PREFACE

The Coordinating Council on Programs for Handicapped Children was established by the 1961 Regular (General) Session of the California Legislature (A.B. 656—Sedgwick and Britschgi). The council is composed of the Director, State Department of Education; Director, State Department of Mental Hygiene; Director, State Department of Public Health; Director, State Department of Rehabilitation; Director, State Department of Social Welfare; and Director, State Department of Youth Authority. Assisting the council is a staff committee which is composed of one member from each of the six mentioned departments.

The directory lists those programs, services, and facilities available in the state to handicapped persons 21 years of age and younger. The directory is organized into six sections: crippled children services, public assistance and child welfare programs, services for mental illness and retardation, special schools and educational services, rehabilitation and Youth Authority services. Prefacing each section are statements regarding the program's administration, how the program or service is financed, the eligibility requirements, the benefits obtained from the service, requirements for payment of expenses, and statistics regarding the number of minors currently being served by the program or facility.

The directory does not include the names of private institutions or facilities licensed by the Department of Social Welfare; the Department of Mental Hygiene, Bureau of Private Institutions; or the Department of Public Health, Bureau of Hospitals. Nor does it include a listing of private schools and facilities for exceptional children in California. Only those services, programs, and facilities that are available to all minors in the State of California, subject to the specific eligibility requirements of the given program, are cited in this directory.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH
CRIPPLED CHILDREN SERVICES

Program or Service

Legal Basis
California Health and Safety Code, Division 1, Part 1, Chapter 2, Article 2.
California Administrative Code, Sections 2890-2906 (Chapter 4, subchapter 3).

How It Is Financed

Crippled Children Services is financed by tax funds from three sources:
  a. Funds from county appropriations;
  b. Funds from the budget of the State Department of Public Health, appropriated for Crippled Children Services; and
  c. Funds from the federal government, through the U.S. Children's Bureau.

Repayments from families of physically handicapped children who are able to pay for part of the care needed are also used to augment the available funds and thereby extend treatment services to other children.

All children certified under the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal) who have a Crippled Children Services eligible condition must be referred to the county Crippled Children Services program for medical service related to the eligible condition. These children are funded under Medi-Cal. (Title 22, California Administrative Code, Section 51013)

Administration

The program is administered at the state level by the State Department of Public Health. It is administered locally by county health departments or county welfare departments.

There are, in general, two patterns of program operation in the counties:
  a. Certain counties with fairly large caseloads, and with facilities for the care of crippled children available either in or near the county, operate what are known as "independent" programs. (Section 271, Health and Safety Code). In these counties, planning for care and authorization of services, direct payment of bills, and other related activities are a function of the local agency.
  b. Other counties which may have neither staff nor facilities available locally conduct a program in direct co-operation with the State Department of Public Health. In these counties the local agencies retain responsibility for case finding, for determination of economic eligibility, referral to the program and follow-up.
Here, the State Department of Public Health makes necessary assignments to the nearest available facilities, issues authorizations, checks and processes payment of bills using county and state funds according to an agreed allocation.

Statistics

In 1963–64 fiscal year approximately 55,250 children received care under the Crippled Children Services Program.

Eligibility

The State Board of Health has established certain minimum standards for the care of physically handicapped children for local communities in California, and has defined a physically handicapped child as "a person under 21 years of age who has physical defects resulting from congenital anomalies or acquired through disease, accident, or faulty development." Under this definition the following conditions are acceptable.

a. Defects of an orthopedic nature, due to infection, injury or congenital malformation. Examples: club foot, poliomyelitis paralysis, cerebral palsy, etc.

b. Defects requiring plastic reconstruction. Examples: cleft palate and lip, contracture or disfigurement due to burns, etc.

c. Defects requiring orthodontic reconstruction. Examples: dental-facial deformities accompanying cleft palate, etc.

d. Eye conditions leading to a loss of vision. (Ordinary refractive errors are excluded). Examples: cataract, strabismus, etc.

e. Ear conditions leading to a loss of hearing. Examples: chronic otitis media, chronic blockage of Eustachian tubes, severe hearing loss.

f. Rheumatic or congenital heart disease.

g. Other specified conditions. Examples: nephrosis, phenylketonuria, and cystic fibrosis, etc.; disfiguring deformities such as extrophy of the bladder and severe hemangioma.

Within the above administrative definition the guiding principle is to accept for services those children who have handicapping conditions which the recommended treatment will arrest or correct.

Such children who fall within these diagnostic groupings are referred to one of the participating physicians for examination. The recommendations by the physician are the primary factor in the determination of medical eligibility.

Benefits

The services provided by California’s Crippled Children Services are those directly related to the medical care which the child requires. These include the following:

a. Diagnosis, with all of the necessary diagnostic aids requested by the physician in charge of the child’s care—including consultation as requested;
b. Hospital care, and the necessary medical supervision;
c. Surgical care;
d. Necessary appliances, as recommended by the physician;
e. Physical and occupational therapy, upon medical recommendation and under medical supervision. In addition to usual channels these services are also provided in Crippled Children Services medical-therapy units located in more than sixty special education day schools for orthopedically handicapped, including cerebral palsy, children. This coordinated program of educational and health services is jointly supported and operated by the State Departments of Public Health and Education through their local counterparts. Services are extended to school and non-school children at these units. (See Code OH-CP, Department of Education Spring).

General transportation and maintenance are not financed by the program, unless the transportation required is by ambulance or maintenance in a foster home is essential in order to keep the rural child near a medical center for treatment.

Payment for Services

Determination of economic eligibility of families applying for assistance rests with the local agency to which the county board of supervisors has given responsibility for the Crippled Children Services program. The staff of the State Department of Public Health does not determine economic eligibility of individual cases. The Social Service staff of the State Department of Public Health has, however, assumed responsibility for recommending proper eligibility standards. In general, the determination by the local agency is made by considering the following factors:

a. Length of care recommended by the physician;
b. Estimated cost of the recommended care;
c. Family income;
d. Size of the family in relation to income;
e. Family resources and family obligations.

Where it is found that the family needs no financial assistance in following out the physician's recommendations, the family is referred to private care. This happens most frequently in cases where costs of care are relatively small, such as the otological program where approximately 80 percent of cases found to have hearing loss by the routine testing programs in the schools are referred to private care for correction. In such areas the Crippled Children Services program acts as a case finding agency, bringing to the attention of the family handicaps which might not otherwise be discovered.

The family's ability to reimburse the program for a part of the services is assessed before the child is accepted for treatment. Even prior to referral for diagnosis, a screening process has, in effect, taken place.
since families seek medical care first from their usual medical sources, either physicians or clinics, and are referred to Crippled Children Services only after they have exhausted these resources.

Methods of payment for physician services vary depending on the situation in the individual counties. The following methods or combination of methods are used:

a. Physicians are paid on a fee-for-service basis. This is the method of payment in the majority of the cases.

b. Physicians are paid on a per diem basis for conducting clinics.

Payment for services in hospitals and convalescent institutions is made on the reimbursable cost per diem basis.

MENTAL RETARDATION SERVICES

Program or Service
A Regional Center program for individuals with mental retardation and their families was established in 1965 through legislative enactment. The Center concept is that of unified and coordinated services in each region of the state—a focal point from which the mentally retarded person and his family can obtain essential services.

Legal Basis
California Health and Safety Code, Division 1, Part 1, Chapter 2, Article 7.5, Section 415-416.2.

How It Is Financed
The Regional Center program is financed by funds appropriated by the State Legislature and administered through the State Department of Public Health. The Regional Centers assist families to utilize public and private resources for which they are eligible. Reimbursements for services purchased by the Regional Centers are made by those families who are able to pay for part of the care.

Administration
The State Department of Public Health, through the Bureau of Mental Retardation Services, contracts with appropriate community agencies to establish Regional Centers to provide the full range of comprehensive services to mentally retarded persons and their families.

During the initial phase of the program (1965-66) funds were allocated to establish two centers. Contracts were negotiated with Aid Retarded Children, Inc. in San Francisco and Children’s Hospital at Los Angeles.

Eligibility
The Legislature intends that a network of Regional Centers be established so that services will be available to all mentally retarded persons. Diagnostic services will be available to determine whether retardation is present. During 1965-66 and the first six months of 1967 Center services have been limited to mentally retarded persons and their families who reside in Los Angeles, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Mateo and San Francisco Counties. Center services are available to any family who wishes to use such community service.

Services Provided
The Regional Centers provide an array of services, which include:

a. Comprehensive diagnosis by appropriate specialists
b. Medical, dental, and allied health services
e. Psychological services
d. Day care services
e. Twenty-four hour residential care
f. Prevocational and vocational counseling and training services
g. Vocational rehabilitation
h. Respite or short term care
i. Home care services

The essence of the Regional Center program is counseling on a continuing, lifetime basis. Frequent review and intervention in crisis situations is assured. The individual and his family are studied, guided in making suitable arrangements for care and assisted in paying for needed services. The counselor works closely with families to assist them in planning and obtaining needed services.

In addition, the parents or guardian of the mentally retarded person receiving care through the Regional Center may designate the Director of Public Health as guardian of the individual. Upon the death of the parents or guardian the individual can be made a ward of the Director—guardianship assures continuity of care of the mentally retarded person receiving Regional Center services.

Payment for Services

All persons suspected of mental retardation are eligible for diagnosis and counseling without charge. Repayment may be made for services purchased for an individual by the Regional Center, but not in excess of the actual expenditures made by the Center. Families who are able to do so purchase many services directly in addition to those purchased by the Centers.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WELFARE

Program or Service

The Department of Social Welfare through a system of state-county administration provides a wide range of services to children in California made available mostly through county welfare departments. All county welfare departments provide some services to children having special problems through programs of financial assistance and social services. The objectives are (1) to protect and preserve the family unit, (2) to rehabilitate or to provide the opportunity for rehabilitation, (3) to provide day care for mentally retarded children who are in need of the care and protection of day care services, (4) to make available to children who cannot live in their own home, care and treatment best suited to their needs, (5) to find permanent family homes for children who have no parents able to assume future responsibility for their care, (6) to develop and enforce licensing standards for foster homes, day nurseries, institutions and child placing agencies and to assist them in meeting these standards, (7) and to expand and develop community services which will protect the physical, mental and emotional welfare of children.

Legal Base

(2) Protective Services for Children: California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 18250-18253.
(3) Aid to the Blind: California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 12500-12850.
(4) Aid to Potentially Self-supporting Blind Residents: California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 13000-13102.
(5) Aid to Families with Dependent Children: California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 11200-11458.
(3) Public School Service: California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 6726, 6726.5, 6726.6, 6727, 10001, 10053.
(8) Medical Services to Public Assistance Recipients: California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 14000-14653.

How It Is Financed

Public assistance programs are financed from these tax sources: federal, state, and county. Specific child welfare programs of adoptions, foster homes and placement are financed primarily from state and county funds, except for a relatively small proportion of federal funds made available to California for children removed from their homes under specific conditions. Federal funds are made available to provide for an increase in day care services within the state. Development, extending and strengthening of child welfare services are carried out through the use of special child welfare services funds provided through the Federal Childrens Bureau.

Administration

The Department of Social Welfare has overall responsibility of the child welfare programs administered by county welfare departments. It has full power and responsibility to supervise every phase of the public assistance programs for which federal grants in aid are made. An important part of this responsibility is the coordination of departmental activities with respect to public and private agencies. Through these programs, large numbers of children with physical, mental, or emotional handicaps are provided financial aid and/or social services and care.

Each of the 58 counties in California has a public welfare agency to administer public assistance programs, medical care programs, and child welfare services, which vary in extent with the county. Many counties continue to provide, through the use of county funds, services to children who do not qualify for the federal or state aided programs.

A complete list of all county welfare departments is appended. Information regarding the kinds of child welfare services available, the kinds of public assistance available, the eligibility required for each, and the benefits provided by each may be obtained from these departments. In addition, there is available through the State Department of Social Welfare a directory of all licensed children’s institutions, day nurseries, private agencies placing children for foster care or adoption, and public adoption agencies in California.

The Department of Social Welfare works cooperatively with the Departments of Mental Hygiene, Education, Public Health, Rehabilitation, Office of Health Care Services, and others to promote maximum coordination of welfare services with the many programs for handicapped children that these agencies offer.

Services Provided and Eligibility

The following public welfare programs are available in varying degrees throughout the political subdivisions of the state. Although most of them are not exclusively for handicapped children, they are available for such children when other eligibility requirements are met:

1. All county welfare departments are required to provide appropriate services including medical or ancillary services for any sick or handicapped children eligible for Aid to Families with Dependent Children or eligible under the Medically Needy Family program. Eligibility extends to children from age 18 to 21 provided the child is in school or is participating in a vocational program. These services are given to children in their own homes or in foster care placements in order to safeguard physical development and to correct physical defects. Complete dental service is provided for children aged 13–17, and pediatric and chiropractic services are available for children under 13. Children eligible for AFDC, who are in need of special educational opportunities because of emotional reasons or mental retardation, are also entitled to appropriate care, training, or treatment. Many counties provide these services to families and children not receiving financial assistance.

(2) Services for children placed for adoption are provided statewide through 26 county welfare departments and 9 private adoption agencies licensed for this purpose by the State Department of Social Welfare. Opportunities for the adoptive placement of handicapped children are steadily increasing, partly because of changed attitudes and concepts, and also as a result of increased use of surgery and other medical services provided for the relief and modification of certain remedial physical conditions.

(3) A number of counties provide a full range of child welfare services. Eight county welfare departments provide homemaker service. Some counties provide foster home placement services for children not receiving assistance.

(4) Day care is an important component of the public child welfare program. Amendments to the Social Security Act authorize funds for the provision of day care services using federal funds. County welfare departments purchase day care services from community group facilities and family day care homes, operate day care centers and provide qualified staff and aides to provide day care services.

(5) Special protective services programs for children are made available in 25 counties through federal Child Welfare Services funds. One of the benefits resulting from this service lies in the earlier detection and treatment of handicaps in children of poorly functioning families. It also protects children from handicaps which may result from prolonged abuse or neglect.

(6) The State Department of Social Welfare through regional offices, offers services to emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded children on leave from a state hospital or who may need hospital care. Services include counseling concerning local resources to avoid hospitalization, pre-leave planning for hospital patients, counseling while on leave in own homes and certification of family care homes and placement services in these homes.

(7) The Aid to the Disabled program serves persons 18 years or over including the mentally retarded. The Aid to the Blind program makes services and assistance available to persons 16 years and over. These programs have materially benefitted some young people having serious disabling conditions.

(8) The State Department of Social Welfare engages in special demonstration projects designed to establish or to improve quality of public welfare programs. A number of such projects are designed to help children who are physically, mentally, emotionally, or educationally handicapped.
Statistics

In June 1966, 515,850 children were eligible for services through the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program. It is estimated that over 7,000 of these children had definite, diagnosed mental and physical impairments.

It is estimated that approximately 3 percent of the recipients in the Aid to the Totally Disabled program are in the 18–21 age group. In June 1966, about 2,350 recipients were estimated to be receiving aid in this age group.

Approximately 150 persons between 16 and 21 years received aid and services through one of the programs for the blind administered by the State Department of Social Welfare.

In the fiscal year 1965–66, 2,500 children on leave from state hospitals received service through the Bureau of Social Work regional offices.

DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HYGIENE

The Department of Mental Hygiene provides services through direct operation of residential and outpatient programs and by partial subsidy of local county or city programs. In addition, it licenses private institutions providing services for emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded children and adolescents.

All segments of the department are available for consultation to any community groups providing or planning for services for emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded children and adolescents. The Department of Mental Hygiene is also the state authority for the allocation of federal grant-in-aid funds to local areas for the development and support of community mental health services.

Legal Basis

California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 7303, 4102, 4119, 4200-4315, 5000-6307, 7000-7015, 9000-9058, and 13500-13508.

How It Is Financed

State hospitals for residential treatment and state-operated aftercare services are financed by funds appropriated by the State Legislature. Community mental health services provided under the provisions of the Short-Doyle Act are financed by a reimbursement from the state to a county or a city with an approved program on a percentage of eligible expenditures incurred after fees are deducted.

Administration

The 10 hospitals for general psychiatry, four hospitals for the mentally retarded, and three day treatment centers are under the direction of the Deputy Director, Division of State Services.

Two neuropsychiatric institutes for teaching and research include limited residential facilities for children and adolescents, plus a large outpatient program. These institutes, located in San Francisco and Los Angeles, are jointly administered by the Deputy Director, Division of Research and Training and the University of California.

Federal grant-in-aid subsidy program, Short-Doyle subsidy program, and community organization activities are under the direction of the Deputy Director, Division of Local Programs. Programs subsidized under provisions of the Short-Doyle Act are locally administered and locally controlled, subject to regulations adopted by the Department of Mental Hygiene after consultation with and approval of the Conference of Local Mental Health Directors. A Short-Doyle facility may provide for local services through a direct county or city program, and also by contracting with qualifying non-government agencies to provide services.
Services Provided

All 10 state hospitals for general psychiatry admit patients age 16 and over with each hospital serving a specific geographic area. Two hospitals, Napa and Camarillo, offer specialized programs and facilities for those under age 16, including specialized school programs. Effective January 1, 1966, Agnews State Hospital will conduct a rehabilitation program for the mentally retarded, ages 14 and over, in conjunction with the Department of Rehabilitation.

The four state hospitals for the mentally retarded are specially staffed and equipped to provide for the wide variety of problems encountered in the care and treatment of the mentally retarded. In addition DeWitt State Hospital and Patton State Hospital have programs for the adult mentally retarded.

The four hospitals for mental retardation provide admission and outpatient services through branches of state hospitals. They are under the direction of the superintendents and medical directors of the respective hospitals and are as follows: Sacramento Branch—Sonoma State Hospital; Los Angeles Branch—Pacific State Hospital; San Diego Branch—Fairview State Hospital; San Jose Branch—Porterville State Hospital. The function of these units is to provide preadmission screening and post-hospital care for applicants and patients of the state hospital to which they are attached.

Consultation services to community agencies are available from all state and state-local services. Specific consultation programs to staff of local agencies on a regular basis constitute a major part of many state-local programs.

Community organization consultation services are available through nine regional community organization specialists.

Eligibility

Any minor believed to be emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded and in need of supervision, care, or treatment, and meeting residency requirements, is eligible for services in state-operated programs. Services provided through the Short-Doyle Act are reimbursable only if the patients involved are unable to obtain private care. Local county or city residency requirements also usually apply to Short-Doyle services as determined locally.

Payment for Services

Fees are charged in accordance with the patient’s ability to pay, but not in excess of the actual cost. No patient is ineligible because of inability to pay a fee.

Statistics

In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1966, there were 1,174 total admissions of patients under 18 to all 10 hospitals for the mentally ill. Patients under 18 and resident in the 10 hospitals on June 30, 1966, totaled 734.

The four state hospitals for the mentally retarded, on June 30, 1966, had a total of 5,938 patients under age 18 resident in the hospitals (in-Including 50 patients in mentally retarded units at Agnews, DeWitt and Patton. On June 30, 1966, a total of 1,761 patients were on a waiting list for admission to hospitals for the retarded. Of that number, 1,511 or 85.5 percent were under age 18.

In outpatient clinics supported under the Short-Doyle Act, there were 20,250 admissions of patients under 18 years of age in the year ending June 30, 1966.

State-operated outpatient clinics admitted 1,107 patients under age 18 in the year ending December, 1965 (fiscal year figures not yet available).

COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

None of the programs exclude the mentally retarded; but in those programs where there is no particular emphasis, the mentally retarded who receive services have a primary psychiatric diagnosis.

Many programs provide services to children and adolescents as part of the regular service but do not provide specialized staff or program for this age group. Those programs providing specialized services are designated as follows:

A. Specialized inpatient treatment for children and adolescents under age 16.
B. Specialized outpatient services for children and adolescents.
C. Specialized day treatment for children and adolescents.
D. Rehabilitation or day care program for the mentally retarded.
E. Respite program for the mentally retarded.
F. Diagnosis, counseling or screening services for the mentally retarded.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The California Department of Education, in accordance with policy established by the State Board of Education and administrative direction provided by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, seeks to insure that all children of the state have an opportunity to attend the free public school system which the Legislature, pursuant to the provisions of the State Constitution, is to provide. The Department endeavors to assure each pupil receiving appropriate instruction by qualified teachers.

In State Government there is a State Board of Education appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of two-thirds of the Senate. The Board is the governing and policy determining body of the Department.

The California Constitution provides that a Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at each gubernatorial election. The Department is conducted under the control of the Director of Education who, under law, is the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Director, vested with all executive and administrative functions of the Department, is the executive officer of the State Board of Education.

GENERAL ORGANIZATION

The Department of Education is organized into a number of divisions each of which is assigned one or more functions. These include Departmental Administration, Instruction, Libraries, Public School Administration, Special Schools and Services, and Higher Education. Functional units other than divisions include the Committee on Credentials, Advisory Compensatory Education Commission, State Curriculum Commission, Commission on Equal Opportunities in Education, and State Teachers’ Retirement System.

DIVISION OF SPECIAL SCHOOLS AND SERVICES

Certainly one of the verities facing the free public schools is the fact that children are not alike. In fact, some 10 percent or more are so markedly different that they require special education provisions. Education of exceptional children, a generic term covering those children requiring special education programs made necessary because of physical handicaps, mental retardation, educational handicaps, et cetera, is the primary concern of the Division of Special Schools and Services.

The Division has the immediate task of carrying out the statutory provision that the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall promote and direct special instruction in the public schools for handicapped minors. Under provisions of law special education programs are required of school districts, county superintendents of schools, and in several specific instances the Department itself.

Under the direction of a Deputy Superintendent serving as Chief of the Division, in order to carry out responsibilities which have been assigned, it is made up of a number of sub-units. In addition to the cen-
BUREAU FOR EDUCATIONALLY HANDICAPPED AND MENTALLY EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

This Bureau, under the immediate charge of a bureau chief, provides advisory, coordinative and supervisory services to school districts and county superintendents of schools maintaining special education programs for the educationally handicapped and mentally exceptional children. The purposes of this bureau are advanced through the services of consultants of which there are two for the classification of the educationally handicapped, four in that of the mentally retarded, and two in that of the mentally gifted. Consultants serving the eleven southern counties work out of the southern California unit of the Department, 217 West First Street, Los Angeles.

BUREAU FOR PHYSICALLY EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

This Bureau, under the immediate charge of a bureau chief, provides advisory, coordinative and supervisory services to school districts and county superintendents of schools maintaining special education programs for physically handicapped children. The purposes of this bureau are advanced through the services of consultants of which there are two for the classification of the deaf and severely hard of hearing, three in that of the visually handicapped with one in charge of the Clearinghouse-Depository for the Visually Handicapped, two in that of the speech handicapped, two in that of the orthopedically handicapped including the cerebral palsied, and one for the Development Centers for Handicapped Minors. One consultant for each of the classification areas, excepting that of Development Centers for Handicapped Minors, is assigned to serve the eleven southern counties. These work out of the southern California unit of the Department, 217 West First Street, Los Angeles.

STATE SPECIAL SCHOOLS

California provides state special schools for the education of some handicapped children. As a part of the Division these operate under the general direction of the chief of the division. Currently there are two state schools for the deaf (Berkeley and Riverside), one for the blind (Berkeley), and two for the cerebral palsied (San Francisco and Los Angeles). Each of these schools is under the immediate direction of a superintendent.

SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Currently special education programs are mandatory for some classifications of handicapped children. For other classifications, notably the educationally handicapped and the mentally gifted, such programs are still on a permissive rather than a mandatory basis. In one instance, specifically that of multiply handicapped children, even permissive program authorization has yet to be enacted by the Legislature.
Generally speaking, size of local school system determines whether the mandate to provide special education falls to a school district or a county superintendent of schools. Relative to this point Sections 6805, 6806, and 8901 of the Education Code pertain to the classification of the physically handicapped while Sections 6904, 6904.5, and 8951 are directed to that of the mentally retarded.

Legal Basis

Of course, local school authorities need to study and review all provisions of the Education Code and other sources pertaining to the education of exceptional children. These have been brought together in the 1966 publication entitled Laws and Regulations Relating to Education and Health Services for Exceptional Children. It can be ordered of the Bureau of Textbooks and Publications, California Department of Education, Sacramento.

It is not feasible in this publication to provide the entire body of law and regulations pertaining to the field of special education. The following give the basic sections authorizing such programs as they currently exist in the Education Code:

Physical Handicapped. 6801-6822; 8901-8906, 12801-12802; 18060.2, 25551-25654, 25751-25905, 26401-26501.
Mentally Retarded. 6901-6919, 8951-8956.
Educationally Handicapped. 6750-6763.
Mentally Gifted. 6421-6434.

Clearinghouse Depository for the Visually Handicapped. 10301-10303.
Development Centers for Handicapped Minors. 16645.1-16645.29.
Education of Children Residing in Children’s Institutions. 6951-6957.
Occupational Training Programs. 6931-6933.
Grants to Teachers of Physically Handicapped (Mentally Retarded) Minors. 6875-6878.
Nursery School-Parent Institute for Preschool Deaf Children. 6822.

How It Is Financed

Support for special education provided by school districts and county superintendents of schools is apportioned each fiscal year from the State School Fund. Allowances up to specified ceilings per a.d.a. are based on the excess expense of the previous year for the education of physically handicapped, educable mentally retarded, and trainable mentally retarded, and educationally handicapped minors, plus the expense of providing transportation for certain physically handicapped and trainable mentally retarded minors up to a specified ceiling per a.d.a.

State special schools for blind, deaf, and cerebral palsied children derive no revenue from the State School Fund. They are financially dependent upon legislative appropriation (state).
Administration

Local school districts and/or county superintendents of schools are responsible for the administration of special education programs, services, and facilities for handicapped children.

State special schools are under the administration of the State Department of Education, Division of Special Schools and Services, and are an integral part of the public school system of the state.

Eligibility

Physically handicapped minors who, by reason of physical impairment or physical illnesses and/or conditions, cannot receive the full benefit of ordinary education facilities, are eligible for special educational services. Handicapped children so served include children who are blind, partially seeing; aphasic; deaf, hard of hearing; orthopedically handicapped including the cerebral palsied; children with speech defects and disorders; children confined to their homes or hospitals; and those with such handicapping conditions as tuberculosis, cardiac disorders, and other disabling disabilities.

Mentally retarded minors eligible for special schools and educational services include all those who because of retarded intellectual development as determined by individual psychological examination are incapable of being educated efficiently and profitably through ordinary classroom instruction.

Educationally handicapped minors are minors, other than physically handicapped minors (as defined in Sections 6801 and 6802 of this code) or mentally retarded minors (as defined in Section 6901, 6902 and 6903 of this code) who, by reason of marked learning or behavioral problems or a combination thereof, cannot receive the reasonable benefit of ordinary education facilities.

Mentally gifted minors are minors who demonstrate such general intellectual capacity as to place them with the top 2 percent of all students having achieved their school grade within California, as measured by standardized tests and the judgment of school personnel.

Benefits

Special instruction and facilities geared to special needs of physically handicapped, mentally retarded, and educationally handicapped children are maintained by local school districts and/or county superintendents of schools. Transportation to and from special day classes or schools is provided for deaf, hard of hearing, aphasic, blind, partially seeing, cerebral palsied, orthopedically handicapped, and trainable mentally retarded pupils.

State special schools for the deaf, blind, and cerebral palsied provide, in addition to an academic program: physical education and recreation, a social program, vocational training, and certain routine and/or emergency medical care.

Payment for Services

Special education provided by California school districts and county superintendents of schools is available free of charge to physically handicapped, mentally retarded children, educationally handicapped and mentally gifted minors.
Every deaf, blind, and cerebral palsied minor resident of the state is entitled to enrollment in the appropriate special residential school free of charge. All costs are met by the state except those for transportation, clothing, extraordinary medical care and incidentals. If parents cannot meet these additional expenses, the county of residence must furnish them.

Statistics

In 1965–66 some 171,227 physically handicapped pupils were enrolled in locally maintained special education programs. Such enrollment for the mentally retarded was 58,079 and for the educationally handicapped 8,256. In addition to these 237,562 handicapped pupils involved in special education programs, there were some 89,000 mentally gifted pupils similarly involved.

The U. S. Office of Education believes the number of exceptional children, exclusive of the mentally gifted, needing special education at any given time will be 10 percent of the number of pupils enrolled in kindergarten and grades one through twelve. Since the October 31, 1965, school enrollment in California was 4,121,442 for these grades, seemingly California might have as many as 412,144 handicapped minors in need of special education as contrasted with the 237,562 reported in such programs. As gratifying as has been the growth of special education programs over the past two decades, seemingly some 40 percent of handicapped minors have yet to be provided with programs of special education.

Directories of Local Special Education Programs

Directories are available of special education programs provided by school districts and county superintendents of schools. Such directories are available for the several classifications of exceptional children served by the two bureaus. The directories are prepared annually from information provided by school districts and county superintendents. Distribution is made to all district and county superintendents including those persons in such local education agencies serving as directors, coordinators or supervisors of special education programs.

Upon request individual copies of the directories are available without charge to other school personnel, parents, and citizens. Such requests should be directed to the Bureau concerned as follows:

(1) Bureau for Educationally Handicapped and Mentally Exceptional Children:
   (a) Educationally Handicapped (emotionally handicapped, neurologically handicapped, minimal brain damage, perceptually handicapped, et cetera)
   (b) Mentally retarded (educable—E.C. 6902, trainable—E.C. 6903)
   (c) Mentally gifted

(2) Bureau for Physically Exceptional Children:
   (a) Blind and partially seeing (visually handicapped)
   (b) Deaf and hard of hearing (hearing handicapped)
   (c) Orthopedically handicapped including the cerebral palsied
   (d) Speech handicapped including the aphasic
   (e) Development Centers for Handicapped Minors

DEPARTMENT OF REHABILITATION

Program or Service
The Department of Rehabilitation was created by the Legislature effective October 1, 1963. It was composed of the Vocational Rehabilitation Service and five adult blind programs previously administered by the State Department of Education. The objective of the department is to provide any service necessary to restore a disabled person to remunerative employment.

Legal Basis
Government Code Chapter 1447
Public Law 565, 83rd Congress
Public Law 333, 89th Congress, Amendments to Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

How It Is Financed
The basic service of vocational rehabilitation is financed by state and federal funds. In addition, certain blind programs are financed primarily from state funds.

Administration
The program is administered by the State Department of Rehabilitation with three major service divisions: the Division of Disability Determination, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, and the Division of Rehabilitation of the Blind. The Division of Disability Determination under the Old Age and Survivors Insurance provisions of the Social Security Act is currently operated in offices located in Oakland and Los Angeles.

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation operates field offices through Regional Offices in Sacramento, Oakland, and Los Angeles. These regional offices supervise 19 districts with offices and 24 branch offices located in practically all population centers of the state as well as State Mental Hospitals, local school districts, community mental health centers, diagnostic and treatment centers for the mentally retarded and Youth Authority and correctional facilities. The Department also operates the Sacramento Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center and provides vocational rehabilitation services in four other local alcoholic clinics. In addition, vocational rehabilitation services are a major feature available in each of the State Service Centers located in 13 poverty areas throughout the State.

The Division of Rehabilitation of the Blind supervises the following programs for the blind:

1. Field Rehabilitation Services for the Adult Blind, consisting of 24 Counselor-Teachers in the more populous locations throughout the state, providing adjustment services in the home and in institutions to newly blinded persons.
2. California Orientation Center for the Blind at Albany, providing intensive residential adjustment services to blind persons with a maximum capacity of 40 clients at any one time.

3. California Industries for the Blind operating three production centers to provide training and employment to blind and other disabled persons.

4. Opportunity Work Centers for the Blind providing less demanding training and work experience in blind and other disabled persons in three centers.

5. Business Enterprise Program for the Blind operating approximately 250 vending stands, snackbars, and cafeterias under licensed blind operators.

6. Vocational rehabilitation providing counseling, physical restoration, pre-vocational and vocational training, and placement services to the blind and severely visually handicapped through Division of Vocational Rehabilitation field offices.

7. Treatment of blindness including medical eye care and adjustment services to adult persons who are going blind and who need such care to restore vision or prevent further loss of vision.

Benefits

The Division of Disability Determination operates under a contract between the department and the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. The division has responsibility for the following:

1. Evaluation and disability determination review for disabled persons who have been employed under Social Security covered employment and who have become disabled to a degree where they cannot engage in substantial gainful employment.

2. In instances where a child became disabled before age 18 because of a congenital condition, disease, or injury, and this disabling condition will continue, and the parent or guardian is eligible either for old age or disability benefits under Social Security, the disabled child (adult) may also be eligible for case benefits.

3. In making disability evaluations, the division must consider whether or not there is any reasonable possibility of the disabled person benefiting from vocational rehabilitation services.

The major services provided by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation include: diagnosis including physical, psychiatric, and psychological evaluation and vocational assessment; vocational training covering practically every conceivable type of training; physical restoration including surgery, hospitalization, psychiatric care, artificial appliances, etc.; maintenance and transportation as required during the course of a rehabilitation plan; and job placement and follow-up upon completion of a rehabilitation plan.

The Division of Rehabilitation of the Blind provides essentially the same services as the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation to blind persons of employable age. In addition, pre-vocational and adjustment services are available through the Field Rehabilitation Services and Orientation Center, and employment through the California Industries for the Blind, the Opportunity Work Centers, and the Business Enterprise Program.

Payment for Services
Under the statutes governing vocational rehabilitation counseling, diagnosis, vocational training, and job placement are provided without charge. Other services may be contingent on financial need.

Statistics
With the present staff the Department of Rehabilitation serves approximately 17,000 at any one time through the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and approximately 3,100 blind and otherwise severely visually handicapped persons through the Division of Rehabilitation of the Blind. As the many new programs initiated during the past year are fully implemented, the number of persons served is expected to increase substantially.

The Department of the Youth Authority provides rehabilitative treatment to delinquent children committed to its care and makes available advisory and consultative services in the field of delinquency prevention.

Annually, approximately 4,500 delinquent children (new commitments) are committed to the Youth Authority from the juvenile courts and 2,000 young adults from the criminal courts (18-21). It is engaged in a program of rehabilitative care and treatment designed to prevent these young offenders from committing new crimes and thus reducing the total incidence of delinquency.

To achieve this, it maintains 2 diagnostic centers for examining these young offenders, 12 training schools (including 4 forestry camps), and a staff of about 300 parole agents to supervise their activities when they are released on parole.

Generally, minor delinquents and first offenders are handled at the county level. Youths committed to the Youth Authority usually have serious behavior disorders, many are emotionally disturbed, and intensive treatment within the institution and on parole is necessary.

Specialized programs are available, including psychiatric treatment, remedial academic work, prevocational testing and orientation, and vocational training. The most modern methods of parole supervision are utilized, including the use of part-way houses, subsidized services of private agencies, boarding homes and foster homes, and occasional placements in private institutions with highly specialized programs. Parolees are assisted in finding jobs and in making arrangements for proper use of leisure time.

Eligibility requirements. To be eligible for the Youth Authority’s program of rehabilitative care, youths must be committed by the juvenile courts or the criminal courts of California.

Legal Basis

California Welfare and Institutions Code, Section 1700 through 1772.

How It Is Financed

The Department of the Youth Authority is financed by funds appropriated by the State Legislature.

Delinquency Prevention Services

The department provides state leadership in the prevention and treatment of juvenile delinquency and has responsibility for setting standards in the fields of probation, county camps, jails, and juvenile halls. The Division of Delinquency Prevention provides advisory and consultative services to juvenile court judges, juvenile justice commissions, probation departments, law enforcement agencies, and civic groups. Assistance is given probation departments in improving casework services, detention homes, and treatment facilities. State subsidies are available to counties in the construction and maintenance of probation camps for minor delinquents and first offenders.

The Division of Delinquency Prevention assists in arranging statewide conferences and regional workshops and institutes on delinquency prevention. It publishes pamphlets, sets standards for probation services, juvenile halls, probation camps, and jails that detain minors under the age of 18. Its efforts are directed toward getting communities to develop their own local prevention programs. A corps of consultants is available to assist communities to survey their needs and plan future programs. Any citizen or group may request these services.
