The data-gathering instruments and accompanying materials included in this document were designed, pretested, and evaluated during Phase I of a project to determine the library resource requirements for elementary and secondary students in Philadelphia, and to analyze the contributing part school systems and the public library system might play in providing needed library resources. The instruments provided are (1) student questionnaire, (2) teacher questionnaire, (3) school library questionnaire, (4) Free (public) library questionnaire, and (5) school library use checklist. Instructions and evaluation forms accompany each questionnaire. Procedures are provided for administration of the school library use checklist and of a public library use checklist. The latter checklist was a major instrument designed for this project, but it is not included in the document. The instruments were to be used for a comprehensive field study, involving approximately 60 schools in the project's second phase. The activities of Phase I are reported in document ED 031610. (JH)

Project Title: Student Library Resource Requirements in Philadelphia

Date: March 1969
1. Statement of study objectives: The purposes of the project are (1) to determine actual requirements for library and related resources on the part of elementary and secondary students in Philadelphia, and to evaluate existing library resources in terms of needs and standards and, (2) on the basis of these data, to outline the respective roles of the several school systems and the public library system in providing needed resources, including joint planning, facilities and technological innovations. Specifically, the goals of the study are:

   a. To determine the kinds and extent of library resources required by students in pre-elementary, elementary, and secondary schools in Philadelphia, now and in the future.

   b. To determine the availability and adequacy of library resources now provided for students in Philadelphia.

   c. To determine what is required (1) to effect greater use of existing library resources by students and (2) to make those resources more accessible.

   d. To determine what additional library resources are needed to meet student requirements.

   e. To define the roles of the school and public libraries in providing resources for students, including joint and centralized services.

2. Title and purposes of data-gathering instruments.

   a. Elementary school student questionnaire.

   b. Secondary school student questionnaire.
      Information obtained through these two questionnaires will be analyzed to determine the extent of student motivation and knowledge in the use of library resources, the nature of student demand for various kinds of library resources, the pattern of student use of resources and the basic reasons therefore, and the major obstacles to more effective utilization of resources by students.

   c. School library use checklist.
      Information from this checklist will be analyzed to measure actual demand for school library resources during a stated period of time (one or two weeks duration) and to assess the success or failure of students to obtain resources in the school libraries.

   d. School library questionnaire.
      Information obtained from school library personnel will be analyzed to determine the relevance of school library programs to student educational programs and student needs, and to compare library resources and services with student requirements and library standards. (The latter information will be compiled through other instruments.)

   e. Public library questionnaire.
      Information will be analyzed to determine the nature and extent of student demand for public library resources the kinds of resources and services provided for student use, the presence or absence of cooperative arrangements by public libraries and school libraries for meeting student needs, and major problems related to student use of public library resources.

f. Public library patron use checklist.

Information will be analyzed to compare the size and nature of demand for public library resources by student and non-student groups.

3. Respondents (Pretest only)

a. Elementary student questionnaire.

(1) Will be administered to approximately 180 students.
(2) Grades 4 and 6 in public, Archdiocesan, and independent schools will be covered.
(3) Classes selected for pre-test will be representative of both average and low-achievement students.
(4) 30 to 40 minutes will be required to complete questionnaire.

b. Secondary student questionnaire.

(1) Will be administered to approximately 150 students.
(2) Grades 8, 10, and 12 in public schools, 10 and 12 in Archdiocesan schools, and 10 in independent school will be covered.
(3) Classes selected for pre-test will be representative of both average and low-achievement students.
(4) 30 to 40 minutes will be required to complete questionnaire.

c. School library questionnaire.

(1) Will be administered to library personnel in three elementary and three secondary school libraries.
(2) Approximately 45 minutes will be required to complete the questionnaire.

d. Public library questionnaire.

(1) Will be administered to head librarians in three public libraries.
(2) Approximately 35 to 45 minutes will be required to complete the questionnaire.

e. School library use checklist.

(1) Will be administered to all students using the libraries in one elementary and two secondary schools for a period of one day (peak-use days will be selected).
(2) Approximately two to three minutes will be required to complete the checklist-card.

f. Public library patron use checklist.

(1) Will be administered in a major public library (either the main library or a large branch library) to all patrons during a busy Saturday.
(2) Approximately two to three minutes will be required to complete the checklist-card.

4. Locale of the study - City of Philadelphia

5. Statistical analysis of data - none. The purpose of the pre-test is to determine how reliable the instruments are from the standpoint of providing the information requested, to check on the efficiency and effectiveness of the procedures involved in administering the instruments, and to correct any deficiencies in either. Data will be tabulated mechanically as a test of tabulation methods.

6. Estimated cost of designing data gathering instruments; printing; administration of pre-tests; follow-up and tabulation; and revisions of instruments - $10,000.

7. Confidentiality.

   The names of respondents will appear on student and library questionnaires (not on library use checklists.) Names will be used only for the purpose of follow-up to obtain complete information and to select small groups for subsequent interviewing.

   All information will be kept confidential during the study and will be available in summary form (without any identification of individual respondents) for reporting to the Study Committee and authorized school and library personnel. Names of respondents will not be preserved for any research or record-keeping activities.

Philadelphia Student Library Resource Requirements Project

PROJECT INFORMATION

1. What is the "Student Library Project"?

- The project has two purposes: One, to determine actual requirements for library and related resources on the part of elementary and secondary students in Philadelphia; and, two, on the basis of these data, to outline the respective roles of the several school systems and the public library in providing the needed resources, including joint and centralized facilities and new technological systems.

- The first year of the project, now nearing completion, is devoted to project planning, research design, and construction and pre-testing of information instruments (questionnaires, etc.). Pretests of the instruments will be conducted in seven public, four Archdiocesan, and one independent schools and in four Free Library branches during the weeks of May 18th and May 25th.

- The second year of the project, commencing June 15, 1969, will be devoted to compilation and analyses of data to be compiled through extensive field research, using the data instruments tested in May, 1969. The results of the analyses will be presented to the Inter-Agency Committee for consideration of joint planning and other actions for carrying out recommendations resulting from the study.

2. What is the scope of the project?

- The study will include pre-elementary, elementary and secondary students in the public, Archdiocesan, independent and private schools in Philadelphia. It will include library resources of all kinds - reading materials, audio-visual materials and equipment, personnel, facilities and services of the school libraries and the Free Library.

3. Who is sponsoring the study?

- The study is a cooperative undertaking by the Philadelphia public, Archdiocesan, private, and independent schools in the city, and by the Free Library. Representatives of the schools and the Free Library are members of the project's Inter-Agency Committee.

- A grant by the U. S. Office of Education to the Philadelphia School District will finance the study for the first and second years.

4. How is the project organized?

- A research center for the project has been set up in two offices (S-11 and S-12) of Park Towne Place, 2200 Benjamin Franklin Parkway. The center staff is under the direction of John Q. Benford, Senior Associate, Fels Institute of Local and State Government, University of Pennsylvania. Assisting him are Thomas E. Entenmann, Research Associate, Elizabeth A. Goldsmith, Research Assistant, and Anna Rogers, clerk-typist. The research staff has retained several specialist-consultants, including Dr. Lowell A. Martin, nationally-known authority in library service, and Dr. Martin Rosenzweig, Assistant Professor of Statistics of the Wharton School.
5. How will the schools and Free Library be involved in the project?

In two ways:

1. Information will be obtained from a sample of students, teachers, and librarians. The information will be compiled through the use of written questionnaires, interviews and observations in the classrooms and libraries.

2. The Inter-Agency Committee, composed of 29 representatives of public, Archdiocesan, independent and private schools and Free Library, will provide coordination and inter-agency cooperation for the project. Administrators, teachers, librarians, parents, and students are represented on the Committee.

6. What potential benefits from the project are there for the schools and the libraries?

   1. The total needs of all elementary and secondary school students in Philadelphia for library resources, now and in the future, will be determined on the basis of an intensive inquiry which will consider not only what educational authorities and standards call for, but also what teachers assign and students seek.

   2. With reliable information on requirements in hand and with a careful evaluation of existing resources, the provision of additional resources can be undertaken on the basis of rational planning.

   3. Methods will be devised for making existing library resources more easily available and more effectively utilized. New technological and scientific approaches to library management will be explored.

   4. The project is sponsored jointly by the Philadelphia public, parochial, and private school systems and the Free Library, through the Inter-Agency Committee. This cooperative effort will serve the students of the community more fully and will use the library dollar more effectively. Joint planning of new resources and of methods for making existing resources more easily available to all students will minimize costly duplication and overlapping of facilities, personnel, and services.

   5. The information compiled for the project will be helpful to administrators, teachers, librarians, and others in a variety of ways over and beyond the central purposes of the project.

   6. The project, by reason of its comprehensiveness, methodology, and joint agency participation, will be a prototype for use by other major school and library systems in the United States.

STUDENT LIBRARY PROJECT

INSTRUCTIONS FOR TEACHERS WHO WILL ADMINISTER STUDENT QUESTIONNAIRES

1. Check the materials which have been given to you against the delivery sheet (pink form) to make certain that you have all items listed. If any items are missing, please call the Research Center at LO 3-7223. Extra pencils have been included in case students need them during the period.

2. Because the proper coding of the pupil's name, grade, date of birth and sex is most critical for accurate scoring and reporting, arrangements should be made to prepare the answer sheets with the following information before administering the questionnaire.

   Use a No. 2 pencil which is provided.
   a. Print student's name in boxes provided (disregard middle initial).
   b. Grid name (blacken letter slot below each letter of name).
   c. Blacken Grade slot below number indicating grade.
   d. Blacken Birth Date (month, and the last 2 digits of the year of birth).
   e. Blacken sex - B-boy, G-girl.
   f. For high school students please indicate the type of course in which they are enrolled (commercial, vocational, academic, general).

   The answer sheets have been given to you in SERIAL ORDER. When registering the above information, be sure to register the students' names so that the SERIAL NUMBERING of the answer sheets follows the alphabetic arrangement of the names of the students in your class. That is to say, the lowest numbered answer sheet should be assigned to the student who is first when the names of the students are arranged alphabetically; the next lowest numbered sheet should be assigned to the student who is listed second in alphabetic order, etc. Prior to testing, the answer sheets may be rearranged in accord with the seating arrangement in your classroom.

3. Just prior to the time of administration arrange materials at the front of the room to allow for quick distribution of materials.

4. When your students are ready, begin:

   Today we are going to take part in a study of student library needs. You will be given a booklet which has questions about your use of libraries. Your answers to these questions may help us to get better library materials. Please answer all the questions. This is not a test. There are no right or wrong answers, and you will not be graded on your answers. Read each question carefully before answering it. When you receive your booklet, do not open it until I tell you to do so. Do not write in the booklet. All of your answers are to be made on the special answer sheet which I will give you.

5. Distribute questionnaires, answer sheets, and pencils. Make certain that each student has a questionnaire, an answer sheet and a pencil.

6. After the materials have been distributed, instruct the students to open their questionnaires to page 1.
Now open your booklets to page one and together we will read the instructions for using your answer sheet.

Read the instructions on page 1 and page 2 aloud.

7. When you have finished reading the instructions on pages 1 and 2, ask if there are any questions:

Are there any questions about how you are to use your answer sheets?

8. Instruct students to turn to page 3 of the questionnaire:

For grades 4 through 8 read the following instructions:

Now turn to page 3. There are 80 questions in your booklet. They are divided into 4 sections. Do not stop when you reach a new section. Answer each question beginning with question 1, except for questions 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, and 56. These have been crossed out on your answer sheet and on your questionnaire. When you reach these questions just skip over them and continue with the others. Now before we begin, are there any questions?

NOW, BEGIN

For grades 9 through 12 read the following instructions:

Now turn to page 3. There are 80 questions in your booklet. They are divided into 4 sections. Answer each question, beginning with question 1. Do not stop when you come to a new section, but answer each question in order. Do not skip any questions. Now, before we begin, are there any questions?

NOW, BEGIN.

9. Allow 35 minutes for your students to complete their answers. When the time is up, instruct them to stop, even though some may not be finished.

Now close your booklets and pass them to the front of the room.

Now pass your answer sheets to the front of the room.

Now pass your pencils to the front of the room.

10. When you have collected all of the questionnaires and answer sheets, please check carefully to make certain that you have an answer sheet from each student.

11. Make arrangements to check your materials before packing them to be sent to your school office. Use (pink) check sheet. Check answer sheet for any stray marks which will affect scoring.

Thank you for your help.
INSTRUCTIONS FOR RECORDING ACHIEVEMENT TEST SCORES

The individual achievement score for each student participating in the pre-test is to be recorded on the student’s answer sheet. In the lower part of the grided area of the sheet are three columns labeled "A.S.". This is the area reserved for the achievement test score of the student whose name appears in the boxes at the top of the grided section. The score to be recorded is the GRADE EQUIVALENT SCORE. For the recording of all scores use a soft lead pencil.

Enter the grade equivalent score in the boxes under "A.S.". A two-digit score should be entered in the 2nd and 3rd boxes. Enter a "0" in the 1st box for this type of score. A three-digit score will, of course, occupy the three boxes. Darken the corresponding numbered slots beneath the numbers you have entered.

   (2) The other graduate student will stop each student as he or she leaves the library. He should say:

   May I have your checklist? Please wait a moment until I examine it.

   He should then check quickly to make certain that each question has been answered. If one or more questions have not been answered, he should ask the student for the information and enter the answer in the appropriate slot. Then he should say to the student:

   Thank you.

   If a checklist has not been answered, ask the student to take a few moments to answer the questions. If he refuses, thank him and retrieve the checklist.

   Before depositing the checklist in the retrieval box, he should enter the time when the student returned the checklist.

   (3) The graduate students should answer all questions asked by students about the checklist. If they do not know the answer, they should refer the student to the supervisor. They should not engage in conversation with students or teachers or library personnel.

3. Administration of checklists (Individual assignments outlined in Attachment "A")

   (1) Hand a checklist and a pencil to each person entering the library. Say:
       "Please take a few moments before you leave today to read the instructions and answer the questions on this form." If anyone refuses to take a form or appears reluctant, do not press the issue. The counter should record each person entering, whether or not he or she accepts the checklist.
   (2) The time should be entered on the checklist before it is handed to the patron.
   (3) Children under 12, unaccompanied by an adult or older child should be given a checklist, with the admonition: "Do not write on this form, but please hand it in on your way out of the library." If the child is accompanied by an older person, each should be given a checklist, with the comment, "Please fill in the form for yourself and the child and turn in on your way out".
(4) Blind, or otherwise incapacitated persons should not be given a checklist.
(5) Answer all questions of patrons about the survey. Problems should be referred to the supervisor on duty. Do not engage in conversation with patrons.
(6) Retrieve all checklists from patrons leaving the library. If a patron does not have a checklist, say "Would you please take a few moments to answer the questions on this form?" If a patron is reluctant, or refuses to return a checklist, merely say "Thank you."
(7) As each checklist is retrieved, enter the time "out". Place the checklist face down in the retrieval box. As each box is filled, it should be closed and an empty box should replace it.
(8) Accept any pencil offered, but do not ask for the pencil.
(9) NOTE: Some patrons will not be familiar with the digitek form and may have difficulty using it. Be prepared to assist anyone who requests, or appears to be in need of help. If necessary, read the questions to him and fill in the slots for him.
