ABSTRACT

The Florida Library Youth Program is an extension of the Florida Summer Library Program and has emerged in response to a need to provide programs for school-age children at times other than the traditional summer vacation. The theme, "Rhythm and Books--Feel the Beat!," focuses on music and rhythms that abound around children in the world. The program focuses on information and fun and seeks to downplay the number of books read. Chapters are entitled: "Moving and Grooving," "Rhythm of the Road," "Catch the Wave," "Whoop n' Holler," "Class Act," "Hand Clapping, Toe Tapping," "Island Rhythms," "Earth Beat," "Hummin' 'n' Strummin'," and "Different Beats for Different Feet." Each chapter features a bibliography along with "variations on a theme," (call and response stories, puppets, etc.), "a capella" (suggested books for reading aloud), "for the instrument case" (display materials), and "interludes" (poetry, recommended recordings, informational material and community resources, crafts, videos, etc.). A combined bibliography of 450 items repeats the titles in each section, providing ISBN (International Standard Book Number) and the availability of alternative formats such as audiocassette or Braille. The bibliography is followed by a similar discography of 54 recordings. Also included in the manual are a program evaluation form, guidelines for using teen volunteers, a puppet show script, a school visit script, sample radio public service announcements, and answer keys to the suggested pencil games. FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Sandra B. Mortham
Secretary of State

30 November 1995

Dear Youth Librarian,

The Florida Department of State is pleased that once again the State Library of Florida is able to bring to the children of Florida the Florida Library Youth Program. This long-running program, formerly known as the Summer Library Program, remains vigorous and progressive through your efforts and support.

I am aware of the important role you play in developing a love of reading and books in the young people of our state. We can accomplish this goal, along with our more urgent goal of promoting literacy by your continued involvement in the Florida Library Youth Program. With your dedication, this program, funded by the federal Library Services and Construction Act, would not be the success it is.

As we continue our second quarter century of service through this program, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your fine efforts to provide a varied, quality program of library service to the youth of the Sunshine State and to encourage you and your staff to participate fully in this year's program.

Sincerely,

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the 1996 Florida Library Youth Program. This Program, funded by the federal Library Services and Construction Act grant funds, is an extension of the highly successful and long running Florida Summer Library Program. Every year as we evaluate the past year's program, we look towards the future and seek ways to make this Program responsive to the trends and developments that public libraries face in serving youth.

For the past several years, we have been hearing that youth librarians in many areas of the state were trying to respond to the need to provide programs for school-age children at times other than the traditional summer vacation. Many counties were experimenting with year-round schools and public libraries needed to be able to provide programs similar to the successful Summer Library Program at other times of the year. Thus, the idea of the Florida Library Youth Program was born.

While this is not really new, the Florida Library Youth Program, by removing the word "Summer" from the promotional materials, provides local libraries with the added flexibility of being able to use the promotional materials year round.

Our theme this year, Rhythm and Books -- Feel the Beat! focuses on music and rhythms that abound in the world around us and the children we work with. The Florida Library Youth Program Planning Committee and the children's librarians in Manatee County who have compiled this manual and will be presenting the staff development and training workshops that are an integral part of the Program, have created a flexible program that will allow each library to deliver the appropriate level of service for their patrons and clients.

BASIC PHILOSOPHY - Our basic philosophy and goals remain the same as in previous years. We want children to learn about the library and the services it offers, to understand that there is a wealth of information and fun waiting for them in a friendly, encouraging atmosphere. Especially during school breaks and vacation periods, we want the experience to be relaxing, pleasurable, and free of stress. For that reason, we downplay numbers of books read. "How many" is not nearly as important as "how good." No prizes should be given for number of books read unless it is an agreed upon contract between child and librarian. We want children to share books and stories in the company of others and discover the satisfaction of reading alone, or being read to. That's why we have group programs and individual guidance.

AGE AND ABILITY LEVELS - The Florida Library Youth Program is designed primarily for elementary school age children. Its purpose is to encourage library use for leisure and continued learning during the weeks that school is not in session. The Program tends to be recreational rather than educational in nature. This is more a matter of emphasis rather than a true difference in content. The Florida Library Youth Program should allow children the freedom and time to follow personal interests and inclinations that may or may not be found in the school curriculum.

Although we realize that toddlers and preschoolers also have library needs, the primary thrust of the Florida Library Youth Program is not for that age group. The majority of libraries completing the evaluation form for the 1995 program agreed that elementary school age children are the age group that they want this program to serve. This does not mean, of course, that preschool storytimes must be eliminated, only that the suggestions for programs, bibliographies, and materials supplies through the Florida Library Youth Program will be aimed at elementary school age children. Libraries are encouraged to adapt the ideas and materials provided through the Florida Library Youth Program for both their younger and older children -- if that is appropriate for your community.

All children, regardless of ability or disability, are encouraged to participate in the Florida Library Youth Program at their local public library. Libraries need to offer adaptations such as sign language interpreters, assistive listening devices, or visual adaptations to be in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Local libraries are encouraged to request deposit collections through the Bureau of Braille and Talking Book Services for children with limited vision or physical disabilities that prevent them from using traditional print materials. The combined bibliography/index notes which books are available through the Regional Library and in what format (braille or talking book). Contact the Regional Library at (904) 239-6000 or 1-800-226-6075. For detailed information on working with children with disabilities, see the 1992 Summer Library Program Manual. Additional information about working with children with disabilities can be found in Programming for Serving Children with Special Needs (American Library Association, 1994), an Association for Library Service to Children Program Support Publication.

MATERIALS AND INCENTIVES - Art for this year's full color poster and bookmark has been designed by children's book illustrator and Florida resident Matt Novak. Our mascot character again this year is "Flyp," a Florida panther. The art has been adapted for our logo sheets, coloring sheet, and the reproducible reading logs. This year we are also supplying a reproducible "Read To Me" log.

Posters - Space is provided for you to include additional information. If you need more space than provided, mount the poster on a larger sheet of poster board or foam core.

Bookmarks - These are your first form of publicity. Use them freely during your school and community visits.

Repro Pack - While not every library uses every item in the repro pack, we try to provide a variety of materials so that there is something for everyone. Use what you can and adapt the rest for your individual library's needs.

This year the repro pack will include 8 pages:

- logo sheet
- doorknob hanger (front and back)
- reading log (cover and inside)
- read to me log (cover and inside)
- certificate
- coloring sheet
- game/maze sheet

The logo sheet contains line drawings of Flyp adapted from the poster and the bookmark as well as the program slogan in several type sizes. Use the logo sheet to create program fliers for your series of programs. Add the mascot to your press releases to garner attention.

Since it met with such success last year, the repro pack this year will again include a doorknob hanger. We have added a second side to indicate when it is "safe" to enter. If possible, reproduce this on card stock. Have children use crayons, markers, or colored pencils to brighten these "Please Do Not Disturb! I'm reading" and "Enter at your own risk" signs before they are cut out. To make these privacy signs last longer, have clear contact available so your young readers may laminate the doorknob hangers back-to-back after they have decorated them. Encourage children (and their care-givers) to set aside a special place and time each day to read.

Two sheets in the repro pack have been designed to be run back to back to create a two-sided reading log. There is a cover sheet with the program logo and space for the reader to place his or her name on the front. The inside provides places which will allow the reader to track books read and library activities in which they have participated.

In addition to the reading log, there will be a "Read To Me" Log. This log will be very similar to the reading log, except that it will be simplified. The outside cover will note that "This Read To Me Log Belongs To _____." The inside will be wide lines which will allow the reader/listener to track the books that someone has read to him or her, or that he or she has read independently.

No matter which log you use, customize it for the children in your service area. Interchange the insides. Number the lines if you desire. Add categories if you wish. Or have your readers keep track of how many pages or minutes they read as well as the titles.

Rubber Stamp - Evaluation of the materials provided last year again showed that there are still many libraries that use the rubber stamp. Libraries were again given the option of ordering a stamp this year. The stamp will be approximately 1" by 1" in size. Use this as a hand stamp when children attend programs, to validate reading logs, or in any creative manner you and your patrons desire. The stamp will be adapted from the artwork designed by Matt Novak.

Incentives - This year, libraries will again be receiving reading incentives. At the time this manual is being prepared, we are still not sure what exactly they will be. Whatever they are, they will enhance our theme.

The Florida Library Youth Program does not give prizes to children in competition with each other to see who can read the most books. It is not a competitive program in which one child is the winner and all others are losers. Rather, in as many ways as possible, local libraries need to devise methods to make every child feel a sense of achievement and pride in accomplishment. This is where we walk the thin line between incentives and competition. Rewards for completing individual contracts, rewards and recognition for number of pages read or number of minutes read, for coming to specific programs, or for teamwork should be handled in such a way that there are no losers. Exactly how this is done varies with the children you serve and requires judgement on the part of the librarian.

Evaluation Form - Please read the Evaluation Form, found elsewhere in this manual, now, so you will know what figures and records you need to keep. We have kept the same basic form used during the past several years. Program attendance figures are important because it is a concrete measure of the impact of the Florida Library Youth Program. Your comments on the theme and materials are used in planning future Programs.

A question on this year's evaluation form has to do with future funding of this program. As the 1996 Florida Library Youth Program Manual is going to press, the U.S. Congress is debating the future of the Library Services and Construction Act. LSCA is scheduled to sunset at the end of the 1996 FLYP program. With the currently proposed restructuring of LSCA, the State Library may not be able to underwrite the entire cost of the project. We are asking that youth librarians talk with their library directors about this possibility and answer the question on the evaluation form regarding the future of the statewide program. Please feel free to contact the State Library prior to the submission of the evaluation forms to voice your views on this important subject.

Please make certain that every outlet presenting FLYP related programs returns a completed evaluation form to the State Library of Florida by September 1, 1996.

READING RAINBOW and STORYTIME - Local libraries are again encouraged to form partnerships with their local PBS outlet to promote Reading Rainbow, the highly acclaimed educational television program, and Storytime, both aired on local Public Broadcasting Stations around the state. Contact the educational and community outreach department at your local PBS outlet.

The State Library owns most of the videos from the Reading Rainbow series. While these are not included in the film and video listing in this manual, libraries are encouraged to use these in their programming as appropriate. Please contact the Statewide Audio Visual Service to obtain a current list of Reading Rainbow titles in our collection and to arrange for booking for your library.

PROJECT ADMINISTRATION - Administrative support for this Library Services and Construction Act grant funded program is again being provided by the Florida Library Association. Libraries who ordered program materials will be receiving them no later than March 1, 1996. If your local branch library has not received the materials by that date, check with your local Florida Library Youth Program coordinator (usually the children's coordinator or the system administrator). If your local Florida Library Youth Program coordinator needs to check on the status of your materials order, have them check with Mr. Phil Pyster, Florida Library Association, (407) 647-8839, FAX (407) 629-2502.

VII. FUTURE

- A. Would you like the State Library to plan a Florida Library Youth Program for 1998 and 1999?

YES ___ For what ages? _____ For what grades? _____

NO ___ If "No," why? _____

- B. Currently, the cost of this statewide program is underwritten by a federal Library Services and Construction Act grant. With the restructuring of LSCA, the State Library may not be able to underwrite the entire cost of the project. If LSCA funds were available only to underwrite the cost of the workshops and design of the materials and not available to underwrite the manufacture and distribution of materials such as posters, bookmarks, repro packs, and incentives, would your library be able to pick up the cost of purchasing these materials? (The average cost over the past five years has been under $.20 per total number of children attending all FLYP programs statewide. Costs per child may increase if quantities of materials produced are reduced. Multiply your response to I. Statistics - A. Total Attendance by $.20 to determine your current approximate costs.)

YES ___ NO ___

Approximately how much money do you think your library would be able to spend on this program? _____ Please talk with your library director about this possibility and feel free to include your comments on an additional sheet of paper.

- C. Who would you recommend to be on the FLYP Planning Committee? (Remember, you may recommend yourself.)

VIII. ADDITIONAL COMMENTS, CONCERNS, OR SUGGESTIONS

The Florida Library Youth Program belongs to all of us. We'll listen to what you say. Many of the changes over the years have come from your comments and suggestions. Please help us improve the Program by writing comments, concerns, and suggestions on an additional sheet of paper.

Thank you in advance for your input!

TEEN VOLUNTEERS

by

Marsha McGrath and Jana Fine

Clearwater Public Library System

A volunteer program for young adults is a rewarding experience for both the library and youth. With more schools, churches, and clubs that require community service hours, the library provides the ideal opportunity to offer an important and practical program. For an age group that tends to frequent the library only by necessity, e.g., homework assignments, the volunteer experience is an excellent way to get young adults into the library. By including the young adolescent (eleven to thirteen year-olds), the library can provide a volunteer activity for young people who are not old enough to participate in other volunteer programs such as Candy Strippers. Teen volunteers can do a variety of library tasks -- shelving books and other materials, assisting with children's programs, and being part of a creative dramatics or puppet troupe. Accepting volunteers of any age is a good public relations tool.

BENEFITS - The benefits of volunteering are many. For the teens, the chance to learn about the library profession and all the materials that are available, a first view of work in a non-threatening setting, preparation for a paid job as a page or library assistant, and a place to socialize are all beneficial. Letters of reference for future interview situations and fulfilling requirements for previously-mentioned community service commitments are perhaps more tangible advantages. Something more than babysitting as work experience will help the resume.

SUPPORT - There are several areas from which to obtain support for this program. The library administration must philosophically support the volunteer concept in general and youth participation in particular. The youth staff must recognize the importance of the program even if the rest of the staff considers it an invasion of the workspace. Without parents who agree to allow their children to participate in the program and to provide the necessary transportation, success would be impossible. Many libraries require permission slips from parents for insurance purposes. Support from the school community is necessary to allow the library to promote the program in school visits. And finally, young adults who buy into the concept make all the work worthwhile.

Librarians who have not worked with volunteers this young may want to start small and expand when the youth staff feel comfortable with the program. A good way to start is to offer the volunteer the opportunity to a few select library users as a pilot program. When staff are comfortable with the volunteer program and the number of volunteers can be increased, the following ideas are offered as suggestions to allow the program to grow successfully.

RECRUITMENT AND PROMOTION OF TEEN VOLUNTEER PROGRAM -

Promotion of the program is important and can be accomplished in many ways. The most obvious is inclusion in the library's calendar of events for the summer. Letters to school district officials and principals and flyers to the schools help spread the word, especially important in schools where community service for graduation is required. Press releases to school and local media and PTA newsletters are a basic publicity tool. Visits to the middle and high schools help gain attention for the program. Word of mouth is always an excellent way to increase the attendance at the program after the first few years. In addition to all of these methods, library patrons of the appropriate age should be approached and asked if they are interested. They may not have connected with any of the before mentioned methods of communication. Speaking with youth groups -- church groups, scouts, and clubs, etc. is a viable way to spread the word. A slide show or video of what the library has to offer the young teen is helpful. Appearances by library staff and current and former volunteers on local talk shows, either broadcast or cable, may result in additional volunteers. If nothing else, these appearances will place the library in a positive light in the community.

During the school year, presentations can be made to middle junior, and high school aged students. If the library has a puppet troupe, the librarian and some of the teen puppeteers can present a puppet show and talk about what is being lined up for either summer or school breaks. Then, volunteer forms are left with the media specialist which the librarian can pick up at a later date. These forms should also be available at the library so the students who missed the opportunity at school can sign up with the librarian. Once a puppeteer troupe has been established, word of mouth usually brings new recruits each year, along with the "veterans."

APPLICATION PROCEDURE - Applications should list important information such as the contact person in the case of an emergency and telephone numbers to call if the volunteer does not show up for work. A sample application form is included on the following page. As previously stated, it is best to have applications available four to six weeks preceding the starting date for both beginning and well-established volunteer programs.

ORIENTATION - Orientation for volunteers, although not always well attended, is very helpful for the first-time volunteer and her/his parents. A few parents attend each year to learn about the program. Although most parents will not attend, those who wish to do so should not be discouraged. At this first meeting, library staff has an opportunity to inform the perspective volunteers of their responsibilities and the benefits they will receive from working at the library. The agenda of a typical teen volunteer orientation includes the type of work available, type of equipment used, guidelines, break time, tour of the facility, other programs the library offers for teens, and other volunteer opportunities that are available in the community.

The following are the guidelines that the Clearwater Public Library uses with their teen volunteers.

Teen Volunteers Clearwater Main Library Guidelines

- Teen Volunteers are expected to dress neatly. No T-shirts, tank tops, shorts, or blue jeans.
- Respect library rules for behavior. Remember, YOU represent the Library. You are expected to set a good example for the younger children, even when you are not working.
- Be on time for work. Please call the Library at 462-6800 extension 239 before 9:15 a.m. if you are unable to work that day.
- Sign in and out every time you work. Do not sign in to work when you are not assigned to work, unless you have been asked to work on a special project.
- Make sure pencils, reading record logs, and handouts are ready.
- Arrange the reading records in alphabetical order.
- Smile and listen to book reports. Record author, title, and approximate time spent reading in the log (round time into 15 minute increments).
- Listen as long as the child wants to talk, but be brief if lots of children are waiting to report. Say "Thank you." Examples of questions to ask:
 - Tell me about the most exciting part.
 - Tell about a funny part.
 - Who did you like best in the book?
 - How did the story end?
 - Would you tell a friend this is a good book to read?
- If you are not busy recording in reading logs, you may:
 - Read to children or listen to them read.
 - Help children find books (ask a librarian if you can't find what they are looking for).
 - Pick up the puzzles and help keep the Youth Room neat.
 - Prepare and perform Poetry Breaks.
 - Count number of people attending programs.
 - Write articles, stories, poetry, etc., for Teen Newsletter.
 - Work on other projects assigned by a librarian.
- Learn about the scheduled programs and promote them!
- READ -- you'll be expected to keep a reading record for yourself.

Use of staff lounge: You may take a break of fifteen minutes between 10:30 and 11:00, 2:30 and 3:00, or 6:30 and 7:00. Cold drinks are 50¢ and snacks are 50¢. Do NOT bring food into the library.

You must wear your name badge at all times, especially when you are in the STAFF ONLY areas.

TRAINING - Once you have recruited your volunteers, training is the next step. Training is crucial to a successful program, especially a volunteer program. Explicit directions must be given to this age group. Checking on the progress of the work helps insure successful completion of the assignment. Instructions must be clear and concise. Some volunteers are more focused than others. In addition, knowledge of each volunteer's abilities is helpful to avoid giving too difficult a project to the wrong person.

The following quiz is given to volunteers as part of their training. It helps the library staff running the volunteer program assess the teens knowledge of the library. Each volunteer is provided a map of the library and asked to locate these classifications/sections on the map. This will enable the teen volunteer to provide accurate directions for patrons and be able to locate materials quickly.

Bonus Question: What Do Young Adults Read Next?

SCHEDULING - The length of time per day or week that a volunteer works depends on the number of volunteers that participate and the amount of time library staff have to supervise the teen volunteer program. A good rule of thumb is one three-to-four hour shift per week per volunteer. Allow volunteers to sign up for one additional time slot only after all volunteers have been accommodated in the schedule. One fifteen-minute break during the shift makes the volunteer experience a more authentic work experience. Unlike regular staff, however, the teen volunteers have a specific break time for the benefit of staff who choose not to share the break room with youth; therefore, the time period for teen volunteer breaks should be clearly posted on a sign and enforced by the youth services staff.

Most teens are good about notifying the library in advance of plans that prohibit them from keeping the commitment. If the teen does not appear at the scheduled time, it may be acceptable to call home and inquire about the volunteer. Calling the parent or guardian fifteen minutes after the scheduled beginning of the work shift is not the usual procedure for an employee, but appropriate in this case since the teen volunteer is not a typical employee.

Many students do not have time to continue volunteering during the hectic school year; some may continue on evenings and Saturdays. Home school students should be encouraged to volunteer during the school year since they have a more flexible schedule.

Allowing friends to work together can be problematic, but may also make the work more enjoyable for the volunteers. The Clearwater Public Library neither encourages or discourages it, but does try to accommodate requests, especially when car pooling is a consideration.

To keep track of the number of hours that the teen volunteers work, a sign-in sheet or timesheet works well. Number of hours worked is an important statistic to collect. The reverse side of the application can serve as a time sheet. The supervisor can also track the various types of work the volunteer has performed. When writing a letter of reference, this record serves as a summary of the volunteer's work experience for the staff.

If you do not want to design your own forms to keep track of your teen volunteers, you may want to use "Form 25 - Individual Youth Participation Record" and "Form 25 - Youth Participation Tally Sheet," from Output Measures and More: Planning and Evaluating Public Library Services for Young Adults, written by Virginia Walter (American Library Association, 1995). Walter's book has an excellent discussion of youth participation and the measures. In addition to telling how to collect the data and calculating the measure, Walter also tells how to interpret and use the data.

Two other ways to keep track of the schedule are a calendar page in the notebook of applications or a poster-sized calendar of the days of the week with names of each volunteer for the day worked.

ON THE JOB - Name tags are an important tool to help staff identify volunteers and learn names. Staff who do not work in the youth area can readily identify volunteers who are in restricted areas of the library simply by seeing the familiar name tag. In addition, the name tag gives the volunteer a sense of belonging and the program theme clip art, used in conjunction, ties the volunteer program into the overall theme. Inexpensive paper name tags, reusable plastic sleeve name tags, or a button maker name tag all work equally well, depending on the resources of your library.

A list of jobs that the volunteers may perform should be compiled as the ideas occur to the staff in the youth area. A memo to the other library departments requesting possible work that is available makes for a good variety of opportunities. Examples of tasks that teen volunteers at Clearwater Public Library are responsible for performing include the following:

Keep children's reading records.
Read to children, or listen to them read. (If you read to someone, that counts as time on your reading record, too.)
Prepare and perform poetry breaks.
Put away paperbacks.
Put stickers on new paperbacks.
Straighten paperback shelves.
Straighten magazines and weed.
Straighten youth videos.
Write for newsletter; serve as Main Library's assistant editor.
Suggest tapes, videos, and CD's for library to buy for circulating collection.
Put holiday spine labels on books.

Work on vertical file. Write for information on buildings in Washington D.C., on states, and on cities in Florida.
Read shelves (that is, put books in order).
Organize National Geographic magazines.
Prepare materials and samples of crafts for programs.
Decorate Youth Room.
Work on flannelboard stories, finger puppets, and other storytime aids.
Help librarian find books and other materials requested over the phone.
Work on projects assigned by the librarians.

SPECIAL VOLUNTEER PROGRAMS - A creative dramatics group or puppet troupe takes more supervision and time than the teen volunteers. Rehearsals, taping sessions, prop and puppet making all take many hours of work and is multiplied by the number of different shows offered. If the shows are offered out in the community, transportation is a concern whether it is provided by the parents or the librarian.

Youth puppeteers can be a great asset to the youth library program. Not only are the young adolescents willing and able to assist and create programs during the year, but they are also imaginative, energetic, challenging and willing to try anything.

Planning and Preparation - To set up a puppeteer program in the library, several things need to be in place before one begins.

Get the approval of the library director, the section manager, and your supervisor before beginning this project.

Find out how much, if any, money can be used towards this project.

Be sure there is a performance area (stage) that can be used not only for programming, but also for rehearsals. Find some additional storage space to house the materials.

An existing set of puppets is indeed an asset. If there are no puppets in the library, the librarian can make some ahead of time using patterns out of books, procure stuffed animals either through donations from the community or purchase them in stores and perform a "puppetectomy"¹ on the items, or buy some puppets either through catalogs or in local stores.

Select several scripts that will become the core of the program. These scripts can be taken from royalty free books and magazines, or adapted from books. There might even be creative people on staff or even an imaginative teenager who will want to try out their writing skills by creating an original puppet play. Another option is to allow the teen participants to select the scripts that they wish to perform.

One thing to consider is the length of a puppet show. If the programs are geared to a general audience of all ages, including preschool and toddlers, then a puppet script of no longer than ten minutes is a good rule of thumb. If the shows are aimed at an older audience, then the script can be up to twenty minutes. However, any script chosen, written, or adapted must have some action on stage. Talking heads become boring even for preschoolers, and the audience will soon be lost.

The librarian needs to make decisions on several options at this point.

How many children should participate in this program? This depends on the amount of time the librarian has to work with the group and the number of parts in the scripts. Don't forget to include other parts such as a prop person and an assistant in front of the stage for other presentations during the program. Another consideration is when the adolescents are available to work.

What ages are good to work with? Children aged ten to thirteen are very willing and usually able to work with younger children. The pressures on their time are not as demanding as with older teens.

How much rehearsal time is needed for each program? This depends on the complexity of the script, the number of participant puppeteers, and how much training the puppeteers need. A very important question during this planning time is whether to present a "live" show or tape the audio beforehand. Depending on the library setting, a live show (one that is performed live before the audience) can be very effective with a microphone. But at some point, the need to be the "star" might arise in the puppeteers and chaos, not to mention rivalry, will come into play. At this point, the librarian might consider taping the audio portion of the script.

Taping provides an easier means of presenting a puppet show. The puppeteers don't have to worry about finding scripts; keeping their place in the dialogue; and working with puppets, props, and scripts at the same time, and they can concentrate on the movements of the puppets. Also, if the puppeteer troupe travels to other locations without the use of microphones and a public address system, the taped presentation will be easily heard over a boom box or other easily transported audio equipment.

How many programs should be scheduled? This depends on how much time the librarian has to work with the group and how many presentations can be accommodated in the summer schedule.

What kind of procedures need to be in place for the puppeteers to follow? A schedule needs to be established that includes rehearsal dates and times, program dates and times, dress codes, conduct of behavior statements, rules regarding lateness and no shows, and break times. These rules are similar to the ones previously discussed for regular teen volunteers.

How much time does the librarian need to work with the puppeteers? Depending on the experience of the puppeteers, a rehearsal can last from two to four hours. Rehearsals need to include familiarization with the scripts, practice inside the stage, and making additional props and puppets for the presentation.

Presentations - Now that the librarian has puppets, a stage, scripts, guidelines, a list of willing participants and dates planned for rehearsals and puppet shows, what comes next?

During the first rehearsal, the librarian lays the ground rules for being a puppeteer. Each participant receives a copy of the script to read and selects a part. Having the teens select their own parts teaches independent thinking and creates a sense of trust in the librarian. It is wonderful when everyone has the part they want; sometimes, however, the teens will all want the same part. When this happens, have each teen wanting that specific role read for the part, send them out of the area, and let the rest of the participants vote for the best voice. This is important, since it gives the teens an opportunity to have a say in the running of the troupe.

Once all the parts are handed out, the next step is to read the script aloud. This provides the librarian an opportunity to give constructive comments on actions, voicing, characterization, mood, sounds, and pronunciation of difficult words. Once the reading is satisfactory for the group, then a taping can be made, or, if a live presentation, the puppeteers can begin to work on making any props/puppets that might be required.

Finally, the actual puppet show can be rehearsed on stage. Once the youth are behind the stage, a good idea (especially for a first timer puppeteer) is to show different hand movements that manipulate the puppets. Showing how to work mouth puppets, hand puppets, finger puppets, or stick puppets can be tricky and difficult. Having the teens practice as a group will show the librarian how much experience these youth might have.

After general puppet training is finished, placement and blocking of the show is next on the agenda. This is the time when the librarian becomes a director and gives critical comments to the puppeteers. Several rehearsals will probably be needed so that everyone is satisfied with the outcome. The librarian needs to make sure any written information about the troupe makes its way home. Teens are notorious about forgetting things and need to be constantly but gently reminded of rehearsals and play dates.

The librarian now needs to incorporate the puppet show into a program. If the puppet show lasts twenty minutes or less, other activities appropriate to the audience need to be planned. Songs, body plays, creative dramatics, films, videos, storytelling, or other activities should be planned with the puppeteers to acquaint them with the whole program. Some of the puppeteers will be able to assist with these activities.

Advertisement of puppet shows - Now the program is planned and the puppeteers are ready to go. Have the kids make posters advertising the show and post around the library and in schools, local stores and area businesses. Submit promotional material to the local newspapers and media. Talk it up with the customers who frequent the library. Send flyers out to local child care agencies and other groups in the community whose children would be an appropriate audience for the program.

Once the puppeteer troupe has one entire show under their belts, the subsequent rehearsals and shows will fall into a regular pattern. And after a time, the librarian might consider new and unusual ways of presenting puppet shows such as black light shows, glove puppets acting out songs, having teens in front of the puppet stage interacting with the puppets in a scripted format, or tapping into the fertile imaginations of these talented youngsters and having them come up with new and exciting ways of presenting puppet shows.

FINISHING TOUCHES - There are many ways to show appreciation and thank the teen volunteers at the end of the summer. You may want to consider giving the volunteers a party where games are played and food is served. Area fast food restaurants that are frequented by teens may donate refreshments if you provide some type of recognition for them. A certificate alone or along with some small token of appreciation is appropriate for the teen volunteers. A free paperback book makes an appropriate gift; the Friends of the Library may underwrite the cost of this. Movie tickets, coupons, posters may be obtained from local businesses when they are approached in advance.

One special way of ending a summer teen volunteer program is to sponsor a sleep over in the library. Before you plan this type of event, check with your library administrator to ensure that your insurance will cover this type of afterhours activity. Various activities for specific time periods are planned and can include reading, storytelling, aerobics, movies, food, crafts, and various other forms of entertainment. One adult chaperon, either parents or library staff, for every ten teens is best for an evening that may run late into the night. Make certain that you have both male and female chaperons. Have a designated time for lights out. You should have chaperons take one or two hour "patrol" shifts overnight to ensure the safety of all participants. A light breakfast is the last scheduled activity before parents or guardians pick the teen volunteers up prior to opening the library the following morning.

Another possible ending celebration is an open afternoon at a recreation center with use of the pool, courts (tennis, racket ball, basketball), and other facilities. Amusement centers have been known to offer discounts for one special day to volunteers, if the library provides some form of publicity in recognition of this effort.

For the library the benefits of a teen volunteer program are innumerable. A few of the substantial advantages include interaction with teens, an illusive clientele, a more interesting way to impart knowledge of the library, good public relations with future voters, and a method of staying in touch with young adults and their needs. And not to be forgotten, of course, is something that will please administrators and managers -- statistics for one more program.

RHYTHM AND BOOKS: FEEL THE BEAT

ABOUT THIS MANUAL

Welcome to the 1996 Florida Library Youth Program Manual Rhythm and Books: Feel the Beat. We have been arranging the "books" and the "beat" for several months thanks to the 1996 Florida Library Youth Program Planning Committee and our Manatee County Public Library children's staff.

As in other years, we've tried to use as much recent material as possible. Some out-of-print items are early 90's publications, so they might be in your library, or can be obtained through inter-library loan. Other items are favorite oldies we hope you have. We are such a varied composite of libraries from small, rural to large, urban, that we hope you can find materials in this manual from your collections. As with any year, these suggestions are just the tip of the iceberg in ideas. We hope they get you thinking of further spin-offs.

About the Manual:

An * by a book title denotes that the item is available through Talking Books in some format.

VARIATIONS ON A THEME: Materials in various formats that you can use for programs. These includes examples of "call and response" stories, puppets, clothesline stories, tube stories, etc. We'll draw our workshop presentations from this section.

A CAPELLA: These are books that work well as read a-louds to a group. Use these along with some "Variations" to create your programs. Many books from this area will double nicely "For The Instrument Case". Children love to check out what you read to them.

FOR THE INSTRUMENT CASE: Materials you can booktalk or just put out for display. Watch these check out for home enjoyment.

INTERLUDES: This section includes several sub-sections of materials which can be used to enhance your program.

- Poetry
- Music/Recordings
- Informational Materials
- Community Resources

Crafts, Activities, Displays
Films/Videos

Videos may be borrowed from the Statewide AV Service once an AV Service Agreement has been signed. It is suggested that you request materials as far in advance as possible and list alternative titles for each date. For more information about obtaining an agreement form or an order form, please contact the State Library of Florida, AudioVisual Unit. (904) 487-2651, suncom 277-2651.

This is a great year to pull out those tapes, records, or CDs and really share music with young people. Play music before and after the programs, and during the craft activity. Most of us know Raffi; Sharon, Lois and Braum; Hap Palmer; and other "classic" people of children's materials. This is the time to broaden our listening as well as awareness of the young people for which we program.

Ladybug Magazine prints a song each month. One version is words and music, the other is words and pictures which correspond to notes on the scale. This is a great introduction to music. Let children create their own picture songs.

Remember that boxes are a wonderful source of inexpensive decorations. Take a refrigerator or stove box and create a juke box. Let a giant music box be your puppet theater or be your display for each weeks theme.

Whatever you do, have fun!

Moving and Grooving

MOVING AND GROOVING

This section serves as an introduction to basic movement - jumping, hopping, skipping. It also includes moving to rhythm. A great activity would be to play excerpts from different music and have children move to the music.

VARIATIONS ON A THEME: Presentations In Other Formats

Color Dance. Ann Jonas.

Give blue, red and yellow gauze material to children and let them dance the colors as you read.

*Dance Away. George Shannon.

Rabbit's dancing saves his friends from becoming fox's dinner. Have children dance with the story using stick puppets.

Dancing the Breeze. George Shannon.

Papa, daughter, and the evening breeze dance among the flowers. Let children make flower masks and dance.

Hop Jump. Ellen Walsh.

Using shadow puppet frogs, read this story about one frog who chooses to dance and twirl.

Marvin K. Mooney Will You Please Go Now! Dr. Seuss.

An exercise break can be provided by reading this and having the children do a different movement each time they hear the word "GO".

The Merry-Go-Round Poetry Book. Nancy Larrick.
"Things I Do" by Karla Kuskin. p. 6.

Discuss ways to move: jump, hop, skip, leap, run, stretch, and more. Play excerpts from different music and have children move to the music with streamers or scarves.

*Mirandy and Brother Wind. Patricia McKissack
To win first prize in the Junior Cakewalk Contest, Mirandy tries to capture the wind for her partner. Let the children make masks of a wind character, then attach streamers and let them be the wind.

*Song and Dance Man. Karen Ackerman
Grandpa demonstrates some of the tap dances, songs and jokes he performed when he was in vaudeville.

*Tortoise Tales. Ruth Manning-Sanders.
"Rabbit And the Wolves". p. 36-46.
Make clothesline story of rabbit as he tricks seven wolves into a dance contest.

The Twelve Dancing Princesses. The Brothers Grimm.
Tell this story of the princesses who wear out their shoes each night even though they are locked in their room.

A CAPPELLA: Read- A- Louds

Dancing Feet. Charlotte Agell.
Rhyming text moves from feet to hands, to arms, to legs, to eyes and mouth celebrating diversity and movement.

I Have Another Language, the Language Is Dance.
Eleanor Schick.
A girl's first dance performance shows how she can communicate her feelings without words.

Jiggle, Wiggle, Prance. Sally Noll.
Movement words make you want to move.

Red Dancing Shoes. Denise Lewis Patrick.
Delighted with her shiny new shoes, a young girl dances through town to show them off.

Skip to My Lou. Nadine Westcott.
Chaos erupts when a boy is left in charge of the farm for a day.

Sophie and Lou. Petra Mathers.
Too shy to enter the dance studio across the street, Sophie sets out to learn on her own.

FOR THE INSTRUMENT CASE:
Booktalk Materials Displayed For Check Out

Alvin Ailey. Andrea Davis Pinkney.
Describes the life, dancing, and choreography of Ailey who created his own modern dance company to explore the black experience.

Berenstain Bears Gotta Dance! Stan and Jan Berenstain.
Brother overcomes his fear of dancing and invites a girl to the school dance in this easy chapter book.

*M&M and the Super Child Afternoon. Pat Ross.

CLASS ACT

This chapter opens the world of opera, classical music, and famous composers to young people. Materials on instruments and the orchestra round out the chapter. Perhaps your YA's could stage an opera - it's just a story in song.

VARIATIONS ON A THEME: Presentations In Other Formats

The Bear Who Loved Puccini. Arnold Sundgaard.
After hearing strains of "Madame Butterfly", the bear sets out to become an opera star. He ends up in La Scala performing as Lieutenant Pinkerton. Tell his story and play a Pinkerton aria.

*Berlioz the Bear. Jan Brett.
The animals and their instruments are delayed for their performance because the donkey pulling their cart won't move. As a participation story, you can have six children in masks try to pull a cardboard wagon of musicians. Play "Flight of the Bumblebee" at the end.

Enchanted Flute. Angela McAllister.
Tell this story about the special flute created for Princess Olina.

Geraldine the Music Mouse. Leo Lionni.
As Geraldine nibbles a large chunk of cheese, she is surprised to see the shape of a mouse holding a flute emerge. She is equally surprised to hear music - it is her first encounter with such sounds. Present as a box or flannelboard story with background music from the "Aviary" section of Saint Saens'-Carnival of Animals.

I Like the Music. Leah Komaiko.

Rhythmic text about a young girl whose grandmother takes her to a symphony in the park. Create a street band using the instruments mentioned in the story. Play some "Pops" music and let a child conduct.

*The Philharmonic Gets Dressed. Karla Kuskin.

Suggestions for activities relating to this story about how the various members of the orchestra prepare and travel to the symphony can be found in The Storyteller's Cornucopia by Cathie Hilterbran Cooper. This would work well as a box story where you keep it a mystery until the final scene. Could also be done as a roller story.

Sound and Action Stories. Jerry J. Mallet.

"Let's Make Beautiful Music" p. 34-35. As you read the story, appointed children or the whole group mime the instrument mentioned. No sound allowed.

The Voice of the Wood. Claude Clement.

Tell this story of the cello, which returns to its original tree form when played at Carnival, with cello accompaniment.

Zin! Zin! Zin! A Violin. Lloyd Moss.

One by one we meet ten instruments as they gather for a performance. Create a flip chart of each instrument, a clothesline story or a flannelboard story.

A CAPPELLA: Read- A - Louds

Garth Pig Steals the Show. Mary Rayner.

The pig family is performing a charity concert when they discover their Sousaphonist isn't who she claims to be.

Madame Nightingale Will Sing. James Mayhew.
The prima donna develops stage fright. Will the woodland animals have their opera as planned? There is an explanation of opera at the end.

The Maestro Plays. Bill Martin, Jr.
Fun with words, set against a backdrop of orchestra instruments.

Mrs. Merriwether's Musical Cat. Carol Purdy.
A stray cat has an amazing transforming affect on the sounds of Mrs. Merriwether's pupils.

Musical Max. Robert Kraus.
Max's musical activity drives the neighbors crazy, but the peace and quiet when he gives up his music is worse, they decide.

Orchestranimals. Vlasta Van Kampen.
The symphony orchestra is introduced through animal musicians.

Roland the Minstrel Pig. William Steig.
Roland, a natural musician, leaves home to find fame and fortune and almost becomes a wolf's dinner.

*Rondo in C. Paul Fleischman.
As a piano student plays her recital piece, each member of the audience is reminded of a different memory.

Tuscanini. Jim Propp.
A music loving elephant realizes his dream of being a conductor.

Hand Clapping, Toe Tapping

HAND CLAPPING, TOE TAPPING

These are the stories where your feet and hands are just itching to move because of the sounds and action. We've included Square Dancing and Clogging.

VARIATIONS ON A THEME: Presentations In Other Formats

Barn Dance. * Bill Martin, Jr. and John Archambault.
Unable to sleep, a young boy follows the sounds of music to an unusual Barn Dance. Have a simple square dance using lines from book.

Bringing the Rain to Kapiti Plain. * Verna Aardema.
A cumulative, rhythmic tale about a terrible drought on Kapiti Plain. Works well as a flannelboard or a box story.

Crocodile Beat. Gail Jorgenson.
While lying in wait to snag a tasty meal, Crocodile hears many animal sounds. Try as a flannelboard or flip chart.

Kids Make Music! Clapping and Tapping from Bach to Rock. Avery Hart and Paul Mantell.
Use the chapter "Celebrate Yourself In Sound", (p. 11-on) and the hand jive on page 17, "Shimmy Shimmy Cocoa Puff" and "Pretty Little Dutch Girl" on page 100 for some fun active clapping.

Mama Don't Allow. * Thatcher Hurd.
Miles and the Swamp Band have a glorious time playing at the Alligator Ball until they realize Swamp Band soup is on the menu. Read or tell with background music - "Momma Don't Allow" by Linda Arnold.

More Tell and Draw. Morgan and Jean Oldfield.
"Albert's Vacation". p. 11-14.

Albert Alligator takes a trip to the zoo to visit his cousin.

*Peanut Butter and Jelly: a Play Rhyme. Westcott, Nadine B. (illustrator)

Either in regular size or big book style, this can be a fun audience response story.

Sherman the Sheep. Kevin Kiser.

Sherman leads the flock on an adventure only to discover "there's no place like home." Put the songs on signs and have a participation story.

Thump, Thump, Rat-a-Tat-Tat. Gene Baer.

A marching band grows larger and louder as it approaches, then smaller and softer after it goes past. Read using shadow puppets.

Turkey in the Straw. Barbars Shook Hazen.

A farmer who would rather fiddle than farm, a wife who was a born worrier, and a shy daughter named Emmy Lou all change during a hoedown when Emmy Lou's pet turkey starts dancing. Read then sing the song and dance.

pots, skillets and spoons.

Jamberry. Bruce Degan.
Fruit rhyme chant.

Jillian Jigs. Phoebe Gillman.
Rhythmic story about an imaginative girl and a messy room.

*The Lady with the Alligator Purse. Nadine Bernard Westcott.
An adaption of the old jump rope rhyme. Read and have a jump rope contest.

Possum Come a-Knocking. Nancy Van Laan.
Cumulative tale about a mysterious knocking at the door.

Stamp Your Feet Action Rhymes. Sarah Hayes.
Read the lines and move to the action. You just can't sit still.

This Old Man: the Counting Song.
A favorite counting song which has great hand action. There are several versions available.
Use as a sing-a-long.

FOR THE INSTRUMENT CASE:

Earth Beat

EARTH BEAT

The focus in this chapter is Mother Nature and her family. We hear the sounds of earth as found in animals, trees, the rain forest, and the Everglades. Conservation is another direction you can go if you want to bring this back for Earth Day.

VARIATIONS ON A THEME: Presentations In Other Formats

*All God's Critters Got a Place in the Choir. Bill Staines.

Celebrates the way that all animals make music and have a place: This would work well as a clothesline story.

And Still the Turtle Watched. Sheila MacGill-Callahan.

Read this story about a carved turtle watching with sadness the changes man brings to the earth. Place a stone turtle watching you as you read and pair with song "You Can't Make a Turtle Come Out" using a puppet. Storytelling Made Easy With Puppets. Jan Van Schuyver - for turtle song. p. 29-34.

Earth Child. Kathryn Sheehan and Mary Waidner. "The Turtle's Mishap: A Puppet Show or Play," p. 179-181. Turtle deals with being entangled in a plastic six-pack ring.

First Song Ever Sung. Laura Kraus Melmed. Animal and human friends provide lyrical answers to a boy's question. This would make a beautiful flannel board.

The Great Kapok Tree. Lynn Cherry.

Using a large tube from a fabric or carpet store, make a tube story about the creatures as they come down from the tree and talk to man about the importance of their tree.

Hands-On Nature: Information and Activities for Exploring the Environment with Children. Jenepher Lingelbach.

"Clock Chorus." p. 156. This makes a delightful choral reading as children sing like birds at their appointed hour.

Is Your Storytale Dragging? Jean Stangle.

"The Silver Night Shadow." p. 18-19.

This is a foil paper folding story about a swan.

Joining in: An Anthology of Audience Participation Stories. Theresa Miller.

"Sunman." p. 95-98. A great participation story based on the Bushman myth from Africa. This version includes songs.

*Just a Dream. Chris Van Allsburg.

After his dream about the earth devastated by pollution, Walter changes his ways. Make a flip chart of the dream and attach Walter to his bed with Velcro so he can be moved from scene to scene.

Keepers of the Animals. Michael Caduto and Joseph Bruchac.

"How the Butterflies Came To Be." p. 83-94. Tell this Papago Indian pourquoi tale, then make butterflies as seen in Bats, Butterflies, and Bugs.

Keepers of the Night: Native American Stories and Nocturnal Activities for Children. Michael Caduto and Joseph Bruchac.

"How the Bat Came To Be." and "Why Animals Don't Go Bump in the Night".
p. 21-42. Tell using puppets and use the activities suggested in the book.

The Little Band. James Sage.

Children dressed as flowers, butterflies, and leaves parade through town making beautiful music. Read aloud with musical accompaniment such as "Haru Ga Kita" found on Raffi's Everything Grows.

The Name of the Tree. Celia Barker Lottridge.

Tell this story about the animals seeking the name of the tree which has the food they need. You can present as a flannelboard or tell with masks.

Owl Babies. Martin Waddell.

This is a delightful tale about three baby owls waiting for mother. Read with puppets, then have children make owl masks and stick puppets.

Presenting Reader's Theater: Plays and Poems to Read Aloud. Carol Feller Bauer.

"When the Sky Is Like Lace." p. 230-233. Do as a group reading.

Stellaluna. Janell Canon.

After falling headfirst into a bird's nest, a baby bat is raised like a bird until reunited with mother. Read with a bat puppet.

The Storyvine. Anne Pellowski.

"The Mosquito." p. 5-8. Pellowski includes directions to tell this as a string story.

The Tree in the Wood: An Old Nursery Song.
Christopher Manson.

Share the book which is a cumulative song tracing a tree back to the acorn it came from. Use flannel board pieces while singing.

*The Wartville Wizard. Don Madden.

An old man teaches a town not to be litterbugs, by magically sending each piece of trash back to the person who dropped it. A wonderful reader's theatre.

A CAPPELLA: Read - A - Louds

Alejandro's Gift. Richard E. Albert.

Lonely in his house on the desert, Alejandro builds an oasis for the many animals around him.

Animal Song. Marcia Sewell.

A rhyming song, naming animals.

Django. John Cech.

Original Florida tale about a boy who fiddles for the forest animals. This book is illustrated by Sharon McGinley Nally who did the poster for the Silver Summer Scrapbook our 25th anniversary program.

Grandfather Twilight. Barbara Berger.

At day's end, Grandfather Twilight walks through the forest bringing night.

*Hey, Get Off Our Train. John Burningham.

A boy takes a bedtime trip on his toy train and rescues endangered animals.

*Jack, the Seal, and the Sea. Gary Aschenbrenner.
Jack, a fisherman, finds an ailing seal and receives a message about the pollution of the sea.

Someday a Tree. Eve Bunting.
A young girl, her parents, and neighbors try to save an old oak tree that has been poisoned by pollution.

Song for the Ancient Forest. Nancy Luenn.
Raven sings warnings about the destruction of the ancient forests, but only a child listens.

Stop That Noise! Paul Geraghty.
A little mouse stands up to a bulldozer tearing down his forest.

Swim the Silver Sea, Joshie Otter. Nancy White Carlstrom.
Joshie, a young otter, swims too far out to sea, and is called back by his mother's song. Song included at the end of the story.

FOR THE INSTRUMENT CASE: Booktalk Materials Displayed For Checkout

Around the Oak. Gerda Muller.
Three children observe a forest for a year.

The Call of the Wolves. Jim Murphy.
Separated from his pack by an airplane carrying hunters, a young wolf has a harrowing adventure alone in the Arctic.

*The Cricket in Times Square. George Seldon.
When Chester, the cricket from the country, comes to Times Square, he brings a little magic.

Everglades: Buffalo Tiger and the River of Grass. Peter Lourie.

Every Living Thing. Cynthia Rylant.

Twelve stories in which animals change people's lives for the better.

John Muir: Saving the Wilderness. Corrine J. Naden and Rose Blue.

Biography of this early proponent of wilderness preservation.

*The Missing Gator of Gumbo Limbo Swamp. Jean Craighead George.

An ecological mystery, set in a hammock area near Miami.

One Day in the Tropical Rain Forest. Jean Craighead George.

The future of the Macaw Rain Forest depends on a scientist, a young Indian boy, and a nameless butterfly.

*The Talking Earth. Jean Craighead George.

Billie Wind journeys alone into the Florida Everglades to test the legends of her Indian ancestors.

Think Like an Eagle. Kathryn Lasky.

This book follows a wildlife photographer through a cycle of seasons.

A Time for Singing. Ron Hirschi.

This rhyming text focuses on the sounds animals make.

Appalachian Spring

1416 F B/W 32 min. JHA

This film combines Aaron Copeland's music and modern dance group in an interpretation of a story set in the Appalachian wilderness during the pioneer period of American history. The dance tells of a young couple's wedding day, the building of their house, their celebration, the wandering preacher's dire sermon, and the pioneer woman's gentle blessing. PHOENIX FILMS, 1959

Caddie Woodlawn

This section gives us a chance to explore several areas of music as well as other cultures: Jazz, truly an American original; ballet, a classical dance mode; Native American, man's interpretation of the natural world; Eskimo, a culture of the snowy lands; Animal tracks, Mother Nature's dancers; Rain, dancing through the puddles. You can use this as a summary of the summer.

VARIATIONS ON A THEME: Presentations In Other Formats

Angelina on Stage. Katherine Holabird.

Angelina, the endearing mouse, makes her ballet debut. Tell as a box story. Cut out one side to make a stage set and have Angelina really fly across the stage.

Ben's Trumpet. Rachel Isadora.

Ben sings "scat" to imitate the sound of the instrument he wants to play. This sound is a trademark of many jazz singers. Play some Sarah Vaughn and Ella Fitzgerald and then let the children try. See p. 39 of Kids Make Music! Clapping and Tapping from Bach to Rock.

Dancing with the Indians. Angela Shelf Medearis.

Tell or read this story about a black family's experience of dancing with Indians, then teach the dances described. Pair with making moccasin medallions. A Reading Rainbow selection.

Froggy Gets Dressed. Jonathan London.

Rambunctious froggy hops into the snow for a frolic only to have his mother call him back for necessary clothing. This hilarious story works well as reader's theatre. Only 3 people are needed - and for the brave, "Froggy" can dress in performance.

Iktomi and the Buffalo Skull. Paul Goble.

Present this Plains Indian story as a reader's theatre piece or participation story. Make a papier mache skull and finger puppet mice.

Ka-Ha-Si and the Loon: An Eskimo Legend. Terri Cohlene (adapted by).

This book retells the legend of Ka-Ha-Si, who acquires great strength and boldness, and uses them to rescue his people in times of peril. Works well as a box story or puppet show.

Lili at Ballet. Rachel Isadora.

Use paper dolls and the book to tell this story explaining ballet attire.

Listen to the Rain. Bill Martin, Jr.

Tell with a rain stick or rain recorded sound.

Mardi Gras! Suzanne Coil.

Read and talk about Mardi Gras, create masks, and then play "Oh, When the Saints" and have a parade.

Muddigush. Kimberley Knutson.

Invite children to chant along with this delightfully squishy tale that describes the sensations associated with playing in the mud.

Small Green Snake. Libba Moore Gram.

Small Green Snake is a curious snake. This delightful tale reads well with a background group of children chanting "A-Hiss, A-Hiss, A-Hiss." Wonderful as a flannel board or with shadow stick puppets.

Tracks in the Sand. Loreen Leedy.

Eggs laid in the sand by a female sea turtle, hatch into tiny turtles who eventually repeat the cycle. Interesting, informative book makes a great box story. Leedy did the art work for the 1994 FLYP Program C.O.L.O.R.: Celebrate Our Love of Reading.

A CAPPELLA: Read - A - Louds

*Bringing the Rain to Kapiti Plain. Verna Aardema.

A cumulative tale in which Ki-Pat, a herdsman, saves his animals in time of drought.

Brother Billy Bronto's Bygone Blues Band. David F. Birchman.

The story of Dinosaur's that are so cool, they are "hot".

How Snowshoe Hare Rescued the Sun: A Tale from the Arctic. Emery Bernhard.

Bear, wolf, and finally snowshoe hare are sent to bring the sun back from under the Earth.

Max. Rachel Isadora.

Max warms up for baseball, by going to ballet class. This could also be used in Class Act.

*On Mother's Lap. Ann H. Scott.

A small Eskimo boy discovers that Mother's lap has room for everyone, including baby.

Peeping Beauty. Mary Jane Auch.

Poulette, the dancing hen, wants to be a famous ballerina. Can she trust that foxy talent scout? This could also be used in Class Act.

Rain Talk. * Mary Serfozo.

Similar to What Does the Rain Play?, here we follow a girl as she listens to the sounds of the rain.

Tanya and Emily in a Dance for Two. Patricia Lee Gauch.

Small, wiggly Tanya befriends talented Emily and each learns something about dance.

What Does the Rain Play? Nancy White Carlstrom.

Boy enjoys the various noises the rain makes.

FOR THE INSTRUMENT CASE: Booktalk Materials Displayed For Checkout

Belinda's Hurricane. * Elizabeth Winthrop.

Belinda gets to know her grandmother's reclusive neighbor while waiting out a hurricane at her grandmother's Fox Island home.

Blackberry Hollow. Paul Peabody.

All the animals become involved when absent-minded Parnassus the Bear tries to get Tom McPaddy, the frog, back to Scotland.

Charlie Parker Played Be Bop. Chris Raschka.

A picture book based on Parker's jazz recording of "A Night in Tunisia," introduces the reader to other jazz greats.

Ellen Tebbits. * Beverly Cleary.

A classic story of friendship and fun.

Ferret in the Bedroom, Lizards in the Fridge. * Bill Wallace.

Liz is afraid her zoologist father and his assorted homeless animals are ruining her chances of becoming sixth-grade class president.

The Firebird. Rachel Isadora.

A simple retelling of the famous ballet in which Prince Ivan encounters the magical Firebird who helps him defeat an evil sorcerer.

Flatfoot Fox and the Case of the Missing Whooo. Eth Clifford.

Detective Flatfoot Fox searches for mournful Owl's "Whooo."

*Julie of the Wolves. Jean Craighead George.

At age 13, Julie's unusual friendship with the wolves in Alaska, help her come to terms with her life. 1973 Newbery Award Winner.

*Keep the Lights Burning, Abbie. Peter Roop and Connie Roop.

Abbie must keep the lighthouse beacon burning when her father is delayed from returning by a fierce New England storm.

*Sign of the Beaver. Elizabeth George Speare.

Left alone to guard the family's wilderness home in Maine, a boy learns survival from the local Indians.

Soaring Eagle. Mary Pearce Finley.

Set 1845, this story is about Julio, rescued by the Cheyenne on the Santa Fe Trail.

The Stinky Sneakers Contest. Julie A. Peters.

Whose smell the worst? Earl and Damian risk their friendship entering this contest.

Storm in the Night. Mary Stolz.

While the lights are out because of a thunderstorm, Thomas hears the story about his grandfather who was afraid of storms as a child.

*Storm without Rain. Jan Adkins.

Alone on an island near Cape Cod, a 15 year old boy finds himself transported back in time where he is befriended by the boy who later becomes his grandfather.

*Streams to the River, River to the Sea: A Novel of Sacagawea. Scott O'Dell.

Relive the joy and heartbreak experienced by Sacagawea as she travels with Lewis and Clark.

*Swan Lake. Margot Fonteyn.

Lavish illustrations enhance the prima ballerina's retelling of this classic.

Tutu Much Ballet. Gabrielle Charbonnet.

Although Charlotte has her heart set on gymnastics camp, Mother and Grandmother insist on ballet.

Voices of the Wild. Jack London.

Beaver, bear, deer, and other animals speak about their lives in the wild and their relationship with humans.

FLYP PUPPET SHOW

THE TOWN ALLIGATOR AND THE COUNTRY ALLIGATOR

by Jennifer Ellard

Approximate Time: 15 minutes.

Puppets: Two alligators one "hip" grandma frog

Props: small suitcase, top hat, shoes, tuxedo - if you wish, "Alligator Alley" sign, paper for the letter and map.

Number of people needed: Two - One inside the stage with puppets; one in front dressed for the outdoors with hat and binoculars. This "Person" narrates.

Stage: Stove box decorated like a swamp or simple standup puppet stage. Backdrop of plain green cloth or "swampy" fabric.

Setting to begin: Have lights dim. "Person" is standing next to the stage, back to the audience, peering up as if looking for something. Slowly rotate toward the audience - register surprise on seeing people - Begin....

PERSON: Oh! What are you doing here in the middle of the night? Did you think it was storytime? Well I guess I have a story I could tell you. It's about how I met my two best friends. Albert and Aloysius. It was a dark, moonless night just like this one. I was out looking for owls when - [sneeze from box] - wait a minute.... I think I heard someone sneeze, did you? It might have been one of those two crazy alligators.

ALOYSIUS: [From inside the stage] Crazy Indeed!

PERSON: Did you hear that? When I said Crazy...

ALOYSIUS: [Alligator appears, but person does not see him yet.] You seem a little crazy to me.

PERSON: I swear that sounded just like that crazy alligator.

ALOYSIUS: That's because it is!

PERSON: [Turn to see alligator] Aloysius! How are you?

ALOYSIUS: Oh, desperate! Am I too late for storytime? Tell the story about how I came to visit my cousin Albert in the Everglades and how I made my singing debut. How I wowed them in the wetlands and was marvelous in the mangroves....How I...

PERSON: Wait Aloysius! Let's tell it right. I'll start at the beginning of the story. Once upon a time, an alligator named Aloysius was hatched in the pipes under the Symphony Hall in New York City. Because Aloysius lived under Symphony Hall, he grew up listening to all kinds of music. He heard operas, concertos, symphonies, cantatas, and fugues. Once he even caught a glimpse of a ballet!

ALOYSIUS: It was so beautiful.

PERSON: Aloysius was very happy living under Symphony Hall -- but sometimes he was lonely. One day he received an invitation to visit his cousin Albert who lived on Alligator Alley in Florida. It read:

ALOYSIUS: Dearest Cousin Aloysius, Please come visit me on Alligator Alley. Enclosed please find a map with directions to my swamp. Sincerely
Yours, Cousin Albert.

PERSON: So Aloysius packed his bags to go to the Everglades. He packed his Top Hat...

ALOYSIUS: In case we go to the theatre.

PERSON: And his best shoes...

ALOYSIUS: In case we go to the symphony.

PERSON: And his tuxedo.

ALOYSIUS: In case we go to the ballet.

PERSON: Aloysius walked and walked and in a few days he saw a sign that said "Alligator Alley". But he lost his map and couldn't find Albert anywhere. Soon he was so deep in the swamp that he couldn't find anyone.

ALOYSIUS: I'm lost in a swamp and I want to go home!

PERSON: But soon he heard a strange but familiar sound.

ALOYSIUS: This is a good part of the story. [enter Albert]

PERSON: What Aloysius heard was Albert practicing his Alligator Tail-Swishing song and doing his Alligator dance. He went...

ALBERT: We swim in the swamp. [Sung to the tune of the Blue Danube Waltz.]

PERSON: Then he would swish with his tail to the left and to the right--like this. Swish-Swish/Swish-Swish. Aloysius recognized his cousin Albert immediately.

ALOYSIUS: Albert! Albert! I thought I'd never find you!

PERSON: Albert was so surprised, he said:

ALBERT: Aloysius! Aloysius! I thought you'd never get here!

ALOYSIUS: Tell me, Cousin Albert, where is your house?

ALBERT: My house is right here.

ALOYSIUS: In the mud?

ALBERT: Yes. I like mud. Mud can be very cool and comfortable. Or mud can keep you nice and warm. But if you really want to get warm, you can bask in the sun.

ALOYSIUS: Bask! How gauche! I will only use a heat lamp!

PERSON: Albert's feelings were hurt. His cousin Aloysius didn't like mud and didn't like to bask in the sun.

ALBERT: I know--Would you like to go fishing?

ALOYSIUS: Fresh fish?! Yuck! I only eat canned sardines!

PERSON: It seemed as though Aloysius and Albert had nothing in common. But then Albert remembered his song.

ALBERT: Hey! Can I teach you a song? It's called the Alligator Tail-Swishing song.

ALOYSIUS: Do you like music?

ALBERT: Yes, I love music!

ALOYSIUS: Oh--Please teach me a song. But who wrote it? Mozart? Handel? Hayden? Schubert?

ALBERT: No! I wrote it especially for you. It goes like this...Ready? [Sung to "Blue Danube" Waltz] We swim in the swamp, Swish-Swish, Swish-Swish. It's cool in the swamp, Swish-Swish, Swish-Swish, [Aloysius and Person join in on Swish-Swish]. We live in the swamp, in the swamp, The beautiful, glorious swamp, Swish-Swish, ALOYSIUS: Wait an minute! Wait a minute! Stop the music! I've heard this song before. It's NOT called the Alligator Tail-Swishing song. It's CALLED the Blue Danube waltz and it WASN'T written by my cousin Albert. It was WRITTEN by Strauss! Copyright infringement! Plagiarism! Fibber! Cheater! Fraud! Copycat! That music belongs in a symphony hall not a stinky old swamp!

PERSON: And the swamp became very quiet and still, until...

ALBERT: Whaaa! Sob! Gasp! [Albert continues to cry while "Person" speaks]

PERSON: Albert started to cry. Now I don't know if you've ever heard an alligator cry - but once they start there is no stopping them! Albert cried for so long and so loudly that every creature in the Everglades heard him including me. I went to see what was the matter. "What's going on around here?" I said in my loudest voice.

[Albert stops crying]

Now, if there's one sure fire way to make an alligator STOP crying, it's to have a person stomping around the place. [Note puppets snap to attention] Aloysius and Albert were perfectly quiet and still and they both did their very best log imitations. But I wasn't fooled for one minute. I said:

Oh, dear, I'm so cold and tired after my long day of birdwatching I must build a fire and make some tea. Why look! Those two logs over there would be perfect for starting a campfire.

[Note: Alligators shaking]

[She moves closer to the alligator cousins and just when she's ready to grab them, she starts laughing and says,] You two silly alligators! I was only kidding!

PERSON: What's going on? First I heard singing and then I heard crying. [Note: speak to audience] And then Albert remembered what he was crying about...

ALBERT: Heee [sob]...The Alligator Tail-Swishing song! [withering sob...] I said [gasp] and then he said I [ripping sob]...

PERSON: Wait a minute, calm down.

ALBERT: I, [gasp] if anybody needs me, I'll be down at the mud hole. [exit]

PERSON: But what song were you guys singing? It sounded so nice...

ALOYSIUS: Oh THAT! That was the so called Alligator Tail-Swishing song.

PERSON: Really? It sounded just like the Blue Danube Waltz by Strauss, to me.

ALOYSIUS: WHAT! You know the Blue Danube Waltz?

PERSON: Of course. We listen to all kinds of music in the Everglades - Country and Western; Reggae; Rock and Roll; Jazz; Be Bop; Hip Hop; Classical; Folk and the Blues.

ALOYSIUS: The Blues? What's the Blues?

PERSON: The Blues are...well, the Blues are kinda like when you have an ache in your heart, when you feel so sad you gotta tell someone...I know, we'll get Grandma Bullfrog to do a song for you and then you'll know what the Blues are.

ALOYSIUS: Really?

PERSON: Yes, all we have to do is call GRANDMA. Are you ready? On the count of three - yell "GRANDMA". 1 - 2 - 3. "GRANDMA" [audience yells too].

GRANDMA: What!

PERSON: Grandma Bullfrog, my friend Aloysius has never heard the Blues. Would you do a song for him?

GRANDMA: [In a deep gravelly voice] I'd love to do a song - but I can't seem to find my band anywhere. I know. You all could back me up. Can you "Ribbit" like a frog?

PERSON: Yes!

GRANDMA: O.K. Now go like this - "RIB-BIT, RIB-BIT" [in Blues riff]. Now back me up...

Verse 1:	A bird ate my mama	rib-it, rib-it
	A boy caught my dad	" " " "
	I was left all alone	" " " "
	On the old lily-pad	" " " "
	I was just a small tadpole	" " " "
	A tiny skinny green lump	" " " "
	But I always knew someday	" " " "
	I'd hop and jump	" " " "
	Hop and jump	" " " "
	Hop and jump	" " " "

Verse 2:	Now when I was a tadpole	rib-it, rib-it
	Swimmin' in the stream	" " " "
	I had a skinny little tail	" " " "
	I had a great big dream	" " " "
	Someday I'll eat crunchy bugs	" " " "
	On lily pads I will thump	" " " "
	But mostly I just wanted	" " " "
	To hop and jump	" " " "
	Hop and jump	" " " "
	Hop and jump	" " " "

Verse 3:	Now that I'm a big frog	rib-it, rib-it
	The grandma of them all	" " " "
	From my throne in the toad stools	" " " "
	I see the heavy rains fall	" " " "
	I swim by the mangroves	" " " "
	Growing in a thick clump	" " " "
	And let me tell you, honey	" " " "

I hop and jump	" " " "
Hop and jump	" " " "
Hop and jump	" " " "

GRANDMA: There you go. Now do you think you know what the Blues are?

ALOYSIUS: Yes, I do!

GRANDMA: Well, then my work here is done. Later. [exit Grandma]

ALOYSIUS: I do know what the Blues are and I've got the Blues because I hurt Cousin Albert's feelings. He tried to teach me the Alligator Tail-Swishing song and I was just mean to him. I thought music belonged in a symphony hall not in a swamp, but now I see that music's everywhere. You've got to listen, listen.

PERSON: That's right. Music's everywhere, you've got to listen, listen. Hey that sounds like a song. Let's call Albert back and you can sing it for him.

ALOYSIUS: Me? Sing?

PERSON: Yes. You will sing it. Now let's call Albert. Albert! [audience joins in] [enter Albert]. Albert, Aloysius has a song he'd like to sing for you.

ALBERT: [sniffing] For me? Really?

PERSON: Yes. Go ahead, Aloysius, we'll help you: [Sung to the tune of Peanut Butter, Peanut Butter, Jelly, Jelly. Ask kids to help sing chorus each time.]

Chorus: Music's in the swamp - Ya gotta listen, listen

Verse: Moss is in the trees and it's swaying, swaying

Chorus: Music's in the swamp - Ya gotta listen, listen

Verse: Bugs are in the pond and they're playing, playing

Chorus: Music's in the swamp - Ya gotta listen, listen

Verse: Mangroves in the breeze are scratching, scratchin'

Chorus: Music's in the swamp - Ya gotta listen, listen

Verse: Spoons with funny beaks are clacking, clacking

Chorus: Music's in the swamp - Ya gotta listen, listen

Verse: Raindrops on the leaves are splashin', splashin'

Chorus: Music's everywhere - Ya gotta listen, listen.

[After song - PERSON initiates applause]

ALOYSIUS: Did you like my song?

ALBERT: Yes, it was beautiful.

PERSON: And the cousins hugged each other as well as alligators can hug. Then Aloysius told Albert he was sorry.

ALOYSIUS: I like this place Albert and I think..I'm staying.

[Everyone cheers.]

ALBERT: I'm so happy!

PERSON: So that's the story of the town alligator and the country alligator.

ALL: We love that story.

PERSON: And as you can see they are still in the swamp and on dark moonless nights just like this one, you may hear the alligators singing because...

ALL: Music's everywhere ya gotta listen, listen!

SCHOOL VISIT

This can be presented by one or two people. Dress in top hat, or cowboy boots, or ballet clothes, or moccasins, or tap shoes. Read the following with "spoons" setting your own beat and rhythm.

Good Morning. Greetings.

It's great to see you all.

I'd like to invite you to join us.

Escape the heat, join the summer beat.

At your local library.

There's music in the air; music everywhere.

Stories, programs, crafts.

Rhythm and Books - Feel the Beat.

Puppets, activities and more.

We're going to explore, music galore.

Classical, jazz and country.

Lot's of different beats, many different feets,

Dancing through your library.

Come see what's in store; come through the door.

We're planning lots of fun.

Bring an instrument along, join us in song.

We'll be movin 'n' groovin with music.

Laughter, song and dance; like an animal prance.

To visit your neighborhood library.

SEE YOU THERE!
