The purpose of this guide is to provide administrators and teachers who work in education programs for migrants with a tool which may be useful in guiding the development and appraisal of such programs. Objectives for migrant education programs and the criteria for program appraisal included in the guide have been developed through the efforts of teachers and migrant program directors who participated in the 1971 Indiana Workshop for Teachers of Migrant Children held at the Geneva Conference Center, Rochester, Indiana. The objectives and criteria for appraisal are not to be considered all inclusive but are suggestive as to areas of need in migrant education programs. Among the areas considered by the suggested approach to migrant education programs are health services, food services, parental and community involvement, and instruction.

Introduction and Purpose

The purpose of this guide is to provide administrators and teachers who work in education programs for migrants, a tool which may be useful in guiding the development and appraisal of such educational programs.

The objectives for migrant education programs and the criteria for the appraisal of these programs included in the guide have been developed through the efforts of teachers and migrant program directors who participated in the 1971 Indiana Workshop for Teachers of Migrant Children held at the Geneva Conference Center, Rochester, Indiana. At this stage of development, the objectives and criteria for appraisal included in the "Guide" are not to be considered all inclusive, but suggestive, as to areas of need in migrant education programs.

Those who use the "Guide" are encouraged to add to, modify or make suggestions for changing the items comprising the various sections as a basis for refinement and further development of the Guide to enhance its usefulness.

The editors, Sciara and Shively, along with Miss Kay Stickle, Assistant Professor of Elementary Education at Ball State University provided the direction and coordination for the efforts of the workshop participant to develop the content for the Guide.

The format, compilation of material and appraisal framework have been developed by the editors in cooperation with the State Planning Committee for Migrant Education Programs.

Organization of the Guide

The unique environment in which the migrant resides, brought about by continual movement, barriers of language, and isolated sub-standard living facilities, has developed a situation of cultural and social isolationism for migrant people.

Due to this situation a comprehensive approach to the migrant education program which includes health services, food services, parental and community involvement as well as instruction, is considered necessary if migrant children and parents are to benefit from educational programs.
The content of the guide is presented in two basic parts:

Part I  Objectives for Migrant Education Programs

Part II  Criteria for Appraising Migrant Educational Programs

In the development of the objectives for migrant educational programs and also the criteria for appraisal of programs, the intent was that both would have applicability to the following three major types of migrant education programs being conducted in Indiana.

1. A summer school program operated for migrant children only.

2. Regular school terms in which the migrant children are integrated as much as possible into the regular school pattern.

3. A combination of Number 1 and 2 in which the special summer program is coordinated with and runs into the regular school term.
PART I

Objectives For Indiana Migrant Education Programs

The objectives for Indiana Migrant Education Programs are presented on the basis of the following format:

Section I National goals for Migrant Education

Section II Objectives for Migrant Education Programs with applicability to all grade levels.

Section III Objectives of the Migrant Education Program for grade level groupings as follows:

a) pre-school through second grade
b) third through sixth grade
c) seventh through twelfth grade

The national goals for migrant education were used as the starting point for the objectives developed.

Section I National Goals for Migrant Education

Instructional Services

1. Provide the opportunity for each migrant child to improve communications skill necessary for varying situations.

2. Provide the migrant child with pre-school and kindergarten experiences geared to his psychological and physiological development that will prepare him to function successfully.

3. Provide specially designed programs in the academic disciplines (Language Arts, Math, Social Studies, and other academic endeavors) that will increase the migrant child's capabilities.

4. Provide specially designed activities which will increase the migrant child's social growth, positive self-concept, and group interaction skills.
5. Provide programs that will improve the academic skill, prevocational orientation, and vocational skill training for older migrant children.

6. Implement programs, utilizing every available Federal, State, and local resource through coordinated funding, in order to improve mutual understanding and appreciation of cultural differences among children.

Supportive Services

7. Develop in each program a component of intrastate and interests communications for exchange of student records, methods, concepts, and materials to assure that sequence and continuity will be an inherent part of the migrant child's total educational program.

8. Develop communications involving the school, the community and its agencies, and the target group to insure coordination of all available resources for the benefit of migrant children.

9. Provide for the migrant child's physical and mental well being by including dental, medical, nutritional, and psychological services.

10. Provide a program of home-school coordination which establishes relationships between the project staff and the clientele served in order to improve the effectiveness of migrant programs and the process of parental reinforcement of student effort.

11. Increase staff self-awareness of their personal biases and possible prejudices, and upgrade their skills for teaching migrant children by conducting in-service and pre-service workshops.

The objectives presented in Sections II and III are intended to be representative of major areas of concern and need which should be considered and met in the migrant education program.

Space has been provided following each major suggested objective so that teachers and directors of the various migrant programs in the state can list specific objectives and activities which may be appropriate to their individual program.
Section II  General Program Objectives

1. To provide an effective learning environment through the development of meaningful parent-teacher-child understandings and relationships.
   B.
   C.

2. Provide an education and service activity which meets the needs of migrant children's physical and mental well-being.
   A. Schedule the State Board of Health Dental Unit to screen and service the dental and optical needs of children.
   B. Attempt to secure financial support from a local service club to off-set the cost of dental services not covered by the State Board of Health Dental Unit.
   C. Secure the voluntary services of local physicians and nurses to give physicals, needed immunizations and make recommendations for needed medical treatment.
   D. Provide a Type A breakfast and lunch which:
      (1) considers their nutritional needs
      (2) introduces new types of food
      (3) considers the present diet preferences of the migrant
   E. Refer cases of psychological need to local mental health agencies as needed.

3. Provide for a satisfactory communication between the school personnel and parents.
   A. Making several visits to camps. This includes all staff.
   B. Bringing "Open House" to the camp at convenient time for parents rather than having it at school. Preferably Saturday or Sunday.
C. Informing parents of progress and accomplishments in school through visits to camp.

D. Having some part of picnic or dinner given to migrants with the aid of a community group or club.

E. Consulting parents about type of meals that their children would like to have and find out whether they are allergic to any of them.

4. To adequately record and relay vital and meaningful information with regard to a child's education, health and social well-being as he travels throughout the migrant stream.

A. Migrant record form should be recorded and transferred within 24 hours of his leaving the residence camp and school if this can be determined.

B. For the intrastate transfers, the sending school should keep more specific information about the child's levels and materials he has been using and forward them as soon as possible to the receiving school.

(1) Form to be established to list the materials and progression level of the child at the point of his departure.

(2) List the meaningful experiences the children have been involved with so as not to repeat such things as field trips and outside resource people.

(3) Leave a portion of the form to allow for teacher comments and pertinent information that could bring about better understanding of child's strengths and needs.
5. To increase human relations among the staff and migrant children as a means of upgrading their teaching and understanding proficiency.
   A. Provide in-service training to staff preceding migrant program.
   B. Call on workers experienced in working with migrant people to offer suggestions and opinions.
   C. Provide for small staff group discussions to share feelings, opinions, prejudices; etc., and discuss how to overcome negative feelings and prejudices.
   D. Make frequent visits to the camps to become acquainted with environment of migrant children.
