ABSTRACT

In spring 1993, as part of the program review process at William Rainey Harper College (WRHC) in Palatine, Illinois, surveys were sent to former students in the college's Secretarial Science programs who had attended WRHC during the previous five years. Surveys were sent to 102 executive secretaries (ES's), 57 legal secretaries (LS's), 200 certified professional secretaries (CPS's), and 213 former students who had attended lower level secretarial courses. Target group categories were determined by former students' majors, and by the courses they had taken. Among these four groups, usable surveys were returned by 44, 28, 84, and 84 former students respectively, for response rates of 43.1%, 49.1%, 42%, and 39.4%. Study findings included the following: (1) among ES's, 72% were working full-time and 85% were working in a field closely related to an ES; (2) among LS's, 93% were working full-time and 72% were working in a field closely related to LS; (3) for both ES's and LS's, starting salaries were about $18,000 per year, while current salaries were around $25,500; (4) in general, both ES's and LS's indicated that their preparation matched the frequency with which they performed certain skills; (5) among CPS's, 56% had completed all six courses in the series, and more than half passed state exams after one or two attempts; (6) 80% of CPS's preferred WRHC's present pass/fail option; and (7) among students who had taken lower-level secretarial courses, 47% indicated they needed new skills to re-enter the workforce. Tabulated responses for all surveyed groups and the survey instruments are included. (PAA)

ABSTRACT

THE PURPOSE OF THESE STUDIES WAS TO FOLLOW-UP VARIOUS VARIETIES OF FORMER SECRETARIAL SCIENCE STUDENTS AS PART OF THE PROGRAM REVIEW PROCESS. THE FOUR GROUPS SURVEYED WERE EXECUTIVE SECRETARIES, LEGAL SECRETARIES, CERTIFIED PROFESSIONAL SECRETARIES AND ATTENDEES OF LOWER LEVEL COURSES. AFTER TWO MAILINGS OF SURVEYS TO THESE GROUPS, THE RESPONSE RATES RANGED FROM 39 TO 49 PERCENT. SAMPLE SIZED RANGED FROM 57 TO 213.

RESULTS OF THESE STUDIES INDICATED THAT EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES WERE VERY GOOD FOR BOTH EXECUTIVE AND LEGAL SECRETARIES BUT THE SALARY LEVELS TENDED TO BE LOW. SPECIFIC COURSES WERE LISTED AS BEING MOST HELPFUL AS WELL AS OTHER COURSES LISTED AS BEING LEAST HELPFUL. THE SKILLS ARE LISTED IN RANK ORDER OF THE FREQUENCY OF THEIR USAGE. IN GENERAL, THE PREPARATION FOR THESE SKILLS MATCHES WELL THE FREQUENCY THEY ARE USED.

OVER HALF OF THE CERTIFIED PROFESSIONAL SECRETARY STUDENTS HAVE COMPLETED ALL SIX COURSES IN THE SERIES AND ABOUT THREE QUARTERS WHO TAKE STATE EXAMS PASS THEM AFTER ONE OR TWO ATTEMPTS. ABOUT 40 PERCENT OF THIS GROUP HAVE RECEIVED STATE PROFESSIONAL SECRETARY CERTIFICATION AND AMONG THESE OVER HALF HAVE RECEIVED SOME TYPE OF RECOGNITION FROM THEIR EMPLOYER.

Purpose

The purpose of these studies was to follow-up various varieties of former secretarial science students at Harper College as a part of the Program Review process. The study examined their current status and their evaluation of the program. The studies were requested by the Coordinator of the Secretarial Science Programs.

Populations Studied and Methodology

The four populations studies were all enrolled at some time during the last five years and were further defined as follows:

Category	Major	Courses
Executive Secretary	Executive Secretary	Either SEC/237 or 238
Legal Secretary	Legal Secretary	Either SEC/237 or 238
Certified Professional Secretary	None required	Either SEC/260, 261, 262, 263, 264, or 265
Office and Administrative Services	None required	Any two SEC course but none of the above.

Three different surveys - the same one was used by both legal and executive secretaries - were designed jointly by the Office of Planning and Research and the Coordinator of the Secretarial Science Program. The surveys and the cover letters used are shown in the Appendix.

These surveys were mailed to the homes of students sampled from each of the four groups of Secretarial Science students. A second survey was mailed to non-respondents three weeks later. After these two mailings, the following response rates were achieved:

Group	Sample Size	Number of Completed Responses	Response Rate
Executive Secretary	102	44	43.1%
Legal Secretary	57	28	49.1%
Certified Professional Secretary	200	84	42.0%
Office and Administrative Services	213	84	39.4%

Discussion of Results

Among executive secretaries, 72 percent were working full time, 85 percent were working in a closely related field to an executive secretary and only 5 percent were in an undesired situation - unemployed, part-time not by choice or working in an unrelated field. As far as work location, 59 percent were employed in-district and 92 percent were employed either in-district or in a surrounding suburb. Among legal secretaries, 93 percent were working full time, 72 percent were working in a field closely related to a legal secretary and only 7 percent were in an undesired situation. Most of both groups worked in a very small company - under 50 employees - or in a very large company - over 1,000 employees. The starting salaries for both groups were about $18,000 and their current salaries were around $25,500. This is far below the average starting salary for all career alumni of $24,000 in 1990 and even farther below the starting salary of nurses and dental hygienists.

Courses which most helped executive secretaries were Office Procedures, Business Writing, Lotus, Internship and Intermediate Typing. Courses which were of least help to them were Economics and Business Ethics. Courses which were of most benefit to legal secretaries were Legal Office Procedures, Shorthand, and Internship. Courses which were least helpful to this group were Accounting and Economics.

Skills used frequently by executive secretaries were computers, file retrieval for paper documents, telephone and human relation skills. Skills used often were WordPerfect, set up filing systems, computer disk filing system, composing letters, sending and receiving messages by electronic mail, meeting planning by electronic mail, decision making skills and organizing and planning.

Skills used frequently by legal secretaries were computers, file retrieval of paper documents, telephone and organizing and planning. Skills they used often were Word Perfect, machine transcription, set up filing system, use computer disk filing system, composing letters, sending and receiving messages by electronic mail, decision making skills and human relation skills. Legal skills used often were contracts, real estate transactions, corporate legal instruments, complaints - petitions, summonses, citations, answers, notices, orders and judgments and decrees.

In general students indicated their preparation matched the frequency they performed certain skills. Students were well prepared in skills that were performed frequently while they were not so well prepared in skills that were almost never performed.

About 58 percent of these executive and legal secretaries would be interested in attending alumni events with most preferring dinner at Harper or a nearby restaurant. Most would prefer to attend the event with spouses and that it be in the $10-$25 price range. A number of teachers and intern sponsors were also suggested to attend.

Among professional certified secretaries, 62-74 percent have taken each of the 6 courses in the series and 56 percent have taken all 6 courses. They felt a little better than fairly well prepared for each exam after taking the corresponding course. The percent taking the exam after taking the corresponding courses ranged from 87-100 percent. Upon taking the exam, 68-82 passed after 1 or 2 attempts.

The most frequently cited reasons for not taking all the courses in the series were that some self studied for some exams, job commitments, and some were still planning to take all 6 courses in the future. About 40 percent of this group were now a State certified CPS and of those who are about 60 percent they have received some sort of recognition, although for some, it is only a letter of congratulations.

Most of these CPS students - 80 percent - prefer the present pass/fail option and over 90 percent have taken their courses on Harper's main campus. Some 22 percent have received Harper's certificate upon completion of the 6 courses and another 18 percent will apply upon completion of the 6 courses while the others are either not interested or are not aware of Harper's completion certificate. As far as professional involvement, 17 percent are a member of Professional Secretaries International.

The interest in those enrolled in Office and Administrative courses was marketing with the questions relating to how they are reached and what are their interests. These students find out about the Secretarial Science Program through the Harper catalog (35%), the Harper newspaper schedule (23%), high school counselors (11%), and newspaper ads or articles (10%). The reasons most often cited for their taking secretarial courses were - need new skills to re-enter the work force (47%), personal satisfaction (43%), and required courses for their major area of study (27%).

Only 27 percent feel they have a specific person or source to contact about taking future courses. In terms of quality of courses, 91 percent said Harper's equipment matches or is of equal quality to equipment used on their job. Also 95 percent stated courses were offered at convenient times. The courses they were most interested in taking in the future were the Certified Professional Secretary series, Advanced Word Processing Techniques and the Professional Development course.

Major Conclusions

Employment opportunities were very good for both executive and legal secretaries, but the salary levels tended to be low. Specific courses were listed as being most helpful as well as other courses listed as least helpful. The skills are listed in rank order of the frequency of their usage. In general, the preparation for these skills matches well the frequency they are used.

Over half of the Certified Professional Secretary students have completed all 6 courses in the series and about three quarters who take State exams pass them after one or two attempts. About 40 percent of this group have received State Professional Secretary certification and among those, over half have received some type of recognition from their employer.

Spring 1993

Dear Student:

The Secretarial Department is doing a Program Review this year. Because of this, we would like to take this opportunity to obtain some information from you about your experiences at Harper College. Any information you give us will help in our planning for the future and help us to be sure that we are meeting the needs of our students.

The information you supply will be kept confidential and will be used only in combination with answers received from other students. The number on the survey enables us to remove your name from the mailing list when your completed response is received. This saves us the cost of a second follow-up mailing in addition to a follow-up telephone call to non-respondents. For your convenience in returning the questionnaire we have enclosed a self-addressed envelope.

Your response to this survey is great appreciated -- Your Input is Important!

Very truly yours,

Margaret Smith, Coordinator
Secretarial Program
