RELATED SUBJECT

Sections e, f, d (in that order) provide a mechanism for increasing the black percentage of central office staff and school principals.
We Believe That:

1. Every child, youth and adult is an individual of worth and dignity and is entitled to as thorough an education as his developing ability permits, regardless of background, characteristics or conditions of life.

2. The LEA should create a climate which will encourage every individual to take advantage of educational opportunities.

3. That each community's educational needs should be identified and met.

4. We have the responsibility to identify out-of-school problems which interfere with maximum growth and development of students and to see that these problems are directed to the appropriate agencies.

5. We should maintain close liaison cooperation with other agencies in order to resolve day-to-day conflicts and problems.

6. We should maintain close liaison with other public agencies to provide coordination and planning for meeting the educational needs of children, youth and adults in our developing county.

7. Within legal, moral and ethical constraints, self-direction is preferable to imposed direction.

8. A large percentage of learning takes place outside the formal school setting.

9. We have the responsibility to work with the home, students, agencies and other groups to establish educ. goals and to develop and improve educ'l programs.

10. Children, youth and adults become more knowledgeable and achieve understanding by associating with people from different ethnic, racial, philosophical, social and economic backgrounds.

11. It is the responsibility of the home, the school, the church, and other community organizations to provide opportunities for the development of moral and spiritual values among children and youth.
12. Grouping practices should reflect our belief in the dignity and worth of each individual and the school's responsibility for meeting the needs of all children — intellectually, physically, socially, and emotionally.

13. Teachers should be encouraged to express their individual creativity in instructing children and youth so that each learner experiences maximum education and personal growth.

14. The school has a responsibility to enhance positive interpersonal relationships.

15. We believe that the PGCES will be managed on a management-by-objectives basis.

16. There must be an ongoing evaluative process for the effectiveness and efficiency of the educational system.

17. Every child, youth and adult has a right to receive instruction from qualified teachers.

18. We must recognize and practice a commitment to equal promotional opportunities for all employees without regard to race, sex, religion or ethnic factors.

19. All personnel should be rewarded on the basis of performance.

20. A means should be developed for the continued education of a student who is not academically qualified or inclined.

21. There should be open and honest communication.

22. To be effective the curriculum must be developed cooperatively by all persons involved in its fulfillment.

23. The classroom teacher is the key figure in the educational process of youth in both elementary and secondary schools.

24. No single standard of achievement can be applied to every child since achievement is evidence of growth and the pattern of growth for the individual is unique.

25. The public school must face controversial issues frankly.
26. We should apply resources with flexibility in order to meet the educational needs of local communities and schools.

27. There should be maximum community use of school facilities.

28. The cost of public education is the responsibility of all citizens.

29. The SEA is responsible for establishing and enforcing minimum educational standards throughout the State.

30. The Superintendent is responsible for ensuring that each organizational unit establishes objectives.

31. The schools are responsible for providing public education in accordance with the provisions established by the Board of Education.

32. Administrative decisions should be made at the lowest level where the necessary information can be made available.

33. Adequate staff development for all personnel is essential for the attainment of educational objectives.

34. Public education should accept the responsibility for developing ideals conducive to promoting an effective democratic form of government.

Additional Regular Teaching Positions Included In FY 1972

$160.3 Million Budget

Elementary Teachers  FY 1971 there are 2,810 classroom teachers. This computes to 29.8 students per classroom based on 83,821 student enrollment - grades 1 - 6.

Based on 86,000 students to keep the pupil-teacher ratio at 30, an additional 57 teachers are needed.

There are 86 additional positions in the $160.3 budget. Thus, 29 teachers can be out and not affect class size - this will result in a decrease of = $220,400

To increase class size to 31, the total number of teachers would be 2,774, or, 93 teachers less = $706,800

If class size is increased to 32, an additional 86 teachers can be cut, or = $653,800.

Secondary Teachers  In FY 1971, there are 2,984 regular secondary teachers and 64,306 students; this computes to a ratio of 21.55.

To maintain the 21.55 class size, and based on 68,000 students, 3,156 teachers will be needed in FY 1972, or an increase of 172 teachers. The budget now includes 174 teachers, thus, 2 teachers can be cut and the class size will not be increased, this reducing = $15,200; if the class size is increased by 1, an additional reduction of 140 teachers can be made or a reduction of = $1,064,000.

If class size is increased to 23.55, an additional reduction of 128 teachers or = $972,800.

Standards of Performance
In the County Executive's discussion of the Board of Education's FY 1972 $160.3 M budget, he stated that the county would support a budget of only $146.4 million with the present tax structure or $151.4 million if additional revenue was approved by the legislators. The FY 1971 budget totals $137.9 plus $2.5 million in special federal funds for a total of $140.4 million.

The press release outlined a number of areas that might have to be curtailed or even eliminated if the budget was reduced to $146.4 or $151.4.

Costs for these areas are as follows:

1. There is no "line and staff" relationship between supervisors and principals. They must work together as a team.

2. The principal as the educational leader of the local school is responsible for implementing the curriculum. He has the opportunity and responsibility to modify this curriculum within the designated framework and guidelines in order to meet the needs of his staff and pupils.

3. The supervisors, general and special, act as consultants, innovators, and catalysts in implementing the educational program. Each supervisor has another charge. If he feels that the educational program is not meeting the needs of the students or is not consistent with the county policy, he has a responsibility to meet with the local administrator and staff and straighten out the problem. If the differences cannot be resolved, the conflict should be referred to the Coordinating Director of Instruction and if necessary, eventually to the Assistant Superintendent of Instruction and Pupil Services.

4. If the school team composed of central staff and school personnel conclude that the local school's curriculum should be modified, three approaches are available (see Superintendent's memo #40-71):

   a. program modification
   b. pilot programs
   c. research projects

1. Will continue to grow
2. Minority proportions will continue to increase
3. Due to financial constraints, sewerage limitations and a new area limitations on development, the time and place of growth is less predictable than in the past.
4. Growth rate will decline for some time to come with a probable upswing when current wave of marriages produces offspring.
5. Racial residential patterns will be altered.

II. Population Mobility -
1. Population in the Washington Metropolitan area will continue to be subject to transient peaks and valleys due to Federal (including military) activity.
2. People (usually of lower socio-economic status and minority groups) with larger families will continue to move into the relatively low-cost housing on the periphery of the District of Columbia as families from that housing move upward economically and farther out from the city, and middle-income residents will move to the other areas beyond the Beltway.
3. Rural areas will shrink in size as suburbia pushes out from the city.

III. Social -
1. Schools will more and more become the focal point of and be involved in community problems relating to non-discrimination, housing, employment, ecology, use of leisure time, health, welfare and other human problems.
2. Citizens, staff and students will demand an increasing voice in educational decision-making.
3. A social revolution involving race, police relations, and all areas of human relations will take place in the county.

IV. Public Attitudes -
1. There is and will continue to be an increasing lack of public confidence in the educational system unless something is done to reverse the trend.
2. The public expects to be informed and will demand measurable accountability of all facets of the school system including classroom results.
3. The public will expect better preparation of children and youth for higher education, vocation and avocation.
4. There will be an increasing number of pressure groups to further special interests, to block change, or to fight cost increases.

5. The continuing desegregation of schools will be a controversial issue in the community.

6. There will be great public demand for more and quicker responsiveness to local problems.

V. Federal Influence -

1. More of the Federal financial contribution will be allotted to States for distribution to LEA's. There will be increased surveillance by Federal and State agencies relative to planning, execution, accounting and accountability.

2. The national economy will keep pace with the population growth.

3. There will be increasing pressure from the Federal government for desegregation and efficient resource use, both within the County and within the D.C. Metropolitan area.

VI. State Influence -

1. The State will assume a greater share of the cost of education with increasing surveillance relative to planning, execution, accounting, and accountability.

2. The State will continue to assure greater and more direct responsibility for policy and operational decisions now the prerogative of the local Board of Education.

3. The economy of the State will remain healthy and keep pace with population growth.

3. Technology, techniques and equipment for education will develop faster than they can be assimilated even in new facilities. Money for capital investment will not keep pace. The ability to update older schools will be at an even slower rate. The time, expense and use of these technologies and devices will proliferate.

4. There will be increased demand for the utilization of personnel in positions which have been traditionally reserved for personnel trained as teachers.

5. The educational process will become interwoven with social problems and interpersonal relationships.

6. The public schools will be expected to provide educational services outside of the normal school setting to reach individuals and communities both within and outside of normal school hours.

X. Personnel

1. Professional and non-professional employees will become better organized and more demanding. State wide negotiations can be expected. Competing negotiating units can be expected to be recognized. Separate bargaining units can be expected for administrative and supervisory personnel.

2. Professional staff can be expected to press for: more and more pay and less and less peripheral duties; provision of para-professional assistance; year-round employment and benefits; remuneration for all expenses of maintaining professional competence or retraining.

A Plan for Planning

I. Situation Analysis

A. We do not have a planning system.

B. Formal plans are nearly non-existent.

C. We are committed to a management by objectives system.

II. A. Problems

1. We are in the first year of a reorganization (unbudgeted) using an interim organization chart. Several evolutionary adjustments have taken place.

2. Written policies are inadequate, obsolete or non-existent.

3. Executive and middle management personnel are not trained for a management by objectives operation.

4. The budget continues to lag behind need for key people at management level.

5. Press of current problems diverts management attention from long range planning.

B. Opportunities

1. A thin cadre of planning talent is now available.

2. The administration is ready and willing to change to improve. It is committed to a management by objectives system.

3. The Board of Education is interested in improved effectiveness and efficiency.

4. We have employed a consultant to make a classification study, a wage survey and a management survey.

5. Up-to-date position descriptions have been prepared by incumbents and are under overall study.

6. Our Executive Committee supported by representative school principals and Board members is engaged in a Management Training Process financed from Federal funds.
A Plan for Planning (Cont'd)

7. State Department of Education is undergoing the same training process. We can expect the State staff to be doing the same kind of planning and give us the long range guidance we will need for our planning.

III. Objectives

A. A planning system will be in operation throughout Prince George's County Public Schools.

1. By July 1, 1971 a plan for a planning will be adopted and commence to operate.

2. By September 1, 1971 subordinate plans for planning will be developed by each division or separate office (Assistant Superintendent level).

3. By March 31, 1972 a plan for 25% of existing programs will have been developed and submitted for review by Assistant Superintendents. By June 30, 1972 these program plans will have been approved for operation.

4. By June 30, 1972 a plan will exist for 75% of existing programs and submitted for review by Assistant Superintendents. By September 30, 1972 these programs will have been approved for operation.

5. By December 31, 1972 a plan will exist for each existing program and have been reviewed and approved for operation.

6. Any new operational program submitted for approval after July 1, 1971 will include a plan for its execution as one of the integral elements of the program.

7. Beginning in 1972 each plan will be reviewed during the months of July and August for current adequacy and effectiveness and will be updated as needed.

IV. Action Program

1. The planning process shall be decentralized. The head of each operating entity shall prepare written plans for each unit and program under his jurisdiction.
2. Management and Development Office shall have responsibility to:
   a. See that planning schedules are met.
   b. Advise and assist any element of the system in the development of unit or program planning.
   c. Review all plans for the Superintendent and provide constructive criticism and advice.
   d. Prepare a priorities compilation and detailed schedule for first plans submission for approval of the Superintendent in conference with the Executive Committee.

3. Each Assistant Superintendent shall have the responsibility for development of written plans, consistent with policy, for each unit and program under his direction.

V. Review and Control

1. The preparer of a plan shall submit his plan to his supervisor for review, discussion and ultimate approval.

2. Supervisor recipient of a plan shall review and approve for execution or submit to the next higher office if appropriate.

3. Director of Management and Development shall review the proposed plan for compatibility with the rest of the system and provide constructive criticism on any facet of this plan.

4. Director of Management and Development shall insure that time schedules for plans preparation and updating are met. He shall inform the appropriate Assistant Superintendent and the Superintendent in each case when schedules are not met.

5. Director of Management and Development, in the normal course of his management analysis and audit process, shall immediately inform the proper person when plans deficiencies or operating deviations from approved plans are found.
EDUCATIONAL PLANNING PROCESS

FOR

EXECUTIVE STAFF, STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA

PROPERTY OF

American Management Association
Our district is in the initial stages of developing a plan by which our educational program can move into the future in a logical, rational manner.

Many people have a strong commitment to the educational purposes of the district and many others are profoundly affected by district goals, policies and procedures. Consequently, we believe that these people should be involved in the development of the plan.

WHY PLAN?

Any organization which foresees a future for itself has at least two options. First, it can choose to react to changes which occur around it and within it and hope to deal successfully with each new crisis. Or, it can determine its mission, its reason for existing, and plan to make those changes, modifications and adjustments necessary to accomplish its stated mission.

THE PLANNING PROCESS

Last year, a group of nine principals and three central administrators became involved with the American Management Association which has an established process for organizational planning. Three things resulted.

First, the administrators became thoroughly familiar with the planning process by using it. Secondly, the first stages of an educational plan as the administrators saw it was developed. Thirdly, a strong commitment was made by these administrators to involve others who are directly affected by an educational plan in the plan's development.

Attached to this Fact Sheet is a listing of the component parts of the AMA planning process with a definition for each of the terms. The terms are listed in sequential order although the sequence may be subject to change depending on planning needs. All aspects of the planning and the organizational operation are aimed at enabling the organization to fulfill its mission. The development of a district mission to which most people can commit themselves is, therefore, of primary importance.

A PLAN FOR INVOLVEMENT

Procedures have been developed to a degree to involve various segments of our school and community population. The superintendent will be working through the planning process with the following groups:

1. The Board of Education
2. The Administrative Executive Council
3. The Curriculum Directors and Coordinators
4. The NSEA Building Representatives and officers of the NSEA
5. The Superintendent's Student Advisory Council consisting of six high school and four middle school students
6. The Unity Council of the North Syracuse Parent-Teacher Organizations
7. A group yet to be formed, of representatives of the various service clubs, business men's associations, Pastors Association and other interested citizens
8. A second group of union and trades people
9. Assistant Principals
10. Non-instructional personnel

Each of these groups, in turn, may report to and receive inputs from, the various groups and individuals whom they represent.

Periodically, it is expected that representatives from each of the above groups will meet in a common planning council to share with each other the thoughts and ideas which have been developed in their planning groups.

The ultimate goal is to develop an educational plan for the children of our district to which most people can make a commitment because they shared in its development: a plan which will continuously improve the educational experiences and environment of all the children and adults of the North Syracuse Central School District.
MISSION

The broadest, most comprehensive statement that can be made about central or continuing purpose. The chief function or responsibility of an organization which justifies continuing support of the organization by society and which provides initial direction for the management or administration of the organization. The purpose of the mission statement is to provide a focus for the resources of the organization.

CREED

Statements of principles or philosophy essentially regarding matters of "belief." The purpose of a creed statement is to make explicit those convictions which are deeply felt by those persons who officially or unofficially determine the acceptability of behavior for the organization and its representatives. Principles expressed in the "creed" establish a foundation for the development of appropriate objectives, strategies and operating policies.

INTERNAL ANALYSIS

A catalog of factors which collectively describe the nature of the institution, its capability and limitations; this analysis is to be restricted to those factors which are within the control of the institution and which play a significant role in determining the most appropriate course of action for the institution. Topics to be considered, among others, will include: Basic Policies, Resources, Organization

EXTERNAL ANALYSIS

23. Adult education
24. Increased leisure
25. Early childhood education
26. College entrance requirements
27. Other social agencies
28. Integration
29. Pollution
Assumptions

1. School financial support will increase on an average of 8% per year over the next 5 years with little change in flexibility in use of funds.

2. Private schools will increase in population by 20% each year for the next three years. The state SEA will need to exercise more "control" over private schools. There will be great pressure for the use of public funds for private schools.

3. The state will move from an agricultural to a more industrial society, creating greater demands for vocational and technical education and a more relevant program for all students.

4. Migration from inner city and rural areas to the suburbs. This will tend to cluster poor people, predominantly black, in the inner city. Affluent people will be clustered in other districts, and this will increase social tensions and create family problems.

5. Public school population will decrease on an average of 1% per year for each of the next 5 years. The greatest part of the decrease will be felt on the elementary level.

6. Personnel militancy will increase. This will require better leadership. Professional negotiations will become a reality in the next 5 years. Professional and nonprofessional unions will become a reality in the next 5 years.

7. Educational technology will increase. Possibilities unlimited! Change the role of the teacher drastically, change the design of facilities. Make textbooks and materials and techniques obsolete.

8. Scientific knowledge will increase. Again, unlimited possibilities. This will require us to change.

9. Gap between "have" and "have nots" as relating to educational opportunity to students, will decrease.

10. Political reaction will increase because of the growing two-party system, and the increase of involvement among lay-citizenry in political affairs will place demands on public schools for increased performance.
Assumptions, Con't.

11. Educational Accountability
   a. Demand for a total program of accountability will increase.
   b. Performance standards will be developed by January, 1973.
   c. Expertise will develop rapidly.
   d. Many appropriations will be based on results of account.

12. Federal support for education
   a. 1975 - Fed. Gov't. will be carrying 25% of load.
   b. Categorical aid will continue in the main.
   c. More funds will be coming to the state agency in the form of "block" grants.
   e. Power of Federal Gov't will increase.

13. Youth Activism
   a. Will "level off" and show more responsibility.
   b. Adult leadership will find better ways to utilize youth activism.
   c. "18-year-olds" will be voting.

14. Women's Lib
   a. Role of female in "decision-making" will increase.
   b. Equalization of pay.
   c. More women in leadership roles.

15. War
   a. Less money in military complex.
   b. More money in social service and environmental problem.

16. National Economy
   a. Will not improve in the next 3 years.
   b. Dollar will continue to buy less.
   c. Distribution of wealth will broaden.

17. Pressure Groups
   a. "Right" wing groups will grow in influence.
   b. Black militancy is subsiding or going underground.
   c. Learn to deal more adequately with pressure groups.
Assumptions, Con't.

18. Educational Research
   a. National Inst. for Educational Research will come into being.
   b. "Educational Lag" between educational research and utilization will be reduced.

19. Foundation Activity
   a. Will continue their influence on educational and social change.
   b. Number of new foundations will not grow significantly.
   c. Will move more and more toward nonconventional institutions.

20. Industrial interest in educational enterprise will increase significantly.

21. By 1975 the share of available funds being used for education from North Carolina state resources will decrease. The % of funds from FEA will increase by 20% by 1975. Local support will remain constant. The total resources per child will increase by 25%.

22. The support for social services will increase at all levels of government resulting in an increase in support of 50% by 1975. Schools will have an increasing role in S.S.

23. The need for adult education will increase by 25% by 1975.

24. Increased leisure time of adult population will increase by 20% by 1975. Schools must increase services to meet this.

25. Day care services will be provided to those who desire it by 1975, resulting in a more structured environmental background for pupils and a smaller % of funds available for K - 12.

26. CEB use will decrease with earlier identification via effectual, cognitive and psycho-motor skills.

27. Greater influence on psycho-motor and claims on education $ by other agencies will increase.

28. By 1975 the physical compliance aspects of racial integration will have been solved. We will continue to have black and white schools due to concentration of population, and social segregation will continue voluntarily.

   Education concerning pollution will be required, laws will be stringent and standards will be enforced.

Sampling Alternatives

At least three possible sampling alternatives exist for the portion of the evaluation system that deals with direct pupil measurement. The major differences in the three alternatives are the number of pupils tested and the degree of specificity of the results. In all of the three possibilities, data for pupil guidance will be provided for those students tested.

1. The least expensive procedure will produce results that will be useful to statewide interests only. It will not produce data that will be directly applicable to a LEA. A sample of approximately 10% of the student body will be needed. A 3x3 analysis will be used, which will produce data comparing pupil achievement, pupil ability, race, economic background, rural, and school size or any other combination of six variables.

2. To provide data that will be of use to the LEA leadership a significantly larger sample will be needed. If a 3x3 analysis is used which will use six variables a sample of approximately 50% will be needed. If more variables are desired a sample of more than 50% will be required.

3. To provide comprehensive analysis of all data collected a universal sample, or every pupil, will be required. This alternative will provide data that will be useful for pupil guidance for every child as well as program information on every school.

Recommendation For State Assessment Program
North Carolina

Purpose

It is purposed that a broad range, comprehensive, pupil and program evaluation system be established for North Carolina. The system will be designed for the following purposes.

1. Provide information so that the general public will increase its understanding of the attainments, needs, and the problems of the school.
2. Provide information so that the State legislature will be better able to enact legislation appropriate to the educational needs of the State.
3. Provide information to the State Department of Public Instruction in order to facilitate the identification of needs and priorities for purposes of planning and directing the improvement in the State.
4. Provide information to local school units in order to assist them in their efforts to identify needs and priorities as they plan and administer local school programs.
5. Provide information to pupils in order to assist them in making wise plans and decisions.
6. Provide information to the State Department and local units in order to assist both in meeting State and Federal accountability requirements. For example, Title I, Emergency School Act, Migrant Program, etc.
7. Provide information to the State and local units in order to assist both in evaluating special experimental programs. For example, the effect of merger or integration on achievement, the effect of class size on achievement, the effect of classroom climate on achievement.
Tasks to be done to insure that efforts are concentrated most efficiently in contributing to the continuing objectives.
