This annotated, cumulative bibliography, developed by the Proyecto Leer Program, of more than 600 selected works in Spanish focuses on works which meet the following criteria: (1) reading difficulty does not exceed 10th grade level, and (2) selections are suitable for a Spanish-American community. Books for children are listed separately from those selected for adult readers. Availability, price, and binding are noted. (RL)
WORDS FROM THE EDITOR

The current BULLETIN lists all of the more than six hundred titles selected for the Proyecto Leer Program since its inception in the Spring of 1968. Of the thousands of titles reviewed and evaluated, this selection has been made to meet the following criteria:

1. Reading difficulty not to exceed the tenth grade reading level.
2. Subjects appropriate to the needs of the Spanish-American community; i.e. aiding in their cultural identification as well as in their need to adapt to their environment.
3. Writing of a high calibre.

The list has been divided into two sections. First, a listing of those titles suitable for children or for those working with children; and second, titles popular with the young adult and adult reader. In cases of books which are suitable for use with all age levels, they have been included in the adult book section. As a personal note, may I say that on my recent visits to several parts of the country I spoke with noted figures in Spanish-speaking communities. I repeatedly saw how vital it is for libraries to realize that they are public service agencies that should be at the disposal of the entire community they serve, and that they should fill the needs of those parts of the community which have different sets of values or interests. Community involvement should be a library objective if the library is to plan and carry out suitable programs in community service.
