ABSTRACT

This document reports the outcomes of a project that was conducted for the following purposes: provide statewide equity staff development workshops for Wisconsin technical college staff, school to-work personnel, K-12 teachers, and persons who work in state agencies and community-based organizations; establish a task force and facilitate development of 5-10 equity learning projects; and organize and facilitate a vocational equity learning project training workshop. Appendixes constituting more than 90% of this document contain the following: materials from and about the equity staff development workshops (the fall and spring meeting agendas and membership list of the Wisconsin vocational equity leadership cadre and the Visions workshop meeting announcement, brochure, agenda, participants' list, and evaluation form); evaluation model for equity and diversity (equity and diversity self-study evaluation report; guidelines for evaluating an educational climate to ensure the equitable treatment of all individuals regardless of their gender, ethnic group, race, and/or disability; suggested documentation to be available for a review team; and definitions); and Wisconsin Technical College System "Creating an Inclusive Educational Environment" curriculum. ## Acknowledgments

A sincere expression of appreciation is extended to the many people throughout the Wisconsin Technical College System who participated in the activities conducted through this grant-funded project; particularly to Frances Johnson, Wisconsin Technical College System Board (WTCSB) Educational Equity Consultant, who supported and guided the objectives of this project.

An expression of thanks is given also to Barbara Dougherty, Center on Education and Work, UW-Madison, for her creative work and suggestions in developing the Learning Projects contained in the “Creating an Inclusive Educational Environment” curriculum. The reviewing of curriculum and suggestions made by Regina Arbisi-Ebert and Rubina Jan of Blackhawk Technical College; Jackye Thomas, Madison Area Technical College; Jean Kapinsky, Northcentral Technical College; and Kathy Witzig, Southwest Technical College was very much appreciated.

Finally a sincere thank you to Dr. Orville Nelson, CVTAE Director, and the staff at the Center for Vocational, Technical and Adult Education, Mary Weber and Jackie Berg, for their interest, cooperation and capable assistance during this project.

WTCSB Equity Staff Development Workshops and Services, Phase VII - Final Report

Introduction:

The University of Wisconsin-Stout WTCSB Equity Workshops and Services Project had as its purpose the continued support of the Wisconsin Technical College's efforts to meet the federal requirements of the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Applied Technology Education Act of 1990, Title II, Part B, Sex Equity Initiative which requires positive action to end bias and stereotyping and to ensure nondiscrimination.

Statewide equity staff development efforts and train-the-trainer workshops have resulted in raised awareness and subsequent individual WTCS district training by WTCS volunteers. Examples of training in the past year are Vocational Equity GESA Workshops in technical colleges, six days of staff development in cooperation with the UW-Stout Vocational Equity Leadership Cadre, and training of technical college personnel, K-12 public schools, and Department of Corrections teachers in the use of curriculum for Black American males. (Appendix A) UW-Stout graduate credit was granted for taking equity courses in the technical colleges and this provided incentives for individuals to attend the inservice offered.

Another method used to infuse equity into college strategic planning was to develop a self-evaluation instrument for districts to use in evaluating the college climate for equity and diversity within their programs. An in-depth self-study and on-site team evaluation instrument was developed by the UW-Stout project director. The draft instrument was reviewed and revised by a team of administrators and equity experts from five technical colleges. The revised document, "Evaluation Model for Equity/Diversity," was presented to the Wisconsin Technical College State Evaluation Committee for their approval for use in the technical college system in May, 1998. (Appendix B) This model will be presented at the American Vocational Association national conference in December of 1998.

Project directors from CVTAE, UW-Stout and Center on Education and Work, UW-Madison; collaborated to develop Vocational Equity Learning Projects using the curriculum, “Creating an Inclusive Educational Environment” (CIEE), the WTCSB “Evaluation for Equity/Diversity,” and the recently developed Equity in the Workplace resource book. The purpose was to provide activities that lead to a higher level of learning through self-discovery and internalizing with a subsequent change of behavior and attitude. The project directors created learning plans and learning projects incorporating the Educational Diversity Course competencies and criteria using the Wisconsin Instructional Design System (WIDS). Selected persons from the Wisconsin Technical College System reviewed the curriculum for use within their systems. The objective of the learning plans in “Creating an Inclusive Educational Environment” is to infuse equity issues into technical college staff development efforts. This is best served by incorporating these issues and activities into the current Educational Diversity Course.

The project directors:

- Established the criteria and framework for the Learning Projects,
- Provided materials for project development and developed projects in the WIDS format,
- Facilitated the Task Force work meetings,
- Provided training on the development of the projects,
- Worked with committee members in using the Learning Projects.

The resulting curriculum is available for use by WTCS staff development facilitators who teach the Educational Diversity Course, as well as other WTCS faculty, as a means to ensure continued infusion of equity into district staff development efforts. (Appendix C)

To assure continuity and coordination of programs and services for persons entering nontraditional programs, the WTCSB equity efforts were coordinated with Single Parent/Displaced Homemaker programs, State agencies and community-based organizations. This project, through the direction of the WTCSB Educational Equity Consultant, continued to work closely with the WTCSB Single Parent/Displaced Homemaker Programs; the UW-Stout Statewide Equity Leadership Cadre Project located in the Center for Vocational, Technical and Adult Education; the Department of Public Instruction Administrator of Vocational Equity; and Teen Single Parent Programs, the Department of Public Instruction Single Teen Parent Coordinator; and other statewide initiatives and programs serving the equity needs of women.

The Major Objectives were:

1. Provide statewide equity staff development workshops for technical college staff, school-to-work personnel, K-12 teachers, and persons who work in State agencies and community-based organizations. This was accomplished through:

- Planning, coordinating and implementing technical college gender equity training workshops in consultation with the WTCSB Educational Equity Consultant. A training on VISIONS, a Black Male Curriculum, was conducted by Constance Gipson of California. The workshop was attended by 52 education personnel from technical colleges, public schools, and Department of Corrections institutions.
- Cooperating with the UW-Stout Vocational Equity Leadership Cadre Project Director to plan, coordinate and conduct two Leadership training workshops, resulting in six days of training with approximately 100 + participants for each of the six days.
- Providing Vocational Equity GESA training with opportunity for university credit for 23 people in two technical colleges.
- Providing technical assistance, consultation, and support to equity personnel in implementing local plans through phone, fax, e-mail, and the provision of materials and resources as requested.
- Explored the opportunity to provide two different career challenge workshops through surveys and announcements. Training was not held due to insufficient enrollment.
- Shared information and coordinated efforts with the Wisconsin Vocational Equity Leadership Cadre Project located in CVTAE, UW-Stout; WTCSB Single Parent/Displaced Homemaker Programs, Wisconsin DPI Administrator for Equity and Single Teen Parents, Wisconsin DPI Teen Single Parent Program Coordinator and other programs and agencies serving the equity needs of women.

2. Establish a task force and facilitate the development of five to ten Equity Learning Projects in cooperation with the Center on Education and Work, UW-Madison, that:

- Incorporated the WTCS Educational Diversity course competencies and criteria, content contained in “Creating an Inclusive Educational Environment” curriculum, Equity in the Workplace resource book, and the information from the WTCSB Equity/Diversity Survey;
- Were integral to materials used to train WTCS staff on equity issues.
- Incorporated attributes of quality curriculum, including cooperative learning strategies, higher order thinking skills, analysis and application of equity concepts, assessment triad (instructor, peers, and self), problem solving and decision making.
- Included sequenced learning activities.
- Included assessment criteria (rubrics) for learning activities.

- Specified what WTCS staff should know and be able to do to create an inclusive college environment.
- Provided a system for disseminating and piloting the projects. WTCS staff will be given the completed equity learning projects as tools to use in subsequent gender and diversity equity training in the Wisconsin Technical Colleges as a means to continue the infusion of equity issues into the WTCS staff development.

3. Organize and facilitate a Vocational Equity Learning Project training workshop for WTCS staff that will:

- Present completed learning projects to selected WTCS staff.
- Submit final Equity Learning Projects to the Wisconsin Technical College System for use in ongoing local training.

Summary:

Statewide equity staff development was provided through workshops for technical college staff and other agencies. Administrators, counselors, and teachers will have increased their awareness of equity issues and developed additional programs and strategies to promote and achieve vocational equity for all students at the local level. As a result, there will be an increase in the number of nontraditional and special needs students in vocational and applied technology education and school-to-work programs with progress toward meeting the performance standard of 25 percent enrollment of nontraditional students and proportional enrollment of special needs students in vocational education, tech/prep, apprenticeship, and school-to-work.

The Learning Projects, disseminated to WTCS personnel, included learner outcomes, activities and evaluation strategies that incorporated quality curriculum attributes (sequenced learning activities, variety of teaching techniques, higher order thinking skills, problem solving, decision making and rubric assessments.) But, more important, the completed projects reflect equity objectives established for WTCSB by previous statewide task forces and advisory committees.

The WTCSB Equity/Diversity Survey was accepted by the WTCS state evaluation committee and will be piloted by two technical colleges within the coming year. This instrument is important for the infusion of equity strategies and issues in that it also reflects the objectives established by statewide committees and advisory boards. These two documents, WTCSB Equity/Diversity Survey and “Creating an Inclusive College Environment,” are an attempt to integrate equity and diversity strategies within the technical college strategic planning initiatives.

SUBJECT: "Visions" Curriculum Training Workshop

Frances Johnson, WTCSB; Barbara Schuler, DPI; and Evyonne Crawford-Gray are co-sponsoring a workshop on curriculum for black males at the Marriott Hotel in Brookfield, WI, December 5, 1997. This is a part of a new series of materials developed for the California Department of Education. They have another curriculum developed for white males and currently are in the process of writing curriculum for Native Americans and Hispanics. The white male curriculum, called "Options" may be introduced at the Spring Cadre meeting.

The workshop will be one day only, beginning at 8:30 a.m. and ending by 3:30 p.m. Constance Gipson, co-author of the Visions curriculum, will be the workshop facilitator. The workshop will be funded by the WTCSB Equity Workshops and Services project at UW-Stout. The only cost to the participants will be the cost of the book, $40. Arrangements have been made with the Marriott Hotel for rooms at state rates. Please refer to the enclosed brochure for the tentative agenda registration form and information regarding room reservations

If you are interested in attending, please fill out the registration form and return it to me along with your check or purchase order. We hope you will be able to attend.

Visions Workshop
Marriott Hotel - Brookfield, WI
December 5, 1997

Evaluation Form

How would you rate the following?	Excellent	Good	Fair	Poor	Mean
1. Workshop content .....	4	3	2	1	3.77
2. Materials provided .....	4	3	2	1	3.80
3. Presentation method.....	4	3	2	1	3.40
4. Program variety and balance .....	4	3	2	1	3.20
5. How relevant or useful was the training to your work - did it meet your needs? .....	4	3	2	1	3.47
6. Do you feel the ideas and concepts can be integrated into your work? .....	4	3	2	1	3.55

7. Comments:

- Excellent presentation, content and focus
- Presenter called reading and writing activities - we need more movement more creation and active types of activity was the look.
- Material "Visions" looks good for juvenile corrections. We will use it.
- I'd like to see this in hard cover, though I understand the cost restraints.
- Super job! Keep doing it!
- This is an excellent presentation. Lots of good and useful information. All techniques for everybody.
- Very interesting.
- Would like more dialog on how to apply "visions" as a teaching tool to non-African American high school/middle school youth. Have heard concerns from fellow in-service participants about the reading level being too high for many of their student populations.
- I think the book is excellent, but I would have paid to have the workbook explained along with the text.
- I found this as one of the best informative workshops I have attended this year.
- It is about time that the plight of the African American male is put on the list of priorities with regards to education/vocational education.
- Good workshop for those who are in this field.
- Like to see workbooks. Integrate text workbook need price lists.
- Good conference.
- Need to have similar book in other categories, e.g., Indian.
- I teach history - African American History and advise minorities so the material is very important.
- Going through the book took too long. Would have liked the exercises/staff book for more ideas on how to incorporate activities with the book. Drop the crossword for the activity - not significantly helpful.

- I don't like the binding. I'd like to see you print the book in a three-ring binder. Chapters could be added as you go along. Research papers and notes could be added. I want a workbook.
- How to use in a correctional/school setting (students staying for different lengths of time, coming and going, different ages and abilities - a circus!
- Presenter was very knowledgeable, up on current events and those events that affect all ethnic groups. All groups (gender, race, ethnicity, economic) were addressed. She had audience participate, and used much interaction with audience. My burden is certainly here and this is a very valuable resource.
- I really enjoyed the day. Very enlightened. Well organized and flowed. Challenged the reasons and perceptions.
- Presenter - excellent. Exercises - good. Too much reading in a.m.
- Would like time to discuss in small groups and group sharing.

8. The thing I liked best about the workshop:

- The book makes considerable effort to not assume anything.
- Content was very appropriate for our inmate population. Material seems to provide good practical examples.
- The book - a treasure.
- Having people involved from the audience.
- Materials
- Personal stories of the author.
- Audience interaction and historical content of Blacks.
- Appropriate, professional setting - away from the workplace - parallel to business meetings. Include supervisors who could then help implementation! If possible!!!$$$?
- Ideas on how to integrate the material into my work. A key resource for library collection development and programming.
- Presentation and book.
- Explanation about the Rights of Passage.
- The material presented are very user friendly and appropriate.
- Personal responsibility.
- Broad knowledge base of author; ability to present curriculum to practical situations in our professional/personal life.
- Discussion of the pregnant Sheila.
- Ms. Gipson's presentation of the material/book and the book itself.
- The presenter was very warm and informative and she was able to use very excellent illustrations. Worth my time!
- It was an eye opener to see so many people from diverse backgrounds learning about things most Black people always knew about the plight of Black men and the issue of education.
- Integration of individual into each rite of passage.
- Interesting background of materials.
- Further my knowledge of Black American (men).
- Method used to provide information for participants who would act as trainers for teachers.
- This is a wonderful book.
- Very comprehensive Black history and culture.
- Looking and hearing about this resource.
- Receiving and reviewing the topics in the workbook.
- The handbook.
- Quotations

- Action/hands-on application at the end. The way in which Connie went through the manual.
- Everything was excellent! I did however, have a defective book that was coming apart at the seam.
- The enthusiasm that the presenter presented and the knowledge. Wisdom she shared - the positive environment.
- Presenter, quality of book.
- I liked the way Connie took us through the book and got us involved with the readings.
- The presentation of material - giving the additional perspectives.
- Fist activity - discussion.

9. I would like additional information on:

- Obtaining workbooks
- Teaching manual
- On exercise workbook
- Black women and single parents, but especially Black women in general.
- Titles, etc., of various book mentioned, parallel to Visions. A list?
- Materials
- Ordering other workbooks
- Like to buy book.
- Options
- Conducting a group for adults.
- Workbooks
- How the book can be incorporated into a variety of educational settings.
- Being able to review workbook, order additional copies and copies of other curriculums shown.
- Minority materials
- Images and the activities book for Visions.
- How to purchase this book and the workbook.
- Like to see workbooks. Need price lists.
- Purchase of a workbook.
- How to obtain the book would be important.
- Where is the workbook?
- Complementary resources, the African American female curriculum
- The workbooks - May we copy some of the materials until the workbooks and textbooks become available.
- Teenage girls - all ethnicity's
- Women in high places
- Further Visions training
- Workbooks - can it be reproduced
- The other book and activity workbooks.
- American Indian, Asian and Hispanic books for males and females and the female version of Visions.
- Bi-racial issues
- Cross cultural information to be incorporated.

10. Suggestions for future workshops and/or workshops to help clarify and use curriculum materials:

- Interested in corrections education?
- More input from participants.
- Audience needed activities!

- Can Visions be made into a segmented curriculum.
- Keep up the enthusiasm you have as presenter - it's contagious!
- Longer time for this workshop.
- Did not find the crossword puzzle to be realistically helpful!
- Presentations by individuals who have "gone through" curriculum - students, inmates, etc. What's the reaction of female African-Americans when they review this curriculum.
- To create some work group.
- Aptitude evaluation, career interest, and learning styles affect on career decisions.
- Need for detailed workshop for teachers to implement the material.
- Could this be done again for K-12 educators?
- Maybe a follow-up next year or at another meeting - to see how users have progressed.
- Would be nice to get to try out the resource - generate strategies for use in our particular roles with schools.
- I'd like to see copies of the books for all of the other cultures. Are these books available for our prison libraries?
- Implementation info from people who've used it successfully.
- Practical application of a specific section at each respective table/group.
- A bibliography, a list of locations to pick up things like Ben Carson's book and video "Gifted Hands" (resources). Further Visions training.
- 11x11 size does not fit on desks in my room. Could pull out many things. Visions looks really good - we would have to start a group based on it. Our population moves through very quick or goes to another institution.
- 1) hands-on materials to enhance the programs; 2) supplementary materials. This opened some new ideas and areas for me to share with staff.

Wisconsin Technical College System Evaluation Model for Equity/Diversity

Wisconsin Technical College System

EVALUATION MODEL FOR EQUITY AND DIVERSITY

Project Objective Overview

One of the project objectives was to develop a self-evaluation instrument for technical college districts to use in evaluating equity and diversity within their programs. A draft instrument was compiled by the UW-Stout Project Director. This was accomplished through a search of equity and diversity evaluation instruments used by other states and organizations, determination of evaluation categories to be used and a synthesis of questions under each of the categories. This draft instrument was reviewed by a team of administrators and equity experts from five technical colleges.

The second revision was reviewed by a team of technical college staff including equity, affirmative action, special populations, curriculum, and evaluation personnel. The third draft copy was then reviewed by the same team members with the final copy given to a subcommittee of the WTCS Evaluation Committee and to Deborah Mahaffey, Director, WTCSB, for their suggestions. The final changes (which appears to be the restating of three questions) will be made by the WTCSB Evaluation Consultant. This document will then be presented to the Wisconsin Technical College State Evaluation Committee for their approval for use in the technical college system.

Committee members were:

Frances Johnson, WTCSB Educational Equity Consultant
Sherman Ansell, WTCSB Evaluation Consultant
Barbara Dougherty, Center on Education and Work, UW-Madison
Judy Ristow, Chippewa Valley Technical College
Jean Kapinsky, Northcentral Technical College
Jason Matthews, Milwaukee Area Technical College
Mike Gagner, Blackhawk Technical College
Dean Tabor, Chippewa Valley Technical College
Jeanne Peterson, Chippewa Valley Technical College
Richard Harris, MATC-Madison
Wanda Sloan, Blackhawk Technical College
Simon Tai, Waukesha County Technical College
Glenna Ewing, Moraine Park Technical College

Preface

Rationale

With the continual changes in community standards and statutory impacts there is an increased sensitivity to the issue of equity and the increased diversity in the communities served by the WTCS.

This document is designed to assist members of the college self-study committee and the external team conduct a searching appraisal of its total efforts toward education for a pluralistic society. It will help the staff and the community to look self-critically at their endeavors to provide this crucial phase of education and assess its effectiveness in educating people for this multicultural America.

For the institution to provide effective education for a pluralistic society, it first must make an explicit commitment to itself and to the community that this is one of its controlling purposes. While education for pluralism should permeate the entire institution, initiatives must be developed to give direction and thrust to the effort. The initiatives encompass staffing, the curriculum, student staff relationships, the extracurricular activities, teaching methods, personal interaction within the school, the extension of the school into the community - aspects of the college operation.

It is appropriate for a college to periodically examine the status of the commitment and the specific initiatives in place to determine this effectiveness and the need for changes and improvement. The purpose of this type of evaluation would be to identify areas which require additional resources.

The self-study and the external evaluation should be conducted with the Vision and Mission Statement of the college in mind. Modification can be made in the evaluation items to make it more consistent with the stated objective of the college. Those evaluating should ask: "How well do the practices of the institution relative to diversity education meet the needs of the college, the student and the community?" "How well do these practices conform to the philosophy and objective of the college?" and "Do the practices and procedures fulfill the commitments the college has made to gender/ethnic/multicultural/multiracial education?"

This document is designed to provide a global overview of policies, attitudes and decisions which ultimately impact on students. It is recommended that a self-study be completed for some portions of the evaluation and that a team of experts be assembled to review and complete other portions. The team of experts may include equity, diversity, affirmative action or special needs staff from other colleges, human resource personnel from community businesses and government as well as college personnel. An expert in focus group techniques is recommended for Part II of the evaluation. Resources that are recommended to be assembled are the college's mission statement, affirmative action plan and other equity and diversity policy statements. A summary of all specific initiatives under way that address equity and diversity should be assembled, such as, grants, staff development plans and program division and functional service area plans.

Instructions

This document presents an instrument for an in-depth evaluation of equity and diversity climate within the technical college system. The evaluation criteria are grouped into three broad components:

Part I, District Policies, Procedures and Practices:

- Administrative Policies
- Support Services
- Staff Development Opportunities Within the Past Three Years
- Publications/Brochures/Instructional Materials

Part II, College Climate:

- Student Focus Groups/Team Interviews
- Faculty/Staff Interviews
- Administrative Interviews
- Advisory committees

Part III, Inclusive Learning Environment/Classroom Climate:

- Curriculum
- Teaching/Learning Strategies
- Evaluation assessments
- Instructional Materials

The document presents a framework, but leaves room for district variation in organization, structure and scope of evaluation. The evaluation instrument, elements, and language can be tailored to be more relevant to a specific technical college. If for example, a technical college chooses to evaluate the Support Services section as a function of Student Services, that section could be removed from the instrument. Or, if a description does not adequately reflect the scope and type of services provided by the college, the description can be modified.

The evaluation is a “Yes/No” checklist with a space for comments. The space for comments after each item and at the end of each subsection may be used to provide additional information needed for a complete report or to describe, clarify, or amplify items in the checklists. Additional space has been provided after each subset to identify the documentation and rationale that support evaluation, describe discrepancies, and specify actions recommended for compliance or enhancement. The evaluation committee may want to use the checklist as a guide to prepare a statement of overall action, a “Self-Study Follow-Up Action Plan.” This Plan would identify future directions recommended to achieve the college’s mission, goals and objectives.

The following elements are critical to the effective implementation of an inclusive educational environment. Please use the checklist as a guide and self-assessment tool in planning, implementing, and continuously improving your equity/diversity efforts.

A. Administrative Policies

1. Policies and practices exist that:
  - a. Discourage racially/ethnically biased behavior
  - b. Discourage sexually biased behavior
  - c. Discourage biased behavior toward persons with disabilities
  - d. Foster positive interactions among the different ethnic groups
  - e. Contain a well-developed, written set of goals for minority student programs and services that are consistent with the stated mission of the institution
  - f. Contain a well-developed, written set of goals that promote the academic development of minority students
  - g. Discourage harassment

2. All students and staff receive copies of, and are informed of, anti-harassment policies.

3. Community-based work and experience sites are informed about the college's nondiscrimination policies.

	Yes	No	Comments
4. Does the college vision/mission/strategic plan stress recognition of cultural difference and the need to prepare students and staff for participation in a diverse workplace?
5. Staff is/are assigned responsibility to determine if accurate and authentic racial, multicultural, disability, and nonsexist concepts are integrated into curriculum resource guides and programs.
6. Staff is/are designated as responsible for minority recruitment and retention.
7. Staff is/are designated as responsible for gender equity.
8. Staff is/are designated as responsible for students with disabilities.
9. These initiatives are sufficiently/appropriately staffed to accomplish the objectives.
10. Does the designated staff (items 6,7,8) participate as a member of the strategic planning committee, or provide input to the plan?
11. Does the designated staff (items 6,7,8) provide training equity and diversity issues for the groups developing the strategic plan?
12. Program data by race/ethnicity, gender, and disabilities is annually disseminated to instructional staff regarding enrollment patterns including traditional/nontraditional program choices.

III. Inclusive Learning Environment/Classroom Climate

A. Evidence exists that each student is exposed to inclusive and unbiased curriculum content.

- (Examples of unbiased curriculum areas include materials that:
- * Contain factual, nonstereotypic information on the diverse roles and contributions of minority groups, disabled men and women.
  - * Avoid implying that certain lifestyles, activities, or occupations are more appropriate for one sex, a particular cultural group, or disability.
  - * Prepare students to successfully interact with members of the other sex, diverse, racial/cultural groups, age groups and the disabled.
  - * Provide basic understanding of civil right laws.
  - * Prepare students for effective participation in multicultural, gender-fair society.)

Definition of Terms

Ageism: Discriminatory beliefs and behaviors directed against people because of their age. (Nieto, 1992)

Bias: Any attitude, belief, or feeling that results in, and helps to justify, unfair treatment of an individual because of his or her identity. (Derman-Sparks, 1989)

Bias, Six Forms of: Curricular bias in materials and structure include

- Invisibility: Under-representation of certain groups, which can imply that these groups are of less value, importance, and significance.
- Stereotyping: Assigning only traditional or rigid roles or attributes to a group, thus limiting the abilities and potential of that group; denying students a knowledge of the diversity and complexity of, and variations among, any group of individuals.
- Imbalance/Selectivity: Presenting only one interpretation of an issue, situation, or group; distorting reality and ignoring complex and differing viewpoints through selective presentation of materials.
- Unreality: Presenting an unrealistic portrayal of this country's history and contemporary life experience.
- Fragmentation/Isolation: Separating issues relating to people of color and women (or other protected groups) from the main body of text.
- Linguistic Bias: Excluding the roles and importance of females by constant use of the generic "he" and sex biased words. Linguistic bias includes issues of ethnicity, culture and language proficiency as well. (Bethke, 1985)

Classism: Any attitude, action, or institutional practice that subordinates people because of their economic status. Discriminatory beliefs and behaviors based on differences in social class, generally directed against those from poor and/or working-class backgrounds. (Nieto, 1992)

Culture: The collective behavior patterns, communication styles, language, beliefs, concepts, values, institutions, standards, symbols, and other factors unique to a community that are socially transmitted to individuals and to which individuals are expected to conform. (PEO) "Culture consists of all the people, objects, and events that impart meaning in our lives. It is not only our past history and traditions observed in our families, but also the detail of our present everyday lives. Cultures change from generation to generation, from locale to locale. Still there is a thread of connection that allows us to derive at least part of our identity from that belonging." (Leslie R. Williams as quoted in Minnesota)

Discrimination: Any action, policy, or practice, including bias, stereotyping, and pupil harassment, which is detrimental to a person or group of persons and differentiates or distinguishes among persons, or which limits or denies a person or group of persons opportunities, privileges, roles, or rewards based, in whole or in part on sex, race, religion, national origin, ancestry, creed, pregnancy, marital or parental status, sexual orientation or physical, mental, emotional, or learning disability, or which perpetuates the effects of past discrimination. (PI 9.02)

Diversity: Differences among people or peoples reflected in a variety of forms, including but not limited to race, culture, perspective, talent, interest, ability, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, language and socioeconomic status. (PEO)

Ethnic: Of or relating to people grouped according to a common racial, national, tribal, religions, linguistic or cultural origin. People who share a sense of group identity because of these factors. (PEO)

Ethnicity: A sense of togetherness shared by members of a group linked through cultural tradition, ancestry, national origin, history, or religion (PEO)

Equality: Sameness of status or competency (everybody gets the same)

Equity: Fairness and justice or impartiality (getting what you need)

Educational Equity: Beyond equal educational opportunity (which means providing the same resources, opportunity, and treatment for each student), educational equity is based on the principles of fairness and justice in allocating resources, opportunity, treatment and success for every student. Educational equity programs promote the real possibility of equality of educational results for each student and between diverse groups of students. Equity strategies are planned, systemic and focus on the core of the teaching and learning process (curriculum instruction and school environment/culture).

Gender: Refers to a means of classification based on female or male designations including the feeling, thoughts, and behaviors that are identified as either female or male; the culturally determined behavior of males and females. (New Jersey, 1993)

Harassment: Behavior toward students based, in whole or in part, on sex, race, religion, national origin, ancestry, creed, pregnancy, marital or parental status, sexual orientation, or physical, mental, emotional, or learning disability which substantially interferes with a pupil's school performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive school environment. (PI 9.02)

Inclusive Education: An inclusive educational program should provide both access and success for all students. It employs curriculum that is developed and delivered so that students and staff gain an understanding and appreciation all the groups present in the local, national, and global communities. It offers students and staff learning and teaching opportunities that reflect the wide range of contributions by and roles open to people similar and different from themselves. Information that is accurate and free of stereotypes and bias is infused in all aspects of the curriculum, which is taught from the perspectives of all groups. This fosters respect and appreciation for the diversity present in our pluralistic society. (Minnesota, 1990)

Nontraditional Careers/ Occupations: A career that is not typically chosen by the opposite sex and is composed of less than 25% of the opposite sex.

Multicultural: Combination of several distinct cultures. Multicultural education is a process to ensure that male and female students, and students who are members of diverse racial, ethnic, and cultural groups will have an equal chance to achieve academically. It accepts and affirms pluralism (ethnic, racial, linguistic, religious, economic, gender, sexual orientation, etc.) that students, their teachers and communities represent. (Nieto, 1992)

Multiracial: Composed of, involving or representing various races. The current categories are based upon the federal government reporting standards and may be changed within the near future.

Prejudice: An attitude, opinion, or feeling formed without adequate prior knowledge, thought or reason. Prejudice can be prejudgement for or against any person, group, sex, or object. Any group can judge or be prejudiced toward another group. (Derman-Sparks, 1989)

Racism: Racial prejudice with institutional power that is used to the advantage of one race and the disadvantage of others. The critical difference between racism and prejudice is the institutional power of racism to enforce prejudices in a systematic and far-reaching way.

Racial/Ethnic: Afro-Americans, Asian-Americans, Native Americans and Latinos are considered by the dominant group to be distinct from whites. Any of these groups, such as Latinos, may not perceive themselves to be racially/ethnically distinct.

Sexism: Sex prejudice with institutional power used to the advantage of one sex and the disadvantage of the other. Sexism is any attitude, action, or practice - backed by institutional power - that subordinates people because of their sex.

Stereotype: An oversimplified generalization about a particular group, race or sex, which usually carries derogatory implication. (Derman-Sparks, 1989)

Technical College Instructors with modified student curriculum

Goals

1. Develop interactive strategies to promote optimal productivity within the college and area businesses and industries.
2. Respond to diverse populations of the local college, community and global workforce providing opportunities to explore all career options with programs and services accessible to all.
3. Investigate ethical and legal implications and traditional college environments to create, benchmark and monitor an equitable institutional environment for students and staff.
4. Promote behavioral change through self-evaluation of bias within the college environment, ensuring that students' educational experiences are free from stereotyping, biased attitudes and discrimination.

- Description Faculty will be asked to explore new areas of knowledge in - and be willing to address their own assumptions in - race, employment status, ethnicity, gender, age, religion, sexual orientation and disabilities. It is designed to provide for learning through analysis of data, review of materials and personal reflection utilizing action research, peer coaching, discussion and observation and analyzing of personal values and interaction styles.

Competency	11. Design strategies for resolving conflict in a multi-cultural setting. (7)
Linked Core Abilities	Communicate effectively through gender neutral language that reflects sensitivity to the diversity in our society. Function sensitively and effectively in society's multiplicity of cultures and apply effective techniques to resolve interpersonal conflict and change personal behavior. Recognize one's personal motivations for specific behaviors and interactions in today's multi-cultural, diverse society. Develop a sense of personal, social, professional, and work ethics (MATC-Madison).

Directions to Learner	Through the creation of case studies, students will design strategies for effective communication to resolve conflict. The class will divide into small groups to develop case studies with large group discussion and sharing of conflict resolution.  The class activities are as follows:  1. Self-divide into several small groups.  2. Using the information from your journals, create a communication related scenario for presentation to the large group.  3. Following presentations, the large group will develop effective strategies for resolving the conflict presented. The discussion and resulting resolutions will take into consideration college policies and applicable laws.

Learning Objectives

- a. Evaluate, through observation and coding, personal behaviors that encourage or discourage student participation.
- b. Examine the effect of teaching strategies (wait time, grouping, physical closeness, expectations, questioning) on student learning and participation.
- c. Examine personal beliefs about equity and student achievement.
- d. Reflect on personal beliefs and practices.
- e. Analyze personal behaviors for acceptance/rejection.
- f. Analyze classroom materials for bias and stereotyping.
- g. Create an action plan to implement equitable practices within the college classroom.
- h. Incorporate equitable practices within personal environment.

Learning Activities

- _____ 1. Read. "The Chilly Classroom Climate, A Guide to Improving the Education of Women," (Pedagogy and the Classroom, pp. 37-47, How Can Greater Participation on the Part of the Silent Students be Encouraged? pp. 73 -86, and Communication Styles pp. 20-28).
- _____ 2. View video, "Breaking the silence" and use the attached study guide to discuss classroom strategies and student involvement/learning.
- _____ 3. Examine method of "coding" teacher/student responses, discuss discrepancies and determine procedure to be followed by all participants.
- _____ 4. Evaluate, through observation and coding, personal behaviors that encourage or discourage student participation.
- _____ 5. Discuss results of observations (wait-time, grouping, feedback, response opportunities) and compare results to the research reviewed.

- _____ 6. Roleplay teaching situations using higher order questioning techniques.
- _____ 7. Discuss the use of questioning techniques in relation to learning styles, class size and composition, culture, perceived abilities and expectations.
- _____ 8. Examine the effect of teaching strategies (wait time, grouping, physical closeness, expectations, questioning) on student learning and participation.
- _____ 9. Analyze different teaching strategies: (i.e., small group techniques, lectures, discussion groups, cooperative learning, laboratories, projects) in relation to student learning styles.
- _____ 10. Examine present instructional procedures (subject matter, reason for teaching, resource materials, instructional objectives, teaching strategies, student expectations) and classroom climate relating to achievement of students with differing abilities, learning styles, backgrounds and cultures.
- _____ 11. Analyze personal learning style/processing preference and relate it to impact upon teaching/student learning.
- _____ 12. Analyze personally used educational classroom materials (resource books, pictures, role models, etc.) for bias and stereotyping.

Performance
Assessment
Activities

- _____ 1. Evaluate educational classroom (resource books, pictures, role models, college bulletins, etc.) for bias and stereotyping.
- _____ 2. Plan and execute observation schedule.
- _____ 3. Identify, through coding and observation, interactions with student/faculty, faculty/staff and analyze impact on college environment.
- _____ 4. Critique interpersonal interactions and determine strategies to improve college climate.
- _____ 5. Develop objectives to address in personal interactions.
- _____ 6. Submit developed action plan to incorporate specific teaching/learning/social strategies for improved personal/classroom interactions designed to eliminate stereotypical, biased behavior that impacts on student learning, retention, and achievement.

Directions to Learner

Students will understand the elements of an inclusive college classroom through reading, viewing videos, observation and discussions. Students will divide into three small groups to explore effective teaching/learning strategies for diverse students. The findings will be shared in a large group setting. Subsequent to this, each student will examine their own instructional procedures and classroom climate as a basis for a personal improvement plan.

Each student will select one individual project and one small group activity, ensuring that all individual and group choices are addressed.

Each student will develop a personal plan for classroom instruction/curriculum improvement.

Suggested activities and resource materials:

Read, "The Chilly Classroom Climate, A guide to Improving the Education of Women," ("Pedagogy and the Classroom," pp.37-47; "How can Greater Participation on the Part of the Silent Students be Encouraged," pp. 73-86; and "Communication Styles," pp. 20-28).

Scenario/Prompt

The goals of these activities are to examine personal beliefs/interactions and create a teaching/learning plan free of bias and stereotyping. This will be accomplished through reading selected materials, completing self-check sheets, observation of classroom interactions, role-playing, discussions and development of a personal plan of action. Following an initial review of materials, students will select one of the small group projects and complete the individual projects as listed.

Small Group Choices; Select One.

Group One

1. Examine method of "coding/observation" for observing teacher/student personal behaviors that encourage or discourage student participation.
2. Plan and execute observation schedule.
3. Evaluate, through observation and journaling, personal interaction behaviors that encourage or discourage student/faculty, faculty/staff participation.
4. Analyze the impact on classroom/college environment.
5. Discuss results of observations (wait-time, grouping, feedback, response opportunities) and compare results to the research reviewed. Share with large group.
6. Critique interpersonal interactions and determine strategies to improve college climate.

Group Two

1. Role/play teaching situation using higher order questioning techniques.
2. Discuss the use of questioning techniques in relation to learning styles, class size and composition, culture, perceived abilities and expectations.
3. Choose one and present to the large group.

Group Three

1. Examine the effect of teaching strategies (wait time, grouping, physical closeness, expectations, questions) on student learning and participation.
2. Analyze different teaching strategies; (e.g., small group techniques, lecture, discussion groups, cooperative learning, laboratories, projects) in relation to student learning styles. (Resource, "Educating for Equity in the Workplace" Unit IV, 94-95).
3. Present findings to large group.

Individual Project:

1. Analyze personal learning style/processing preference and relate it to impact upon teaching/student learning.
2. Examine your instructional procedures (subject matter, reason for teaching, resource materials, instructional objectives, teaching strategies, student expectations) and classroom climate relating to achievement of students with differing abilities, learning styles, backgrounds and cultures.

3. Analyze personally used classroom resource materials (resource books, pictures, role models, etc.) for bias and stereotyping. Resource: "Educating for Equity in the Workplace," Unit IV-58/69 and "Evaluation Model for Equity and Diversity," p. 9-10).

4. Evaluate your communication style and usage for bias and stereotyping as well as the resource materials you use.

5. Develop a personal plan for classroom instruction/curriculum improvement.

Directions to Evaluator

An exploration of "ism's" through reading, viewing videos, discussion and examination of personal beliefs and strategies through small group presentations and individual projects. This will result in a personal plan for individual classroom improvement.
