ABSTRACT

Recent publications (1966-1970) of Northern Illinois University's faculty in Outdoor Teacher Education are cited in this bibliography. The lists contain nearly all of the published writing of the younger faculty members. In the case of older faculty members, however, a large portion of their writing may have been published before 1966 and is not included. Many of the more than 150 titles listed are available at the Taft Campus Instructional Materials Center. Availability of lifetime publications lists of older faculty members is given. (JH)

FOREWORD

One way to become acquainted with university faculty members is through their writing. The kinds of materials they write and the places in which it is published provide clues about their interests, competencies, beliefs, and even their personalities.

The faculty in the Outdoor Teacher Education Department at Northern Illinois University's Lorado Taft Field Campus is considered to be highly productive in this regard. Perhaps this is as it should be, for outdoor education appears to be a field badly in need of materials of the type that this faculty can produce.

The recent (1966-1970) publications of Northern Illinois University's faculty in Outdoor Teacher Education are as listed on the following pages. These lists contain all or nearly all of the published writing of the younger faculty members, their writing having taken place mostly in this five year span of time. In the case of older faculty members, however, a larger portion of their writing may have been published before 1966 and was not included. Interested persons may obtain a bibliography of the lifetime publications of these faculty members by consulting Faculty Publications VII, DeKalb, Illinois: Bureau of University Research, Northern Illinois University, 1969, or by contacting the individual personally.

Many of the titles listed are available at the Taft Campus Instructional Materials Center. Any of those unavailable at this Center, may be obtained by writing directly to the author of the item for a loan copy.
