ABSTRACT

This annotated listing of books is intended as a reference for anyone seeking an authoritative introduction to population and family planning information, as a world, family, or individual concern. For each entry, the International Standard Book Number (ISBN) is provided if available. The number preceding each reference represents the classification and call number of that book according to the Katharine Dexter McCormick Library system, a system designed specifically for family planning libraries. The content areas include: (1) birth control methods; (2) sterilization; (3) abortion; (4) infertility and the childless couple; (5) religious and ethical aspects; (6) genetics; (7) human reproduction; (8) andrology, gynecology, and obstetrics; (9) women's health; (10) women's movement; (11) birth control movement; (12) human sexuality; (13) human sexuality and the handicapped; (14) sexual abuse; (15) sexually transmitted diseases; (16) sexuality education for children; (17) sexuality education for teenagers; (18) sexuality education for young adults; (19) sexuality education for parents; (20) teenagers; (21) parenting; (22) professional education for sexuality educators; (23) professional education for health care services; (24) population; (25) population education; and (26) national fertility studies. Eight general reference books (e.g., a physician's desk reference, a medical dictionary, a sourcebook of sex therapy) and a list of publishers are also included. (LLL)

This annotated listing of books is intended as a handy reference for anyone seeking an authoritative introduction to population and family planning information, as a world, a family, or an individual concern. The interested layperson, the inquisitive student, the busy professional and the librarian whose expertise is not in this area, will all find the books listed here an excellent "small library in family planning." With two noted exceptions, only titles in print at the time of this compilation are listed.

For each entry, the ISBN (International Standard Book Number) is provided if available. It provides a unique identifying number for each published edition of a title. The number preceding each reference represents the classification and call number of that book according to the Katharine Dexter McCormick Library system, a system designed specifically for family planning libraries. Further information about the KDM Classification system may be obtained by referring to the KDM Library publication, A FAMILY PLANNING LIBRARY MANUAL.

1984 ABORTION PRACTICE, Warren H. Hern and Phillip G. Stubblefield. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1984. 340 p. $42.50. ISBN 0-397-50607-4. Presents a comprehensive picture of the public health aspects of abortion, day-to-day operation and management of an abortion practice, and recognition of the place of abortion services in the community. Emphasis is on surgical techniques, concentrating on the performance of abortion in an outpatient setting through 24 weeks' gestation.

- 0.5 ABORTION SURVEILLANCE: 1982-1983, Centers for Disease Control. Atlanta: CDC, Epidemiology Program Office, Feb. 1987. Published in Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, v.36, no. 1SS, pp. 11SS-42SS. Free on request. Irregular publication of annual summary of U.S. legal abortion data — demographic, mortality and morbidity numbers and rates.
- 2.31 INDUCED ABORTION: A WORLD REVIEW, 1986, 6th ed., Christopher Tietze and Stanley Henshaw. New York: Alan Guttmacher Institute, 1986. 143 p. $10.00. ISBN 0-939253-05-4. This factbook presents an overview of current international data on induced abortion, primarily from the public health, demographic and policy points of view. Graphs and charts detail the data in this definitive, all-encompassing work.
- 2.31 OUR RIGHT TO CHOOSE: TOWARD A NEW ETHIC OF ABORTION, Beverly Wildung Harrison. Boston: Beacon Press, 1983. 334 p. $18.95. ISBN 0-8070-1508-3. $10.95 (pbk). ISBN 0-8070-1509-1. Combining ethical, historical, religious and feminist viewpoints, the argument is presented that every woman's right to reproductive freedom and self-determination, including access to abortion, is a social good to which all women are entitled.
- 2.31 TAKING CHANCES: ABORTION AND THE DECISION NOT TO CONTRACEPT, Kristin Luker. Berkeley, Calif.: University of California Press, 1976. 207 p. $6.95. ISBN 0-520-03594-1. Suggests that risk-taking behavior regarding contraception is only one of a variety of similar risk-taking behaviors that ordinary people regularly engage in; therefore, not using contraception is more a social than a technological problem.

INFERTILITY AND THE CHILDLESS COUPLE

- 2.22 ADOPTION: PARENTHOOD WITHOUT PREGNANCY, Charlene Canape. New York: Henry Holt, 1986. 246 p. $18.95. ISBN 0-03-001594-4. Offers practical advice on coping with infertility, finding an agency or deciding upon independent adoption, surviving interviews, home studies and life after adoption. Includes a directory of public, private and international adoption agencies, support groups for single and married adoptive parents, and adoption exchanges.
- 2.22 ADOPTION FACTBOOK: UNITED STATES DATA, ISSUES, REGULATIONS AND RESOURCES, National Committee for Adoption. Washington, D.C.: NCA, 1985. 171 p. $25.00. Compilation of information on various aspects of adoption in the U.S., much of it previously unavailable. Includes statistics, summaries of adoption laws and regulations, a list of resources and organizations supporting adoption generally and for special groups, and discussion of current issues.
3. A BABY...MAYBE, rev. ed., Elizabeth M. Whelan. New York: Bobbs-Merrill, 1980. 256 p. $8.95. ISBN 0-672-52629-8. A guide to making one of the most important decisions of one's life. b
1987 BIOMEDICAL ETHICS: OPPOSING VIEWPOINTS, Julie S. Bach, ed. St. Paul, Minn.: Greenhaven Press, 1987. 216 p. $6.95. ISBN 0-89908-371-4. This anthology of essays presents a balance of opposing views, placed back to back, on the complex and sensitive ethical issues related to medicine. Covers genetic engineering, the latest reproductive technologies, organ transplants, and ethical standards for health care systems.

- 2.2 FRONTIERS IN FERTILITY, Betty Rothbart. New York: Planned R6.5 Parenthood Federation of America, 1985. 68 p. $5.00. A report on f the Symposium on Human Fertility Regulation: Technological Fron-1985 tiers and Their Implications, convened by Planned Parenthood on Dec. 14 and 15, 1984, in New York City. This explores the many complex controversial medical, legal, and ethical issues raised by recent breakthroughs in new reproductive technologies. Specifically addresses alternatives in contraception, gender selection, fetal diagnosis and fetal therapy, maternal substance abuse and forced cesarean section, late abortion and treatment of seriously ill neonates.
6. LOVE & SEX: A MODERN JEWISH PERSPECTIVE, Robert
 G6.8 Gordis. New York: Farrar, Straus & Giroux, 1978. 290 p. $8.95.
 l ISBN 0-374-19252-9. Discusses recent changes in sexual attitudes 1978 and practices, the instability of marriage and the incidence of divorce, the morality and social utility of birth control and other contemporary issues, and stresses the historic Jewish teaching in the areas of sex and love.
6. MAKING BABIES: THE NEW SCIENCE AND ETHICS OF CON-
 S5 CEPTION, Peter Singer and Deane Wells. New York: Scribner's, m 1985. 245 p. $14.95. ISBN 0-684-18371-4. Addresses the ethical, moral and legal questions raised by the new technologies for infer-tile couples, such as in vitro fertilization, artificial insemination, embryo freezing, surrogate motherhood. Discusses risks, screening, fetal rights and future technological developments.
6. PRINCIPLES OF BIOMEDICAL ETHICS, 2nd ed., Tom L.
 B4.7 Beauchamp and James F. Childress. New York: Oxford University p Press, 1983. 382 p. $24.95. ISBN 0-19-503285-3. $15.95 (pbk).
 1983 ISBN 0-19-503286-1. A systematic analysis of the moral principles that should apply to biomedicine. A holistic approach is used to examine the professional/patient relationship and ideals, virtues, and integrity.
6. RELIGION AND SEXUALITY: JUDAIC-CHRISTIAN VIEWPOINTS H5.8 IN THE USA, John M. Holland, ed. San Francisco: Association of r Sexologists, 1981. 69 p. $5.95. ISBN 0-939902-00-1. A collection of 1981 essays representing Jewish, Catholic and Protestant views on sexuality. The concluding chapter provides a secular viewpoint and response to these expositions.
6. REPRODUCTIVE ETHICS, Michael D. Bayles. Englewood Cliffs, B4.6 N.J.: Prentice-Hall, 1984. 141 p. $12.95. ISBN 0-13-773904-4. By r the presentation of cases, some real and some fictional, the morality 1984 of human reproduction is considered in light of recent changes and discoveries. Topics include: contraception and conception; genetic choice; abortion; childbirth, defective newborns; and the reproductive technology of the future.
6. SEXUAL MORALITY: A CATHOLIC PERSPECTIVE, Philip S.
 K3.5 Keane. New York: Paulist Press: 1978. 236 p. $8.95. ISBN 0-8091-s 2070-4. Maintaining that the Roman Catholic tradition does have a 1978 worthwhile viewpoint on human sexuality, the author surveys moral perspectives rather than attempting to analyze thoroughly individual sexual questions.

GENETICS

- 2.62.1 GENETIC ENGINEERING: THREAT OR PROMISE?, Laurence E. Karp. Chicago: Nelson-Hall, 1976. $22.95. ISBN 0-88229-261-7. $11.95 (pbk). ISBN 0-88229-460-1. Explains the principles of genetics, their role in diagnosis and therapy of disease, and their application in reproductive engineering. Chapters cover counseling, eugenics, screening, prenatal diagnosis, artificial insemination, sex determination and new reproductive technologies. Definitions of genetic jargon facilitate the understanding of the engineering concepts which are described in terms of their controversial aspects.
- 2.7 REPRODUCTIVE GENETICS AND THE LAW, Sherman Elias and George J. Annas. Chicago: Year Book Medical Publishers, 1987. 323 p. $41.50. ISBN 0-8151-3062-7. Surveys the legal and ethical questions regarding genetics and new reproductive technologies and their social implications. Includes chapters on the principles of human genetics, genetics counseling, screening and prenatal diagnosis, and more. An extensive bibliography follows the scholarly but readable work.
- 2.62.1 THE TENTATIVE PREGNANCY: PRENATAL DIAGNOSIS AND THE FUTURE OF MOTHERHOOD, Barbara Katz Rothman. New York: Viking, 1986. 274 p. $17.95. ISBN 0-670-80841-5. Examines the impact of prenatal diagnosis upon mothers and motherhood, drawing upon testimonies of over 120 women who experienced amniocentesis. Describes genetic counseling, the decision-making process, termination of pregnancy, and feelings of grief and loss that may result.

HUMAN REPRODUCTION

- 2.6 BIRTH WITHOUT VIOLENCE, Frederick Leboyer. New York: Knopf, 1975. 114 p. $14.95. ISBN 0-394-49581-0. The author presents his unique yet simple techniques for easing the birth trauma and helping the new human being to start life without pain, confusion and fear. Includes photographs of a baby born without violence.
- 2.6a BOY OR GIRL?, rev. and updated, Elizabeth M. Whelan. New York: Bobbs-Merrill, 1984. 155 p. $10.95. ISBN 0-672-52811-8. Presents a survey of progress in the field of sex determination and, within that context, sets forth recommendations for couples who would like to increase their chances in selecting the sex of their offspring.
- 2.6 A CHILD IS BORN, Lennart Nilsson. New York: Dell, 1986. 160 p. $12.95. ISBN 0-440-51215-8. Contains over 100 photographs dealing with human reproduction and fetal development. The text includes advice to expectant parents.
