THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

We are pleased to provide the Chancellor's Cabinet and the leadership groups of El Centro College the fifth edition of the El Centro College Fact Book. This information source is one element in the institutional effectiveness program of the College, and serves the purpose of supplementing the Board Indicator Reports prepared by the District Office of Institutional Research.

In addition to serving as a useful data source, the Fact Book assists the College Planning Council in the development and monitoring of the College's strategic, operational, and enrollment management plans.

Since the publication of the fourth edition of the Fact Book, our Research Office has developed location-based performance indicators that are published in the Annual Indicator Report. This report reflects the indicators of success in achieving the El Centro College Goals on an annual basis. From this report the management of the college can not only measure progress, but also identify those areas that will require our close attention.

The College Planning Council has formed a Sub-Committee on Review and Renewal of College Instructional Units and Services. The data contained in the Fact Book is proving useful in the system of periodic program and services review and renewal.

We are appreciative of the excellent work provided by the Assistant Dean for Institutional Effectiveness and Research, Karen Laljiani, in producing this valuable working tool.

As always, we invite comments and suggestions on how the El Centro College Fact Book can be improved and enhanced as future editions are prepared.

Preface

The Fact Book is part of the Institutional Effectiveness effort at El Centro College. It is designed to provide College Administrators, Staff and Faculty with information about El Centro College's student, faculty, and financial characteristics so that data informed decisions can be made. As in earlier editions, data are presented for five years, so trends may be observed. For the most part, line graphs illustrate the five-year trends, and pie charts and bar charts illustrate the most recent year or semester of data.

Whenever possible, data are aggregated directly from standardized reports, in order to ensure consistency between different sources of data. The sources of the data are footnoted on each entry, so that the scope and limitations of the data can be better understood. The student data, for example, are taken mostly from the District Student Statistics Reports and the Facts Briefs. These data are presented because they are commonly used within the District, and because they have been the basis of the previous Fact Books published by El Centro College. The limitation on this data is that the headcount and enrollment figures do not reflect students who are enrolled in programs Home/Hosted by El Centro College on other DCCCD campuses. Other tables are derived from Coordinating Board and IPEDS reports, and, occasionally, are pulled directly from the District Colleague Database.

Several new data tables have been added to this year's Fact Book. District comparisons of enrollment and contact hours have been added. Improved mapping software has allowed the inclusion of geographical information on credit and continuing education enrollment. A student retention/success model has been developed, using Colleague database queries and transfer data obtained from the THECB. Legislative Budget Board Indicator data has also been added for the first time. Data from the Student Information Profile replaces what used to be the "CASES" data. Continuing Education data is once again included in the Fact Book, and several new tables that compare these students to the credit students at El Centro have been added. Within the Employee section, we have added a new table that compares this year's employees by ethnicity to last year's employees. Finally, a new table has been added that details the grants and external funding that El Centro College has received within the past year.

Please take time to review this document, and then send us your comments and recommendations, so that we can continue to improve and enhance this document. We are especially interested to hear whether the new data that has been added to the Fact Book is helpful to you. Assist us in making the Fact Book a more effective analytical tool by sending your suggestions to:

History and Accreditation

To meet the increased need for opportunity in higher education that their expanding economy and growing population demanded, the citizens of Dallas County voted in May, 1965, to establish the Junior College District. By a margin of more than three to one a bond issue of $41,500,000 was authorized. More than 50,000 citizens signed petitions to call the election. Each section of the county and each chamber of commerce of the county were represented at a steering committee. The Dallas County Junior College bond issue had widespread support from virtually every organized group in the County plus tremendous grass roots support from citizens at large who were convinced the junior college could solve or alleviate their dilemma.

El Centro College opened in 1966 as the first campus of the Dallas County Community College District (DCCCD). Located in the Central Business District of the City of Dallas, El Centro College enrolled over twenty-four hundred full time students in its first year of operation. In addition, evening and non-credit classes served over four thousand part-time students. Additional campuses opened in 1969 and 1970. At that time, students enrolled in Dallas County Junior Colleges reached around 18,000 to 20,000, with an additional 30,000 part-time students attending late afternoon and evening classes. Today, the Dallas County Community College District is among the largest in the United States.

El Centro College is Accredited and Approved by the Following:

- Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (reaffirmed April 1993)
- Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (reviewed May 2000)
- Texas Education Agency

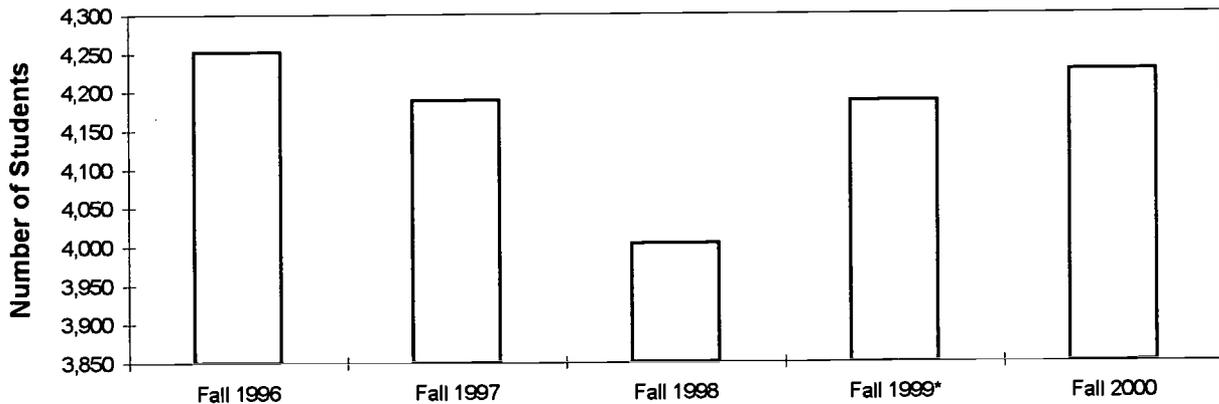

The following individual programs are independently accredited:

- National League for Nursing Accrediting Commission
Accredits both the Associate Degree Nursing Program and the Vocational Nursing Program
