ABSTRACT
This course outline provides information to be used by students in conjunction with Nursing 89, a seminar on the legal aspects of nursing to be offered starting in Spring 1982 at Diablo University (California). General information is provided first, including a class calendar, a statement defining the purpose of the course, an outline of long-range objectives, a course description, a glossary of terms, and a bibliography. The course outline then delineates the goals, learning objectives, readings, and sample test questions for each of eight course units: (1) laws in general; (2) the Nurse Practice Act and licensure; (3) contracts; (4) the Patient's Bill of Rights; (5) insurance and risk management; (6) liability, including issues such as negligence, malpractice, torts, and crime; (7) medical records audit and utilization review; and (8) wills. The outline concludes with a course/instructor evaluation form to be completed by the student at the end of the course. (JP)

Preface

I, as a professional nurse, feel that every person is accorded rights and privileges and that these rights are not relinquished when that person becomes a patient and enters into the health care system. It is important that every nurse is or becomes aware of these rights and of her responsibility to uphold them. For this reason, I have designed the following course, Seminar: Legal Perspectives of Nursing Practice, which will be taught to students in the professional nursing program - Bachelor of Science degree level. By providing the students with definitions and examples of the legal aspects of nursing, it is hoped that they will gain in knowledge and understanding, their legal responsibility to themselves, their patients, and the community-at-large; and that it will be maintained throughout their careers.

In the course design, the class calendar is included, showing the unit lecture dates, exam dates, and guest speaker dates. The purpose of the course contains a statement of major course goals and objectives based on the goals of the University. The course description and glossary of terms are self-explanatory. The bibliography contains a list of required and recommended texts as well as reference books, magazines, newsletters, films, and cassettes that are on reserve in the library for the student's use.
Each unit in this design contains an outline which is for the instructor's use only, a brief overview of each unit with goals and objectives (which the student will get), a list of reading assignments, and a sample of test questions. It is realized that the course is not all inclusive and that future references would be utilized.

The instructor's evaluation, at the end of the design, is also self-explanatory.

I have chosen the date, Spring 1982, to teach this course because if the curriculum was in operation, it would be the first time the course would be offered (that I would be able to teach).

Purpose of the Course

The primary purpose of the University is to provide a setting and an opportunity for individuals to acquire an understanding of a broad base of knowledge that will enable them to perform various functions according to societal norms. Within the framework of this philosophy, the School of Nursing offers a specially designed curriculum to permit the student to progressively develop theoretical and practical nursing skills so that upon completion, he or she will be sufficiently prepared for a career of professional nursing service. The course, Seminar: Legal Perspectives of Nursing Practice, has become a part of the curriculum in order to provide the student with a theoretical orientation to the types of law and legal ramifications essential to the practice of nursing, and will offer perspectives from which the nursing problems of patients and patient care can be viewed and explored.

This course was prepared especially for students so that they may gain:

1) The prerequisite to entry into the Clinical Nursing series of courses.

2) The units necessary towards a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing.

3) Knowledge of the legal responsibilities of a nurse within various settings of practice.
4) Information useful in the legal understanding of consumer-provider relations.

5) Insight into professional nursing status and liabilities of the same.

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

1) Relate the aspects of nursing law to actual clinical situations by:
   a) Successfully negotiating a work contract with a hospital based on a list of his or her qualifications and professional achievements.
   b) Correctly determining what type of consent, if any, is needed from a patient and obtaining it legally.
   c) Accurately determining that by acting or not acting appropriately in a situation would constitute negligence or malpractice, and taking appropriate steps to avoid it.
   d) Writing correct and appropriate nurse's notes for assigned patients.

2) Learn and practice nursing skills in a designated clinical setting with full knowledge of his or her legal responsibilities to the patient and the institution involved by:
   a) Always asking for supervision when doing procedures that have not been completely checked off on the skills inventory sheet, by supervisors in the clinical area.
Long-Range Course Objectives

The long-range objectives are included as a way for the instructor to assess the long-range effects of the course.

1) Within one year of completing the course, 95% of the students who are majoring in nursing will have received satisfactory clinical performance evaluations from their instructors with written evidence that the student has:
   a) acted professionally (in a considerate and respectful manner).
   b) taken necessary precautions to prevent or avoid causing an accident or injury to assigned patients.
   c) acted on behalf of, and has responded to the patient in terms of meeting his/her needs in a safe and professional manner.

2) Of the students who work in the local hospitals after graduation, 95% will continue to receive satisfactory performance evaluations based on the above and additional criteria.
Course Description

Nursing 89, Seminar: Legal Perspectives of Nursing Practice, is a required course in the nursing curriculum of Diablo University and is prerequisite to entry into the Clinical Nursing series of courses. This course may not be challenged or audited.

Nursing 89 is offered to all nursing students in the Spring semester of their Sophomore year. It is also offered as a summer interim course. A total of three hours of class (in 1-1/2 hour segments) will be provided weekly for fifteen weeks, utilizing guest speakers, films, discussions, and lectures.

The major focus of this course will be on the various legal concepts, terms, and conditions upon which nurses must base their practice. In order to study this, the course has been divided into 8 units, each with a set of goals and objectives. They explain what the student must achieve for each unit and how he or she can achieve it (this is explained in detail in a discussion of each unit). For each unit, it will be necessary for the student to read the listed assignments before class in order to participate in class discussions.

There will be four examinations, each worth 25% of the total course grade. Each test will contain 100 points, for a total of 400 points at the end of the course. Each student must obtain no less than 300 points or 75% in order to pass the course with a grade of C.

There will be several quizzes given in order to determine if students are having difficulties understanding the course material. These will be graded on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory basis.

The following office schedule has been set up for individual students or groups who have questions or need assistance with the course material:

- Monday 8-10 AM
  - 1-4 PM
- Wednesday 8-10 AM
- Friday 8-11 AM

It is anticipated that 85% of the students who take the course will meet the objectives and requirements, and will pass the course with a C or above.

For those students who must drop out for various reasons or who fail, the course will be offered during the first summer interim of each school year.
Glossary of Terms

Achievement - the expected accomplishment of the student at the end of the course.

Analyze - to break down into relevant parts, and explain on that basis.

Goal - the general outcome that is expected of each student at the end of each unit and at the end of the course.

Know - to be able to recognize or recall necessary information.

Objective - specific abilities, attitudes, and/or skills the student is expected to gain based on the goals of each unit and at the end of the course.

Perspective - a view of things in their true relationship to the subject.

Understand - to recognize, comprehend, and explain.

UNIT I

Laws in General

Laws make up the foundation of any society and everything within it. In order to understand laws specific to a given component, such as nursing, it is necessary to understand how law began, the types of law, and the role of the court system in the American Government.

I. Goal:
You will become familiar with the history, functions, sources, and types of law.

Objectives:
1) Verbally, in class, as a group of 5, you will trace the history and functions of law from one of the following perspectives:
   - Roman Empire
   - English
   - American
2) Verbally, in class, as a group of 5, you will describe the sources of American law and explain how the types of law relate to each source.
   - Organic law
   - Public law
   - Statutory law
   - Private law
   - Common law
   - Equity

II. Goal:
You will become familiar with the role of the court system of the American Government on the Federal and State levels.
UNIT I (cont'd)

II. (cont'd)

Objective: 1) Verbally, in class, in a group of 5, you will trace the functions of the court system on the State level or the Federal level. Give examples of cases heard in each court. (May trace one (1) example through each level if appropriate.)
UNIT I READINGS

1) Creighton, Helen. Law Every Nurse Should Know.

3) Streiff, C. J. (Ed.). Nursing and the Law (2nd ed.).
UNIT I TEST QUESTIONS

1) List the two major functions of all law.
   b)

2) Match the following terms related to law and the courts with the appropriate description of each:
   a) Probate court
   b) Organic law
   c) Statutory law
   d) Civil court
   e) Common law
   f) Criminal court

   ___ the Constitution of the U.S.
   ___ judge-made law
   ___ public cases are heard ___ where the previous decision stands ___ private cases are heard ___ administrative law
   ___ Wills

UNIT II
The Nurse Practice Act/Licensure

Each state has a set of laws governing the profession of Nursing. These laws offer a definition of professional nursing which provides guidelines upon which we base our practice and our professional conduct. Each state assures the public that the nurse is qualified to practice through licensure. The types and methods of licensure will be examined along with some of the problems that have arisen. (Pamphlet of the Nurse Practice Act will be provided.)

I. Goal: You will know the importance of the Nurse Practice Act (NPA) for the State of California.

Objectives: (In class without references)
1) You will correctly list all three components of the NPA.
2) You will be able to state correctly, in writing, in what body of law the California NPA is found.
3) You will be able to correctly identify all who are covered by the NPA.

II. Goal: You will be able to identify the various aspects of licensure in the State of California.

Objectives:

4) Given a list of statements, you will be able to select the applicable methods for licensure in the State of California. (90%)

5) You will be able to completely and correctly define licensure.

6) You will write in 50 words or less your position on institutional licensure.

UNIT III

Contracts

At one time or another, everyone will be exposed to a contract, whether formal or informal. This unit will briefly deal with the requirements for and types of contracts, as well as examples of valid, binding contracts nurses are exposed to. Labor relations and unions will be discussed. Various problems of contracts and breach of contracts will be cited.

I. Goal: You will understand the various types of contracts and the requirements which would make each type valid.

Objectives:
1) Given a list of the types of contracts, you will match them with a given list of descriptions of each. (80%)
2) Given a list of types of contracts, you will state in writing the requirements which would make each type valid. (70%)

II. Goal: You will understand the meaning of labor relations and the various groups connected with it.

Objective:
1) Outside of class, you will write a paper of 100-200 words, giving your position on unions in professional nursing and their influence on contracts.
UNIT III (cont'd)

III. Goal:
You will know the difference between legal and illegal (or valid and invalid) contracts and what constitutes breach of contract.

Objectives:
1) Given a set of situations describing contracts, you will state in writing whether each is legal or illegal. (80%)

2) Given a set of situations describing contracts, you will state in writing whether each is or is not a breach of contract. (80%)

UNIT IV

Patient's Bill of Rights

Every person is guaranteed certain rights and privileges based on statutory and common law. Just because a person becomes a patient does not mean that he or she gives up those rights upon entry into a health care system. In this unit, the American Hospital Association (AHA) Patient's Bill of Rights will be individually examined, along with consent and ethics, and how they relate to these rights. Also, the National League for Nursing’s Patient Bill of Rights will be reviewed.

I. Goal: You will be able to appropriately analyze the A.H.A. Patient Bill of Rights.

Objective: 1) Given a list of the rights, you will be able to verbally state why each right is necessary and appropriate, and give examples for each. (100%)

II. Goal: You will understand the various types of consent.

Objectives: 1) You will define in writing each type of consent. (80%)

2) Given a set of situations, you will determine what type of consent was obtained and whether it was legal or illegal. (80%)
UNIT IV (cont'd)

III. Goal:

You will understand the definition of ethics and the difference between morality and practicality.

Objective:

1) You will be able to completely and correctly define in writing the term Ethics. (100%)

2) Given a set of descriptions of issues that are moral versus practical, you will be able to verbally defend one position for each description.

UNIT V

Liability

Liability means responsibility. It is the basis of every profession. This unit will explore the nurse's personal and professional liability with an emphasis on negligence, malpractice, torts, and crimes.

I. Goal:
You will know the definitions of the terms: liability, tort, negligence, malpractice, crime.

Objectives:
1) Given a list of terms, you will match them with their correct definitions. (90%)
2) You will explain in writing the difference between malpractice and negligence; and tort and crime.

II. Goal:
You will be able to list the steps for handling an incident, accident, or injury.

Objectives:
1) Given a list of steps, you will be able to arrange them in order of occurrence. (100%)
2) Given a situation, you will correctly and completely fill out an accident report, and in writing, state who was notified, what other forms were filled out, and what the outcome was. (100%)
3) Given a set of situations, you will state in writing whether an incident/accident report is warranted and why. (80%)
UNIT V READINGS

UNIT V TEST QUESTIONS

1) Explain in 50 words or less the differences between the following:
   a) Malpractice and negligence -
   b) Tort and Crime -

2) The following is a list of steps for handling an accident with an injury. Arrange the list in the appropriate order of occurrence:

   ____ Notify the supervisor
   ____ Call the patient's doctor
   ____ Chart the incident in the nurse's notes
   ____ Check the patient
   ____ Fill out the accident report
   ____ Determine the extent of the injury
   ____ Carry out the Dr's. orders
UNIT VI OUTLINE

Insurance/Risk Management

I. Professional liability insurance
   A. Personal
      1. Benefits
   B. Institutional
      1. Risk management
   C. Workman's Compensation
UNIT VI
Insurance/Risk Management

For this unit, a guest speaker will explain the various forms of insurance available at the present time. A statement will be made about the effectiveness of risk management (self-insured hospitals) and about the correct procedures for obtaining Workman's Compensation.

I. Goal: You will know what type of insurance is available to you and how to receive Workman's Compensation.

Objectives:
1) Outside of class, you will write a paper of 100-150 words accepting or rejecting the need for personal insurance over and above that which a hospital you may work for provides.

UNIT VII
Medical Records, Audit, Utilization Review

The medical record is the basic unit of communication between the people who provide care for the patient. In this unit the legal aspects of the medical record, such as charting nurse’s notes, will be examined, and the purposes of audit and procedures for utilization review will be explained.

I. Goal: You will know what is legal and illegal in a medical record.

Objective: 1) Given a medical record, you will state verbally which parts are legal, which are illegal, and why. (90%)

II. Goal: You will be able to write appropriate nursing notes.

Objectives: 1) Given a set of nursing notes, you will note which have illegal terms, corrections, and/or are incomplete. (100%)

2) In class, you will write in 50-100 words three complete nurse’s notes with:
   a) no illegal terms or abbreviations
   b) 1-2 corrections. (100%)

III. Goal: You will understand the procedures for an audit and a utilization review.
UNIT VII (cont'd)

Objective: 1) In class, in groups of 5, you will present an audit or a utilization review of a given medical record, utilizing all of the steps for each. (100%)
UNIT VII READINGS

UNIT VII TEST QUESTIONS

1) In the following nurse’s notes, you will circle all of the illegal terms and abbreviations, circle all of the illegal corrections, and underline all of the notes that are incomplete.

UNIT VIII

WILLS

In this unit, a guest speaker will explain the laws regarding wills and the factors necessary for a valid will. The lecture will be continued with the execution of a will, the nurse's involvement, and the explanation of the term "Gift."

I. Goal:

You will understand the nurse's involvement in making valid wills and the related factors of such.

Objectives:

1) Outside of class, you will write a 150-200 word paper accepting or rejecting the idea of having a will.

2) In class, you will write a one-page paper explaining the nurse's involvement in the patient's making a will based on the factors necessary for validating the will. (90%)

3) Verbally, you will explain the difference between a will and a "Gift." (100%)
UNIT VIII READINGS

UNIT VIII TEST QUESTIONS

1) Write a paper, no longer than one page, explaining the nurse's involvement with a patient making a will in the hospital, and include the factors necessary for making the will valid.
Instructor's Evaluation

Courses must be periodically reassessed and revised in order to meet student and university needs, and the changing world in which they evolve. Procedures for revising this course would be carried out by the instructor in the following ways:

1) Each objective would be assessed for student gain, the students would be asked to define problems they had trying to meet the objective, and then based on that information, the objective would be rewritten (if necessary) for future use.

2) Student achievement would be assessed through quizzes (norm-referenced). Those students who received an unsatisfactory would be seen in consultation to determine what the problems were. If many students failed, the questions would be posed to the whole class and the quiz would be revised or dropped.

3) The examinations (criterion-referenced) would be handled as in #2; however, in addition, they would also be subject to statistical analyses such as item analysis to determine problems.

4) Course evaluations would be analyzed to determine what areas are in need of change. An example of the Course-Instructor Evaluation form is found in Figure 1.

5) Revisions would be made as new books were made available, and new law or legislation were passed.

6) The University would require revisions based on the needs of the school, the students, and the community.

It is estimated that 85% of the students will achieve 75% of the objectives. As noted in #1 above, each objective will be assessed for student gain after it is completed and then all will be reanalyzed at the end of the course to see if the estimates were factual.

For those students who are failing, it is hoped that through counseling or tutoring throughout the semester, they may be able to achieve the objectives. If they do not, the course will be offered to them during the first summer session. Since this is a required prerequisite course, those who have failed must retake the course and pass it in order to start the clinical nursing courses.
Course-Instructor Evaluation*

Courses are evaluated by students at the end of each semester in order to determine if revisions are needed in the course, and if the instructor's teaching methods need to be changed. Your instructor will receive a summary of the course evaluations in order to make the necessary revisions as indicated above. The instructors will not see these evaluations until all grades are recorded.

Please do not put your name on this paper or make any other marks that could identify you.

Please fill out the following blanks completely.
