FOREWORD

The materials included in this bibliography are for display at the 1970 Annual ASCD Conference in San Francisco in the Curriculum Materials Exhibit (Brooks Hall, Civic Center). They offer a broad representation of current curriculum materials available throughout the nation. The Curriculum Bulletins and Instructional Materials Committee for the 1970 ASCD Annual Conference extends its thanks to all who submitted materials and is pleased with the quality of these items.

This year many materials represented a concern for inclusion of innovative programs, a search for methods and materials to meet the ever changing needs of the students in our schools and those who work with them. As you peruse the materials you will notice an emphasis on developing a personalized educational program through broader use of programmed materials, non-graded systems, identification of behavioral objectives, and other systems encouraging individualized learning.

The categories used in past years were again used as a basic guide. Subject area additions include: Minorities, Human Relations, Staff Development, and Humanities.

The materials are listed for the convenience of Conference participants, who will have to assess the material as to relevance and worth in their individual situation. Neither the Committee nor ASCD makes any endorsement regarding the value of listed materials.

REQUESTS FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONCERNING MATERIALS SHOULD BE DIRECTED TO THE ORGANIZATION WHICH PUBLISHED THE MATERIAL ITSELF AND NOT TO ASCD OR THIS COMMITTEE.

Respectfully submitted,

S. Joan Skinner, Chairman
