"Operation Head Start" as a section of the Economic Opportunity Act, passed by Congress in 1964, provided funds to prepare pre-school children for entrance into kindergarten. The summer school program in Calexico provided enriched experiences by a trip each week for the pupils to increase their understanding of community life.

In this publication, developed by the Calexico School District, are lesson plans to guide teachers in helping children understand the community in which they live and to teach a basic vocabulary in English for pupils whose mother-tongue is Spanish.

The County Schools Office commends Mr. Carl L. Varner, Superintendent of Calexico School District and his staff for their continuing interest in providing additional programs for children in school in an effort to offer equal opportunity to all pupils.

This office also endorses special programs that allow children the advantage to achieve to the best of their capacity. In the past, workshops have been offered in Imperial County to assist teachers in the implementation of these programs and have collected and placed in the Curriculum Library and the Audio-Visual Department instructional materials pertinent to the program.

The County Superintendent and his staff are proud to be associated with the administrators and teachers working in this area.

The following course of study was developed by a member of the staff and the lesson plans were developed to be used as guidelines for teachers working with Mexican-American pupils who were non-English speaking. The vocabulary used in the audio-lingual approach was based upon the field trips that the pupils participated in.

While objective test results are not yet available, the writer feels that in other areas of subjective evaluation the program was highly successful. The field trips to the zoo, schools, supermarket, health center, and train were new and exciting experiences which created additional motivation to learn new words in English. Their attendance at school was excellent. The pupils reacted favorably to the individual and small group instruction. Many of the pupils adopted the junior and senior high volunteer aides as big brothers or sisters.

The reactions of the teachers and teacher's aides to the project were very favorable. Several of the parents commented that their son or daughter really enjoys school and monopolizes the conversation at the dinner table.

At present, a follow-up project is being submitted for approval to the Office of Economic Opportunity.

On behalf of the school administrative staff and Board of Trustees, the writer would like to thank all the personnel, both paid and volunteer, who helped provide over 100 of our pupils with rich and rewarding educational experiences.

The writer feels confident that statistical test data now being tabulated will show significant gains for the pupils involved in Operation Head Start and that summer projects for pre-school children will be organized in many more communities next summer.

COURSE OF STUDY FOR PRE-SCHOOL PUPILS

SUMMER SESSION

8:00 A.M. - 11:30 A.M. - DAILY

MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY

By instituting Project Head Start, the administration hopes to raise the cultural and educational level of pupils of meager background to approximate that of native speakers before they begin kindergarten. It is planned that Project Head Start will give strong emphasis to the development of English usage and comprehension through experiences and situations which are of real significance to the children. As children work and play together, under skillful teacher guidance, in a systematic and functional program, they will learn to speak and to think in English, as a natural consequence of this arrangement. Provision will be made for language development through the child’s interest and desire to speak English and through teaching him suitable speech patterns and vocabulary. Concrete experiences to which the pupils will react by expressing themselves in English will occur during planned field trips, dramatic play and role playing, work periods, musical and art experiences, nutrition periods, pattern practice drill periods, and during physical activities, including active and quiet games.

In all phases of the program, the emphasis will be on the inclusion in the child’s listening and speaking vocabulary of words that he will use immediately at home and in school and words he will encounter in his first reading. The teacher will limit the structures and words introduced to the number pupils can master. She will try to speak in patterns, using the same structures in many situations. Understanding between parents and the school will be strengthened through parental help in supervising field trips and picnics, through their co-operation in setting up and operating car pools; and by their serving as aids in the classrooms. High pupil motivation and regular attendance are expected to accompany parental concern and involvement.

SOME SUGGESTIONS CONCERNING PREPARATION FOR OPENING SCHOOL

CLASSROOM: It is important that the child's first impression of the room be pleasing. Try to create a friendly, inviting environment, using gay, happy colors and attractive pictures. Provide as many interest centers as possible:

- A library table with picture books
- A puzzle table with provision for careful storage of puzzles. Be sure to check daily before pupils leave to ascertain that no puzzle pieces are missing.
- A clay center including sponges for clean-up.
- A play house area where children engage in role playing related to home situations.
- A block area for construction activities.
- A transportation area adjacent to the block area, including trucks, etc., possibly an aquarium or terrarium.
- Plants
- Science table, magnets, magnifying glass, rocks, shells, seeds, etc.

Suggested themes for decorating: Bulletin boards on Safety, Health, Storybook Friends, i.e. LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD, THE THREE LITTLE PIGS, THE GINGERBREAD BOY, GOLDILOCKS AND THE THREE BEARS; PETS, the Zoo, Home and Community, Parks, etc.

NAME TAGS: Each teacher will receive thirty name tags, in the shape of bear cub heads cut from yellow and light brown construction paper...also some little safety pins for pinning tags on children. In dark letters, clearly print the names of pupils who are on your class rolls; thus the first day, you need only pin them on as the child arrives at your classroom.

FAMILIARIZE YOURSELF WITH THE CORRECT PRONUNCIATION OF THE NAMES OF PUPILS ON YOUR CLASS ROLL.

MATS FOR REST PERIODS: Paper mats with the pupils' names printed on them should be in readiness for the first rest period. Tagboard or Kraft wrapping paper cut in three-foot lengths are suitable. These mats can be used daily as they are easily stored and distributed.

NAME TAGS:

In advance of the arrival of children, have their names printed in large, clearly visible letters on the bear name tags we have made for you. Print so that the name can be read easily from any point in the room. (Child's feeling of belonging is enhanced if he is referred to by name.)

As each child arrives, pin name on with safety pin. As he leaves for the day, unpin and save name tag to replace on him in the morning.

FRIENDS:

Try to see that each child knows or plays with at least one child as soon as he comes. Don't force the shy ones, but do encourage small group identification.

OPENING:

WELCOME: Pattern: Good morning, Mrs. ......

Teachers and aids will help pupils feel welcome and at ease. Suggest that children be seated as near the teachers and aids as possible, possibly in an informal circle, or divided into two very small circles.

GETTING ACQUAINTED:

Pattern: My name's Mrs. ......

What's your name?

Pupils who want to respond may do so, but shy ones are not forced. The teacher or aid simply models the pattern.

Much group practice gives the child security to try.

KEEP THIS SITTING PERIOD SHORT AND LIVELY, NOT OVER TEN MINUTES

Play "God Bless America."

EXPLORING OUR ENVIRONMENT:

ORGANIZATION FOR THE TRIP AROUND THE SCHOOL:

Pair pupils by having them hold hands. In most cases this is easily done by actually putting their hands together.
Pattern: He's your friend.

If a bilingual teacher is free, she may accompany pupils on the walk, increasing the ratio of adults to children.

Pattern: This is the office. (Playground, girl's washroom, boys' washroom, etc.) Do limit the number of places you identify by name. Probably, the office, the drinking fountain, washrooms, and playground, and OUR ROOM are enough for the first exposure.

Group Practice: This is the office.

Teacher: What's this?

Group: It's the office.

The boys and girls need many opportunities to practice saying these things. A few minutes of concentrated practice in informal situations where the patterns are meaningful may be given as frequently as opportunity and interest permit.

About 9:00 a.m. TOILET AND DRINKS:

Teach pupils to flush toilets, wash hands, and to drink from fountain without touching it with lips.

LANGUAGE: Spend about ten minutes learning names of classroom features. Limit number to those most needed.

Suggested patterns: This is a table. (chair, crayon, piece of paper)
It's a table.

Do not prolong this controlled language period beyond time of high interest.

Introduce one color only and give pupils only one crayon.

About 10:00 clock:

Teach routine for serving and drinking milk.

Pattern: Would you like some milk? Please pass the straws.

Thank you.

Please put the carton in the basket.
10:30 Story Period: LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD (Story is included in packet)

Bi-lingual teacher will tell the story in Spanish. She will use the flannel board and felt figures.

Patterns in English: After the story has been told in Spanish, co-operatively review the sequence of events. Key sentences will be practiced in chorus for brief repetition drills:

- What is she doing? (on flannel board Red Riding Hood is walking)
  She is walking.
- (Flannel board shows Grandmother in bed) What's she doing?
  She's sleeping.
  Yes, she is. She's sleeping now.
- (Red Riding Hood knock on the door) Grandmother wakes up.

These patterns will be used by the children during their rest periods.

Free Play: Some construct the Grandmother's house.
Some play in the playhouse.
An aid helps a group work the Judy puzzle, LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD.

Some Suggestions

Dwaddlers can waste time for all pupils. It seems best to plan activities geared to the pace of the majority and let dwaddlers catch up. Example: If a few are slow in finishing their milk or ice cream bars, initiate the next activity and allow the slow ones to join as they are ready. If it appears that the slow drinkers are just playing with their milk and really do not want it, just take it away and invite them to join the next planned activity.

The ice cream period should be a conversation time, as well. Have pupils gather in as small groups around an adult. As the children eat their ice cream, encourage discussion of the events of the day. Aftermost have finished, co-operatively summarize some of the things they have learned and provide choral practice on the significant sentences. This is an opportunity for meaningful repetition. Don't let the opportunity be lost by interruptions by brothers and sisters wanting to pick up children in advance of the 11:30 dismissal time. The last few minutes of the day are a good time to review the happy learnings that have occurred and to re-enforce them.

During the rest period, soft music is helpful. A limited number of records played often enough that pupils become familiar with the melodies increases pupil enjoyment of this portion of the program.

Help pupils establish the expectation that they will be successful. Some of the ways of doing this are to give guidance as they work puzzles, help at crucial stages of play activities, and provide much repetition of oral speech patterns they will have opportunities to use.
Monday:

8:00 Opening Flag Salute and God Bless America

Patterns: Jose is here.
Is Maria here?
Yes, she is. She's here.
Juan is absent.
Are you absent?
No, I'm not absent. I'm here.
Juan is sick.
Why is Juan absent?
He's sick.

Begin teaching the days of the week. Use the big calendars. Keep the tempo of the roll call rapid. To re-enforce the patterns, several times during the day, at appropriate times, bring them into the conversation and let pupils respond that Juan is not here. He's sick.

8:20-8:40 Free Play
Help each child identify with at least one friend. Establish small group membership for pupils, especially for quiet children.

9:20-9:40 Conversation

Telling about our families. "Who has a baby at home?" (This question limits the amount of vocabulary introduced at one time.)

Patterns: I have a baby.
He's a boy.
His name is Manuel.

Her name is Sandra.
She is a girl.
She's at home.

8:50-9:05 Wash hands and serve milk.
continue to check that all pupils flush toilets and wash hands.

9:05-9:20 Story

As pupils finish milk, they may join a small group to hear a story. Until most of the pupils have joined groups, the adult might delay starting the story by showing pictures and encouraging speculation about the pictures. "She's the baby." etc.
Second Week of Project Head Start Kinder, arten

Story to present: The Three Little Pigs: Use the flannel board and tell the story in the present tense as the cut-outs are arranged.

9:20-9:40 Outdoor Play
Re-enforce learning of Safety in playing on the equipment
9:40-9:55 Washroom, drinks and rest.
Play quiet records while they rest.

10:00 -10:15 Develop concept of "big" and "little"
Patterns: This is a big table.
This is a little table.
Is this ball little?
Yes, it is. It's a little ball.
It's a little ball.

You may draw stick men very quickly to illustrate big and little. Comparative sizes are easily shown by drawing chairs, cats, and other simple figures.

10:15-10:30 Pupils may draw and color a big ball and a little ball. Encourage conversation about the pictures.

10:30-11.00 Music and Rhythms
Ten Little Indians: Let pupils stand up as you indicate the number of Indians. Point to Juan to stand as "One little Indian" is sung; to Manuel for "two little Indians", etc. Next time the song is sung, let it be "Ten Little Indian Girls".

Review:
Let's Go Walking
Little Red Wagon

Creative Rhythms: To suitable phonograph music, have pupils walk, slide, and skip around a circle.

10:50-11:00 Wash hands and gather in groups. Serve ice cream bars.

11:00-11:15 Conversation in small groups as children eat ice cream.

11:15-11:30 Finger plays and "What We Did Today."

Review Pattern: We come to school every day. We come at eight o'clock.
Finger Play: My Family

Here is father (Thumb)
Here is mother (Fore Finger)
Here is brother tall (Middle Finger)
Here is the sister (Ring Finger)
Here is the baby, best of all (Little Finger)

Enumeration

Here's a ball. (Thumb and finger of one hand)
Here's a ball (Thumb and fingers of both hands)
And here's a great big ball (Fingers and arms above the head)
Now let's count them all...1, 2, 3. (Make circles as you count)

Tuesday:

Oral Practice: Review basic pattern: There are many schools in Calexico.
lead pupils to make substitutions for "schools".
Suggested patterns:
There are many children in Calexico.
There are many houses in Calexico.
There are many streets in Calexico.
There are many cars in Calexico.
Pupils will really be communicating as they respond with additional sentences.
Give practice by substituting " in our school."
  There are many children in our school.
  There are many teachers in our school.

Help pupils establish automatic control over the "There are many..." pattern.

Music and Rhythms:
Begin to teach dance steps as follows: (At first, very slowly)
Toe Heel: (To tune of Ten Little Indians) Step on ball of foot, lower heel as other foot comes forward. Keep knee loose. After pupils can do this, the rate may become faster. The more rapid pace tends to keep the feet from the body.

Story Time: Re-tell Little Red Riding Hood:
Boys may be the wolves and the girls may be Red Riding Hood. Some of the pupils will be trees. Riding Hood Hides behind the trees when she runs away from the wolf.
The Three Little Pigs: Use the flannel board. Help pupils repeat parts of the dialogue.

Work and Creative Art Period:

We talk quietly on the bus.
We like to ride on the bus.

At Imperial Fair Grounds: Buses will park as near the Animal Zoo as possible. We have checked and the zoo will be open. Restroom facilities are available. There is a picnic area nearby.

Pupils will be organized into small groups to view the animals. At 10:30 ice cream will be served in the picnic area. After pupils have eaten their ice cream, they will return to the buses for the return trip. Slow eaters may finish their ice cream while assembling near the buses, but no sticks are to be taken on the bus.

Review finger play: Two Little Blackbirds.
Third Week of Project Head Start Kindergarten

One of the main objectives of this program is to help pupils form the expectation of success. In all activities, take precautions against failure for pupils. If a pupil hesitates when he is asked, "What did you see?" quickly rephrase the question and ask "Did you see a truck?" (or whatever the response should be.) He can answer the latter question, even though the first may be beyond his capability.

The more media we provide for self-expression, the more ready pupils will be to participate in the educational process. If possible, arrange easel painting centers in your classroom this week. Powder paint and brushes are available. It helps to add two tablespoonsful of liquid starch to a milk carton (1/3 quart size) of powder paint mixture.

It would be nice to plan fingerpainting for your group. Liquid starch and dry powder paint will serve the purpose very well. Just bring plenty of newspapers or a plastic cloth to protect the floor or table. With this age group, it is best to let only one or two engage in finger painting at one time unless adequate adult supervision is available for larger groups.

Please do encourage volunteers to participate in your classroom activities. Pupils need opportunities to talk on a one-to-one basis with adults and older youths. Junior and senior high school boys and girls can make fine contributions and will receive satisfaction in knowing that they are doing a community service. Let's take advantage of their willingness to help the pre'schoolers.

In discussing "What Father Does" or "What Mother Does", we might use our felt cut-outs placed on the flannel board as the Mother and Father in our pattern sentences to preclude any problem where the child's father is unemployed, ill, or absent or where the mother does not do the things being discussed.

Parental involvement is a primary focus of concern in the project, Operation Head Start. Typically, parents of culturally deprived children stay away from school. Parents who do not come to school cannot know what is taking place at school, and cannot reinforce the efforts of the teachers. We need to involve the parents so that they will raise their aspirations for their children with regard to academic and social achievement. During these weeks of Head Start, we have an opportunity to have parents visit, assist, and become active participants in classroom activities.

Please do all you can to get parents to come and help in your class. When a mother is present, let her know how helpful her attendance is. Encourage her usefulness by giving her specific assignments so that she feels needed and wanted.

They plan to show pupils all phases of the store operation. They will show pupils how they handle food and merchandise from the time it arrives at their store until the customer takes his purchases to his car.

Fourth Week of Project Head Start Kindergarten

Vocabulary associated with school routines, days of the week, family, pets, food, and market has been introduced and practiced. Patterns will be constantly reinforced as we build by small increments on what has gone before. Teacher ingenuity will set the stage for pupils to use the sentences they have learned.

An understanding of the part transportation plays in supplying the markets with the things we saw there on our trip last Thursday will be developed this week. Food and supplies seen at the market will be related to the work that Mother does in the home, to family living, and to pets.

During all phases of the program, the child is leaning colors, learning to enumerate by counting actual objects and children, and gaining confidence in his ability to cope with school. It is hoped that his experiences will be so happy that he will want to be present every day. This will be of primary concern to each teacher.

The suggestions for each day are just suggestions. Please feel free to enrich and adapt according to your own talents and interests.

There are extra sets of tone bells in the audio-visual room at Dool. Anyone who wants to use them is very welcome to borrow them.
Bus Trip:

Mr. Roy Lyons, Manager for the Southern Pacific Railroad, has made arrangements for us to see various kinds of railroad cars. They will be lined up in front of the loading platform at the El Centro Depot.
He has asked that pupils not be allowed to get on the tracks at all, for safety reasons. To facilitate this, it would be a good idea to plan for as many mothers and teen-age helpers as possible to go along on this trip.

Types of cars to be shown:

Diezel Engine: Pupils will note in what ways it is like the locomotive we saw at the Fairgrounds and in what ways it is different.

Caboose:

Box Car:

Piggy-back car: This is a relatively new type. It can be loaded from a truck directly onto a train.
When it reaches its destination, it is transferred back to a truck. No loading and unloading of cargo.

Tank Car: Uses include molasses shipped in bulk to be used in cattle feed, in addition to the obvious uses.

Covered Hopper: This is a box car that is funnel-shaped at the bottom. It opens up on the underside and its contents flow out. It is used for flax and other grains, and for sugar.

Pupils will get more value from the trip if they have a general idea of what to look for. Bi-lingual people can help here. It is hoped that much will be done on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday to build background for this trip. Pupil interest will also encourage adult participation in this trip.

On our way back to school, we will look at the trucking freight terminals.

Since there seems to be no adequate place to get drinks, we'll plan to return to Jefferson School by 11:00 and have the ice cream there.

Clean-up: Have sponges and cloths available. Now is the time to teach that clean-up is a part of fun with clay.
Music and Rhythms: To the tune of Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush:

(Include appropriate motions)

"As the train gets underway, there will be shuffling steps to indicate it is gathering speed. It will pull up short when stopping for signals and ease gently into the next station."

Finger Play: (From the Austin, Texas Bulletin #642)

The Engine
Here is an engine (Use left arm for track and let the right hand be the engine)
That runs on this track (Run up and down arm)
It whistles--"Toot-Toot"
And then it runs back.
Fifth Week of Project Head Start Kindergarten

Some suggestions for increasing pupil interest in physical movements:

Teacher demonstration of action is more effective than verbal description.

Have pupils:
Stand on one foot and balance
Make their arms like wings
Lift one foot in back and bend downward
Stretch like a rubber band
Wiggle two small parts of the body at the same time, i.e. wiggle one foot and nod the head simultaneously
 Pretend to be a fish
Bounce like a rubber ball
 Pretend to go under a fence
Walk around the room very high. Very Low
Walk from low to high and back without changing speed

Try some of the above as pupils play Follow the Leader. These movements will add interest and suggest others to the pupils.

From: Children in Action, Los Angeles City Schools:

Plastic containers, Partially filled with sand, may be used to:
Knock over with thrown or rolled ball or beanbag
Balance on head while walking
Carry between two areas as quickly as possible
Play Simple games and relays

Beanbags may be used to:
Throw into a box or basket
Carry on head, shoulder, foot, or between knees
Aim at objects to be knocked over
Balance on head while hopping, jumping, skipping, running

For kindergarten children, stunts and exercises should be presented briefly and informally at frequent intervals as part of the daily program. Children should be motivated to perform the activities vigorously and correctly. The fun element should be high-lighted.

A minute spent waiting for part of the class to join the group may be used thus:

"Can you do a Stork Stand on one foot until everyone is here?"
Or, Tow-Heel Rock; 'Stand tall. Now rock slowly forward onto your toes and hold it. Now rock slowly back onto your heels and hold it. Did you keep your balance without wobbling?'

Some Stunts:

Dog Walk: Lean forward and place hands on floor; then walk like a dog on all fours. Then run in same position. Turns may be taken circling some object on floor, traveling a specified route; or a leader may be followed.

Rag Doll: Bend knees slightly; then bend forward at waist, letting arms and hands hang limp so that finger touch floor; walk in this position.

Stork Stand: Stand tall; then bend one leg, grasp ankle, and balance on other foot. Do the same thing, bending other leg and balancing on other foot.
Suggested Schedule:

8:00-8:30 Opening, Flag Salute, Pattern Practice Drill, Conversation. Sharing. Encourage pupils to share experiences and things they bring to school.

8:30-8:50 Outdoor Play

That runs on this track (Run up and down arm)
It whistles--"Toot-Toot"
And then it runs back. (Appropriate actions.)

Closing Period:

Conversation: Last week we went to El Centro.
We saw trains.
Trains take hay (cattle, vegetables, grain, etc.) away from Imperial Valley.
Trains take food (melons, tomatoes, etc.) to people in cities.
Today we drew pictures of some of the things trains take away from here.

Pupil one: I drew a tomato. (To next pupil) What did you draw?
Pupil Two: I drew some hay. (To next pupil) What did you draw?
Pupil Three: I didn't draw anything. (To next pupil) What did you draw?

Continue until each child has had an opportunity to respond.

Tuesday:

You have received an envelope of pictures showing items which have one part missing. Select only pictures appropriate to the interest and ability of your group.

Suggested Patterns:

The wagon needs a handle.
The dress needs a sleeve.
The snowman needs a head.
The door needs a doorknob.
The coat needs a button.
The swing needs another rope.
The watch needs another hand.
The bicycle needs another handlebar.
The girl needs another skate.
The pencil sharpener needs another handle.

Game: Place the pictures along the chalkrail. Pupil One selects a picture and shows it to the class.
Fifth Week of Project Head Start Kindergarten

Pupil One: What does this cat need? (He calls on one of the pupils who has indicated willingness to respond by raising his hand.)

If the pupil selected has difficulty, the teacher quickly provides the help he needs. This pupil selects the picture he wishes to ask about. Pupils who need to build confidence can be encouraged to select a picture some other child has used and for which he has mastered the patterns.

Work Period. Develop the concept that farmers need water. Pupils may draw a water canal. Some will include irrigation ditches to a farmer's field. Encourage discussion of the pictures.

Wednesday:

Discussion: Things children need:
Children need to drink milk.
Children need to eat good food. (fruit, vegetables, eggs, etc)
Beans are good food.
Children need to brush their teeth. (wash their hands, etc)
Children need to see the doctor. (Build happy attitude about the importance of the doctor.)

P. e.m.: Doctors help us. (Substitute "Nurses" and Dentists" for Doctors.

We need to help doctors help us.
How do we help our doctor?
We eat good food.
We go to bed early.
We wash our hands, etc.
We are our doctor's friend.

Work and Drill Period:

Reinforce concept of being a friend to our doctor, cooperating with him. Cut out and paste to make it fit the head, a nurse's cap. Make it of white paper. Boys make nurse caps to take home to their sisters or friends. To make, cut paper in the form of a T. Fold to form cap. You may cut a pattern for pupils who have trouble cutting their own. An easy direction for pupils who have trouble cutting their own, is to fold a piece of 12 x 18" paper to make a double 9" x 12" piece. Cut out the open corner at the bottom. When it is opened it is a big - shaped paper which can be folded to make a nurse's cap.
Fifth Week of Project Head Start Kindergarten

Music and Rhythms: I want to Be a Farmer, p. 58 of Music Through the Day.

The authors make the following suggestion: "I want to drive a tractor... bring cows from pasture... cut and bale alfalfa. We can sing about and dramatize many of the farmer's chores." (Limit to vocabulary appropriate to this area.)

Fifth Week of Project Head Start Kindergarten

Game: The policeman, holding his green disc overhead, stands in the center of the room. "It" is the leader for Follow the Leader. He leads the line of pupils around the room to the tempo of record music, weaving in and out, holding his arms in various positions which the others must follow. When the pupil in the center of the room quickly changes green disc for the red one, the leader must stop instantly. He may go when the green light is again held in view.

Change leaders often to keep interest high.

Closing Period:

We say "Thank you" at school.
We say "Thank you" at home.

Teacher: Sandra, who do you say "Thank You" to? (Make it clear we say this to many people, but each is to narrate just one.)

Sandra: I say "Thank you" to my Mother. (To Manuel) Who do you say "Thank you" to?

Manuel: I say "Thank you" to my father. (To next child) Who do you say "Thank you" to?

Next Pupil: I say "Thank You" to my friends. (To next child) Who do you say "Thank you" to?

Continue this routine until all pupils have participated.

This chain conversation will give quiet pupils confidence to speak up. "Who do you say 'Please' to?" may be substituted in the above routine.

Before dismissal, discuss the importance of all pupils coming to school tomorrow to go on the bus trip to the Health Center in El Centro. Encourage parents to accompany the class.

Sixth Week of Project Head Start Kindergarten

An important objective of this program has been to give the participating children the confidence and ability to communicate in English. We have provided opportunities for learning the speech patterns they need to express themselves. Drill and repetition have tended to make the selected patterns automatic. The environment has been manipulated to provide many opportunities for the child to use the vocabulary items he has learned in meaningful situations.

During the final week of Project Head Start, we will reinforce as much of the learned language as possible through dramatizations and role playing, stories, finger plays, songs, and games. It is hoped that each child will meet with success in using these skills. The teachers will give unobtrusive help to assure that he wants to continue his efforts to speak in English when English is appropriate to his situation.

Game to Help Pupils Give Attention:

Place five objects on a table. Example: scissors, pencil, eraser, book, and small ball.

Pupil turns his back while someone removes one object.

"It": What is gone?

Pupil must say quickly: The pencil is gone.

If he answers correctly, he may become "It" and be the one to remove an object while some other pupil turns away.

He may designate the pupil.

A variation of the above is to place five discs of different colors on the bulletin board. The pupil must tell what color is gone.

Songs and Rhythms: Make this a happy time during which pupils may request the singing of favorite songs and the doing of their choice of rhythmic activities.

Good-Byes and Dismissal: Allow time at the close of the day for a happy recounting of the pleasant experiences of this summer’s days together. Have the boys and girls looking forward to school in September.

Please tie flannelboard pictures I have sent, Instructo cut-outs, and telephones together and place in the office to be returned to Dool. Thank you.
