SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds that—

- (1) undernutrition along with environmental factors associated with poverty can permanently retard physical growth, brain development, and cognitive functioning of children;
- (2) the longer a child's nutritional, emotional, and educational needs go unmet, the greater the likelihood of cognitive impairment;
- (3) low-income children who attend school hungry score significantly lower on standardized tests than non-hungry low-income children; and
- (4) supplemental nutrition programs under the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1751 et seq.) and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.) can help to offset threats posed to a child's capacity to learn and perform in school which results from inadequate nutrient intake.

SEC. 3. SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.

It is the sense of the Congress that—

- (1) funds should be made available for child nutrition programs to remove barriers to the participation of needy children in the school lunch program, school breakfast program, summer food service program for children, and the child and adult care food program under the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1751 et seq.) and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.);
- (2) the Secretary of Agriculture should take actions to further strengthen the efficiency of child nutrition programs by streamlining administrative requirements to reduce the administrative burden on participating schools and other meal providers; and
- (3) as a part of efforts to continue to serve nutritious meals to youths in the United States and to educate the general public regarding health and nutrition issues, the Secretary of Agriculture should take actions to coordinate the nutrition education efforts of all nutrition programs.

PURPOSE

The purpose of H.R. 8, the Healthy Meals for Healthy Americans Act, is to reauthorize and improve expiring nutrition programs under the National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966. These programs include: the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC); School Breakfast Startup and Expansion program, Homeless Preschoolers Nutrition Program, Summer Food Service Program, Nutrition Education and Training (NET), and the National Food Service Management Institute (NFSMI).

COMMITTEE ACTION

H.R. 8, the Healthy Meals for Healthy Americans was introduced by Mr. Kildee, Mr. Ford (of Michigan), and Mr. Goodling on January 5, 1993.

Hearings were held in Washington, D.C., on February 23, 1993, July 21, 1993, November 17, 1993, March 24, 1994, April 12, 1994, and April 14, 1994.

H.R. 8 was amended and approved by the Subcommittee on Elementary, Secondary, and Vocational Education on May 4, 1994. On May 18, 1994, the full Committee on Education and Labor ordered the bill favorably reported, as amended, by voice vote.

SUMMARY

plemental Food Program for Women, Infants, and Children; proposes changes making qualitative improvements and adding administrative flexibility in child nutrition programs under the National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966; and extends child nutrition programs or projects that have proven themselves useful tools against childhood hunger, and therefore essential elements for learning. These programs include the summer food service program, the commodity distribution program, the nutrition education and training (NET) program, the school breakfast start-up grant program, the homeless pre-school nutrition program, and the authorization of funding for State Administrative Expenses and the Food Service Management Institute.

In 1993, the National School Lunch program served 4.2 billion lunches to about 25 million participating children, fifty-five percent of whom received meals free or at a reduced price. An average of 5.6 million children participated in the School Breakfast program. Children in 92,900 public and private schools and institutions had access to the national school lunch program. This access is essential given that low-income children consume one-third to one-half of their nutritional intake at school.

The connection between proper nutrition and education achievement is clear. A 1987 study of the impact of participation in the school breakfast program in Lawrence, Massachusetts, found an improvement in the achievement test scores, tardiness rates, and absenteeism after a school breakfast program was introduced. Research also indicates that inadequate nutrition may be far more serious than previously thought; that supplemental feeding programs can help to offset threats posed to a child's capacity to learn and perform in school which result from inadequate nutrient intake; and that summer food programs are critical for continuous provision of nutrients and calories for good health.

The health-related benefits of nutrition programs are equally important. Research indicates that each dollar spent on WIC saves between $1.92 and $4.21 in averted Medicaid costs for newborns and mothers. The U.S. General Accounting Office estimates that the 1990 Federal expenditures for WIC benefits for pregnant women will avert more than $1 billion in health-related costs over the next 18 years.

The Fiscal Year 1995 Budget Resolution assumes approximately $6 million in new entitlement authority beyond that necessary to continue existing child nutrition programs. Therefore, the Committee could not adopt amendments that would have expanded these entitlement programs beyond the available $6 million. The Committee proposes to allocate this authority so that: (1) children who meet the income eligibility requirements for Head Start are automatically eligible for the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP); (2) a new pilot program is established providing the meals and supplements to older children outside of school hours in the same manner as meals are provided under CACFP; and (3) the Commodity Interest of Credit Program (CLOC) is modified.

H.R. 8 also proposes a number of changes designed to reduce paperwork and introduce increased flexibility into the child nutrition programs. These changes include: broad new waiver authority that will allow the Secretary to waive burdensome rules and regulations; a pilot program under which schools will serve free breakfasts and lunches; requiring the Secretary of Agriculture to simplify and combine the school breakfast and lunch program; and establishing a new provision allowing schools to receive their previous year's total reimbursement adjusted for inflation thereby making it unnecessary to collect eligibility forms for a period of 4 years.

Major changes proposed in the WIC program include: increasing the funding available for breastfeeding promotion; allowing a pregnant woman to be considered income eligible for WIC if she will be considered as such once her child is born and her family size has increased by one; adding alcoholism, drug abuse, and pregnancy to the list of nutritional risk factors; and establishing a grant program to improve infrastructure and fund special projects of national and regional significance.

Good nutrition is critical to a child's ability to reach his or her full potential in mind and body and become a productive citizen. Undernourished children are less physically active, less attentive, and less independent and curious. They are more anxious and less responsive socially and cannot concentrate as well. As a result, their reading ability, verbal skills, and motor skills suffer. The improvements proposed by H.R. 8 will increase the effectiveness of child nutrition programs and in turn will help children succeed in school.

BACKGROUND AND EXPLANATION OF THE BILL

The National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 provide authority for Federal financing of eight meal service and nutrition programs. These programs, for which Federal cash and commodity support exceeded $7 billion in FY 1993, are the school lunch, school breakfast, child care food, summer food service, special milk, nutrition education and training (NET), State administrative expenses, and commodity distribution programs. Child nutrition programs provide food aid indirectly to children through institutions that operate meal services for children in schools, child care facilities, and summer programs. Meal service programs are designed to assist institutions in offering nutritionally balanced meals to children in their care. The programs are administered at the Federal level by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and are financed annually under agricultural appropriations laws.

Federal support for child nutrition programs originated during the Great Depression when commodities bought by the government to relieve the price depressing effect of farm surpluses were donated to schools for lunch programs. The National School Lunch Act (NSCLA) was enacted in 1946, at the end of World War II, because so many draftees had failed their physical examinations due to nutrition related deficiencies. The stated purpose of the act was, and is today, "as a measure of national security, to safeguard the health and well-being of the Nation's children." More lower income children receive free or reduced price meals under child nutrition programs than receive benefits under the food stamp or aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) programs. Federal cash and commodity support for school meal programs represents the second single largest source of Federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, and aid for the child and adult care food program is the single largest source of direct Federal support for children in day care. Approximately one-half of the 25 million meals served per day are provided free or at reduced-price to children from low-income families.

The authority for eleven child nutrition programs or projects will expire at the end of FY 1994 unless legislation extending them is enacted. These include the summer food service program, the commodity distribution program, the nutrition education and training (NET) program, the State administrative expenses (SAE) program; the school breakfast start-up grant program; the homeless pre-school children's project; a two-State demonstration project providing alternative eligibility for the child care food program for proprietary child care facilities; authority for the continuation of Cash/CLOC commodity alternative schools; and the authorization of funding for the Food Service Management Institute. The school lunch, school breakfast, child and adult care food, and special milk programs are permanently authorized.

SENSE OF THE CONGRESS

Section 2 of H.R. 8, the Healthy Meals for Healthy Americans Act of 1994, contains findings concerning the dangers of undernutrition and how the Federal child nutrition programs help offset the threats posed by hunger. Section 3 is a sense of the Congress that funds need to be provided for these programs so that they can serve more needy children.

As previously stated, the 1995 Budget Resolution allowed for very little program growth above current services. The Committee had approximately $6 million in new entitlement authority to fund new initiatives and make improvements to existing programs. Many ideas for improving the programs and better addressing the nutritional needs of our children and youth could not be considered due to these budget constraints. The Committee hopes that resources for these programs will become available to make possible improvements such as: expanding summer food service; providing after school snacks under the school lunch program for all interested schools; making for-profit child care centers eligible for the Child and Adult Care Food Program if 25 percent of the enrolled children are eligible for free or reduced price lunches; and simplifying administrative procedures by allowing schools to participate in a comprehensive school nutrition program rather than requiring them to participate in as many as 4 different programs in order to serve the needs of hungry children in the community.

The Committee is keenly aware of the connection between adequate funding for the Federal nutrition programs and the success of the education programs under its jurisdiction. The mission of the classroom and the cafeteria are the same—to help children reach their full potential for achieving their goals as adults.

The Committee also encourages better coordination between the multiple nutrition education programs administered by the Department of Agriculture. The approximately $200 million used for nutrition education Department-wide could be spent more efficiently if the efforts to provide education to nutrition program participants were better coordinated.

AUTHORITY OF SECRETARY TO WAIVE STATUTORY AND REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS

The Committee feels strongly that Federal assistance for child nutrition programs should be provided in a way which eliminates unnecessary administrative burdens, paperwork, overly prescriptive regulations; and permits flexibility in the implementation of these programs. Therefore, H.R. 8 gives the Secretary of Agriculture broad authority to waive statutory and regulatory requirements under the National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966. There are, however, certain conditions required for granting a waiver: the facilitation of the implementation of the program; appropriate public notification; and no increase in the cost of the program. The waiver cannot be for more than three years.

States may request waivers on behalf of themselves, or eligible service providers by submitting an application to the Secretary. The application must: identify the statutory or regulatory requirements to be waived; describe the actions the State has taken to remove statutory or regulatory barriers; describe the goals, including management goals, and the expected outcomes of the waiver; describe the impediments interfering with the efficient operation of the program; describe the procedure for implementation; and describe the process for monitoring progress in implementing the waiver.

Waivers may be granted if the Secretary determines that the waiver would facilitate the ability of the State or service provider to carry out the purposes of the applicable program, the entity seeking the waiver has provided public notice regarding the request, and the waiver will not increase the overall cost of the program to the Federal government.

There are a number of provisions in the law which cannot be waived including the nutritional content of meals served; the Federal reimbursement rates; the provision of free and reduced price meals; the offer versus serve provisions; limits on the price charged for a reduced price meal; maintenance of effort; and enforcement of any constitutional or statutory rights of an individual.

One example of where a school may want to request a waiver would be to address instances where a child who receives free or reduced price meals brings his or her lunch to school but is not able to receive free milk. The Committee has been informed that there are instances where such children accept their meals under the school lunch program, only to throw away everything but their milk. A waiver would permit schools to serve children free milk on such occasions. Other examples would be requesting waivers to allow programs to contribute leftovers, if any, to soup kitchens or allowing children in the summer food service program to take leftovers home in a manner that will not jeopardize their health.

Reports describing and evaluating the effects of the waiver are also required.

NEGOTIATED RULEMAKING

H.R. 8 continues the practice begun by the Committee on 1988 by including language to require the Department of Agriculture to participate in a negotiated rulemaking process prior to issuing certain proposed regulations. The Committee has previously included similar language with respect to the Secretary of Education in bills reauthorizing the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the Higher Education Act, and the Vocational Educational Act.

The negotiated rulemaking process strengthens the implementation of programs by ensuring early consultation between the Federal government and those involved with programs prior to proposed regulations being issued. Such consultation involves notice of what the Department expects to do in its proposed regulations and the opportunity for discussion between appropriate groups and individuals and the Department which can involve the use of a negotiator. Consultation is important because it provides an opportunity for frank discussions as opposed to soliciting input without first providing specific information regarding what the Department is considering for proposed regulations in a specific area.

COMMODITY LETTER OF CREDIT (CLOC)

As reported, H.R. 8 includes several provisions related to the use of a commodity letter of credit (CLOC) to purchase commodities under the School Lunch Program. Under this option, schools receive a CLOC in lieu of actual commodities but must purchase the same surplus commodity the Department of Agriculture is removing from the marketplace during the period of time specified by the Department.

H.R. 8 includes 3 provisions related to CLOC. Current law authorizes 60 sites to receive their commodity entitlement in an alternative form—either cash in lieu of commodities, or a commodity letter of credit. The first provision makes the cash/CLOC demonstration project permanent. It does not allow for expansion, but simply allows current participants to continue to use this option which they have been operating under for more than 10 years.

The second provision would allow school districts to use 10 percent of their entitlement commodities in the form of a CLOC to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables. Witnesses testifying before the Subcommittee on Elementary, Secondary and Vocational Education expressed their frustration with the current commodity system and its inability to provide them with fresh fruits and vegetables which are in good condition. As a result, schools often refuse to accept these items at the same time they are attempting to increase the use of fresh fruits and vegetables in the diets of school children through the School Lunch Program.

Testimony indicated that school districts in areas where agricultural products are locally grown are often provided fruits and vegetables from other States when it is more convenient to buy locally and to buy in a form and size most acceptable for students. For example, Washington apples are often shipped to Pennsylvania in a size too large for an elementary school child to consume. Under this provision, a school could purchase apples locally in a preferable size. In addition, the Committee expects this provision to benefit the local agriculture community through increased purchases of locally-grown fruits and vegetables.

Until such time as a new mechanism can be put into place which can provide schools with such commodities in good condition, this provision provides schools with an option.

The third and final provision provides for one statewide CLOC demonstration. The purpose of this provision is to address a concern expressed by the agriculture community that the current cash/CLOC demonstration has not been broad enough to allow for a determination of whether or not CLOC is as effective as the current system for removing surplus commodities from the marketplace. No State would be required to apply to participate in this demonstration and 80 percent of the school districts in the State must agree to take part in the project before they could apply to participate.

NONPROCUREMENT DEBARMENT

H.R. 8 contains a new section relating to nonprocurement debarment under certain child nutrition programs.

Testimony and information provided by the Department of Justice about the growing number of successful prosecutions for bid rigging, price fixing, and other anticompetitive activities affecting Federal child nutrition programs prompted the Committee to adopt a new section to the National School Lunch Act. This provision addresses the debarment practices of the Department of Agriculture when dealing with companies engaged in fraud and anticompetitive activities, actions which have the effect of depriving our nation's children of healthy, nutritious meals.

This new section requires the Secretary of Agriculture to initiate debarment proceedings under certain circumstances and in set time periods when in receipt of information which may lead to debarment. For example, these provisions would be applicable if a contractor committed an action or series of actions which would constitute a substantial and material violation of a regulation of a child nutrition program of the Department of Agriculture. If a party is found guilty, the Secretary is required to debar guilty parties for periods of 3 or 5 years unless there exists good cause for reducing this time period.

In addition to bid rigging, it is the intent of the Committee to address instances where a provider misrepresented a product or knowingly provided a product which did not meet contract specifications, such as "Buy American."

Lastly, this new section requires the Secretary of Agriculture in conjunction with other parties to provide training and guidance to local agencies regarding the means of identifying and preventing fraud and anticompetitive activities when they are procuring products for the child nutrition programs.

UNIVERSAL PILOT PROGRAM

The Committee wishes to expand its knowledge regarding the value of the Universal School Meal concept and explore how it would affect school districts in a variety of settings across the country. The universal meals concept assumes that meals provided in a school are served free to all children, or "universally" free. A universal program could fight childhood hunger, help schools reallocate resources from paperwork to implementing the dietary guidelines, provide an incentive for students to stay in school, promote participation by students in the free and reduced-price income categories by eliminating the income identification stigma associated with the program, and help schools use the criteria as a learning laboratory for nutrition education.

The report to be issued regarding the pilots will examine a variety of important factors including a comparison of the quality of the meals; an evaluation of the meals by students, parents and administrators; the participation rate changes caused by the initiation of universal service; and a comparison of the administrative costs under the program with those under the current school lunch and school breakfast programs. By examining the data in this report, the Committee will be able to judge the value of a universal system more accurately.

Under the universal pilot, and school continues to receive the same reimbursement amounts from the school lunch and school breakfast programs, adjusted for inflation and enrollment fluctuations, as it received before entering the pilot program. The additional funds the school needs to create a universal school lunch and school breakfast program must come from non-Federal funds and/or the funds appropriated for this pilot.

Based on the amount of funds appropriated, the Secretary should choose from proposals submitted by a variety of elementary, middle, and high school programs serving students from different socioeconomic backgrounds in urban and rural areas. Choosing a variety of schools for participation will demonstrate the benefits and costs of a universal program in different settings.

Fifteen million dollars is authorized to be appropriated for this program and must be funded under the discretionary authority of the Appropriations Committee, not the entitlement authority. Therefore, it does not count against the $6 million available to the Committee for new initiatives.

NUTRITION REQUIREMENTS

The Committee reported bill contains several amendments designed to help improve the nutritional content of the school meals. The bill requires the Secretary to provide technical assistance to sponsoring institutions in their efforts to meet the nutritional requirements of the programs, with additional assistance being provided to those institutions that are having difficulty complying with such requirements. The Department is expected to issue proposed regulations updating the current meal pattern in the near future. The Committee supports the Department's efforts to incorporate current nutrition knowledge into the meal requirements of the child nutrition programs and views technical assistance as an important feature of insuring that the new nutritional content requirements are implemented effectively.

H.R. 8 includes provisions requiring the overall quality of the commodities provided to schools to be improved and requires all such commodities to be properly labeled concerning nutritional content so that they can be used effectively in planning nutritious meals.

An amendment was adopted by the Committee which requires that the nutrient requirements of the School Lunch Program shall be based, at minimum, on not less than a weekly average of the minimum nutrient requirements. In order to achieve a proper balance between reducing dietary excesses and offering foods familiar to children that they like and will eat, which will maintain or expand participation, it is the Committee's firm intent that a weekly average, at a minimum, is the best way to guide the meal planning process with the greatest amount of local flexibility. Therefore, the nutrient content of a single food item or meal is not an appropriate measure of the nutritional merit of school meals. Limiting nutrient content to a single food item or meal to comply with minimum nutrition requirements is contrary to the intent of the amendment adopted in Committee. In meeting the nutritional requirements, the Committee urges that foods which are naturally good sources of vitamins and minerals should be emphasized over foods which have been enriched with vitamins and minerals.

H.R. 8, as amended, modifies current law relating to the provision of milk in the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs. Section 9 (a)(2) of the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1758 (a)(2)) requires that lunches served by schools participating in the school lunch program offer fluid whole and unflavored lowfat milk. The amendment adopted by the Committee modifies current law to simply require schools to offer students fluid milk consistent with prior year demonstrated preferences, unless the prior year preference for any such variety of fluid milk is less than one percent of the total milk consumed at the school. The Committee considers this modification a significant step forward in addressing common concerns of whether schools should be required to offer fluid whole milk or any other named variety of milk.

Opponents of requiring schools to offer students a specified kind of fluid milk base their arguments on two general concepts: (1) the Federal government should not legislate the particular varieties of milk that should be offered to students, as this should be a local decision made by educators, parents, school food service personnel, nutritionists, and children; and (2) the provision of whole milk, because of its higher fat content, should not be mandated by the Federal government given that the new nutritional content requirements for school meals being developed by the USDA will likely stipulate that no more than 30% of calories from school meals over a given time may be from fat. The supporters of the amendment in H.R. 8 find it inconsistent for the Federal government to require schools to limit the amount of fat in their lunch and breakfast programs, while at the same time, requiring schools to offer whole milk. In addition, in testimony presented to the Committee, school food service personnel stated that their bids for milk reflect student preference, except in the case of whole milk which they had to bid on and offer because of the Federal mandate. Some of the whole milk, they reported, is thrown away or used in cooking after the due date expires in schools for which there is no demand for whole milk.

Proponents of requiring schools to offer fluid whole and lowfat milk, and specifically, whole milk, argue that whole milk, in itself, is not an unhealthy food. Many children who need the nutritional content or calories prefer the taste of whole milk. There is a dramatic difference in the nutritional needs and caloric consumption among students. A small first-grade student will have dramatically different caloric needs than a 165-pound football player in the high school senior class. Nutrition experts testified during Committee hearings on the need to provide such flexibility to meet individual needs and tastes. Without Federal guidance with regard to the types of milk offered in the School Lunch Program, schools will bid and purchase milk on the basis of lowest price alone, which does not ensure that children will have choices available to them, thus creating the possibility of lower consumption of milk. Schools simply must offer—not mandate the consumption of—whole and unflavored lowfat milk.

The Committee's intent in modifying current law is twofold. First, the issue of specific Federal milk mandates is addressed. Under the Committee's modified language, schools are simply required to offer milk based on children's demonstrated preferences. Schools do not have to offer a variety of milk which is not consumed by at least one percent of the students. Second, the concern that a wide variety of milk be made available is addressed by providing an assurance that schools will continue to offer milk according to demonstrated preferences. Therefore, the bidding process, as the starting point which leads to the eventual offering of milk, should also reflect the demonstrated preferences. Accordingly, bids solicited by a school in compliance with the modified requirement should be based on the proportionate quantities of fluid milk including fluid whole milk or any other variety of milk if the 1 percent threshold is met at that school in the immediately preceding academic year.

It is also the intent of the Committee, in order to facilitate maximum flexibility, that a school may adjust the variety of fluid milk offered or the proportionate quantity of a particular variety of fluid milk offered to students if reflective of student preferences at that school. The Committee is concerned over the amount of paperwork required by schools participating in the school lunch and breakfast programs and does not intend for this flexibility of promulgate any burdensome paperwork requirements.

It is important to note that in the Committee's debate and adoption of the modified milk offerings provision, the Committee has addressed an authorizing issue within the Committee's jurisdictional purview. A provision in H.R. 2493, making appropriations for the Departments of Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies for fiscal year 1994, prohibited funding to enforce the current milk requirements statute. On June 29, 1993, an amendment was adopted in the Committee on the Whole, 292-137, which struck that language. The issue of milk offerings remains, as it should, an authorizing, and not appropriations, matter. The Committee's position in this regard should be recognized.

The Committee is very concerned about continued reports of calcium deficiency among school children. Milk and dairy products are the single greatest source of calcium for school age children. Schools, whenever possible, are encouraged to include lowfat dairy products in meal planning. Expanded choice in offerings are vital to combatting nutrient deficiencies in children. An effective way to achieve increased student participation in school nutrition programs is through offering flavored lowfat milk and lowfat yogurt because they continue to be favorites among school-aged children.

ADMINISTRATIVE FLEXIBILITY

As previously stated, the Committee believes that it is necessary to streamline the existing child nutrition program so that schools will no longer have to participate in multiple programs in order to serve food to children at different times during the day. H.R. 8 includes an important provision designed to move the programs in that direction. The provision requires the Secretary to develop and implement regulations to consolidate the school breakfast and lunch programs into a comprehensive meal program within one year after enactment. The basic requirements concerning the need to serve free and reduced price meals, meet nutritional requirements, and make Federal assistance payments in accordance with the existing programs must be observed. If upon review of the issue, the Secretary proposes changes in the reimbursement levels currently provided under the programs, the Secretary must submit a report to Congress recommending legislative changes to effect the change.

In addition to the waiver authority provided in Section 105, H.R. 8 includes 2 provisions specifically designed to reduce the administrative burden associated with processing income eligibility applications for all students.

The first amendment modifies the existing meal count alternative referred to by regulation as "Provision 2". This provision allows schools that serve free meals to all students to enter into this 3 year option whereby income eligibility applications are collected only in the first year, but eligibility percentages are applied to daily meal counts in the second and third years based on the data established in the initial year. The amendment in H.R. 8 allows schools currently operating under Provision 2 to do so for a period of 5 years, rather than 3 years, if available socioeconomic data demonstrates that the income level of the school population has remained stable. Such schools would be allowed to participate in Provision 2 for 5 years for every successive Provision 2 cycle in which the opt to participate.

H.R. 8 also establishes a Provision 3, to allow more options for schools wishing to reduce paperwork. Under Provision 3, schools serving free meals to all children could opt to receive their total Federal reimbursement (including cash and commodities) from the previous year, adjusted annually for inflation and fluctuations in enrollment, for 4 year periods. Extensions could be granted on the basis of socioeconomic data demonstrating stability in the income status of the student population. The Committee expects that this option will be particularly useful to schools with high rates of free and reduced-price participation by alleviating the need to process income eligibility forms for 4 years.

Testimony and information provided by school food service directors indicates that time is needlessly spent providing documentation for records that have already been audited. H.R. 8 requires the Secretary to clarify that a claim for reimbursement is required to have an adequate audit trail. Current procedures require a claim to be based on a positive count at point of service. Additional documentation must then be provided that students who were not eligible were not fed. This provision will allow the Secretary to set reasonable standards for those agencies whose claims for reimbursement are correct and who provide adequate audit trails. It also allows the Secretary to require additional controls for those agencies that have failed to keep adequate records.

H.R. 8 also contains a provision that documentation or production plans be clarified by the Secretary. Current regulations mandate that even where clear records and audit trail exist, additional forms must be filled out in a prescribed format. As an example, in the State of California these records for one year would stack a mile and a half high. This provision allows "outcome based" determination by State authorities approving those agencies where monthly inventories, purchases and serving records can be used to provide an audit trail that demonstrates that sufficient food stuffs have been purchased to meet the nutritional requirements of the meal served. This section will allow the State agency to use regulatory compliance as a measure of the adequacy of the records being kept, thereby providing record keeping flexibility.

AUTOMATIC ELIGIBILITY FOR HEAD START PARTICIPANTS

The Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) provides meals to the great majority of Head Start participants. Under current law, income eligibility information from the Head Start participants must be specifically processed to establish eligibility for CACFP, even though if a child is income-eligible for Head Start, he or she also meets the income eligibility requirements of CACFP. H.R. 8 removes this duplication of paperwork by making children who are income-eligible for Head Start automatically eligible to receive meals under CACFP. This provision is effective October 1, 1995.

BREAKFAST STARTUP AND EXPANSION

H.R. 8 makes permanent the breakfast startup program funded at $5 million per year and allows up to $1 million of those funds to be used to expand existing breakfast programs. The success of the breakfast startup program has convinced the Committee that it is an important tool in meeting the Committee's goal of providing breakfast to more children by increasing the number of schools participating in the breakfast program. Participation in breakfast has increased significantly since the last child nutrition reauthorization, but more needs to be done. Extending the startup program and providing flexibility to expand existing programs should help in that effort.

SUMMER FOOD SERVICE PROGRAM

The summer food service program provides Federal funds for meals served during the summer months to children in programs operated by schools or local municipal or government agencies, or certain non-profit private sponsors, in "areas in which poor economic conditions exist." The Committee is concerned that the program is under utilized at this time. Over 12 million low-income children receive free and reduced price lunches every day during the school year, but in 1992, only 1.9 million children ate meals at a summer food service site. If the good nutritional status and health of children fed during the school year through the breakfast and lunch programs are to be maintained, attention must be paid to their access to food during the summer months.

H.R. 8 establishes priorities for selecting summer food sponsor as follows: (1) schools; (2) service institutions and private nonprofit organizations that have demonstrated successful program performance; and (3) other service institutions and private nonprofit organizations. The bill also eliminates the 1-year waiting period for private nonprofit organizations that want to operate programs previously operated by public institutions.

HOMELESS PRESCHOOLERS NUTRITION PROGRAM

H.R. 8 makes permanent and expands the Homeless Preschoolers Nutrition Program which is currently operating as a demonstration program. The bill also requires the Secretary to develop a plan for how the program can be incorporated into the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP). The Committee is pleased with the success of the homeless preschoolers nutrition program and its growth. Homeless children are particularly vulnerable to the threat of undernutrition and their numbers are growing. It is important that their nutritional needs must be met to help insure they are ready to learn in school. A homeless child bears innumerable burdens. It is essential that everything possible be done to insure that hunger is not one of them.

SUPPLEMENTAL FOOD PILOT

H.R. 8 authorizes a pilot program to provide Federal reimbursements for meals and snacks served to teenagers ages 13 through 18 in after-school programs. These meals would be served on the same basis and with the same income restrictions used under CACFP. The major purpose of this pilot project is to demonstrate that there are children over the age of 13 who are participating in child care who are not able to receive meals and supplements under CACFP, while their younger peers at the same child care facility are able to participate. There are many schools, churches, community groups and others who are working hard to provide safe, positive, productive alternatives after school for our young people. This will enable them to offer additional incentives for low-income students to participate.

SPECIAL SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION PROGRAM FOR WOMEN INFANTS, AND CHILDREN (WIC)

The WIC program is one of the most effective programs funded by the Federal government. WIC provides nutritious food, nutrition education and referral to health care to low-income women and their children up to age 5. Despite its proven effectiveness, the program is able to serve only two-thirds of those eligible due to limited funding.

In 1991, five corporate executives testified before the House Budget Committee supporting the full-funding of WIC. William Woodside, the Chairman of Sky Chefs, Inc., described WIC as having a "stunning record of effectiveness" with a long history of "research findings that demonstrate it produces remarkable results."

The results of WIC are indeed remarkable. WIC decreases the incidence of very low birth weight by 44 percent and lowers the incidence of late fetal deaths by up to one-third. But WIC's benefits reach far beyond infancy. Children who participate in WIC appear to be better prepared for school. Four and 5-year-olds whose mothers participated in WIC during pregnancy were found to have higher vocabulary test scores. In addition, children who participated in WIC after their first birthday scored higher on memory tests. It is the children between the ages of one and five that are currently most under-served by the program, and this must be addressed.

The fiscal benefits of WIC are also remarkable. Every dollar spent on a pregnant woman under WIC saves between $1.92 and $4.21 in Medicaid costs for newborns and mothers and from $2.98 to $4.75 for newborns alone. WIC is the very first step in promoting good health and preventing disease for some of our most vulnerable citizens and the Committee recognizes the essential role it plays in insuring that low-income children have the ability to take advantage of lessons offered in the classroom.

Many of the amendments to the WIC program are designed to promote breastfeeding among WIC participants. The Committee received very convincing testimony concerning the benefits of breastfeeding. Breastfeeding has a direct effect on a child's immune system and his or her ability to learn. Breast fed babies have a lower incidence of hospitalization and score higher on gross motor skill and I.Q. tests. For these reasons the Committee expressed its commitment to encouraging breastfeeding by replacing the existing $8 million breastfeeding promotion set aside with a set aside based on a per woman expenditure of $21 which will be adjusted for inflation to maintain the level of commitment over the course of the authorization. In calculating the total expenditure, the Secretary is instructed to use the participation data from the most recent three months for which the Department has final data. Final data means data that USDA refers to as "closed out".

The bill also contains language that will strengthen the breastfeeding data collection activities and that provides funds that will make it possible for the Department to conduct a study which explores the effectiveness of various types of breastfeeding support activities which are or could be used by WIC agencies and which assesses the levels of resources needed to insure that all pregnant and breastfeeding participants receive the education and support they need to increase the proportion of WIC participants who breast feed.

The bill expands the definition of "nutritional risk" to include alcoholism, drug abuse and pregnancy. Each condition implies specific risks to a woman's nutritional well being. In the case of pregnancy, the Congressional Budget Office estimates that 100 percent of women who are pregnant and meet the WIC income eligibility requirements are found to be nutritionally at-risk at some point during their pregnancy. The Committee intends that pregnant applicants receive a full nutritional, medical, and dietary assessment for nutritional risk conditions, and that the assessment be as complete as any other applicant's. This is necessary to tailor nutrition education to the pregnant woman's specific needs and to refer her to the full range of health services that she needs.

Another provision designed to meet the needs of the pregnant woman allows pregnant women to be considered income eligible for the program if they will be considered as such once their child is born and their family size is increased by one.

Two other issues of concern to the Committee are the need for WIC clinic hours that are convenient for working low-income families and the need for culturally appropriate food packages. As WIC reaches full funding, the issue of having convenient hours for working women will become even more pressing. The 1989 WIC reauthorization included language requiring the Secretary to establish minimum standards for the locations at which and times during which program services shall be available. The final regulations on this provision were recently issued. The Committee wants to be kept informed about the implementation of these regulations and their effect on improving access to the program for low-income working mothers.

The Committee also believes it is vitally important to effectively address the issue of culturally appropriate food packages given the numerous ethnic and cultural groups served by the program and looks forward to reviewing the information that the Department plans to collect on this issue.

WIC FARMERS' MARKET NUTRITION PROGRAM

The WIC Farmers' Market Nutrition Program provides coupons to WIC participants that can be redeemed for fresh fruits and vegetables at farmers' markets. In addition to receiving coupons, WIC participants receive information about the benefits of fruits and vegetables and how they can be prepared. This program has increased the intake of fruits and vegetables among WIC participants through issuing the coupons and by the fact that participants tend to purchase additional fruits and vegetables beyond the value of the coupons. The amendments to the program support the growth of existing programs in participating States and the participation of new States in the program.

The Department has been distributing additional funds to States which participated in the Farmers' Market Nutrition Program in the prior fiscal year on the basis of the size of the state's grant in the previous year. As a result, each State is awarded a pro rata share of additional funds based upon the percentage of the annual appropriation which it received in the prior fiscal year. Thus, if a state's program started out on a small scale, its growth would be permanently limited to a very slow rate of expansion. H.R. 8 specifies that the number of WIC clients currently unable to participate in the WIC Farmers' Market Nutrition Program in a participating State will be taken into account when allocating funds.

Fifteen new States were approved to enter the Farmers' Market Nutrition Program in 1994. As a result 26 States will operate the program this summer, which more than doubles the number of States in just one year. New States generally request modest amounts of Federal funds in the initial year of operation. During the second and ensuing years, once the program has built a solid track record, State agencies request higher levels of funding in order to expand the program in unserved areas. In fiscal year 1994, the requests for funds from current States far exceeded the requests from new States by a factor of 4 to 1. H.R. 8 addresses this issue by adjusting the formula for allocating annual appropriations. Current law allows 45 to 55 percent of the annual appropriation to be distributed among existing states, and the remaining 45 to 55 percent to be distributed to new states. H.R. 8 allows 75 percent of the appropriation to be used to expand existing programs, and 25 percent to be used to start new programs to more appropriately reflect the needs of States participating in the program.

Current law allows States the ability to carry forward or spend back up to 5 percent of their total grants for a given fiscal year. H.R. 8 would eliminate the option to carry unspent funds forward into a subsequent fiscal year, and would prevent a State from holding onto funds that it cannot use, while other States that need additional funds go unfunded. This amendment is intended to apply to the ability of States to carry forward funds into fiscal year 1995. The spend back authority of States pertains to both food and administrative funds in the same proportion as provided in paragraph (5)(F).

STUDY OF USE OF PRIVATE FOOD ESTABLISHMENTS AND CATERERS

Recognizing the increasing participation of private food vendors in the school meal programs, H.R. 8 requires that a study be conducted by the U.S. General Accounting and the Office of Technical Assistance that will provide a comprehensive picture of the extent to which such food is sold in school cafeterias. Questions have been raised about the increasing number of students that are eating fast food in schools and the extent to which nutritionally deficient items are being sold on an a la carte basis or being incorporated into school meals.

It is especially important that the study provide the information necessary to determine the effect that sales of competitive foods are having on the nutritional health of students and on the viability of school lunch and school breakfast programs.

OVERSIGHT STATEMENT

In compliance with clause 2(1)(3)(A) of Rule XI of the Rules of the House of Representatives, this report embodies the findings and recommendations of the Subcommittee on Elementary, Secondary, and Vocational Education, established pursuant to clause 4(a) of the rules of the Committee on Education and Labor. Pursuant to its ongoing oversight responsibilities, the Committee has determined that legislation should be enacted as set forth in H.R. 8.

INFLATIONARY IMPACT STATEMENT

In compliance with clause 2(1)(4) of Rule XI of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee estimates that the enactment into law of H.R. 8 will have little inflationary impact on prices and costs in the operation of the national economy. It is the judgment of the committee that the inflationary impact of this legislation as a component of the Federal budget is negligible.

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, May 27, 1994.

Hon. WILLIAM D. FORD,
Chairman, Committee on Educational and Labor, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office (CBO) has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 8, the Healthy Meals for Healthy Americans Act of 1994, as ordered reported by the Committee on Education and Labor on May 18, 1994. The bill would extend authorizations for certain expiring child nutrition programs and make amendments to other child nutrition programs.

Enactment of H.R. 8 would affect direct spending and receipts and thus would be subject to pay-as-you-go procedures under section 252 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them.

Sincerely,

ROBERT D. KEISCHAUER, Director.

Estimated outlays	3,015	3,411	3,500	3,594	336

Note.—Details may not add to totals because of rounding.

The costs of this bill fall primarily within budget function 600. Basis of estimate: H.R. 8 would extend through 1998 the authorizations for several child nutrition programs, including the supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), the Summer Food Service Program for Children, the Commodity Distribution program, State Administrative Expenses, and several smaller programs. The bill would also make a number of changes to the national School Lunch program, the School Breakfast program, the child and Adult Care Food program, and other permanently authorized child nutrition programs.

The CBO baseline assumed the continuation of two of the programs reauthorized under H.R. 8, Summer Food Service for Children and State Administrative Expenses. This baseline assumption is consistent with section 257 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, which states that "no (direct spending) program with estimated current-year outlays greater than $50 million shall be assumed to expire in the budget year or outyears." As shown in the table above, the baseline costs for these two programs total $337 million in budget authority in 1995, increasing to $416 million by 1998. Other direct spending changes increase budget authority by an additional $22 million in 1995, $32 million in 1996, $36 million in 1997, $41 million in 1998, and $29 million in 1999. A detailed table of costs begins on page 3, followed by a discussion of sections with costs totalling $1 million or more over the five-year projection period.

² This provision could result in small increases or small decreases, with an estimated net change of zero.

³ Expiring programs with outlays greater than $50 million are assumed to continue in baseline, as required by sec. 257 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985.

Notes.—Details may not add to totals due to rounding.

Section 102. This section would make children eligible for free meals under the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP), provided they were determined eligible for Head Start on the basis of income or receipt of public assistance. Children who qualify for Head Start on a basis other than income would have to meet the CACFP income guidelines, as under current law. The proposal would have little effect on CACFP spending, because most children who meet the Head Start income guidelines also meet the CACFP guidelines for free meals. In some cases, however, a family's income may increase between the time a child is screened for Head Start eligibility and the child graduates from Head Start, and such increases in family income could make the child ineligible for free meals in the absence of this proposal. In other cases, incomplete documentation of family income can make a child ineligible for the free meal subsidy without affecting Head Start enrollment. Less than half of one percent of Head Start children are estimated to fall into one of these two situations. Extending free meals to these few children is estimated to increase child nutrition entitlement spending by $1 million annually, beginning in fiscal year 1996.

Section 102 would make several other amendments to child nutrition programs, including one amendment that is estimated to have a small effect on outlays under the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) dairy program. The bill would amend the requirement that schools offer whole milk in school meal programs. Schools would be required to provide a variety of fluid milk, consistent with preferences demonstrated by students in previous years, unless the preference for any such variety of fluid milk is less than one percent of the total milk consumed at the school. This provision is estimated to cause a small reduction in the amount of whole milk purchased by schools, resulting in increased fat surpluses to be purchased under the dairy support program. CCC outlays are estimated to increase by less than $100,000 annually.

Section 104. Section 104 would authorize appropriations of $15 million annually in 1995 through 1998 for universal school meal pilot projects. Estimated outlays assume the pilot projects do not begin until July 1995. Schools electing to join such pilot projects would continue to receive the same level of entitlement funding as in the previous year (adjusted for inflation and enrollment), but could receive additional funding from the $15 million in appropriated funds to help cover the costs of serving free meals to all children, regardless of income. The provision is estimated to have no net effect on direct spending, although individual schools may receive a slightly higher or lower level of entitlement spending than they would have in the absence of pilot projects.

Section 106. H.R. 8 would extend the authorization for the Summer Food Service Program for Children at such sums as are necessary for 1995 through 1998. CBO baseline estimates for this program are $245 million in budget authority in 1995, increasing to $306 million in 1998. These estimates assume that 122 million meals and snacks are served in 1995, based on historical growth trends. Reimbursements per meal to operators of summer food programs are estimated to average $1.82, based on inflation projections and the historical mix of type of meal served. This section would also make a few changes to the program authorization, but none of these changes is estimated to increase spending levels.

Section 108. This section would extend through 1998 the authorization for two statewide demonstration projects concerning the participation of proprietary child care centers in the Child and Adult Care Food program. Costs for continuing the demonstrations in Iowa and Kentucky are estimated to be $4 million in 1995, rising to $6 million by 1998, based on the current cost of the programs and the rate of growth in the past three years. The continuation of the demonstration is subject to the availability of appropriations. Other amendments in section 108 are estimated to have no effect on spending levels.

Section 109. Section 109 would permanently authorize $3 million annually for the Homeless Child Nutrition program, increasing outlays by $3 million a year. It would also direct the Secretary to continue to allocate some of the funding from State Administrative Expenses to the Homeless Child Nutrition program. This allocation does not change overall spending under State Administrative Expenses.

Section 110. Section 110 would permanently authorize certain schools to receive cash or commodity letters of credit (CLOCs) in lieu of commodities. Cost are estimated as $125,000 annually, based on the current costs for monitoring and processing the commodity letters of credit. Section 110 would also establish a state-wide CLOC program on a demonstration basis, and a fruit and vegetable CLOC program. These two new programs would have little effect on federal costs, because state agencies are assumed to be responsible for monitoring and processing CLOCs in the two new programs. Finally, section 110(c) would authorize $125,000 annually in 1995 through 1998 for a new demonstration program to serve meals and supplements to youth age 13 to 18.

Section 112. Section 112 reauthorizes the Food Service Management Institute, at a level of $1.7 million annually through 1998. Outlays are based on stated authorization levels and the historical spending patterns of child nutrition programs.

Section 201. H.R. 8 would permanently extend the $5 million authorization for competitive grants to state agencies to assist schools in starting up breakfast programs. Up to $1 million of these funds could be used for a new program of grants to state agencies to assist schools in expanding existing breakfast programs. The CBO estimate for this provision includes the costs of the additional meals served by schools that start up, or expand, breakfast programs as a result of the grants. CBO assumes that if the full $5 million were for start-up grants, approximately 1,000 schools would receive grants of $5,000 per school, and that half of these schools would have come onto the program regardless of the grants, with the remaining half of the schools (or 500 schools) coming onto the program because of the start-up grants. Adding 500 new schools each year is estimated to increase meal costs by $3 million in 1995, by $10 million in 1996, by $15 million in 1997, and by $20 million per year in 1998 and 1999.

Section 202. Section 202 would extend the authorization for State Administrative Expenses. Funding for any given year is calculated as 1.5 percent of the costs expended two years earlier for certain meal programs. Funding levels are estimated to be $92 million in 1995, rising to $110 million by 1998, based on CBO baseline cost projections for child nutrition programs.

Section 203. H.R. 8 would authorize appropriations of such sums as may be necessary for fiscal years 1995 through 1998 for the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC). CBO estimated the authorizations by increasing the fiscal year 1994 appropriation to reflect projected annual inflation. Estimated outlays reflect spending patterns of the current program. In addition, the bill would authorize appropriations of $10.5 million in fiscal year 1995 and such sums as may be necessary for fiscal years 1996 through 1998 for the WIC Farmers Market program. CBO estimated authorizations by increasing the amount specified for 1995 to reflect projected annual inflation. Estimated outlays reflect spending patterns of the current program. All outlay estimates assume appropriation of the amounts authorized at the beginning of each fiscal year.

Section 204. Section 204 would reauthorize the Nutrition Education and Training program at a level of $10.3 million annually, the same level as was appropriated in 1994. Outlays were estimated following historical spending patterns of child nutrition programs.

Sections 302–303. Sections 302 and 303 would require studies by the General Accounting Office (GAO). The study required in Section 302 requires the GAO, in consultation with the Office of Technology Assessment, to study the use of fast food and other restaurants, and private caterers, in school meal programs. Costs for this study would depend on the study design, but could be significant, based on the complexity of gathering a sample of schools with private food establishments, and the cost of gathering information about the nutritional profile of foods provided by such establishments. CBO estimates costs of slightly over $1 million. The second study, analyzing the unified accountability system under the National School Lunch Act, does not require as extensive data collection as the first, and is estimated to cost less than $500,000.

The section also establishes a new pilot program to provide meal supplements outside of school hours to children ages 13 to 18.

Additional WIC amendments: requires the Secretary to promote the WIC program; includes "alcoholism, drug abuse, and pregnancy" as nutritional risk factors; modifies WIC eligibility to allow a pregnant woman to be considered income eligible, if she would be considered as such once her child had been born, and her family size increased by one; clarifies that WIC and Medicaid eligibility guidelines may be implemented concurrently; clarifies that funds recovered as a result of violations may be spent in the year recovered; increases the amount available for breastfeeding promotion in WIC by establishing a formula based on an amount per pregnant woman and breastfeeding woman adjusted for inflation; allows the administration to report on infant formula waivers issued by the Secretary in a timely manner rather than every 6 months; changes the name of the WIC program from "Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children" to "Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children"; requires migrants to be given priority for service; ensures that States will not incur an interest liability on WIC rebate funds; allows evaluation funds to be used to review the WIC Farmer's Market Nutrition Program; strengthens data collection on breastfeeding; establishes a grant program to improve infrastructure and fund special projects; and requires the Secretaries of Agriculture and HHS to develop a plan for better coordination between WIC and Migrant and Community Health Centers.

SEC. 11. [(a)(1) Except as provided] (a)(1)(A) Except as provided in section 10 of this Act, in each fiscal year each State educational agency shall receive special assistance payments in an amount equal to the sum of the product obtained by multiplying the number of lunches (consisting of a combination of foods which meet the minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary pursuant to subsection 9(a) of this Act) served free to children eligible for such lunches in schools within that State during such fiscal year by the special assistance factor for free lunches prescribed by the Secretary for such fiscal year and the product obtained by multiplying the number of lunches served at a reduced price to children eligible for such reduced price lunches in schools within that State during such fiscal year by the special assistance factor for reduced price lunches prescribed by the Secretary for such fiscal year. [In the case of]

(B) In the case of any school which determines that at least 80 percent of the children in attendance during a school year (hereinafter in this sentence referred to as the "first school year") are eligible for free lunches or reduced price lunches, special assistance payments shall be paid to the State educational agency with respect to that school, if that school so requests for the school year following the first school year, on the basis of the number of free lunches or reduced priced lunches, as the case may be, that are served by that school during the school year for which the request is made, to those children who were determined to be so eligible in the first school year and the number of free lunches and reduced price lunches served during that year to other children determined for that year to be eligible for such lunches. [In the case of]

(C)(i) Except as provided in clause (ii), in the case of any school that [(A)] (I) elects to serve all children in that school free lunches under the school lunch program during any period of three successive school years and [(B)] (II) pays, from sources other than Federal funds, for the costs of serving such lunches which are in excess of the value of assistance received under this Act with respect to the number of lunches served during that period, special assistance payments shall be paid to the State educational agency with respect to that school during that period on the basis of the number of lunches determined under the succeeding sentence. For purposes of making special assistance payments in accordance with the preceding sentence, the number of lunches served by a school to children eligible for free lunches and reduced price lunches during each school year of the three-school-year period shall be deemed to be the number of lunches served by that school to children eligible for free lunches and reduced price lunches during the first school year of such period, unless that school elects, for purposes of computing the amount of such payments, to determine on a more frequent basis the number of children eligible for free and reduced price lunches who are served lunches during such period.

(ii)(I)(aa) In the case of any school that, on the date of the enactment of this clause, is serving all children in that school free lunches under the school lunch program in accordance with clause (i), special assistance payments shall be paid to the State educational agency with respect to such school for free lunches served to all children in such school during a period of five consecutive years in accordance with such clause.

(bb) Any period of time in the current 3-year period during which the school served free lunches to all children in such school in ac-

(cc) The State may grant an extension to such schools at the end of such 3-year period, only if the State determines, through available socioeconomic data approved by the Secretary, that the income level of the population of the school has remained stable. The State may further use such data in subsequent 5-year periods to ensure that the income level of the population of the school has remained stable.

(II) A school described in subclause (I) may reapply to the State at the end of a 5-year period described in such subclause for the purpose of continuing to receive special assistance payments in accordance with such subclause for additional 5-year periods.

(D) In the case of any school that (i) elects to serve all children in that school free lunches under the school lunch program during any period of 4 successive years, or in the case of a school that serves both lunches and breakfasts, elects to serve all children in that school free lunches and free breakfasts under the school lunch program and the school breakfast program during any period of 4 successive years and (ii) pays, from sources other than Federal funds, for the costs of serving such lunches or breakfasts, as the case may be, which are in excess of the value of assistance received under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.) with respect to the number of lunches or breakfasts served during that period, total Federal cash reimbursements and total commodity assistance shall be provided to the State educational agency with respect to such school at a level equal to the total Federal cash reimbursements and total commodity assistance received by the school in the previous year, adjusted annually for changes in inflation in accordance with paragraph (3)(B) and for changes in enrollment, to carry out the purposes of the school lunch or school breakfast programs. The State may grant a renewal of the authority under the preceding sentence to such schools at the end of such 4-year period, if the State determines, through available socioeconomic data approved by the Secretary, that the income level of the population of the school has remained consistent with the income level of the population of the school in the year upon which the total Federal reimbursement is based.

MINORITY VIEWS

H.R. 8—THE HEALTHY MEALS FOR HEALTHY AMERICANS ACT

H.R. 8, as approved by the Committee on Education and Labor on May 18, makes many important improvements to our existing child nutrition programs. In addition, the Committee was able to stay within current fiscal restraints and should be commended. As a result, the bill approved by the Committee received bipartisan support.

However, we disagree with the "Universal School Lunch and Breakfast Pilot Program" amendment offered by Mr. Miller (CA). This amendment would allow school districts to serve all children free meals if more than 30 percent of the participating children in the lunch and breakfast programs qualify for free and reduced priced meals.

It is our view that acceptance of this amendment, even though it is subject to appropriations, sets a bad precedent. There is no justification for the government providing free meals to all school lunch children regardless of ability to pay. Parents who can afford to pay should continue to do so. Under the Miller amendment, schools having 70 percent of its students able to pay for their meals would be allowed to serve all students for free with the government paying the bill.

While support is provided to schools through Section 4 payments for the basic infrastructure of the school lunch system, there is no reason for additional payments for students who are able to pay for their meals.

One of the arguments proponents of this proposal use to support the concept of universal meals is that it will reduce the stigma placed on free and reduced-price children. However, there are other ways to reduce the stigma attached to receiving free and reduced price meals. For example, some school districts are utilizing "credit cards" where students who can pay have the same card as those who are free or reduced-price and no one knows the difference.

There is no evidence the "paying child" would participate in greater numbers if meals were free. Eighty-five percent of those children eligible to eat for free take part in the school lunch program. In comparison, only 69 percent of those who qualify for reduced-price meals and only 46 percent of those who can afford to pay participate in the school lunch program. In the end, it is a matter of choice.

We have included language in H.R. 8 which would allow schools to serve all students free as long as they do so at no extra cost to the government. It is expected that high poverty schools will take advantage of this option since they would be able to sufficiently reduce their costs due to less paperwork and offset the difference between government reimbursement and actual program costs.

Although Mr. Miller's amendment requires the difference between a school's previous year reimbursements and the cost of feeding all students for free to be paid for separate appropriations of non-federal sources, it is likely it would have to come from separate appropriations. And, as we all know, once we start down this path, it is hard to retreat.

Currently schools receive $1.56 in payments for each free meal, $1.16 for each reduced price meal, and $0.16.5 for each full price lunch served. In addition, they receive 14 cents per meal in entitlement commodities. In a school where 70 percent of students pay for their meals, the additional cost to the federal government to feed all students for free is simply too high in this time of Federal budget constraints.

While a universal program would eliminate a great deal of the paperwork burden on schools and reduce the stigma placed on children who are receiving free and reduced-price meals, there are other ways to address these concerns. The Federal budget cannot support a universal school lunch program and we cannot justify providing free meals to those students whose families are able to pay for such meals.

It is our hope that this demonstration program will be eliminated in the House/Senate conference on this legislation.

We would also like to express our concerns on the negotiated rulemaking provisions contained in H.R. 8. Although we understand there are benefits to negotiated rulemaking under certain circumstances, it is our belief that the provisions in H.R. 8 are too broad and could result in negotiated rulemaking on a larger portion of H.R. 8 than the Committee intended. In our view, this could impede the Department's ability to operate these programs in a timely and efficient manner. Again, it is our hope that these provisions will be modified in conference and restricted to a few important items.

Again, we support H.R. 8 as reported by the Committee but intend to work to modify the bill in conference with respect to the items mentioned above.
