INTRODUCTION

An in-basket test is a situational test that simulates the paper work of an executive. The examinee is provided with a set of background materials describing his new "position" in a new organization and is instructed to perform his duties in the assumed job by dealing with the materials that have presumably collected in his "in-basket." Thus, the "items" in the test are letters, memos, telephone messages, etc. that he "receives" in the course of a day at his job. Instead of responding to multiple-choice options or writing essays about how he would handle these situations, he actually responds to them by writing letters, calling meetings, asking for information, or even choosing to ignore them. Thus, throughout the test he behaves as though he were actually on the job. At the end of the exercise, each participant leaves behind all his written responses to the items in his in-basket: all the letters and memoranda he has written, the notes on his calendar and reminders to himself, agenda he has prepared for meetings, and his plans for discussions, interviews, and telephone calls. This material constitutes the record of his performance in response to a standard set of administrative problems. In addition, on a Reasons for Action (RFA) form, he records briefly why he took whatever action he did on each item.

The first in-basket tests were developed for use in the evaluation of training at the Air University in the mid-1950's (Frederiksen, Saunders, & Wand, 1957). Subsequently, in-baskets have been widely used for management training, especially in industry (Lopez, 1966). The American Management Association uses in-baskets in its management training program, and in-baskets are offered for sale by the Bureau of Industrial Training of the University of Michigan. The University Council for Educational Administration undertook the distribution of the simulation materials that were used in a study of elementary school administrators (Hemphill, Griffiths, & Frederiksen, 1962) and has produced new and updated versions of in-baskets. for training of administrators at other educational levels. Hundreds of in-baskets have been produced and used for training of administrators in education, government, and business. But there has been relatively little effort to use in-baskets for training evaluation or for research.

The use of in-baskets or other realistic situational tests in social-psychological research and in investigations of the performance of managers has certain advantages over field investigations. The situational test makes it possible to control conditions in a way that is impossible in a real organization. All subjects can be presented with the same information about the organization, assigned the same superiors, peers, and subordinates, and given exactly the same problems to solve, all in the context of a simulated job that can be made very realistic indeed. It is also possible to vary experimentally certain aspects of the situation and to assign subjects randomly to experimental treatments. Thus it is feasible to carry out experiments in a simulated job that are as rigorous as many laboratory experiments.

The dependent variables for such an experiment can be obtained by scoring the protocols of subjects who responded to the in-basket items. Such scoring can vary from ratings of defined aspects of performance to painstaking tabulations of a wide variety of attributes of behavior.

The scoring methods that have been developed at ETS are based on the notion that each in-basket item provides an opportunity for the subject to exhibit particular varieties of behavior, such as courtesy or procrastination.
The score sheets (see pp. 55-59) provide a row for each in-basket item and a column for each kind of behavior. The scorer records a 1 or 0 in each cell to indicate the presence or absence of each variety of behavior. The score for each category is the number of times the behavior did occur.
Many problems are encountered in in-basket scoring, problems that can be solved only by careful definitions of the categories of behavior and the development of scoring rules that deal with contingencies that arise in the scoring of a large number of protocols. A scoring manual was developed to assist in the training and guidance of scorers of the school administration in-baskets (Hemphill et al., 1962). The manual was further revised and extended in scoring protocols for the study of organizational climates in the California "Department of Commerce" (Frederiksen, Jensen, & Beaton, in press). The scoring manual as revised is here presented in the hope that it will be useful to those who may wish to make use of situational tests such as the in-basket as a setting for social-psychological experiments and also in the hope that other investigators will find additional relevant behavior categories and improved methods for scoring the records of performance.

IN-BASKET SCORING PROCEDURE

Introduction: Before attempting to score an in-basket, a scorer should become thoroughly familiar with the in-basket items, the background information, the Reasons for Action (RFA) Form, and the Scoring Manual.

Description of Scoring Procedure: The scoring procedure for an in-basket includes the following steps:

1. Scoring the "Courses of Action" according to responses of the subject (S) to each of the items in the in-basket. These describe what the subject did. (The lists of Courses of Action begin on p. 60.)

2. Scoring the stylistic categories, describing the manner in which the S took action, or how he took action. This part is by far the most important and therefore the most extensive.

3. Rating the subject on several aspects of his performance.

General Directions for Scoring the Courses of Action and Categories of Style: The Scoring Manual is divided into two parts: (a) the listings of the Courses of Action item by item, and (b) the definitions and rules for the stylistic categories. Each part of the Manual is prefaced by specific directions applying to that part. Below are some general directions that apply to both parts.

1. In considering each item, the scorer will examine two things: (a) what the S has written in response to the item itself, and (b) what he has written on the RFA form. The focus of scoring is what has been written in response to the item itself. The RFA form is to be used only as a scoring aid to provide interpretative information about the S's response to the item. If the S's RFA form response should contain something that is clearly an extension of his response rather than an explanation of what he has done, do not consider the extension as the explanation. Similarly, if the response on the RFA form contains something that contradicts the S's response to the item, do not consider that part of the RFA response.

2. Score what the S actually says or does or plans, not what he should have said or done or might have said or done. That is, score only when presented with some specific evidence. In general, the scorer should allow himself only one step of inference: e.g., if the S says, "I'll call . . . ," the scorer can infer that the S will speak to that person, but not what he will say when he speaks.

3. Unless the S specifies otherwise, assume that the S himself means to do things. If, for example, the S should write "Call" and not specify further, assume that the S himself intends to call. The two exceptions are filing and typing, which are assumed to be done by his secretary unless otherwise specified.

4. Score with each item everything referring to that item, regardless of where found. Thus, if the S writes out agenda for himself, each point that relates to a particular item is to be scored along with that item. However, number of words on the RFA is not counted.

5. Unless the S states otherwise, assume that all notes, memos, etc. that he prepares will not leave his desk until after the conclusion of the test period.

6. Most items can pose more than a single problem for the S, and he may choose to take more than a single action in his response to an item. It is not always possible to identify definitely the various problems that the S sees in an item, but these can be inferred from the different courses of action he takes or plans to take in response to that item, or from the RFA form.
7. Some Courses of Action may be scored from the RFA, whether they are mentioned on the item itself or not. These concern for the most part implications of the action, or reasons for the action, such as "considers cost," "good community relations," or "will improve employee relations." Such scoring may be done only if appropriate Courses of Action are listed for the item. (Note paragraph 8 immediately following for circumstances under which stylistic categories may be scored from the RFA.)

8. If the S works on an item, but makes no corresponding response on the RFA form, score for the item response nevertheless. If, on the other hand, the S does not work on an item but writes on the RFA form something about his intentions, enter a zero in the "Number of Words" category and attempt to score only for the categories concerned with analysis (e.g., categories 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 56) by using the information provided on the RFA form.

9. In those cases where the S fabricates, or "makes up" things, essentially two problems grow out of the original one. The first relates to the S's response to the original item, the second to the situation the S has created by his fabrication. Score the entire nonfabricated part and only the number of words for the fabricated part.

10. Whenever the scorer feels that the S's plans or actions are so unclear as to be unscorable, score that response only as much as possible, or whenever the scorer feels that he is reasonably certain of the S's intentions. If, for example, the response contains a "please," score under "Courtesy to Subordinates." Score for that part, in short, of which the scorer is sure.

11. Do not score the S's interaction with his secretary if this interaction involves only simple instructions to type and/or file and/or to transmit letters or memos. Do score if the S goes beyond mere instructions to type and/or to transmit; e.g., score if the S specifies the number of copies to be typed, etc.

12. Whenever the S says that he will dictate a letter, the response is to be handled in exactly the same way as would a response in which the S says that he will write a letter.

13. Sometimes the S's response will involve a contingency. In such cases score all categories as though the contingency will be met.

14. Make notes of all questions you have and of all irregularities you find and bring these up with the scoring supervisor.
SUGGESTED STEPS FOR SCORING

1. PRELIMINARY PROCEDURE
   A. There are separate score sheets for odd- and for even-numbered items. Use the appropriate score sheets for the half you are scoring, and fill in the spaces at the bottom of each page that identify in-basket, the scorer, etc.
   B. Examine the contents of the in-basket. Look through all items to discover their relationships to each other. Look for the Reasons for Action Form, agenda, calendar, notes, etc., which might apply to more than one item and put them in front of you for ready reference.
   C. Do not rearrange items according to number, but work through them as assembled by the S.

2. ITEM SCORING PROCEDURE
   A. Read the item quickly if you cannot remember its contents.
   B. Read the S's response written on the item itself or on a sheet of paper attached to the item.
   C. Read anything else you have found on inspection that applies to the item being scored.
   D. Read the Reasons for Action Form for the item in question.
   E. Turn to the "Courses of Action" for the first "odd" or "even" item numbered in the pile, depending on which half you are scoring, and record the course(s) of action the S has taken by entering a "1" in the appropriate cell(s) on the score sheet.
   F. After scoring "Courses of Action," turn to page 2 of the score sheet and begin scoring by counting or estimating the number of words.
according to detailed instructions on Category 1, Estimated Number of Words. Look at the distribution intervals of number of words and enter the proper code number in the space provided.

G. Score the item for all appropriate categories for the response given. Enter a dash if there is no score for that category for that item.

H. Continue this procedure for all of the other items.

3. FINAL PROCEDURE

Make your ratings of the S's performance on the in-basket by encircling a number on each 10-point scale. 0 is the lowest point and 9 is the highest point on each scale.

HOW TO SCORE COURSES OF ACTION

USUAL COURSES OF ACTION

For each item in the in-basket, there is a list of those courses of action considered usual (see pp. 60-72). Score for any of the courses of action the S takes or plans to take by entering a "1" in the appropriate cell(s) on the score sheet.

Unless otherwise specified, the following rules apply:

Rule a: Score plans and contingent plans the same as actual actions.
Rule b: Score for a course of action regardless of whether the S actually takes the action or merely considers taking that action.
Rule c: For those courses of action in which the S refers or plans to refer a problem to another, score regardless of whether the S refers the problem directly or through his secretary.
Rule d: When the Courses of Action describe comments or evaluations, rather than actions, the RPA form may be used in scoring.

UNUSUAL COURSE OF ACTION

General Definition: Score here any course of action the S takes or plans to take that is not listed in "Usual Courses of Action."

Rule a: Unless otherwise specified, do not score here if the S takes or plans to take trivial actions, such as filing, delaying, omitting, discarding, studying later, needing more information, etc. Do score here if the S specifically indicates no action is necessary on an item on which most subjects take action.

Rule b: Do not score here embellishments or mere extensions of actions listed in "Usual Courses of Action."
Rule c: Do not score here if the unusual course of action results from an inappropriate perception of the item, an unwarranted assumption, or a fabrication.
CATEGORIES OF STYLE

Each of the Stylistic Categories describing the way in which the S took action is presented below. A general definition of what each category means, rules concerning its use, and examples are given.

Scoring for any category (except Estimated Number of Words, Number of Subordinates Involved, Number of Superiors Involved, Number of Peers Involved, Number of Outsiders Involved) is done by writing a "1" in the appropriate cell. Estimated Number of Words is scored by using the code number representing the distribution interval in which the actual or estimated total number of words falls.

Before scoring the categories, read the In-Basket Scoring Procedure on pages 6 through 11.

1. ESTIMATED NUMBER OF WORDS

General Definition: Estimate the total number of words written by the S in response to each item and enter a 0, 1, 2, 3, or 4 on the score sheet in accordance with the following principles:

0 - nothing written
1 - very short: 1-6 words written
2 - short: 7-25 words written
3 - medium: 26-75 words written
4 - long: more than 75 words written

The following rules are included as guides for estimating the number of words:

Rule a: Do not count here the number of words written on the RFA form.
Rule b: Count articles.
Rule c: Count each abbreviation as one word.

Rule d: Count each contraction and each possessive as a single word.

Rule e: Count each Arabic or Roman numeral sequence as a single word.

Rule f: In a hyphenated compound, count each word of the compound as a separate word only if it can stand alone.

Rule g: Handle dates in the following manner:

- month - 1 word
- day - 1 word
- year - 1 word

Rule h: Handle time in the following manner:

- 6:30 - 1 word
- 6:30 p.m. - 2 words

Rule i: Handle telephone numbers in the following manner:

- Area Code - 1 word
- Exchange - 1 word
- Remaining numbers - 1 word

Rule j: Count each check as one word.

Rule k: Count an asterisk, a dagger, or an arrow as one word.

Rule l: Count repetitions, if these should occur.

Rule m: Count each symbol as one word. (#, $, %, &, -- one word each)

Rule n: Count each set of ditto marks as one word (do not count if they are used as quotation marks).

Rule o: Do not count punctuation.

Rule p: Do not count words that the S has erased or crossed out.

Rule q: Do not count words written on paper that is obviously scrap paper to be thrown away.
Rule r: Count signatures--each word in a signature counts as one word.

Rule s: Count any single group of initials as one word.

Rule t: Count the filling in of headings on buck slips, memos, etc.

Rule u: It is not necessary for the words to be written on the item itself. Count words that belong to the item regardless of where they appear in the in-basket, except on the RFA form (e.g., on agenda, calendars, general notes, etc.).

Rule v: When two or more items are clipped together with a single response that applies equally to both, score the word count for the top item only, but score all other applicable categories for each item.

2. USES ABBREVIATIONS

General Definition: Score here if the S uses abbreviations in his written responses to other people.

Rule a: Do not score here if the only abbreviations in the item are dates or S's (in his assumed role) initials.

Rule b: Do not score here for standard abbreviations: Mr., Mrs., & cc., and re.

Rule c: Score here for any other abbreviation, even though common to the agency (e.g., CDC--Calif. Dept. of Commerce, RDA, BDA, etc.).

Rule d: Score here if S, in returning a memo to its original sender, uses an inversion symbol, ∩, or arrows reversing names on buck slip.

Rule e: Do not score here if S uses the first initial and last name for himself or others. Do score if he uses both initials for others.
3. NUMBER OF SUBORDINATES INVOLVED

General Definition: Enter here the number of subordinates involved by the S in his action or plans for action (maximum = 5). For the CDC In-Basket, this class includes the following:

Marjorie Sperry (Secretary)  Keith Giant  Jose Olivera
Herb Bay  Paul Hollywood  Dave Pasadena
Alden Bee  Mark Hopkins  Bob Rico
Chet Brinkley  Ray Loupe  Al Smith
Jay Capitola  Bill Manoogian  Jack Tarr
Ralph Chavez  Hy Market  Walt Union
Norman Dodger  Van Ness  James Vine
Dick Fairmont

Rule a: It does not matter how deeply or superficially the person is involved, but the S in his response must in some way explicitly recognize the involvement.

Rule b: Score here even if the person is involved only contingently, i.e., through a contingent decision.

Rule c: Where letters are involved, if the S signs his name to a letter, the person to whom the communication is going is scored here.

Rule d: If the S signs a letter prepared for his signature by anyone other than his secretary, score, along with the addressee, the author of the letter only if the S sends the letter back to the author of the letter.

Rule e: Do not score here if the S mentions persons who would be involved if a plan that he recommends to another, but that he has not originated, is finally approved by the other (i.e., the plan is not his and is not yet decided upon).

Rule f: Do not score here if the S merely asks his secretary to type, to transmit a letter or a memo, to file, to hold, or to make a notation on his calendar. However, score here if the S asks or plans to ask his secretary to remind him of something or to bring material to his attention at a later date or asks her to do any other chores.
Rule g: Score here even if the S merely suggests involvement to another.

Rule h: If the S involves or plans to involve a group of subordinates without specifying the individuals (e.g., "Meet with staff"), score as 3 subordinates.

Rule i: If the S involves one subordinate specifically, such as having him write a letter or discussing with him alone, and also plans to discuss the problem at a Staff Meeting (or Regional Managers meeting) score 1 for subordinate plus 3 for Regional Managers group, even though the subordinate is one of the three Regional Managers.

Rule j: Do not score here if the S involves the subordinate of a peer.

Note: If the S plans to bring up a problem at the Administrative Staff Meeting, score for involvement of subordinates, peers, and superiors.

4. NUMBER OF PEERS INVOLVED

General Definition: Score here if the S involves one or more peers in his action or plans for action.

Art Dodd's peers are the following:

<tbody>
<tr>

<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Rule a: It does not matter how deeply or superficially the person is involved, but the S, in his response, must in some way explicitly recognize the involvement.

Rule b: Score here even if the person is involved only contingently, i.e., through a contingent decision (a decision depending upon other possible events or upon outcomes of partial action on the problem).
Rule c: Where letters are involved, if the S signs his name to a letter, the peer to whom the communication is going is scored here.

Rule d: If the S signs a letter prepared for his signature by anyone other than his secretary, score, along with the addressee, the author of the letter only if the S sends the letter back to the author of the letter.

Rule e: Do not score here if the S mentions persons who would be involved if a plan that he recommends to another, but that he has not originated, is finally approved by the other (i.e., the plan is not his and is not yet decided upon).

Rule f: Do not score here if the S merely mentions someone without involving him. Involvement implies that the person involved will know about the S's course of action as a consequence of the action itself or of the planned action.

Note: If the S plans to bring up a problem at the Administrative Staff Meeting, score for involvement of subordinates, peers, and superiors.

5. NUMBER OF SUPERIORS INVOLVED

General Definition: Score here if the S involves one or more superiors. Art Dodd's superiors are the following: Governor of California, George Apex, John Veep.

Rule a: It does not matter how deeply or superficially the person is involved, but the S, in his response, must in some way explicitly recognize the involvement.

Rule b: Score here even if the person is involved only contingently, i.e., through a contingent decision (a decision depending upon other possible events or upon outcomes of partial action on the problem).

Rule c: Where letters are involved, if the S signs his name to a letter, the superior to whom the communication is going is scored here.
Rule d: If the S signs a letter prepared for his signature by anyone other than his secretary, score, along with the addressee, the author of the letter only if the S sends the letter back to the author of the letter.

Rule e: Do not score here if the S mentions persons who would be involved if a plan that he recommends to another, but that he has not originated, is finally approved by the other (i.e., the plan is not his and is not yet decided upon).

Rule f: Do not score here if the S merely mentions someone without involving him. Involvement implies that the person involved will know about the S's course of action as a consequence of the action itself or of the planned action.

Note: If the S plans to bring a problem up at the Administrative Staff Meeting, score for involvement of subordinates, peers, and superiors.

6. NUMBER OF OUTSIDERS INVOLVED

General Definition: Score here if the S involves one or more outsiders.

Rule a: It does not matter how deeply or superficially the person is involved, but the S, in his response, must in some way explicitly recognize the involvement.

Rule b: Score here even if the person is involved only contingently, i.e., through a contingent decision (a decision depending upon other possible events or upon outcomes of partial action on the problem).

Rule c: Where letters are involved, if the S signs his name to a letter, the outsider to whom the communication is going is scored here.

Rule d: If the S signs a letter prepared for his signature by anyone other than his secretary, score, along with the addressee, the author of the letter only if the S sends the letter back to the author of the letter.
Rule e: Do not score here if the S mentions persons who would be involved if a plan that he recommends to another, but that he has not originated, is finally approved by the other (i.e., the plan is not his and is not yet decided upon).

Rule f: Do not score here if the S merely mentions someone without involving him. Involvement implies that the person involved will know about the S's course of action as a consequence of the action itself or of the planned action.

Note: Score here if the S involves Port Authority (P.A.) people.

Note: Score here if the S has Capitola fill out form for man at bonding company or if the S suggests that Chavez contact Rabb.

7. CONCEPTUAL ANALYSIS

General Definition: This category refers to the S's recognition of implications of the problem and/or action and/or solution. Score here if the S makes it clear in his response that he has seen more than the immediate implications of the problem(s) presented by the item. Use the RFA form for clues.

Rule a: Score here any response that indicates the S's recognition that an action, fact, problem, plan, etc. will involve more than seems apparent.

Rule b: Score here any response that indicates that the S generalizes from a specific situation and sees how this specific situation can have an effect on other things.

Rule c: Score here any response that indicates that the S sees the problem in relation to the total situation (e.g., a problem that concerns the Department of Commerce could concern the entire state).

Rule d: Score here any response that indicates that the S is branching out in his conception of the consequences of the particular item (e.g., effect of action in his Division on other Divisions).
Rule e: Score here any response that indicates that the S has seen the interrelationship of the problems raised by two or more different items. Do not include here the mere clipping together of items because they involve the same person or action. Do not score here if S relates items on only a trivial level.

Rule f: Do not score here for mere discussion.

Rule g: Do not score here if the S merely asks for more information or states the need for more information.

Rule h: Do not score here if the S merely notes priority or urgency.

Rule i: Do not score here if the S merely states a need for guidance or help.

Rule j: Do not score here if the S merely states another's abilities or qualities for handling a particular item or for providing information.

Rule k: Do not score here if the S merely repeats an analysis made by someone else in an item.

Rule l: Do not score here merely because a response is scored in "Uses Program Values or Physical Values in Analysis," "Aware of Human Values; Feelings of Others; or Employee Relations;" or "Evaluation and Development of Staff."

8. USES PROGRAM VALUES OR PHYSICAL VALUES IN ANALYSIS

General Definition: Score here if the S shows concern for community support, public relations, instructional program, educational opportunity, etc. Score here if the S shows concern for such physical things as buildings, property, and equipment. Score here if the S recognizes the cost implications of the problem and/or action and/or solution. Use the "why" column of the RFA form for clues.

Rule a: To be scored here the S's response must go beyond a mere restatement of the problem; it must provide reasons for the S's action.
Rule b: If the S orients a program value toward a particular individual, score here and in "Aware of Human Values", as well.

9. AWARE OF HUMAN VALUES, FEELINGS OF OTHERS, OR EMPLOYEE RELATIONS

General Definition: Score here if the S
1) shows concern for the welfare of others, specifically indicates that he is using human values in his analysis or actions, or places the good of the individual above other considerations.
2) considers the effect of an action on the feelings of others. Typical responses scored here would be those that stated that the S did not want to hurt the feelings of someone or that he wanted to make someone feel better.
3) recognizes the employee relations or morale implications of a problem. The S may consider employee relations or morale in commenting on good work, in the manner in which information is presented to employees, in dealing with groups of employees, or as an aspect of his job.

Rule a: To be scored here the S's response must go beyond a mere restatement of the problem; it must provide reasons for the S's action.

Rule b: Do not score here evidences of consideration, such as "thank you" or "please."

Rule c: Do not score here if the morale aspect of a problem has been pointed out by others or if the major problem posed by the item is one of morale unless the S goes far beyond what has been pointed out to him.

10. SHOWS AWARENESS OF SUPERIORS

General Definition: Score here if the S shows in his response a desire to please a superior or a general concern for acting in accord with the wishes of a superior. He may mention a desire to conform to a superior's standards, interests, or method of action. Typical responses would be "Director's interest," "sort of thing Veep likes," "Governor has a strong interest in this," "plan established by Director must be followed," etc. This response will probably come mainly from the "Why" column of the RFA, although it can also occur in an explanation of action given by the S to another person.

Some examples (from RFA form or from item responses) of responses that would be scored here:

Do not score here if the S merely indicates he needs to study, look over again, etc. before arriving at a decision. These are scored in "Delays, Postpones, or Temporizes."

Rule b: The mere fact that the S is going to discuss a problem with someone is not sufficient for scoring here. He must specifically indicate the need for more information or ask specific questions.

Rule g: Do not score here if the S gives misinformation.

Rule h: If the information given is accompanied by such a statement as "I think," "I feel," "I believe," etc., score here only if this statement is used rhetorically. Do not score here if the information given merely reflects the S's attitudes, views, beliefs, or other subjective feelings, whether or not the S actually uses such a phrase as "I believe," etc.

Rule i: Do not score here if the information or opinion can be verified only by the S himself.

Rule j: Do not score here if the information given is trivial or is merely mentioned subordinately, in passing, or as a courtesy.

General Definition: Score here any response in which the S clearly gives or plans to give reasons for his actions or instructions to a subordinate, where such are not specifically requested or required. The S, by using such a phrase as "because," "since," "in order to," etc., must explicitly inform the person who receives the communication why he is effecting the action.

Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely states the obvious.

32. EXPLAINS ACTIONS TO PEERS

General Definition: Score here any response in which the S gives or plans to give a peer reasons for his actions or instructions, where

Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely states the obvious.

33. EXPLAINS ACTIONS TO SUPERIORS

General Definition: Score here any response in which the S gives or plans to give a superior reasons for his actions or instructions, where such are not specifically requested or required. The S, by using such a phrase as "because," "since," "in order to," etc., must explicitly inform the person who receives the communication why he is effecting the action.

Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely states the obvious.

34. COMMUNICATES BY WRITING

General Definition: Score here all communications written or planned to be written to others by the S, including memos, letters, telegrams, and notes. Include posting memos, transmitting material written by others, signing letters written by others, distributing memos, etc.

Rule a: This category refers only to the means used, or planned to be used, by the S himself. Do not score here for means of communication that he directs others to use.

Rule b: Do not score here if the S merely says he will think about the problem, try to do it, etc. To be scored here a response must explicitly state the means to be used.

Rule c: Score here if the S initials or signs a standard form.

Rule d: Do not score here notes, memos, calendars, etc. written to the S by himself.

Rule e: Do not score here the written contents of an actual telephone call.
35. COMMUNICATES FACE-TO-FACE

General Definition: Score here actual or planned face-to-face communication by the S. Include meetings, individual discussion, etc.

Rule a: This category refers only to the means used, or planned to be used, by the S himself. Do not score here for means of communication that he directs others to use.

Rule b: Do not score here if the S merely says he will think about the problem, try to do it, etc. To be scored here a response must explicitly state the means to be used.

Rule c: Invitations extended by the S to others to visit the office are scored here if they are definite in the sense that it can be inferred that the S actually plans that such a meeting take place. Do not score such perfunctory invitations as "Hope to see you sometime"; "Drop in when you're around"; "Why don't we have a long talk when you're free"; etc.

Rule d: If the S writes that he will confer and doesn't specify how he will confer, assume that the conference will be face-to-face and score here.

Rule e: Do not score here merely because the S joins an organization.

Rule f: Do not score here if the S notes on a calendar meetings to which he has been committed by others unless he specifically indicates that he will be actively participating in the meeting.

Do not, for example, score here for
1) Indefinite plan to attend meetings (sometime) of the State-wide Conference (B-11).
2) Agreeing to go to Training Workshop (B-24).
3) Noting Administrative Staff Meetings on calendar (unless the S plans to bring up a problem (B-12)).
36. DELAYS OR POSTPONES DECISION, OR TEMPORIZES

General Definition: Score here if the S clearly delays or postpones decision on the item. Score also any response communicated to another that indicates that the S, after having considered the item, is unwilling to commit himself to a decision or to a leading action at the present time. For example, in response to a request of some sort, the S neither complies fully nor refuses to comply, but merely stalls for time by stating that he will think about it, study it, get further information, etc., but takes no steps to get the further information.

Rule a: Do not score here if the S has taken any action that can be scored in "Arrives at a Procedure for Deciding" or "Concluding Decision."

Rule b: If the S merely postpones, score here, but do not score in "Plans Only" or any of the work scheduling categories. If he postpones until a specific time, score here and in the appropriate category of work scheduling, but not in "Plans Only."

Rule c: Do not score here if the S merely clips together all items that he did not have time for and marks, "Hold for return," "Do on return," etc.

Rule d: Do not score here if the S has written nothing on the item and remarks on the RFA form that he is postponing.

37. ARRIVES AT A PROCEDURE FOR DECIDING

General Definition: This category refers to the S's setting up the procedures that will be used in reaching a decision about how the problem posed by the item is to be solved.

Rule a: For a response to be scored here, it must indicate that the S will involve himself in making further decisions.

Rule b: Score here all responses involving planned discussions (meetings).

Rule c: Score here if the S asks for information needed to make a decision.
Rule d: Do not score here any response that can be scored as a "Concluding decision" or "terminal action."

Rule e: Do not score here if the S postpones or delays a response, even though he indicates a definite date for taking action.

Rule f: A score here indicates that the S is taking leading action or is making plans to take action ("Takes Leading Action" or "Plans Only").

38. CONCLUDING DECISION

General Definition: Score here if the S makes a concluding decision. Concluding decisions are decisions that are made as the end disposition of the problem. The S has made up his mind in responses under this subtype. He makes no provision for further checking or revision of his decision on any part of the problem or problems posed by the items.

Rule a: The scorer should not assume that the S has plans for additional study of an item unless he so indicates.

Rule b: Whether a concluding decision is carried into action is of no significance in determining this score.

Rule c: Requests for feedbacks on outcome do not constitute a basis for not regarding the decision as "concluding."

Rule d: An implication of the possibility that the S may later go back and elaborate upon or alter his decision does not constitute a basis for not regarding the decision as "concluding."

Rule e: Score here if the S calls back or plans to call back, in response to a message that he has been called, only if he has gone as far as he can with the information available to him.

Rule f: If the S makes a contingent decision (that is, an if-then decision), score here.
39. MAKES TENTATIVE OR DEFINITE PLANS ONLY

General Definition: Score here any responses that indicate that the S has made tentative or definite plans for future action, no part of which he has yet acted upon. Score here only if the S has taken no action on any part of the item.

Rule a: The S's writing out agenda, making a note to himself, etc. is to be scored here if it constitutes a plan.

Rule b: Do not score here if the S has taken any action on an item, regardless of how trivial. That is, do not score here any response that is scored in "Leading Action."

Rule c: Do not score here any response that has been scored in "Delays, postpones, or temporizes."

40. TAKES LEADING ACTION

General Definition: Score here if the S takes action (other than planning) that is short of terminal action. Score here if the S acts in such a way that his action will not be his final action but may lead to other actions that would be final.

Rule a: Include here calling a meeting to discuss a problem, writing a memo asking for information needed to solve a problem, having a subordinate start work that the S will complete later, etc.

Rule b: If a meeting is already scheduled before the S begins the test, his planning to discuss a problem at this meeting is not a leading action, but should instead be scored as a "plan"; to be scored here, a response must indicate that the S himself has in some way initiated the action.

Rule c: If the S sets up a meeting in response to an item, then other items that he decides to discuss at this meeting are also scored here.

Rule d: If the S plans to set up a meeting, even if he writes it on his calendar, but takes no action toward setting up the meeting, score in "Plans Only" and not here. Score here if the S indicates in some way that he plans to check a letter or report after it is typed, rather than to sign it merely or to give routine approval.

41. TAKES TERMINAL ACTION

General Definition: Score here if the S takes action that assures him that no problem posed by the item will require his attention again.

Rule a: It may be that future events will raise other related problems, but their specific nature is not known by the S at the time he acts. Therefore, score here.

Rule b: Score here if the S calls back in response to a message that he has been called only if the S has gone as far as he can with the information available to him.

Rule c: Include here signing a report; delegating a decision or a task fully to a subordinate; referring the problem to another for solution.

Rule d: Score here if the S's action is terminal from the point of view of the S even though it is not terminal from the point of view of the scorer.

Rule e: A response may be scored here even though follow-up or feedback is implied if no further action on the part of the S is indicated. For example, if the S in referring a problem to a subordinate merely asks to be informed when the task is done, it would be scored here and in "Sets Up Checks on Others."

Rule f: The fact that the S will have to sign a letter that he has written and is having typed (if the letter itself implies terminal action) does not constitute a basic for not scoring here.

Note: Even though the S may be planning to attend the statewide conference or the Training Workshop, action in relation to these items may be terminal.
42. SCHEDULES WORK FOR A SPECIFIC DAY

General Definition: Score here any response in which the S specifies the day on which he will do something.

Rule a: Do not score here for an activity that will be scored in Schedules Work for Within a Specific Week. If, however, the S plans to take more than one action on an item, each action should be scored separately.

Rule b: Score here only for those activities that the S has been unable to complete during the test period. Do not score here actions completed during the test period.

Rule c: Score here only those actions or activities that the S himself plans or initiates. Do not score here for commitments that others have made for him or work that he schedules for others.

Rule d: Score here if the S specifies that he will do something "now" or "immediately."

Rule e: Do not score here if the S plans work for one of two or more alternative days. Such a response would be scored in Schedules Work for Within a Specific Week.

43. SCHEDULES WORK FOR WITHIN A SPECIFIC WEEK

General Definition: Score here any response in which the S specifies in what week he will do something. (Examples: "I'll write to him next week." "I'll do it as soon as I get back." "I'll discuss this next Thursday or Friday." "I'll handle this during the latter part of the week.")

Rule a: Do not score here for an activity that has been scored in Schedules Work for a Specific Day. If, however, the S plans to take more than one action on an item, each action should be scored separately.
Rule b: Score here only those actions or activities that the S himself plans or initiates. Do not score here for commitments that others have made for him.

Rule c: Score here if the S plans work for one of two or more alternative days.

Rule d: Score here if the S says he will do something by a certain day (as opposed to on a certain day).

Rule e: Score here if the S notes that he will attend to something while he is on QAPS.

Rule f: Score here if the S says he will do something "as soon as I return." Score here for "when I return," "on my return," "for my return," or "until my return" only if the S seems to mean it specifically. Do not score here for "after my return."

Rule g: Do not score here if the S says he will do something later.

INDICATES TIME PRIORITIES

General Definition: Score here if the S indicates time priorities in his handling of items, when these items are independent of each other. These priorities can apply to the S himself ("This is important--I'll do it first") or they can apply to his directions to others ("Take care of this problem before you do the others").

Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely indicates the date that something is to be done.

Rule b: Do not score here if the S indicates that one activity is logically contingent on another.

Rule c: Score here if the S indicates that an item is less important than others. ("This can wait;" "Not urgent--handle later.")

General Definition: Score here if the S complies or plans to comply with instructions, suggestions, or requests explicitly addressed to him by a subordinate.

Rule a: If the S is asked to call someone and does so, score here. If the S is instructed to offer suggestions and does so, score here, etc.

Rule b: Instructions, suggestions, requests, etc. must be explicit and not merely implicit.

Rule c: Score here if the S follows any instructions accompanying the specific item, even if these instructions merely restate formal regulations.

Rule d: Score here if leading action is planned or taken toward compliance.

Rule e: Score here if the S calls back upon receiving notice that someone has called him.

Rule f: Do not score here the mere act of answering a communication.

Rule g: In those cases where the S is given more than one lead by a subordinate, score here even if the S follows only one lead.

Rule h: Do not score here if the S revises a letter prepared for his signature, even though he also signs the letter.

Note: Whom the lead comes from is listed for each item in the "Courses of Action" section of this manual.
FOLLOWS LEAD BY PEERS

General Definition: Score here if the S complies or plans to comply with instructions, suggestions, or requests explicitly addressed to him by a peer.

FOLLOWS LEAD BY SUPERIORS

General Definition: Score here if the S complies or plans to comply with instructions, suggestions, or requests explicitly addressed to him by a superior.

Rule a: If the S is asked to call someone and does so, score here. If the S is instructed to offer suggestions and does so, score here, etc.
Rule b: Instructions, suggestions, requests, etc. must be explicit and not merely implicit.

Rule c: Score here if the S follows any instructions accompanying the specific item, even if these instructions merely restate formal regulations.

Rule d: Score here if leading action is planned or taken toward compliance.

Rule e: Score here if the S calls back upon receiving notice that someone has called him.

Rule f: Do not score here the mere act of answering a communication.

Rule g: In those cases where the S is given more than one lead by a superior, score here even if the S follows only one lead.

Rule h: Do not score here if the S revises a letter prepared for his signature, even though he also signs the letter.

Note: Whom the lead comes from is listed for each item in the "Courses of Action" section of this manual.

50. FOLLOWS A PREESTABLISHED STRUCTURE

General Definition: Score here any response that indicates that the S decides to follow a formal regulation or a written rule. To be scored here, the response must indicate that the S has recognized the policy and has decided, without being instructed to do so, to use it.

Score here also if the S uses or plans to use one or more of the following routines:

1. Distributing, posting, or announcing information to the entire staff.
2. Signing or initialing standard forms prepared for the S's signature.
3. Announcing (not discussing) the content of an item at a staff meeting--no further action planned.
4. Requesting already available clerical assistance for such things as filing, distributing, mimeographing, etc.

5. Accepting the opinion of someone else who may be presumed to have reviewed the problem.

6. Filing in its proper place such things as an officer's folder, etc. Also, taking something out of a file (by himself or by his secretary).

7. Referring a problem to already existing committees or individuals (whose function it is to deal with such problems) for study, action, or recommendations.

8. Making a note or reminder on a calendar, etc. or asking his secretary to do so.

9. Having his secretary place a call.

10. Returning calls.

Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely signs a letter prepared for his signature.

Rule b: Score here if the S refers a problem back to the person who sent it to him, provided it is clearly that person's duty.

Rule c: Score here if the S specifically thinks that he is following a preestablished structure, even if, in the opinion of the scorer, he is not.

Note: If the S appoints Capitola Acting Manager during his absence, score here.

51. INITIATES A NEW STRUCTURE

General Definition: Score here any response that indicates that the S is not merely using a routine, complying with instructions, or following a formal regulation, but rather that he is developing (or considering developing) or using a new procedure that he devises to fit the specific problem (e.g., setting up an ad hoc committee).

Rule a: Score here if the S combines routines in a new way in his solution of the problem.
Rule b: Score here if the S specifically changes, broadens, or narrows a subordinate's duties.

Rule c: Score here if the S has 2 subordinates coordinate or a subordinate discuss directly with someone that the S himself might be expected to deal with (Bay working out problem with Sellers, etc.).

Rule d: Score here whenever the S gives a task to a subordinate that he himself normally would do.

Rule e: Score here if the suggestions the S gives to a superior would initiate a new structure, even if he has been asked to give suggestions to the superior.

Rule f: Score here if the S specifically suggests new goals or new areas of work (that do not merely comply with another's suggestions).

Rule g: Do not score here if the S merely asks for information or gives information, nor if he merely commends.

52. ENCOURAGES OR NOTES NEED FOR QUICKNESS OR PROMPTNESS

General Definition: Score here if the S encourages or notes the need for quick decision or action, communicates the need for promptness, or in some way specifically opposes delay.

Rule a: Do not score a response here if it has been scored in "Indicates Time Priorities," unless the response also contains other mention of the need for speed; i.e., unless the response communicates something other than mere time priorities.

53. SETS A DEADLINE

General Definition: Score here any response in which the S specifically plans to set or actually sets a deadline for work to be done, meetings to be held, or things to be accomplished by others. This deadline must be definite, but can be stated in general terms (day, week, month).
Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely sets a date (for a meeting, etc.). To be scored here, the response must contain mention that the work to be done, thing to be accomplished, etc. must be done by a particular time.

54. SETS UP CHECKS ON OTHERS

General Definition: Score here if the S explicitly checks or plans to check on the work he assigns to subordinates.

Examples of this would be:

- Asking to see copies of letters or memos he has someone write.
- Asking for reports of progress.
- Asking for results of actions he assigns.
- Asking to be told whether an action has been completed.

55. SETS UP CHECKS ON HIMSELF

General Definition: Score here if the S explicitly sets up a check on himself on a task. He may do this by having his secretary or some other subordinate remind him of something or check up on something he has done.

Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely notes something on his calendar or if he merely asks his secretary to note something on his calendar.

Rule b: Score here if the S has his secretary return an item to him for him to work on at a specified time. ("Recall to me in a week.")

Rule c: Score here (for each item mentioned) if the S writes a separate page of notes to himself about things to check on.

Rule d: Do not score here the setting up of a meeting agenda.
56. CONCERN WITH PROPER CHANNELS

General Definition: Score here if the S shows an awareness of and/or a concern for the following of proper channels and/or a desire to follow proper channels (e.g., "This is not supposed to come to me," "Have the proper channels been followed?" "Mr. X should have gone to Jay with this problem," "Don't want to go behind his back," "Don't want to reply [to subordinate] over Herb.").

Rule a: Do not score here if the S merely delegates a job to a subordinate and says he is doing it because the problem should be handled by that subordinate.

Rule b: If a response is scored here, do not double-score it in "Awareness of Poor Work."

Rule c: Score here if the S sends information or a problem through his immediate superior (through Veep to Apex: e.g., "I think Mr. Apex should be informed about this.") or if he approaches the subordinate of a peer through the peer. (The immediate superior or peer is not to be involved in the problem or action.)

Rule d: Score here if the S refers a problem from a second-line subordinate back to that subordinate's supervisor or tells him to check with supervisor, even if the S does not mention channels as a reason for this action.

57. RESPONDS WITH SPECIFICITY

General Definition: Score here if the S responds to an item with specificity and detail rather than only generally. To be scored here, a response must contain a series of details that the S himself has done or plans to do or that the S is instructing others to do or that the S is suggesting others do. ("Discuss this matter with Veep tomorrow" or "Tell Jay to write declining letter to X" would not be scored here. "Discuss with Veep and point out X,Y,Z" or "Have Jay tell X the following: A,B,C," would be scored here.) Score here if the S comments on a specific detail: e.g., suggesting a date or time change.
Rule a: Do not score here if the details merely involve the S's own time schedule.

Rule b: Score here if the S gives specific instructions to a subordinate on how to handle a problem or asks for specific information on a problem ("Find out who interviewed Mr. X, where the reports of the interview are, and why they rejected him for a job.").

Rule c: Score here if the S makes specific comments on a point or points brought up in a memo.

Rule d: Score here if the S gives specific alternatives that may be used in the handling of a problem.

Rule e: The mere numbering of statements by the S in writing a memo is not sufficient reason for scoring here. The contents of the memo must be specific.

Item Not Attempted

General Definition: Score here for any item on which the S has made no response of any kind and, as far as can be determined, did not even study. This includes items that have not been completed for lack of time, items left blank on the RFA (on which no response of any kind is apparent), and items missing from the completed in-basket.

Rule a: Any items missing from the completed in-basket should be scored here and noted by number on the front page of the score sheet.

Rule b: Do not score here if the S says on RFA, "not pressing," "do later," etc. There will be no scores on the item in this case. ("Delays" is not scored unless noted on the item itself.) If items are all the last ones of the in-basket and the RFA is either blank or contains the words "no time," it may be assumed that these items were not attempted and a score is thus entered here. If such items are scattered throughout the in-basket, judgment must be made as to whether or not the S read them.
NONITEM RESPONSES

At the bottom of the score sheet, one row should be reserved for scoring all responses that are not related to any in-basket item or group of items. This does not include anything written only on the RFA form. All calendar entries are scored here.

All such nonitem responses are to be lumped together as one item and scored in all stylistic categories that apply to it.

Following are some general explanations of the courses of action that may be scored:

Sets up staff meeting: Score here if the S writes a separate (from any item) note setting up a meeting with his staff or if he notes subjects (that do not relate to any item) to be discussed at a staff meeting. Do not score here if the only references to a staff meeting are notes to discuss with staff on items themselves.

Sets up meetings with individual staff members: Score here if the S writes a separate (from any item) note setting up individual meetings with staff members or if he notes subjects (that do not relate to any item) to be discussed with individuals (general operation of their departments, etc.). Do not score here if the S sets up meetings with individual subordinates only to discuss specific items of an in-basket.

Fabrication: Score here if the S makes up the results of his action or of other things (e.g., a 2-way conversation: "I called Herb and he said his wife was better...he thanked me for the flowers we sent.").

General instructions to secretary on handling of in-basket: Score here any instructions the S gives to his secretary on how to handle the in-basket he has left for her (e.g., telling her to go through and type all memos, refer to proper places, or work on rush items first).

Calendar entries: Score here the number of entries the S makes on his calendar. Count only words as entries; do not count X, V, or lines. If, for example, the S merely draws a line through 7 days on his calendar (to indicate a 7-day meeting, etc.), score this as only one entry; if, however, he writes 7 separate entries of the same thing, score as 7.
