The elective course of study about the lives of selected Americans who shaped events is intended for grades seven through nine and arranged to fit the quinmester administrative organization of schools. Aims for students are to study key individuals in the context of their time to understand how they affect culture and history; identify with interesting Americans who enriched and contributed to American culture; and to recognize that values change with changing conditions and the passing of time. It is hoped that by using biography as a means the student will better understand history. Nine activity units outlined are: the definition and uses of Biography; Americans with Unpopular Causes; Americans who Achieved Success in spite of Prejudice and Discrimination; Social Reformers; Americans Related to Industry and Labor; Creative and Talented Americans; Americans Related to Science, Medicine, and Technology; Americans in Politics and Government; and, Americans Concerned with Cities. A resource materials section lists textual and audio-visual materials, and, supplemental pupil and teacher resources. Related documents are: SO 002 706 through SO 002 718, and SO 002 768 through SO 002 792. (Author/SJM)

for the

Division of Instruction
Dade County Public Schools
Miami, Florida
1971
INTRODUCTION

This course of study was written as part of a total effort to revise curriculum to fit the quinmester administrative organization of schools. The materials and information in this guide are meant to be neither all-inclusive nor prescriptive; but rather, an aide to teachers as they plan instructional programs, taking into account student needs and characteristics, available resources, and other factors.

The major intent of this publication is to provide a broad framework of goals and objectives, content, teaching strategies, class activities, and materials all related to a described course of study. Teachers may then accept the model framework in total or draw ideas from it to incorporate into their lessons.

The guide is divided into 1) a broad goals section, 2) a content outline, 3) objectives and learning activities, and 4) materials. The first section provides descriptive and goal-oriented information for the teacher; "indicators of success" refers to suggested prerequisite or corequisite experiences. The content outline illustrates, in general terms, the scope and major subdivisions of the course. The objectives and learning activities section, hopefully, provides a total picture of the concept or main idea and specific behavioral objectives for a set of given learning activities. The materials section of the guide lists resources in four categories: essential textual or other material; alternate classroom materials to use in place of or in addition to the aforementioned; supplementary teacher resources; and supplementary student resources. The appendix may include other material appropriate for a specific course: e.g., pretests, readings, vocabulary, etc.

Anyone having recommendations relating to this publication is urged to write them down and send to: Social Studies Office, Room 306, Lindsey Hopkins, A-1.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: A STUDY OF SELECTED AMERICANS AND THEIR TIMES. AIMS INCLUDE THE UNDERSTANDING OF THE FRAME OF REFERENCE OF AN INDIVIDUAL IN THE CONTEXT OF HIS TIME, AND HOW INDIVIDUALS CAN AFFECT HISTORY AND CULTURE.

COURSE LEVEL: 7-9
COURSE STATUS: Elective
INDICATORS OF SUCCESS: None

COURSE RATIONALE: A STUDY OF THE LIVES OF KEY INDIVIDUALS IN OUR SOCIETY CAN LEAD TO GREATER UNDERSTANDING AND APPRECIATION OF OUR HISTORY AND CULTURE.

YOUNG PEOPLE CAN MORE READILY IDENTIFY WITH INTERESTING HUMAN BEINGS THAN WITH ABSTRACT IDEAS OR DISTANT HAPPENINGS.

BY THE USE OF BIOGRAPHY, THE STUDY OF THE LIVES OF COURAGEOUS AND COLORFUL AMERICANS, THE STUDENT WILL LEARN ABOUT THE VALUES HELD BY THESE AMERICANS AND RECOGNIZE THAT VALUES SOMETIMES DRAMATICALLY CHANGE WITH THE PASSING OF TIME.
COURSE GOALS:

1. The student will cite reasons for the use of biography as a means of understanding American history and culture.

2. Based on research, the student will compare and contrast Americans, past and present, who are known for the unpopular causes they defend.

3. The student will research the life and times of some Americans who achieved "success" in spite of prejudice and discrimination.

4. Based on their readings, the student will analyze the conditions of the society which necessitated some Americans to engage in courageous efforts toward social reforms, and make a judgment as to the effectiveness of the reformer.

5. The student will research some Americans who contributed to the growth of industry and labor and assess the problems encountered because of this growth.

6. The student will identify some Americans who have enriched our culture because of their creativity and talents and will examine their lives and times.

7. The student will identify great Americans who have added to our knowledge of science, medicine, and technology and will examine their lives and times.

8. The student will identify some Americans, past and present, who have contributed to the development of American free institutions under law and examine their lives and times.

9. The student will identify Americans who have contributed to the development and planning of cities and examine their lives and times.

A study of the lives of key individuals in our society can lead to greater understanding of history and culture. Biography can be objective or subjective.

FOCUS

A. The student will cite reasons for the use of Biography as a means of understanding history and the culture.

OBJECTIVE

1. The student should define:

   - Biography
   - subjective
   - objective
   - author
   - autobiography
   - fiction
   - culture
   - social scientists
   - non-fiction

   Questions: What is the difference between biography and autobiography? What happens to truth when you write about yourself? How objective is biography? What happens to truth when a writer does a biography of an individual he admires? What happens to the truth when a writer does a biography of an individual he dislikes?

2. Discuss statements and beliefs of Rousseau, Carlyle and Bruce Joyce.
   a. Rousseau, who prescribed for EMILE, a study of the lives of men as a means to the understanding of man.
   b. Thomas Carlyle proposed "great man" theory (all of history can be understood through a study of the lives of great men who shape events).
   c. Bruce Joyce, social scientist, said that biography enables the student to study key individuals and their lives intensively.

   Questions: Does biography lead to a more analytical approach to history?

3. The student will cite reasons for his agreement or disagreement to the following statements:

   "There is properly no history, only biography"
   ---Ralph Waldo Emerson---

</table>
| In every age there are men and women of courage and vision who fight for unpopular causes. | A. The student will identify "reformers" in their proper frame of reference. | 1. The student should know the following words:
- Pacifist
- Socialism
- conscientious objector
- radical consumer
  civil disobedience
  social security
  2. The student will construct a time-line and place the following Americans in their proper time:
  - Thomas Paine
  - John Peter Zenger
  - Margaret Sanger
  - J. William Fulbright
  - Robert Oppenheimer
  - Joan Baez
  - Joseph Palmer
  - Kate Millet
  - A. J. Muste
  - Henry David Thoreau
  - W. E. B. DuBois
  - Norman Thomas
  - Horace Greeley
  - Jerry Rubin
  - Eugene Debs
  - Dr. Daniel Ellsberg
  - Billy Mitchell
  (Student or teacher could add to the list)
  3. The student will discuss these people in their proper frame of reference. What do they advocate? Why? Are there any similarities in their causes? In their personalities? In the methods used? Why were (are) the conditions in the society that produced (produce) such men and women with such causes? Are the unpopular causes of yesterday accepted readily today?
  (The above activity will require quite a bit of library research.) |
To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven...

---Old Testament---

B. The student will identify "unpopular" causes of yesterday which are accepted today.

---

4. Referring to the book: The Unpopular Ones, and using biographical sketches on Horace Greeley, the teacher should read the following excerpt and discuss the comparison between the ideas of Greeley and those of some men today:

In an angry editorial called "What Means This War," Greeley declared: "It means that the Commandments are to be read and obeyed by our people thus: Thou shalt kill Mexicans. Thou shalt steal from them, hate them, burn their houses, ravage their fields, and fire red-hot cannon balls into towns swarming with their wives and children."

5. The teacher will ask:

a. Who in America today speaks with such emotion and fervor against the present war in Vietnam?
b. Why was Horace Greeley so against the war with Mexico?
c. Why are some of the anti-war spokesmen of today against the Vietnam War? What are the reasons they give?
d. Are the reasons basically the same?

1. Again referring to the book: The Unpopular Ones, the teacher will list some of the ideas advocated by Mr. Greeley such as:

a. expose fraudulent patent medicines
b. right of men to jobs
c. unemployment insurance
d. medicare
e. social security
f. profit-sharing
g. government anti-smoking measures

---
FOCUS

Individuals fight for rights and reform at great personal sacrifice.

OBJECTIVE

C. The student will make generalizations as to why unpopular ideas of today might be accepted tomorrow.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

h. women's suffrage
i. child labor laws
j. minimum wage laws

Ask: Which of the above have been accepted and are now a part of America's way of life? What are some of the radical, unpopular ideas of some in our society today that might be readily accepted at a later date in our history?

1. The student may make some generalizations as to why unpopular ideas of today might be readily accepted as "good" ideas at another period in history.

   Discuss:

   a. Is there any truth in the statement that people must be ready for an idea?
   b. "To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven..." ---Old Testament---

2. Throughout history, some Americans who had unpopular ideas were rejected, shamed, ridiculed and even jailed.

   The student will describe or role-play some of those events. (example: Thousands of rioters stormed Horace Greeley's newspaper, the Tribune, and yelled: "Death to the Tribune.")

   The student might discuss men of today who have unpopular ideas.

3. Henry David Thoreau withheld taxes to protest an unjust war. He stated: "The soldier is applauded who refuses to serve in an unjust war by those who do not refuse to sustain the unjust government which makes the war!"
FOCUS  |  OBJECTIVE  |  LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Was he criticizing those who paid their taxes which supported the government that was engaging in the war? Was his act of civil-disobedience effective?

Were his ideas accepted? What happened to him as a result of his protest?

What were the social implications of his act of civil disobedience?

4. Joan Baez, popular folk-singer, followed the ideas of Thoreau (She withheld a portion of her income taxes designated for war). Her husband, David Harris, refused service in the army because of the Vietnam War, and was jailed.

The student will compare and contrast Thoreau and Baez and her husband in their methods of protest against war.

The student will critically assess his personal values and beliefs concerning civil disobedience as it relates to war.

NOTE: This topic could be used for debate.

5. The teacher may show the following filmstrips:

- Thoreau (Filmstrip House)
- Civil Disobedience (Guidance Associates)
- Concord: A Nation's Conscience (Emerson and Thoreau) (Guidance Associates)

General discussion
6. "The liberty of the press is a subject of the greatest importance..." said John Peter Zenger.

The student should research the Zenger case and compare it with the Supreme Court ruling of the case against the New York Times for its part in publishing "secret" documents about the war in Vietnam.

After showing the filmstrip: Freedom of the Press - Zenger, or the film, Mightier than the Sword: Zenger and Freedom of the Press, 1-10156, the teacher should ask the students to analyze and react to the idea of Freedom of the Press as it related to these two specific incidents.

7. Tom Paine was both accepted and rejected in his time. The student will analyze why this was so.

How can one man, within a life time, be admired by so many and then at another time, be so scorned?

(The teacher should try to elicit the understanding that Paine's ideas of patriotism and revolution were eagerly accepted, but his ideas about religion were rejected by many.)

The book: Citizen Tom Paine by Howard Fast could be utilized for further background.

Questions for discussion:

a. Why did Thomas Paine say: "These are the times that try men's souls?"

b. Are there any religious groups today which reflect Thomas Paine's ideas about man's relationship to God?

c. Are there any individuals today who reflect his thinking?

d. Is Thomas Paine still a controversial figure today?
8. NOTE TO TEACHER: Similar types of activities as already described could be used for other individuals in our history (and present) who espouse unpopular causes.

The student may want to make up his own list of such "rebels" and research those he finds of particular interest to him.

There should be available in the class:

a. The Unpopular Ones by Jules Archer
b. American Anti-War Movements by Jos. Contin
c. They Showed the Way
d. American Biographies by Murray Sussman
e. Black Americans by John Kurt Wilkman
f. Women who Shaped History by Henrietta Buckmaster
g. 40 American Biographies
h. They Were First by Chas. Spiegler

Available Records: W. E. B. DuBois

Focus

The factory system brought numerous social and economic problems.

Objective

B. The student will make some value judgments about the division of wealth.

C. The student will analyze the problems resulting from the growth of industries.

Learning Activities

1. The student will critically assess his own personal values and beliefs concerning the morality of accruing great personal wealth. He will consider the following ideas and questions:

   a. What personal characteristics do those people have who are rich?

   b. Does the question of how you acquired wealth and at what rate have any bearing on the question?

   c. Generally speaking, what do you think the young people today are striving for? Is personal wealth and "success materially" part of their picture?

   NOTE TO TEACHER: You may want to consult the book entitled: The Rich and the Super-Rich by Ferdinand Lundburg. New York: Lyle Stuart for background information on many wealthy men and families.

2. The industrial revolution and growth of factories caused some of the following problems:

   - dangerous working conditions, i.e., child labor, exploitation of workers (long hours, poor pay)
   - concentration of economic wealth

"Are the industrial success stories of yesterday, still possible today?"
As these problems emerged, there also emerged Americans who were interested in correcting or eradicating the problems and injustices.

The student will research the following Americans as to their aims and purposes and the role they played in changing conditions:

<td>Upton Sinclair</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. Philip Randolph</td>
<td>Terrence Powderly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Hoffa</td>
<td>Norman Thomas</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(student can add to list)

2. The teacher spotlight any of the above. For example:

Eugene Debs, an American Labor Leader, held public office, organized the rail workers, and formulated theories for the more equitable distribution of wealth. He condemned war, ran for president 4 times, was imprisoned.

A. Discussion questions:

What kind of a person was Eugene Debs? Why was he disenchanted with the American economic system?

B. Have students give personal reaction to the following thoughts of Eugene Debs:

...He never advocated violence; he believed that workers should not kill each other in war because wars were for competition between big industrialists...

7. The student will determine, through research, which Americans speak for:

a. The consumer
b. The worker (white and blue collar)
c. The business community

<td>A. The student will examine the life and times of talented Americans.</td>
<td>1. The students and teacher will identify some talented Americans in the following areas who have contributed to the richness and beauty of our culture.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

a. art (painting, sculpturing, etc.)

- Winslow Homer
- Jackson Pollock
- Frank Lloyd Wright
- Norman Rockwell
- Ben Shahn
- Rockwell Kent
- Grandma Moses
- Whistler

Does the work of these artists reflect the times they lived in?

What kind of art came out of the Depression Years?

b. recreation (major sports)

- Althea Gibson
- Jim Thorpe
- Jackie Robinson
- Babe Ruth
- Willie Mays
- Bill Russell

What role does recreation and sports play in our culture?

Do we live in the age of "spectator" sports as opposed to participation sports?

c. music and dance and theatre

- Leonard Bernstein
- Simon & Garfunkle
- Helen Hayes
- Marian Anderson
- Enrico Caruso
- Sarah Bernhardt
- Paul Robeson
- Maria Tallchief
- Duke Ellington
- Louis Armstrong
FOCUS | OBJECTIVE | LEARNING ACTIVITIES

How has music and dance changed in our culture from colonial times to the present?

d. literature

| Mark Twain | Sinclair Lewis |
| Walt Whitman | Ernest Hemingway |
| Upton Sinclair | Pearl S. Buck |
| Richard Wright | Carl Sandburg |
| Langston Hughes | John Steinbeck |
|                | Ralph Waldo Emerson |

Did the authors' writings reflect the times? Compare the styles of writers of yesterday with writers of today. Are we a nation of readers? What do we read?

2. The students can role-play some of the personalities, bring in their works for discussion, read some of their poetry, listen to some of the music and relate it to the "life and tastes" of Americans today.

3. The student will make a judgment about the types of literature, art, and music that is part of our culture today. Is he happy with them?

FOCUS

Pioneers in science come from all races and ethnic groups.

OBJECTIVE

The student will research Americans in the areas of science, medicine, and technology and examine their lives and times.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. The students and teacher will compile a list of Americans who have added to our knowledge of science, medicine and technology.

   The list could include:

   - Enrico Fermi
   - George Washington Carver
   - John Glenn
   - Albert Einstein
   - Dr. Michael DeBakey
   - Charles Drew
   - Luther Burbank
   - Lee DeForest
   - Alexander Graham Bell
   - Henry Ford
   - Dr. Jonas Salk
   - Thomas Edison

   (Students and teacher could add to the list)

   After reading and research the students will place the individual in the scientific category that his work related to:

   For example: Medicine, Invention, Botany, etc.

2. The student will show in a graphic manner (poster, bulletin board, etc.) the life, times, and works of a particular scientist.

3. What impact did their works have on the total culture?

4. Projection:

   Student will speculate or predict the types of inventions or breakthroughs in medicine he foresees in the near future.

| The laws of the land are a reflection of the people and the times. | The student will research Americans in the areas of government and law and examine their lives and times. | 1. The student will know the following words:
- idealist
- "state's rights"
- realist
- government
- politician
- credibility gap
- politics

2. Students will construct a time line and place the following Americans in their proper time:
- Thomas Jefferson
- Earl Warren
- Thurgood Marshall
- Andrew Jackson
- John Marshall
- William Douglas
- J. William Fulbright
- Franklin Roosevelt
- Ramsey Clark

(Students and teacher can add to list.)
The students will discuss these people in their proper frame of reference.

3. After reading and research, the students will make generalization as to the contribution made by the above leaders in the area of: Federal laws which effect us today; Civil rights legislation; rights of women; labor laws; crime in America, welfare.

4. Discussion:
Do people in politics and government have "unique" personality traits? Do you have to be a realist or idealist to be in politics? Are there any similarities among the above listed people? |

The death of our cities is inevitable unless men of vision with remedies are taken seriously.

OBJECTIVE

A. The student will examine the life and times of men concerned about the problems of our cities.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. The student will know the following words:

   - urban sprawl
   - ghettos
   - slumlord
   - urban renewal
   - megolopolis
   - inner city
   - slums
   - tenements
   - suburb

2. The student will research the following people:

   - Benjamin
   - Robert Weaver
   - Jacob Riis
   - Lewis Mumford

   a. What were Benjamin Franklin's contributions to the orderly development of the city of Philadelphia?
   b. Was Franklin ahead of his times in his thinking about city planning?
   c. What medium did Franklin use to get acceptance for his ideas?
   d. Jacob Riis waged war against the slums and degradation that living in them encompassed. What methods did he use in his fight to rid New York of its slums? How successful was he? What kind of person was Riis compared to Franklin?
   e. Lewis Mumford was very critical about the ugliness and lack of planning of American cities. What were his plans for change? Did anyone take him seriously? What type of person was he?
   f. The problems of the cities became so severe that the Federal government set up a Cabinet post with Robert Weaver as the first Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. What is the background of Robert Weaver? Is he a forceful individual? How does he compare to Jacob Riis in personality and drive? What can his Department hope to accomplish in the alleviation of the blights in our cities?
