This guide is designed to provide seventh-grade social studies teachers with materials needed to present instruction in reading skills and to teach those facts, concepts, and attitudes which are the aim of social studies education. Entries on the subject of early New York history are arranged by topic, and material within each topic is arranged according to two texts: "Living in New York" by Flierl and Urell, to be used with modified classes, and "New York: The Empire State" by Ellis, Frost, and Fink, to be used with honors and average classes. The guide presents exercises to promote the development of comprehension, vocabulary, critical thinking, and study skills. Questions are designed to evaluate the student's mastery of these skills and of content subject matter. Some questions are designed to cover collateral chapters in the two texts and are so identified. (RT)

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This revised edition extends to our newly-adopted seventh grade social studies texts the district's well-known program of developmental reading in the content areas. In publishing this guide, the district reaffirms its belief in the value of developmental reading for secondary school pupils.

This volume represents the cooperative efforts of many participants with special talents whose contributions I acknowledge with appreciation.

For their authorship of the guide in the summer of 1964

For their work in writing the original edition of this guide and its first revision.

For supervising and organizing the project in its formative and developmental stages.

For suggestions on dividing the content into study units.

For organizing, during his tenure as District Reading Coordinator, the district's developmental reading program and its original study guides, and later, for consulting with the authors of this revised edition.

For voluntarily analyzing and criticizing our trial units, and for sharing her experience in writing and using these guides.

For general supervision of the summer workshop.
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Mr. Robert Vincent, Director, Instructional Materials Center
For supervision of the production of this guide

Mrs. Madeline Hendrix
For editing final copy and for assisting in the supervision of the production of this guide.

Mr. Donald Pross
For creation of the cover design and other art work.

Miss Patricia Massey and the typing and production staff
For technical production of the guide.

It is expected that the reading departments and junior high social studies departments of the several schools will plan for the inclusion of this material in the social studies program. Teachers using the guide are urged to keep notes on their critical analysis of it. After a suitable period of time, the guide will be evaluated and appropriate action will be taken.

TO THE TEACHER

This volume is one of a six-unit series designed to correlate with the two seventh grade social studies textbooks we use in Central High School District No. Two. The textbooks were examined by social studies teachers and organized into the following topical units:

Unit I - New York State Geography: Regions, Resources, and Communities.

Unit II - Early New York History: Settlement to Statehood (Indians; Dutch; English; Revolutionary War)

Unit III - New York State Government and Local Government; Social and Cultural Progress

Unit IV - Westward Expansion and Transportation in New York State

Unit V - Agriculture and Industry Development in New York State. Problems of the Industrial Age

Unit VI - The Local Community: Long Island and New York City

Each of these six units embraces several chapters of each of our two texts. The chart which precedes this page gives the details of this breakdown into units.

This series is based on three assumptions:

1. Teachers can not take for granted that pupils enter junior high school fully trained for the reading tasks they will encounter.

2. Secondary school pupils need continuing developmental reading instruction which will enable them to cope with the textbooks of constantly increasing difficulty which they will encounter as they progress through school.

3. The person best equipped to teach the special reading skills needed in as specialized a course as social studies is the social studies teacher.

- v -
The purpose of this volume and its collateral material is to provide the teacher of seventh grade social studies with the aids he needs to instruct his students in the skills they require for reading their texts and supplementary books. This volume is designed to accomplish the dual objectives of providing instruction in reading skills, and, at the same time, teaching those facts and concepts, and developing those attitudes which are the aim of social studies instruction.

The following information will help you to use this material more effectively.

1. Nature of the material: All of the pages in this volume are addressed directly to the pupil (except, of course, for these few prefatory remarks), and all can be requisitioned in any quantity desired.

2. Ordering material: Material should be requisitioned through your department chairman, who, in turn, will order it from the I.M.C. Order all the material for an entire chapter at one time. Allow two weeks for delivery.

3. Format: This material follows a consistent format. It is arranged by topics, and within each topic arranged according to the two texts; the Ellis book for honors and average classes, and the Flierl book for modified classes. (If you are teaching only modified classes, for example, you may want to fold under the pages of Ellis material until next year, and vice versa.) The material corresponding to a chapter in either text consists of the following:

   A. A list of new vocabulary words and a separate list of the proper nouns in the chapter. Asterisks mark words which the authors of the textbooks themselves indicate need explanation. Some of the words have been underscored to show they appear in context immediately below. This provision of a context in which the word's real meaning is revealed is an important part of the guide.

   B. A test of the new vocabulary words.
C. A reading guide which, by directing the student's reading to the salient features given under each bold-faced sub-heading of the text, provides purpose and direction.

D. An exercise designed to develop a specific reading skill.

L. Questions designed to evaluate the pupil's mastery of the chapter's reading, critical thinking skills and the subject matter content of the chapter. NOTE: SOME QUESTIONS ARE DESIGNED TO COVER COLLATERAL CHAPTERS IN THE TWO BOOKS (ELLIS AND FLIERL) AND ARE SO IDENTIFIED.

4. Page identification Each page is marked to indicate:

A. The book on which it is based (whether Ellis or Flierl).

B. The chapter number and title of the text to which it corresponds.

C. The function (reading skills taught, etc.) of the material presented on the page.

D. The type of class (honors, average or modified) for which the exercise is intended.

E. The page numbers in the text to which it corresponds.

The letter in the lower left hand corner of each page designates the type of class for which the exercise is geared: A - average class; H - honors; M - modified.

Sometimes when some of the questions on a sheet are intended for the average group and others for the honors group, only, they will be so coded. The lower left hand corner designation \( \text{A: 1-6} \) \( \text{H: 1-10} \), for example, indicates that in the opinion of the person who composed the exercise, average pupils should be able to handle only the first six questions, but honor pupils should be able to handle all ten.

This material, if made a vital part of the daily structure of your teaching, should be a valuable aid in improving reading skills generally and social studies skills particularly.

Words Used in Context

region The Algonkian Indians lived in the region of the Hudson Valley and Long Island. Many Indian names for places are in use in this region today.

inhabitants The Algonkian Indians were the inhabitants of Long Island while the Iroquois inhabited central and western New York.

federation The five nations of the Iroquois agreed to combine into a federation. Each member of the federation agreed to submit to common control in certain matters.

league The purpose of joining the league was to gain strength through union and to promote peace. The league of the five tribes was known as the Confederacy of the Five Nations.
The pointed logs were arranged in a continuous row around the village to form a palisade that would protect the inhabitants from their enemies. Sometimes a trench would be dug outside of the palisade to give additional protection.

The Indians performed special rites or ceremonies on certain occasions. Indian dances were often a part of these rites.

The men of the tribe discussed their problems at a council meeting. The decisions of the council ruled the actions of the people.

The leader of a tribe was called a sachem. The sachem represented his tribe at a council meeting of the League.

The sachems came as delegates to the conferences. These delegates, as representatives of their tribes, promised to keep their tribe at peace.

The alliance of the five Iroquois tribes was the strongest union ever made by Indians. Because of this alliance they were the most powerful Indian group.

Unit II, p. 9   62-73E abundance  The abundance of game, fish, fruits, and nuts attracted the first Indians to New York. There was such an abundant supply of food available for the taking that they did not go hungry.

flint  The Indians valued flint, a hard stone they found in New York, for the sparks it gave off when struck against a rock which would start a fire. They also used the sharp flint for their early tools and weapons.

confederacy  The Iroquois tribes formed a confederacy when they joined together for mutual aid in keeping peace. This league of tribes or confederacy was known at first as the Five Nations.

treaty  The treaty between the two nations dealt with actions for peace and trade. A treaty or agreement between two nations becomes part of the laws of a country.

code  Codes of law are the written body of laws which govern a people. The Indians did not have a formal code of law but followed the ways of their forefathers.

stockade  The stockade, built of pointed logs, surrounded the village. The people were further protected from enemy attack by a deep trench which was dug just outside the stockade.

mounds  In planting, the Indians covered their seeds with rounded elevations of earth called mounds. The mound-building Indians lived in small-hill-like huts of earth.

ridges  The ridge is the top or crest of a hill. Sometimes Indians followed the ridges of the hills to avoid the swamps and heavy vegetation of the valley below.

expedition  The expedition into the land of the Hurons accomplished its purpose. The expedition had been organized to enter Huron territory and conquer the tribes living there.

alliance  The Iroquois first made an alliance with the British. When the French destroyed many Iroquoian villages, the Indians deserted their British alliance for trade and signed a treaty of friendship with the French.

RECALL, CAUSE-AND-EFFECT RELATIONSHIP (Open Book)

The arrows lead from causes to their effects. Fill in the missing steps.

1. Hurons controlled fur trade with tribes in Great Lakes Region where there were still beaver → When Hurons refused, Iroquois decided to destroy them

2. Terror-stricken Hurons fled to forest where many died of cold and starvation

3. French who traded with Hurons were worried that they might lose their source of furs → Five nations deserted British alliance and signed a treaty of friendship with France (1701).

4. The Iroquois became involved in four wars between England and France

5. During the Revolutionary War the Americans sent expeditions against the Senecas and their allies → The Iroquois adopted hundreds of prisoners into their tribes and admitted the Tuscaroras as the Sixth Nation (1722)

Today in N.Y. there are only 6,000-7,000 Indians living on eight reservations employer Jack asked his employer, Mr. Jones, for a raise. Mr. Jones said he would gladly give it to him because Jack had worked very hard for him.

expedition The expedition to Africa covered thousands of miles of unexplored territory. Sometimes the members of the expedition rode in jeeps and sometimes they walked.

religious Many people came to the New World seeking religious freedom. Here they went to the church of their choice and worshiped God in their own way. Freedom of worship is important to religious people.

immigrants Immigrants come to the United States all the time. The immigrants leave their homes in Europe and Asia to come and live here in the U.S.A.

tenants The owner of the apartment house collected rent from the tenants each month. One day he raised the rent and the tenants complained.

character The President of the United States should be a man of high character. Honesty and intelligence are examples of the signs of a good character.

virtues Kindness and generosity are two virtues that are liked by everyone. Other virtues are honesty and goodness.

dictator Hitler, a dictator, ruled Germany. He would not tolerate what he did not like and he made the laws. Like most dictators, he did not consider the people he ruled.

majority More than half the voters in the United States are Democrats. Since they have a majority of members, the Democrats often win elections.

truce Jack and Billy fought all the time. Finally they declared a truce. For a while there was peace, but the truce was broken and they started to fight again.

People and governments have reasons for doing things. Sometimes the outcome of an event or decision is what was wanted, sometimes it is not.

Listed below are the names of four events in New York State History. Next to each is a page reference to help you find the answer. In the columns provided fill in the information that will point out whether the person or idea achieved the purpose for which it was intended.

The first one is done as a sample.

Words Used in Context

colonization The colonization activities of England, France, and Holland all centered on New York. Each tried to establish a colony in New York, but Dutch were the first to colonize this area.

charter The charter given to the Dutch West India Company granted it the right to control a huge amount of trade. This charter was not signed by the king but rather by the legislative branch of the Dutch government.

persecution The persecution of the Jews by Adolph Hitler was terrible. Persecuting people because of their religion or race is still, unfortunately, practiced today.

tenants The tenant farmers of New York hoped some day to own their own land. Sometimes the landlord gave the tenants very little in return for their rents.
Rensselaer's patroonship was located on both sides of the Hudson near Albany. This tract of land proved to be the only successful patroonship in the Dutch colony.

Stuyvesant's proclamation stating that any person giving aid to a Quaker would be fined did not work. He made many other official announcements that also met with little success.

Toleration by one religious group of another is very important in a free country. If one religious group doesn't tolerate another the wars and strife that follow will ruin a country.

The Negroes staged a remonstrance for the right to better jobs. Most peaceful remonstrances are successful because if the government sees enough people protesting it will probably investigate the causes of the demonstration.

The clergy was represented by four priests, four ministers, and four rabbis. The clergy of all faiths do a fine job in helping people to understand their religion.

The only artillery weapons used in the Revolutionary war were cannons. Modern armies use artillery that is carried on tanks and can be fired while the tank is moving.

Words Used in Context

frontier The frontier in New York was dangerous in 1750 because it was occupied by angry Iroquois. It took a brave pioneer to move to the line of settlement at the frontier.

speculators Speculators hoped to buy land cheaply and sell it at a profit. Sometimes the speculators guessed correctly about an area and their risks paid off handsomely with high prices for their lands.

cash crop The best cash crop in colonial New York was wheat. This was a successful cash crop because everyone ate bread and thus were glad to buy wheat.

potash Potash was valuable because it was used as a fertilizer in making soap and in bleaching cloth. Since the ashes from logs were easily available potash was also a very inexpensive product.

manor The largest manor was Rensselaerswyck which covered over 750,000 acres on both sides of the Hudson. The owner of this manor was given special rights and privileges as were the owners of nineteen other large estates.

treason William Prendergast claimed that he had not committed an act of treason because he had not betrayed his country in any way. When we think of treason we usually think of Benedict Arnold's betrayal of our country in the American Revolution.

gristmill Gristmills ground grain into flour much more than the frontier housewife could. Waterpowered gristmills were the first manufacturing establishments in colonial New York.

distilleries Distilleries made grain into whiskey which has always been a best seller in New York. Alcohol is distilled from the fermented grain.

tanneries Tanneries were built to change animal hides into leather.

coopers A cooper was important because all goods were packed in barrels. This craft of making barrels also proved financially rewarding for the cooper.

population  Many people live in New York. Therefore it has a large population.

religious toleration  Religious toleration should be practiced by every United States citizen. No American should ever look down on the religion of another person.

descent  John Smith is of English descent. His grandfather came here from England.

immigrants  Many people have left their homes in Europe to come to this country. These immigrants are most welcome here.

tutor  Billy is failing English. He has a private tutor who teaches him once a week. With a tutor he hopes to learn and pass.

handicap  Mickey Mantle is a great baseball player even with the handicap of injured legs.

colonial period  During the colonial period, before the Revolutionary War, there was a great deal of class distinction in New York. While we were still a colony of England, we followed England's ways. Even after the colonial period, we kept some English ways, but not many.

privilege  Having a room of your own is a privilege. You should appreciate it by keeping it neat and clean. Many privileges like this are taken for granted.

social system  In America the social system is different from the one in India. According to our social system, or way of life, people have a chance to become wealthy. In India, people cannot easily change their status.

aristocracy  In America there is no aristocracy. In England Queen Elizabeth and her family are part of the aristocracy.

democracy In the United States which is a democracy, the people vote to choose their leaders. The leaders must satisfy the people who voted for them. Therefore, it is the people who run the government in this great democracy.

generation People have always complained about children. The new generation is always worse than the last one. Parents who are of one generation, misunderstand their children; the new generation; the children in turn misunderstand the older generation.

bill of rights The first ten amendments of the U.S. Constitution contain a bill of rights. It is this section of the constitution that contains our personal freedoms, such as freedom of speech.

levy Every year we pay an income tax. Some people remember when we had no income tax and they complain about it. They want to know why the government had to levy such a tax.

freedom of the press Some publications abuse their privilege of freedom of the press. They print lies and half truths which the public believes. The people are entitled to know the truth, no matter what it is, but no press has the freedom to print lies.

monopoly A business is allowed to make as much money as it can. However, it may not become a monopoly, because then it hurts other businesses. One business cannot make all the money and stop others from growing. The government will not allow it.

edit Before you turn in the final copy of your story, edit it. I'm sure you can change some things around. Perhaps you'll want to add something or cross something out.

authority The governor of a state has the authority to pardon some criminals. This authority cannot be taken lightly. The power to forgive people is good but must be used wisely.

delgate Did your class send a delegate to the student council meeting today? If you are not represented you won't have anything to say about the dance. Quick! Choose a delegate!

libel That newspaper is guilty of libel. Calling former President Eisenhower a communist is such a lie. They should get into trouble for printing libel like that.

Words Used in Context

That man, who came to this country from Europe, is a foreigner. You should never criticize the ways of a foreigner, because someday you could be in another country and you certainly wouldn't like to be criticized for your foreign ways.

refugee
He came to this country because he was looking for a safe place. He is a refugee who is seeking the comfort of a free land.

occupation
You had better plan now for your future by preparing for an occupation. Some occupations which are respected are medicine, nursing, education and law.

climate
The climate of Long Island is pleasant. Throughout the year, with each season, the weather changes and gives us a pleasant climate which is not boring.

quantity
We need a large quantity of paper for the bulletin board. We don't care what kind of paper it is, as long as we have enough.

population
What is the population of the United States? The answer to this question changes every minute. However, no matter how fast people are born, we still know that the population is now about 190 million.

import
The United States does not produce enough tin, therefore we import a great deal of tin from Bolivia, which produces it in large amounts.

export
The United States produces a great deal of food. We export food to other countries.

basic freedom
Freedom of religion, or the right to go to any church you like, is a basic freedom. No one has the right to tell you to what church you should go.

frontier
The first settlers of the United States had to cross the frontier more than once. Entering into the wilderness from the warmth of settlement is not an easy thing. If these settlers had not been willing to give up some comforts to cross the frontier, our land would not have grown.

indigo  Indigo was valuable to the colonists because it was used in dyeing materials blue. The plants from which the indigo was obtained were grown in the West Indies.

independence  The Congo received its independence from Belgium a few years ago. The problems of independence have been great and it has had trouble standing alone and remaining free.
The alliance of Germany and Japan in World War II almost conquered the entire free world. The Nato alliance is a group of countries that have banded together to protect Western Europe from further attempts of this kind.

The neutrality of Switzerland in many wars is a known fact. Its geographic position allows it the privilege of not choosing sides in most wars. Many historians feel however that it is almost impossible these days to maintain a position of neutrality because you must choose between communism and freedom.

"I was given written permission to fish here Officer. Look! Here is my license."

The raw materials, rubber and iron, were turned into the finished products, tires and stones. New York had many raw materials but was forbidden to make them into finished products.

The custom's duties on Volkswagon cars from Germany raises the price on these cars from $1200 to $1500. These taxes on imports are needed to protect our own industries.

A parliament is a type of governing body similar to a congress. The British Parliament consists of a House of Commons and a House of Lords while our Congress consists of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

The American boycott of Cuba has been fairly successful in keeping people from trading with Cuba. This boycott has not been completely successful because some countries still recognize the Castro government and deal with it.

mercenary. Jack is very mercenary. All he cares about is money. On occasion he ignores his friends and hurts their feelings just to get money. If he weren't so mercenary, he would be nice.

tactics. The procedures used to gain what you want are called tactics. Sometimes your tactics may not be approved.

neutral. When two of your friends argue, it is best to remain neutral. By remaining neutral you take neither side.

foe. In a fight, never trust your foe. Don't underestimate your foe, for your enemy will always seek to conquer you.

superstitious. If you are superstitious you believe that black cats bring bad luck and breaking a mirror is just as bad. Superstitious people do some odd things to avoid the forces of evil that they fear.

morale. A soldier's morale is very important. If a soldier is not encouraged and believes he is forgotten his morale falls, his spirits and hopes fail him and he cannot win a war.

ally. When a nation goes to war, it may need an ally. Usually if nations have been friendly, when one goes to war the other will help its ally.

episode. Even in the midst of a war when most episodes are sad, a humorous episode can also take place. Such events are always remembered by the soldiers.

reprimand. The teacher will reprimand the student who did not do his homework. No student enjoys a reprimand but he deserves it if he did not do his work.

avenge. Indians will always try to avenge themselves. If you kill an Indian, the other members of the tribe believe it is their job to avenge the death of their tribesman.

Aristocracy

In New York the people who owned a lot of land were considered to be the aristocracy. Today in New York we do not have any aristocracy since we have no kings or queens and most people own land.
blockade The English used its navy to blockade New York City and keep goods from entering. This blockade was not successful and many supplies entered New York in spite of it.

Patriots The Patriots wanted to end British rule of the colonies and in the end were successful. The most active group of Patriots were the "Sons of Liberty" who wanted freedom long before the rest of the citizens.

Loyalists Loyalists were treated rather harshly at the end of the Revolution because they had wanted the colony to remain a part of the British Empire. Loyalists were sometimes called Tories.

delegates New York sent several delegates to the Continental Congress. These representatives were slow in signing the Declaration of Independence.

garrison The Patriots surprised the small garrison at Fort Ticonderoga and captured all fifty soldiers in it. Other garrisons were captured at Quebec and Crown Point but the forts were soon recaptured by the British.

offensive The British offensive for capturing New York failed. The best defense is a good offense is an old saying that proved true in the Revolution.

fortifications The British felt that their fortifications at Stoney Point made it impossible to be captured. When the Americans attacked, some of the fortifications, such as the sharpened wooden stakes, were not very difficult to overcome at all.

treason Treason is a terrible crime because betraying one's country is unpardonable. Benedict Arnold's treason was the last serious threat to New York.
