ABSTRACT

This document contains a narrative analysis and 28 tables of salary and related data for the Illinois Community Colleges. The first 16 tables present summary and institutional data on salaries for faculty and administrative personnel for 1976-77, including mean salaries paid to full-time teaching faculty; mean salaries for full-time teaching faculty per yearly course semester hour, weekly class contact hour, and academic month; salaries paid to top administrators during 1976-77; salaries based on salary schedules for full-time teaching faculty with master's degrees and varying levels of experience; salaries based on salary schedules for full-time teaching faculty with doctorate degrees; and percentage increase of faculty salaries for 1975-76 to 1976-77. Four tables present data on numbers of teaching and non-teaching faculty in terms of headcount, full-time/part-time status, and sex. In addition, the document presents data on the following related topics: faculty organization and recognized negotiating bodies, board of trustee representatives in faculty negotiations, sick leave policies, disability coverage and retirement policies, and other matters related to contracts (contract length, professional rank, tenure, average weekly contact hours, average yearly semester hours taught). The instrument used in the statewide faculty/administrative salary survey is appended. (JDS)

PREFACE

The Faculty and Administrative Salary Survey for 1976-77 was designed to collect the information about faculty and administrative salaries which was deemed essential for colleges in the salary determinations for next year. This survey was limited to only a one page instrument because of a commitment to collect only the most essential amount of data from the community colleges where applicable. Hence, the data in this survey is not as comprehensive as that found in other salary surveys. However, every effort was made to obtain the most essential salary data and to ensure that each college reported reliable data on a comparable basis with all other colleges.

This year an additional item was added to the survey at the request of the Council of Presidents which requested the percentage increase in faculty salaries for schedule adjustments and the percent increase for merit increments. These basic percentages are often used when considering salary increases in many community colleges. In addition, these percentages are often utilized at other institutions of higher education.

The ICCB staff appreciate the cooperation of the personnel in the community colleges in completing the salary survey promptly and accurately. We hope the information in this survey report will serve the needs of each of you.

INTRODUCTION

The Illinois Public Community College Faculty and Administrative Salary Survey for 1976-77 continues in the abbreviated form which has been used since 1973. Only the most needed and the most basic salary information was collected for the survey. This salary information about the faculty and administrators in the public community colleges of Illinois was deemed sufficient to serve the needs of most community colleges in their salary considerations, as well as the needs of the ICCB staff, the IBHE staff, and other state agencies.

Every attempt was made to ensure that the data presented were reported on a comparable basis by each college. However, due to the great diversity among the community colleges in their administrative structures and their salary policies, it is very difficult to make comparisons on the basis of any salary figure by itself. For example, although the academic year base salary would seem to be a very comparable type of figure, the length of an academic year varies among the colleges by as much as a month. Other items which must be taken into account when making comparisons among colleges are the ratio of part-time to full-time faculty, the age and experience of the staff, and fringe benefits.

In this report, we have attempted to explain and analyze the data presented in each table. Additional analysis may be desired on an individual need basis. For example, a community college may want to compare itself with five other community colleges that it considers to be in the same category with itself. This type of comparison is probably the most meaningful for local use; however, it is not feasible at the state level because there is little agreement on the various categories of colleges to be used and no agreement about which colleges fit into each category.

The 1976-77 Faculty and Administrative Salary Survey included the participation of all thirty-nine public community college districts and all forty-nine colleges in Illinois. Although two additional new colleges are now approved by the ICCB (City Wide Institute in Chicago's district and College of Continuing Education in Illinois Eastern's district), neither college was in operation during the Fall 1976 term. The data includes analyses by college for the actual numbers of faculty employed, the faculty salary data, and the administrative and salary data. Various other analyses regarding institutional policies are done by community college district.

This year's salary survey can be compared with similar ICCB salary surveys conducted and published in prior years for an analysis of salary trends in the Illinois public community colleges. Table 1 on the opposite page shows the mean academic year salaries paid to full-time teaching faculty in Illinois Public Community Colleges for each community college since Fall 1973. The table shows that the mean faculty salaries in the community colleges increased from $13,604 in the Fall of 1973 to $15,897 for the Fall of 1976. The salary increase of 3.5% in 1976 has been the smallest increase during the last three years and was well below the increase in the cost of living index.

The average salaries paid to full-time teaching faculty are affected by several factors other than the salary schedule. For example, the replacement of experienced faculty members with ones who have little experience can reduce the mean salary for a given college although the salary schedule might be increased. The salary survey report shows the salary schedule salaries as well as the actual salaries for each community college for 1976-77.

SUMMARY OF 1976-77 SALARY DATA

Table 2 on the opposite page shows a summary of selected faculty and administrative salaries in Illinois public community colleges for 1976-77. The range of salaries, the state average salary, and the percent change from 1975-76 are shown in this table. The data for each college are shown later in this report. The faculty salaries shown are all academic year (usually nine months) base salaries which do not include overload pay or other extra compensation for additional services. The actual salaries are ones which the colleges contract with the faculty while the salary schedule salaries are ones which are shown on the colleges salary schedule. The state average actual contractual base salaries increased by 3.5% from a year earlier.

The state average salary schedule salaries increased from 3.7% to 5.2% on the average among the various categories shown.

The administrative salaries shown are for an entire year (twelve months) and represent the average of all the salaries reported by all the public community colleges in Illinois. The annual percent increase in the state average salaries of these positions ranged from -3.8% to 6.1%.

ACTUAL 1976-77 ACADEMIC YEAR CONTRACTUAL
SALARIES PAID TO FULL-TIME TEACHING FACULTY

Table 4 on the next page shows the lowest, mean, median, and highest academic contractual salaries paid to full-time teaching faculty at each community college in Illinois. Academic year contractual base salaries were utilized in this table to obtain as much comparability as possible among all the colleges.

The lowest salaries represent the lowest base salary actually paid to a full-time teaching faculty at each of the community college districts and are different from salary schedule salaries which are reported in tables 12 and 14 of this report. The low salaries ranged from $5400 to $12,000 at the various colleges.

The high salaries represent the highest salary actually paid to a full-time teaching faculty for an academic year (9 months) at each of the colleges. The mean (average) salaries represent the arithmetic average of all full-time teaching faculty salaries at each college district. The median salary is the one which is in the middle of the range (an equal number of salaries both lower and higher than this salary) at each college. The state average of the mean faculty salaries at the 39 college districts was $15,897, and the median faculty salary for all districts was $15,770. The table below shows a summary of the state averages and ranges by the various categories.

MEAN SALARIES PER AVERAGE YEARLY COURSE SEMESTER HOURS, WEEKLY CLASS CONTACT HOURS, AND ACADEMIC MONTH

Table 6 on the opposite page shows the mean salaries for each community college by yearly course semester hour, weekly class contact hour and academic month. This analysis was obtained by dividing the annual course semester hours, twice the weekly class contact hours, and length of an academic year in months into the mean salary paid to full-time teaching faculty. This analysis shows the mean salaries paid by each of the community colleges for a comparable unit.

The state average mean salary per course semester hour is $513 but this salary ranges from $328 to $823 at the various community colleges. The state average salary per weekly class contact hour is $497 while the state average mean salary for full-time teaching faculty per academic month is $1766.

The table below shows a summary of the analysis of mean salaries per course semester hour, weekly class contact hour, and academic month.

ACTUAL 1976-77 ACADEMIC YEAR CONTRACTUAL
SALARIES PAID TO TOTAL FACULTY

Table 8 shows the lowest, mean, median, and highest academic contractual salaries paid to full-time teaching and non-teaching faculty at each community college in Illinois. The total faculty includes counselors, curriculum specialists, and other professionals (including administrators) employed by the colleges that are classified as faculty in addition to the instructional (teaching) faculty members.

The lowest salaries represent the lowest base salary actually paid to a full-time faculty at each of the community colleges and are different from salary schedule salaries which are reported in tables 12 and 14 of this report. The high salaries represent the highest salary actually paid to a full-time faculty for an academic year (9 months) at each of the colleges. The mean (average) salaries represent the arithmetic average of all full-time faculty salaries at each college district. The median salary is the one which is in the middle of the range (an equal number of salaries both lower and higher than this salary) at each college. The state average of the mean faculty salaries at the 39 college districts was $15,956, while the state average for the 49 college campuses was $16,134. These average salaries paid to total faculty are slightly higher than the average salaries paid to teaching faculty. Actual salaries paid to teaching faculty are shown in table 4 on page 7.

SALARIES PAID TO TOP ADMINISTRATORS IN ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES DURING 1976-77

Table 10 shows the salaries paid to the top administrators in each of the public community colleges in Illinois during 1976-77. The chief executive officer of the district is either a chancellor or a president and has overall administrative responsibilities for the college district. The chief campus administrator reports directly to the chief executive officer of the district and has overall administrative responsibility for the college campus. Examples of chief campus administrators are the presidents at multi-campus institutions or executive vice-president for internal affairs at single campus colleges. Due to the various administrative organizations which exist at the colleges, often a particular position does not exist. Care must be taken to analyze the entire administrative structure before making comparisons between similar positions at two different colleges. In addition to the title and salary, the administrative level of each position was obtained which helps provide additional data about the position.

A summary of the salaries paid to top administrators in Illinois public community colleges during 1976-77 appears below in Table 9.

SALARIES BASED ON SALARY SCHEDULE FOR FULL-TIME
TEACHING FACULTY WITH MASTERS DEGREE

Table 12 shows the 1976-77 salaries of the full-time teaching faculty with a Masters Degree at each community college in Illinois. The number of steps required on the schedule to achieve this salary is also shown. Since several colleges do not use the masters degree as a basis for determining position on a salary schedule, alternative but comparable ranges from their salary schedules based on faculty rank (beginning instructors column) were utilized. These salaries are based on the salary schedules at the colleges and not on the actual salaries paid. For salary data on actual salaries paid by the colleges refer to Table 4 on page 7 of this report.

The range of salaries for each category at the thirty-nine community college districts as well as the mean salary for each category are shown in Table 11 below:

SALARIES BASED ON SALARY SCHEDULE FOR FULL-TIME
TEACHING FACULTY WITH DOCTORATE DEGREE

Table 14 attempts to show the lowest salary, highest salary, and number of steps in the doctorate degree column of the 1976-77 salary schedule at each public community college in Illinois. For colleges that use rank as the basis for their salary schedule, the professor column was utilized. A few colleges do not require the doctorate degree for faculty to attain the highest salary while others do not have a column which is equivalent to the doctorate level.

A summary of the range of salaries and state average salaries for full-time faculty with doctorate degrees in the community colleges of Illinois are shown in the table below.

PERCENTAGE INCREASE OF FACULTY SALARIES FROM 1975-76 TO 1976-77 AT ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 16 on the opposite page reflects the percentage increase of faculty salaries from 1975-76 to 1976-77 for each of the public community colleges in Illinois. The total percentage increase includes base increases, schedule adjustments, etc. as well as merit increases. For example, if a college increased the salary costs of their faculty from $200,000 last year to $212,000 this year, the $12,000 (6%) would be reported as total salary increase for both merit and schedule adjustment. If $4000 of the $12,000 was used for merit increases, then the 2% would be reported as a merit increase for faculty members. In this case, the college would show a 6% total increase in salary with 2% of that going for merit increases. In analyzing the results, it seems that all colleges were not consistent in how they interpreted cost of living or across the board increases and step increases on the salary schedule. It seems that some colleges considered these to be merit increases while others did not. The salary survey was not specific enough in defining these categories of increases; and hence, the data shown in Table 16 is limited. The salary survey will need to be improved in this area to avoid this difficulty.

Table 15 below shows a summary of the ranges for total percentage increases and merit increase for faculty members as well as the state average for both.

INSTITUTIONAL POLICIES RELATED TO FACULTY SALARIES AND FACULTY CONTRACTS AT ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 18 shows the institutional policies at each public community college in Illinois which are related to faculty salaries and faculty contracts. These policies often have a considerable impact on the salaries presented elsewhere in this report. For example, the average weekly class contact hours per full-time instructional faculty has a bearing on the number of faculty that an institution must have to meet its needs. The length of a full-time academic year contract also has a bearing on academic year salary for full-time faculty.

Of the thirty-nine community colleges in Illinois, ten have professional rank, although not all of these use rank as a criteria for salary determinations. Thirty of the thirty-nine districts have faculty tenure, while nine community colleges do not have faculty tenure. Twenty public community college districts in Illinois have master contracts with the faculty in 1976-77 compared to eighteen in 1975-76.

NUMBER OF INSTRUCTIONAL (TEACHING) FACULTY

Table 20 on the opposite page shows the number of teaching faculty members in each of the public community colleges of Illinois distributed by full-time and part-time and by sex. The total number of teaching faculty in the state is 14,308 which compares to the total of 14,901 teaching and non-teaching faculty. Hence, the community colleges of Illinois employ 593 (4.0% of the total) non-teaching faculty members while 96.0% of the totals (14,308) are teaching faculty.

A full-time equivalent (FTE) faculty is locally defined by each college but in each case represents an expected full-time teaching load at that institution. Usually, the definition is based on a combination of course credit hours taught and classroom contact hours. The institutional definitions are shown in Table 18 on page 21.

The table below shows a summary of the Fall 1976 instructional (teaching) faculty.

NUMBER OF TOTAL (TEACHING AND NON-TEACHING) FACULTY MEMBERS IN ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 22 shows the number of teaching and non-teaching faculty members in each of the public community colleges of Illinois distributed by full-time and part-time employment and by sex. Non-teaching faculty includes counselors, curriculum coordinators, learning resource specialists and other professionals who are classified by the college as faculty (not as administrators) but who do not teach in the classroom. Full-time faculty are the ones that have a regular full-time contract. The total number of full-time and part-time faculty ranges from 43 at John Wood to 3,550 at the Chicago City Colleges. This great range represents the large diversity among the community colleges of Illinois. The total number of full-time and part-time faculty in all the public community colleges of Illinois for the Fall term 1976 was 14,901. This compares to 14,130 reported for Fall term 1975 and represents an increase of 721 (5.1%) faculty members from last year.

FACULTY ORGANIZATIONS IN ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 24 on the next page shows the faculty organizations or faculty committees that exist at each of the public community colleges of Illinois and the faculty organization or committee that is the recognized negotiating body for the faculty by the local board of trustees. The predominate faculty organization recognized as the negotiating body for the faculty is the American Federation of Teachers (AFT). The board of trustees of eleven community colleges do not recognize any faculty organization or committee as the official negotiating body for the faculty.

A summary of the involvement of each organization in the community colleges of Illinois is shown in the table below.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES REPRESENTATION IN FACULTY SALARY DETERMINATION

Table 26 shows who represents the Board of Trustees in faculty salary determinations at each of the public community colleges of Illinois. In fourteen of the thirty-nine community college districts the trustees represent themselves either as a group or by some of the trustees serving on a special committee. The president or chancellor has the responsibility of representing the board of trustees at eleven of the thirty-nine community college districts in Illinois. The remaining community colleges utilize a variety of other personnel to represent the trustees in faculty negotiations with other top administrators being the most commonly used representatives. Nine of the community colleges hire professional negotiators to represent the trustees at faculty negotiations.

SICK LEAVE POLICIES AT ILLINOIS
PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 27 on the following page presents the policies dealing with sick leave at all the public community colleges in Illinois that is of concern to the State Universities Retirement System. It shows the number of sick days which would be accumulated after ten, twenty, and forty years of employment at each community college. The number of sick days range from a low of 80 to a high of 200 after ten years, from 80 to 300 after twenty years, and from 80 to 600 after forty years of employment. Sick leave is either measured in calendar or work days. Only two of the colleges measure sick leave by calendar days and six of the college districts pay for a portion of unused sick leave. The percent of unused sick leave which is subject to cash reimbursement at retirement at the four community college districts that paid for unused sick leave and reported the percentage for which they paid ranges from a low of 12% to a high of 40%. The payment for unused sick leave is made either in a lump sum at retirement or spread over a period of several months.

DISABILITY COVERAGE AND RETIREMENT
POLICIES AT ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 28 on the opposite page shows the disability coverage and retirement policies at each of the public community colleges in Illinois which are in addition to the disability coverage provided by the State Universities Retirement System. Of the thirty-nine community college districts, nineteen provide disability insurance coverage to their employees while twenty colleges do not. Seven college districts give separation pay, retirement pay, vacation pay or other compensation in addition to the normal contract salary when a faculty member retires from the college. The majority of the college districts (32) do not give any compensation in addition to the normal contract salary. For those districts that give compensation, most pay it in a lump sum at retirement. In only one district was the amount paid over a period of time. One college paid in either a lump sum or spread over a period of time as per the request of the faculty member.

APPENDIX A

SURVEY INSTRUMENTS USED IN 1976-77 FACULTY
AND ADMINISTRATIVE SALARY SURVEY AND FRINGE BENEFIT SURVEY

INSTRUCTIONS AND DEFINITIONS FOR COMPLETING THE 1976-77 FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATIVE SALARY SURVEY

Explanations

Item A -- Indicate the number of full-time and part-time faculty employed by your college as of October 1, 1976.

1. Full-Time Teaching Faculty includes:
 - a. Full-time teaching on a regular full-time contract;
 - b. Part-time teaching on a released time basis but on a regular full-time contract.
2. Part-Time Teaching Faculty includes part-time staff members teaching only.
3. Other Faculty includes professional staff members such as counselors, librarians, and other staff members classified as faculty who do not teach.

Item B -- The normal yearly instructional course credit hours to be considered a full-time teaching faculty for an academic year (usually 9 months) is as follows:

1. If a teacher is expected to teach 15 course semester hours to be full-time, then the normal yearly instructional hours is 30 course semester hours. (Although the actual number may vary, report the amount normally expected.)
2. If your college has a combination of credit hours and contact hours to determine full-time equivalency, report the normal credit hours involved. The normal weekly class contact hours is the number of hours that the faculty member is expected to spend in the classroom during the week. (Although the number of class contact hours may vary, report the amount normally expected.)

Item C -- Use your institutional FTE (full-time-equivalent) definition applied to the members of the teaching faculty that you reported in Item A.

Item D -- Question 3 refers to the length of the academic year for the faculty and includes days of orientation or workshops prior to the first day of classes, as well as workshops or workdays after the last day of exams in the spring term.

Item E -- Salaries here should be based on actual contracted salaries for the academic year (9 months) for full-time teaching faculty. The median salary is the middle salary (an equal number of salaries would be both lower and higher than this salary.) The mean salary is the arithmetical average of all the salaries.

Item F -- The intent of Item F is to obtain the lowest salary on the salary schedule for a faculty member with a masters degree, as well as the highest salary for a faculty member with a masters degree plus maximum additional hours. Use your salary schedule or comparable document to answer these items for the academic year (usually 9 months). If there are no steps, please indicate N/A.

Item G -- The administrative salary data is based on a full yearly contract. Contractual salaries are to be reported without fringe benefits. For multi-campus institutions, Item G should be completed for each campus, as well as for the district central office. In addition to indicating the salary of each chief officer, indicate the administrative level by circling the appropriate code number. The campus administrator (Item G-2) refers to the chief campus administrative officer for a campus in a multi-campus district. Administrative level codes are shown below:

1. Chief executive of the district (Chancellor or President) reports directly to the Board of Trustees;
2. Second line administrator reports directly to chief executive of the district;
3. Third line administrator reports to the second line administrator.

Item H -- This should be an average for all faculty salaries. For example, if faculty salaries increase from $100,000 to $106,000, the average percent increase would be 6%. This same procedure should be used separating the merit increase from the schedule adjustments.

Item I -- These items refer to faculty organization on your campus. Please check the number of the appropriate organizations for each item. Check as many organizations as appropriate in each case. Note: If there are any unique features of your faculty contract, faculty salaries, administrative salaries, or other work conditions, please furnish an explanation along with this form. Also, if you have a 1976-77 salary schedule, please include a copy along with this form.
