ABSTRACT

This Drug Prevention Training Project focused on helping school personnel work with students involved in drugs and/or alcohol. This report evaluates the success of this effort which took place during the 1992-1994 academic years. The Project sought to accomplish five objectives: (1) recruit at least 800 school counselors, psychologists, nurses, and social workers in 15 regional training meetings, and train them in drug prevention and intervention techniques and procedures; (2) have at least 80 percent of the participants expressing increased confidence in counseling students referred to them for drug and alcohol involvement; (3) support four previously established regional networks for school counselors, psychologists, nurses, social workers, and other school personnel responsible for drug prevention and intervention; (4) make participants more knowledgeable about local and regional drug prevention, drug treatment, and drug education resources; and (5) explain the Los Angeles County of Education developed model student substance-abuse database and tracking system to participants and encourage them to use it. Organizers met all five project objectives and the external program evaluator deemed the project successful. Participants also highly rated the training that they received. Included in this evaluation are seven appendices which feature copies of meeting agendas, resources, and samples of drug abuse surveys.

Section 1 Introduction

The Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) serves as an intermediate agency between the California Department of Education and the 95 local school districts (K-12) which are located within the boundaries of the county. As of January 1993 the population of Los Angeles County exceeded nine million people. At that time, within the county, there were 1,665 schools (K-12) with a total enrollment of more than 1,455,800 (K-12) students.

The grant from the U.S. Department of Education (USDOE) that supported this Drug Prevention Training Project was submitted in February 1992 for the 1992-1993 academic year. An extension was later granted to carry the program through March 31, 1994. The grant proposal and extension focused on the following target group and need:

Target Population: The target population for the proposal is the estimated 2,800 counselors, psychologists, nurses, and social workers in the public schools in Los Angeles County. The category breakdowns are approximately 1,322 counselors, 682 psychologists, 800 nurses, and 25 social workers. These school personnel are schools' first line of defense against student drug and alcohol involvement. Students with actual or potential drug and alcohol problems are generally referred to them first.

Need: Congress recognized the importance of training school counselors to work with students involved in drugs and alcohol by mandating their training in the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act of 1986. School districts staffs in Los Angeles County recognize their need for this training and have requested Los Angeles County Office of Education's assistance in obtaining the training. Investigation reveals that only about 15 percent of counselor personnel in the school districts in the county have had any drug counseling training.

Briefly, the six objectives of this Drug Prevention Training Project were identified in the grant application as follows:

Original Grant Application Objectives

Objective 1

By the end of the program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project will recruit and train at least 800 school counselors, psychologists, nurses, and social workers in four day-long regional training meetings about drug prevention and intervention techniques and procedures.

Objective 2

By the end of the program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Project will hold at least eight follow-up regional half-day training meetings for participants who have attended the day-long training meetings.

Objective 3

By the end of the program year, as a result of participating in the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project, at least 80 percent of the program participants who attend all training meetings will express increased confidence in counseling students referred to them for drug and alcohol involvement.

Objective 4

By the end of the program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project will support four regional support networks for school counselors, psychologists, nurses, social workers, and other school personnel responsible for drug prevention and intervention.

Objective 5

By the end of the program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project will make participants more knowledgeable about local and regional drug prevention, drug treatment, and drug education resources.

Objective 6

By the end of the program year, project staff will explain the LACOE-developed Model Student Substance Abuse Database and Tracking System to participants and encourage them to use it.

During the program year, the project coordinator made an official written request to revise the first two original objectives. (Please see Appendix A.) The request was granted; those revisions were approved. Original Objectives 1 and 2 became the new Objective 1.

New Objective 1

By the end of the Program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project will recruit and train at least 800 school counselors, psychologists, nurses, and social workers in 15 regional training meetings about drug prevention and intervention techniques and procedures.

Instead of holding "...four day-long regional training meetings" (original Objective 1) and "...eight follow-up regional half-day training meetings" (original Objective 2) the program would provide "...fifteen (15) regional training meetings" (new Objective 1). These changes would actually result in more training time for no additional expense. (Appendix A)

As mentioned earlier, the project was extended. The original time frame went from October 1, 1992, to September 30, 1993. The first extension added October 1-31, 1993. (Please see Appendix B, Item One.) The second extension added November and December 1993 as well as January 1 through March 31, 1994. (Please see Appendix B, Item Two.)

Section 2 Acknowledgments

Those who developed the grant proposal should be recognized and thanked. In addition, the project created an advisory committee and the members who served on that committee should also be recognized and thanked.

Proposal Developers

The Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project proposal was submitted to the U.S. Department of Education, in February 1992 for the school year 1992-1993. The proposal was developed by Dr. Alice Healy-Sesno, consultant-in-charge, Division of Educational Support Services, Los Angeles County Office of Education, with the assistance of Mr. Bill Aston, contract consultant, Pupil Services; Mrs. Susan Lordi, consultant, School Health Services; and Mr. Joseph Payne, retired, formerly a consultant, Proposal Planning Center, Los Angeles County Office of Education.

Project Managers

After the project was funded, Dr. Sesno became the project director and Mr. Aston became project coordinator by way of a Los Angeles County Office of Education contract consultancy. Mr. Aston came to the County Office after having served for many years as the coordinator for Secondary Counseling Services for the Los Angeles Unified School District.

Advisory Committee

There were 15 members of the project's advisory committee. Those who served are listed below:

Results of the Evaluator's Data Gathering and Analysis

Ideally, the project evaluator would be involved from the inception of an externally funded project. Fortunately, this was the case for this "Drug Prevention Training Project." Early on, the members of the grant application writing team worked with the evaluator so that the necessary data collection procedures would be built into the project's objectives. In this way, the needed data collection and analysis procedures became part of the grant application. In addition, the evaluator stayed in touch with both the project manager and project coordinator throughout the project year.

As a result of the good communication between the evaluator and both the project director and project coordinator, data needed for the evaluation were easily collected during the project year. These data and their analysis form the foundation on which the evaluator based his findings together with his conclusion as to whether or not each project objective was attained.

Objective 1

By the end of the Program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project will recruit and train at least 800 school counselors, psychologists, nurses, and social workers in 15 regional training meetings about drug prevention and intervention techniques and procedures.

As called for in the objective, 15 regional training meetings were held during the extended project time frame of October 1, 1992, through March 31, 1994.

Conclusion

This objective was easily attained. During the 1992-1994 project term more than 800 school counselors, psychologists, nurses, and social workers were trained in drug prevention and intervention techniques and procedures. The training took place at 15 training meetings held in various locations within Los Angeles County.

Objective 2

By the end of the program year, as a result of participating in the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project, at least 80 percent of the program participants who attend all training meetings will express increased confidence in counseling students referred to them for drug and alcohol involvement.

Participants at each of the 15 training meetings were given a questionnaire. The results of which could be compared to the "80 percent... will express increased confidence" criterion level expressed in this objective. The actual question and response categories were two. One prompt and accompanying response categories were given to participants at eight day-long training meetings. The second prompt and accompanying response categories were given at seven of the training meetings. The results were as follows. One prompt and its accompanying response categories were:

"This training session has given me increased confidence to provide intervention and counseling services (please circle appropriate number)."

Strongly Agree 4	Agree 3	Disagree 2	Strongly Disagree 1
------------------------	------------	---------------	---------------------------

Detailed information on the eight meetings where this was the prompt and response categories is shown below in Table 2.

The second questionnaire was given to participants who attended the other seven meetings. The relevant prompt on the questionnaire they completed read as follows:

Prompt: "Please indicate degree to which the training goals were met. Training Project has provided...
d. increased confidence to provide intervention and prevention counseling services."

Response Categories:	High 4	3	2	Low 1
----------------------	-----------	---	---	----------

Detailed information on the seven meetings where this was asked is shown below in Table 3.

Conclusion

This objective was easily attained. It called for 80 percent of participants to express "increased confidence in counseling students..." and 96 percent did. This is true regardless of whether one looks at the results of the two questionnaires separately or combined.

Objective 3

By the end of the program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project will support four previously established regional networks for school counselors, psychologists, nurses, social workers, and other school personnel responsible for drug prevention and intervention.

In June 1992 a memorandum was written to all "support services personnel involved in drug prevention training programs." (See Appendix D.) Dr. Alice Healy-Sesno, program director, wrote that memo, the subject of which was the creation of a "Networking Directory." As a result of efforts made in 1991-1992, four such networks were established within Los Angeles County. For each network, a directory was created. Each directory included: every contact person's name, work location/ mailing address, and phone number. (See Appendix D for a copy of the first page of the Networking Directory for the first network.) Objective 3 above, for the October 1, 1992, -March 31, 1994, project term, calls for the project to "support" those four already established regional networks.

Support was provided in two ways. First, a number of advisory committee members agreed to sponsor one or more sharing sessions in their network's region. When it was all over, however, only one advisory committee member was able to set-up two networking sessions. Second, the project coordinator met three times in different locations to discuss possible networking activities.

That single advisory committee member met twice in two different sharing sessions.

- One took place on November 5, 1992
North High School
Torrance, CA
(Attendance: 10)
- The other took place on February 10, 1993
South Bay Network meeting in the office of the California Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency
Torrance, CA
(Attendance: 9)

The project coordinator met three times in different locations and with different groups.

- The first took place on November 11, 1992
San Gabriel Valley Educational Support Services
monthly meeting
- The second took place on January 27, 1993
Antelope Valley Networking meeting in the Palmdale SD
(Attendance: 15)
- The third took place on April 7, 1993
San Fernando Valley Networking meeting at the National Council of Alcohol and Drug Dependence Office
Van Nuys, CA
(Attendance: 10)

The project coordinator reported to the evaluator that his three networking/sharing meetings "...were successful for those few who attended, but... the low attendance did not warrant the effort." The coordinator further felt the networking idea "had merit" but in an area the size of Los Angeles County with a population of over nine million, the need to network was great enough to require a full-time position.

Conclusion

Although results were somewhat disappointing—low attendance, cooperation from only one advisory committee member—the external program evaluator finds that efforts were made to "support the four previously established regional networks." This objective was therefore attained.

Objective 4

By the end of the program year, the Educational Support Services Personnel Drug Prevention Training Project will make participants more knowledgeable about local and regional drug prevention, drug treatment, and drug education resources.

Assistance on meeting this objective was supplied by the Los Angeles County Offices of the California Councils on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence (CCADD). In particular, the executive directors and their locations are as follows:

Executive Directors, CCADD

- Clancy Corbert
Lancaster–Antelope Valley
- Terry Hayes
Los Angeles (central)
- Sybil Reese

The revised Objective 1 of this program called for "...fifteen (15) regional training meetings about drug prevention and intervention techniques..." (See Objective 1, revised.) At six of those 15 meetings, agency representatives were invited to attend and formally present information about "local and regional drug prevention, drug treatment, and drug education resources."

In addition, networking meetings (see Objective 3) were held at two offices of the NCADD: one was held in South Bay, the other in San Fernando Valley.

Conclusion

This objective was easily attained.

Objective 5

By the end of the program year, project staff will explain the LACOE-developed Model Student Substance-Abuse Database and Tracking System to participants and encourage them to use it.

The Los Angeles County Office of Education developed in 1988 a student survey for the area of drug-abuse prevention. Areas measured by the instrument include self-esteem, decision-making skills, drug attitudes and knowledge, and drug usage. (A copy of the first page of the survey is shown in Appendix E. Copies of a few sample pages from the standard report are also in that appendix.) The instrument is available in both English and Spanish and can be customized by adding the school district and its logo. By January 1991 countywide data reporting the responses of some 50,000 students were available for comparison. It was this survey instrument and these reporting services which this program objective, (Objective 5), sought to have described to the participants in this Drug Prevention Training Project.

On April 16, 1993, Dr. Alice Healy-Sesno sent a memorandum to selected participants of this program. She enclosed a questionnaire "...regarding the use of the 'student survey' for drug abuse prevention." (See Appendix F for a copy of that questionnaire.) The responses were as follows:

Question 1. "The 'Student Survey' has been used."

Response	Number	Percentage
"Yes"	5	15.6%
"No"	20	62.5%
None	7	21.9%

Of those 25 who responded:

"Yes"	5	20.0%
"No"	20	80.0%

Question 2. "After reviewing the 'Student Survey' instrument and sample pages from the standard report, I will recommend that the survey be administered."

Response	Number	Percentage
"Yes"	19	59.4%
"No"	4	12.5%
None	9	28.1%

Of those 23 who responded:

"Yes"	19	82.6%
"No"	4	17.4%

Question 3. "I would like to have more information about the 'Student Survey'."

Response	Number	Percentage
"Yes"	17	53.1%
"No"	15	46.9%

Conclusion

The Los Angeles County Office of Education developed model Student Substance-Abuse Database and Tracking System was explained to participants in this project. In fact, almost 60 percent (59.4 percent) of a sample of them reported, "...I will recommend that the survey be administered." This objective was attained.

Section 4 Summary and Conclusions

During the October 1992—March 1994 project term, the Drug Prevention Training Project sought to accomplish five objectives. They were:

- 1) Recruit and train at least 800 school counselors, psychologists, nurses, and social workers in 15 regional training meetings about drug prevention and intervention techniques and procedures, as revised.
- 2) See at least 80 percent of the participants expressing increased confidence in counseling students referred to them for drug and alcohol involvement.
- 3) Support four previously established regional networks for school counselors, psychologists, nurses, social workers and other school personnel responsible for drug prevention and intervention.
- 4) Make participants more knowledgeable about local and regional drug prevention, drug treatment, and drug education resources.
- 5) Explain the LACOE developed model student substance-abuse database and tracking system to participants and encourage them to use it.

All five project objectives were attained. That is, all tasks were completed within the specified time frame.

In conclusion, the external program evaluator found the project to be quite successful. Everything promised in the grant application, as revised, was delivered. In addition, participants rated very highly the training they received.

Final Note:

A variety of resource material was distributed to support personnel throughout the program. (See Appendix G.)

Dear Mr. Mattock:

As per our phone conversation regarding our training grant #S241A20217, this is a request for approval to change the objectives of said grant from four all-day training programs and eight half-day training programs to twelve all-day training programs.

The advisory committee is in agreement that all-day programs are more beneficial and make better use of participants time.

This change will not result in any budget adjustments. It will make better use of resources available.

Very Sincerely,

I. Motivating the Unmotivated Student

John Mooy, Educational consultant, Camino Island, Washington

O'Hare

As a result of this presentation, conferees will learn how to help at-risk students develop improved self-esteem, thereby enabling the student to make more appropriate decisions regarding life choices. This workshop will provide a variety of off-beat strategies to motivate reluctant learners at all grade levels.

II. Communications Across Cultures: Multicultural Family Characteristics

Erica Hagen, director, Intercultural Communications Resources, Los Angeles

Orly

This workshop will use slides and interactive strategies to examine the acculturation process and to identify some cultural differences that can cause misunderstanding between families and school professionals. Short-term and long-term strategies for addressing such alienating factors as value shock, differing expectations, culture shock, labeling, stereotyping, discrimination, isolation, and intergroup conflicts will be explored. Understanding each other is a major weapon in the war against substance abuse.

III. Working Together Will Make It Happen

Dr. Howard Adelman, professor, Psychology, UCLA

DaVinci

Today's buzzwords of collaboration, cooperation, and teaming can hold the answer to many problems facing support services personnel. Dr. Adelman will present a sparkling formula for combining all three to use in a special process for addressing the fundamental tasks facing staff in the 1990s.

Rooms located on second floor include: Midway, National, O'Hare, Orly, Sea-Tac, and Templehoff.
Rooms located on third floor include DaVinci and Dorval.

IV. Sexual Harassment and Teens

*Deanne Neiman, Office of Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Section
Los Angeles Unified School District*

Dorval

A recent survey on sexual harassment, conducted by Louis Harris and Associates, revealed that 85% of girls and 75% of boys have experienced sexual harassment in school. Perpetrators, as well as victims, suffer if sexual harassment occurs; both feel guilt, shame, fear, sadness, depression, withdrawal, anger, and confusion. In this workshop you will learn how to recognize sexual harassment and learn what you should do if you see or experience sexual harassment in your school.

V. Impact of Drugs and Alcohol in Schools: How Crisis Teams Can Help

Alnita Dunn, psychologist, Los Angeles Unified School District

Sea-Tac

The increasing use of drugs and alcohol by students poses a continuing threat to school achievement and adjustment. Many of the behavior problems, emotional difficulties, and failing grades experienced by today's students stem from the use of alcohol and drugs. This workshop will describe ways in which School Crisis Teams may assist in drug prevention and intervention at the local schools.

VI.* Six Steps Toward a Structural-Strategic Approach for Adolescent Substance Abuse

Jim Wiswell, MFCC, Eastland Counseling Center, Covina

Midway

Today's students need help in arranging and organizing their lives to meet and solve their problems. At this workshop concrete steps will be outlined to guide the support person to create a plan in order to bring about desired change. Students have applauded this program.

VII.* The Use of Peer Counseling in Preventing Drug Abuse

Joanne Sturkie, Long View, Texas

National

Kids talk to kids. This workshop will teach you how to use peer counseling to promote positive peer pressure in the fight against drug abuse. Kids get kids into drugs. Kids get kids out of drugs. Demonstrations, role plays, and handouts.

VIII. "Think First," for Elementary Students: A Group Counseling Program

Dr. Judy McBride, Psychological and Counseling coordinator

Long Beach Unified School District

Templehoff

A group counseling program designed to help boys, grades 2-6, deal rationally with issues of anger and aggression. "Think First" is based on research which suggests how aggressive behavior develops in young children. "Think First" is accompanied by and includes a video-based parent-training program called "Parent to Parent." "Parent to Parent" is designed for use with parents of children who are experiencing problems with anger management, impulse control, and aggressive behavior.

Albuquerque, New Mexico

2:00 p.m. - 3:15 p.m. P. M. Sessions

- I. Helping vs. Enabling: Student Substance Abuse Prevention
Jane Bluestein, Albuquerque, New Mexico Concourse Ballroom

When does our helpful behavior get in the way of a child's growth and accountability? This program examines effective ways to support children who are having problems, validate their feelings and experiences, help them resolve conflicts independently, and hold them accountable for their behavior. We'll also learn positive, supportive alternatives to using warnings and delayed consequences, shaming and blaming, making (or accepting) excuses, and compromising our own boundaries in order to encourage student responsibility and self-management.

- II. Six Steps Toward a Structural-Strategic Approach for Adolescent Substance Abuse
Jim Wiswell, MFCC, Eastland Counseling Center, Covina Midway

Today's students need help in arranging and organizing their lives to meet and solve their problems. At this workshop concrete steps will be outlined to guide the support person to create a plan in order to bring about desired change. Students have applauded this program.

This program will offer a description of services offered through specially-funded comprehensive health, drug, alcohol, tobacco, and prevention programs. County Office evaluation services will also be described, with suggestions for psychologists to use for on-site evaluation purposes.

- V. Think First: A Video-Based Counseling Program for Adolescents
Dr. Judy McBride, Psychological and Counseling Services coordinator
Long Beach Unified School District

Templehoff

See actual students interacting with the school psychologist as they discuss issues dealing with anger and aggression. This workshop highlights a special program showing the steps for helping adolescents deal with volatile issues and come out winners.

- VI. Consultation and Family Rituals - A Systems Approach to Family Consultation
Dr. Sharon Johnson, assistant professor, California State University,
Los Angeles

DaVinci

Viewed from a systems perspective, consultation can be a primary tool for school psychologists to use with families, as well as with school staff. This workshop shows how the knowledge and use of rituals is important in the behavioral change process.

- VII. Group Counseling with Adolescent Substance Abusers
Dr. Mary Catherine Fitzgerald, professor, Loyola Marymount University

Orly

A step-by-step method for counseling adolescents in groups. Dr. Fitzgerald will lead participants through the necessary procedures for effective goal reaching. An opportunity for demonstrating techniques for dealing with the reluctant participant, the takeover member, and the overly confiding client will be provided. Participants should come to this session prepared to be involved and to question!

- VIII. Discovering the Different Reasons Why Students Use Drugs and What to Do About It (True Colors)
Dr. Diana Ketterman, continuation high school psychologist, Walnut Valley Unified School District

Sea-Tac

Learn a simple and practical tool for identifying and esteeming the core personality style of yourself and others. With the "True Colors" method, school psychologists can provide students, families, and staff with a powerful weapon to assist them in the war against substance abuse.

Rooms located on second floor include: Midway, National, O'Hare, Orly, Sea-Tac, and Templehoff.

1. Building Counselor Morale—Practice Random Acts of Kindness ~ Nancy Megli and Dorothy Gram
With very little time and even less effort, you can create a warm supportive environment for your colleagues. A note, a smile, a stamped message, a word of encouragement...means so much, yet costs so little. Explore new ways to practice random acts of kindness and feel good too.
2. Peer Helping ~ Michael Donnelly
This round table will discuss current research involving peer resource models, explain how the program works in one district and provide an opportunity for sharing ideas, techniques, and resources. If you feel overwhelmed as a high school counselor, be sure to come to this session.
3. Counselors and Restructuring ~ Cynthia Augustine
Participate in a lively discussion about the role of counselors in restructuring plans. Ideas and action plans will be shared and developed. Restructuring is here, are we ready to welcome it? This table-talk will help you get off to a good start or if already involved, increase opportunities for success.
4. Crisis Interventions ~ Warren Sapp
Participants will have an opportunity to share information and have questions answered regarding crisis intervention techniques dealing with natural disasters and suicide prevention.
5. Teenage Grief ~ Martie Parker
This table-talk will provide an overview of teenage grief with some hands on activities. Opportunities for questions and answers will be provided along with additional time for sharing helpful suggestions.

Conferees will have an opportunity to attend two table-talk sessions.

SUBJECT: NETWORKING DIRECTORY

The U.S. Department of Education's Drug-Free Schools and Communities Grant provided the resources for the Los Angeles County Office of Education's Drug Prevention Training Program for Counselors and Support Services Personnel. These training experiences were held at locations geographically friendly to the 82 K-12 school districts within Los Angeles County.

In addition to the primary objectives of presenting training experiences, and distributing relevant support material, a further objective of the grant was the establishment of regional support networks that could serve as resources and provide other cooperative benefits for support personnel. This directory was developed to address that objective.

At the initial training sessions, participants were given the opportunity to be listed in the resource/networking directory. It is suggested that the directory be used as a guide to obtain and share information about support services programs. It may also serve as a resource to locate speakers, set up regional meetings, and facilitate on-site visitations.

The Networking Directory contains a "Hotlines/Info/Referrals" list as an example of how information may be shared among networking participants. Telephone numbers change frequently and should be checked before using as a referral.

For further assistance or questions regarding the networking program, please call Mr. Bill Aston, project coordinator, at (310) 922-6393.

SUBJECT: DRUG ABUSE PREVENTION STUDENT SURVEY

As a participant in the 1992 Los Angeles County Office of Education's Drug Prevention Training Program for Counselors and Support Services Personnel conducted at Loyola Marymount University, Mt. San Antonio College, the Gene Autry Museum, and the Palmdale Cultural Center, I am requesting your response to the enclosed questionnaire regarding the use of the "Student Survey" for drug abuse prevention. As part of the grant we received for this program from the Department of Education, it is requested that we distribute this questionnaire and most important that we receive your feedback on this topic. Please take a moment to respond.

Enclosed is a copy of this instrument which is currently being used for the evaluation of substance abuse prevention programs in a number of districts within the county. Areas measured by the instrument include self-esteem, decision-making skills, drug attitudes and knowledge, and drug usage.

This instrument is available in English or Spanish, customized with your district's name and logo. Countywide data sampling the responses of some 50,000 students will be made available upon request. The Division of Educational Support Services will provide the document, scanning, scoring, and analysis at a cost of $.40 per student.

Sample pages from the standard report are enclosed. Additional analysis, including presentation quality charts (see enclosed), is also available. A complete sample district report is available upon request.

For further information regarding these services, please contact Dr. John Martois at (310) 922-6302.

Progression of Chemical Dependence and Recovery in Adolescents

This article makes it clear that chemical dependence is a primary, chronic, progressive, psychological, biochemical, genetic, and relapsing disease that effects adolescents as well as adults. Adolescents appear to exhibit an increased vulnerability of susceptibility to chemical dependence. The differing dynamics in adolescent addiction are varied and must be understood to make successful recovery an attainable goal for adolescents.
