibliographies in addition to the abstracts which are arranged by subject. Articles for which there are not abstractors or ones of minor importance are given listings. Author and subject indexes.

3911 Women's History Research Center, "Bibliographies on women indexed by topic," 1973. (Women's History Research Center, Inc., 2325 Oak Street, Berkeley, California 94708)

10 GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

3914 STATUS OF WOMEN BIBLIOGRAPHY: A SELECTIVE BIBLIOGRAPHY OF GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS. Bowling Green (Ohio): Government Documents Service, Bowling Green State University Library, 1973. (Bowling Green, Ohio 43403) Selected government documents which report in some way on the status of women and which were published between 1967 and 1973. There are three sections: present status, changing status, and special concerns. Citations are listed alphabetically by title within these categories. Citations are very brief giving only title, date, and number of pages.

HISTORY

3918 Andrea Hinding and Rosemary Richardson, ARCHIVAL ADN MANUSCRIPT RESOURCES FOR THE STUDY OF WOMEN'S HISTORY: A BEGINNING. Minneapolis: Social Welfare History Archives Center, 1972. (Minneapolis, Minnesota)
List compiled to facilitate discussion at a session of the 1972 meeting of the Organization of American Historians and represents the contributions of many people around the country each reporting on the archival and manuscript material in their areas.

3919 Joan Kelly-Gadol, "Women's history: a critically selected bibliography. 54pp. (Publications Division, Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, New York 10708)
History of women from antiquity to early modern Europe.

3921 Gerda Lerner, WOMEN'S STUDIES: HISTORY OF WOMEN IN AMERICA. (Publications Division, Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, New York 10708)
Covers all periods of American history and many topics such as education, economics, and the law; there are also sections on general reference materials and historiography.

Selective annotated bibliography covering books, journal articles, monographs, pamphlets, and U.S. government publications. The closing date, 1935, was chosen because of the decline of craft unionism, the passage of the Wagner Act which gave new life to the movement, and the trend toward industrial unionism. Appendices list archival sources in the area and Women's Bureau publications to 1935. Subject, author, and cross reference index.

Bibliography of manuscripts about women in the Library of Congress. All manuscript collections for the period whose main entries include the name of a woman or a woman's organization are included, as are family archives when they include the papers of women. Each citation gives the main entry title of the collection, dates covered, an indication of the type of the material and dates, size, and a brief description of the person(s) or organization.

12 LEGAL STATUS

3925 "Women and credit: an annotated bibliography." (Center for Women Policy Studies, 200 P Street, NW, Suite 508, Washington, DC 20036)

13 LITERARY CRITICISM

3927 Ellen Marie Bissert, compilation of biographical and bibliographical information on American women who were born before 1831 and published a collection of poems. (c/o 13th Moon, 30 Seaman Avenue, New York, New York 10034)

National Organization for Women, Eastern Massachusetts Chapter, NON-SEXIST READING LISTS. (45 Newbury Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02116)
Reading lists of non-sexist books for pre-school, elementary, junior high, and young adult age people.

Barbara Brandon Schnorrenberg, "work on women's education in Eighteenth Century England: annotated bibliography. (Box 964, Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514)

As a check to see if the field of non-sexist children's books was growing, one hundred publishers were asked to submit books they thought were suitable. Of the 140 submitted (21 picture, 36 non-fiction, 83 novels), 40 books (10 picture, 12 non-fiction, 18 novels) were chosen as best treating women and girls realistically and fairly. These forty are listed and annotated.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL HEALTH

Covers female sexual anatomy and functioning, conception, child birth, all methods of contraception, abortion, and venereal disease. Diagrams, photographs and tables illustrate the text and there is a bibliography.

This selected, annotated bibliography is divided into six sections, each one preceded by an introduction describing how and why the particular materials were selected. The six sections are: philosophy of science, methodology and statistical uses; history of psychology; sex differences, sex role development and socialization of children; individual psychology and personality theory; individual development and group dynamics; the small group in the development of political organization. The approach of the compilers is from a feminist and political point of view.

16 SEX ROLES AND SEX DIFFERENCES

3944 Nancy Henley and Barrie Thorne, SEX DIFFERENCES IN LANGUAGE, SPEECH, AND NONVERBAL COMMUNICATION: AN ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY, 1974. (BT, Department of Sociology, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan 48823)
This bibliography includes books, periodical articles and unpublished papers; the annotations are quite detailed and relatively long.

3945 E. Marcia Sheridan Kimmel, "Sex differences and reading." (Division of Education, Indiana University, South Bend, Indiana 46615)
Annotated bibliography.

The Maferr Foundation has sponsored research on male-female roles since 1966, although the research has been in progress since 1952. This is a bibliography of the publications resulting from this research. The materials are organized according to type; i.e., professional publications, papers, symposia, and are listed chronologically within these headings.

Jeanne Spiegel, SEX ROLE CONCEPTS: HOW WOMEN AND MEN SEE THEMSELVES AND EACH OTHER: A SELECTED ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY. Washington, DC: Business and Professional Women's Foundation, 1969. (2012 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20036) Covers books, pamphlets, reports, theses, articles, and microfilm, all of which are available in the Foundation Library. The citations are organized by type of material into chapters and then listed alphabetically by author. The annotations are non-evaluative. The material included is limited to that published in the last fifteen years and covers a wide spectrum -- from the popular to the scholarly.

The Barnard College Women's Center reaffirms the College's tradition of commitment to developing new ways to help women realize their potential. In addition to initiating, coordinating, and supporting a wide range of programs and services which are open to everyone, the Center sponsors an annual conference on feminist scholarship; maintains a collection of books, articles, and periodicals dealing with contemporary feminist issues; and serves as a clearinghouse of information on women's groups and services.

Additional copies of this bibliography may be obtained for $12.50 plus 50¢ handling per copy from The Feminist Press, Box 334, Old Westbury, N.Y. 11568.
