A questionnaire designed to obtain information about English in the two-year college is presented. Specific objectives include: (1) to identify and study the unique problems of the two-year college and the ways in which the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) and the Conference on College Composition and Communication (CCCC) may assist teachers with these problems, (2) to prepare articles, bibliographies, and reports dealing with the teaching of junior college English for publication in "College English" and "CCC Journal", and (3) to make recommendations to the executive committees of NCTE and CCCC concerning action which might be taken by both organizations to improve the teaching of English in the two-year college. In addition to the questionnaire addressed to the English Department Chairman, a questionnaire for staff members is included. (For related document, see ED 013 604.) (CK)
Dear English Department Chairman,

Last spring the Executive Committees of the National Council of Teachers of English and the Conference on College Composition and Communication voted to appoint a committee on "English in the Two-Year College". Its purpose is (a) to identify and study the unique problems of the two-year college and the ways in which NCTE and CCCC may assist teachers with these problems; (b) to prepare articles, bibliographies, and reports dealing with the teaching of junior college English for publication in College English and CCC Journal; and (c) to make recommendations to the Executive Committees of NCTE and CCCC concerning action which might be taken by both organizations to improve the teaching of English in the two-year college.

The committee has been at work for a number of months and is now trying to obtain information about English in the two-year college through a questionnaire. We earnestly request that you cooperate with us by giving serious attention to the enclosed copy of the questionnaire. The amount of time and effort required to answer so lengthy a document will be well compensated by the profile of English in two-year colleges which we will be able to construct from such information obtained from English department chairmen. Please help us in preparing this report which will be made available to you in the pages of College English and CCC Journal. Such a report should be of inestimable value to us all in enabling us to see how our work lines up with English instruction in other junior colleges.

We would also like for you to indicate on the back of the questionnaire any projects or experiments being conducted in your college which could be described or reported, under the auspices of this committee for publication in the official publications.

Along with your questionnaire you will find a separate packet containing questionnaires for your staff. We have tried to estimate the size of your staff by a formula involving the total staff and student body and have one questionnaire for each five members of your staff. If you have a teacher who has a Ph.D. degree in English, we would like for him to answer one questionnaire. If you have a teacher who has a Ph.D. in Education or an M.A., we would like for him to answer one questionnaire. If you have a teacher who has an M.A. and many years experience in junior college English, we would like for him to answer one questionnaire. Will you please distribute the rest of the questionnaires to other individuals who will give us helpful answers? We are trying to get a representative view of faculty opinion, and we can get it only with your help.

Please give us your time and effort in this endeavor which we hope will contribute to the improvement of English instruction in our type of college.

Sincerely yours,

Samuel Weintraub (Chicago City Junior College), Chairman

Frederick Kroeger, (Flint Community College, Flint, Michigan), Associate-Chairman Committee on English in the Two-Year College

E. Remedial English

N.B. It is entirely possible that your college has more than one level of remedial English, and these may not always involve stressing the same things, nor would they necessarily have identical objectives (e.g., some may lead to terminal programs.) The variety of patterns is so great that these questions cannot possibly probe each individual one. Whenever a question is ambiguous for your college, and you feel you have some important distinction to make, please make the distinction for us on the back of the page or on an attached sheet.

NOTE—CCCG JOINT COMMITTEE ON "ENGLISH IN THE TWO-YEAR COLLEGE"

Dear Fellow Teacher of English in the Junior College,

Last spring the Executive Committees of the National Council of Teachers of English and the Conference on College Composition and Communication voted to appoint a committee on "English in the Two-Year College". Its purpose is (a) to identify and study the unique problems of the two-year college and the ways in which NCTE and CCC may assist teachers with these problems; (b) to prepare articles, bibliographies, and reports dealing with the teaching of junior college English for publication in College English and CCC Journal; and (c) to make recommendations to the Executive Committees of NCTE and CCC concerning action which might be taken by both organizations to improve the teaching of English in the two-year college.

The committee has been at work for a number of months and is now trying to obtain information about English in the two-year college through a questionnaire.
We earnestly request that you cooperate with us by giving serious attention to the enclosed copy of the questionnaire. The amount of time and effort required to answer so lengthy a document will be well compensated by the profile of English in two-year colleges which we will be able to construct from such information, and that obtained from English department chairman. Please help us in preparing this report which will be made available to you in the pages of College English and CCC Journal.
Such a report should be of inestimable value to us all in enabling us to see how our work lines up with English instruction in other junior colleges.

If you are engaged in any projects or experiments which could be described and reported on in the official publications under the auspices of this committee, or if you have bibliographical items which deal with solutions to the problem of teaching English in the two-year college, please note them on the back pages of the questionnaire.

Please feel free to enclose statements of your ideas which you think the questionnaire does not cover or does not treat adequately. We wish to find out as much as we possibly can, and though we have tried to cover the ground, we know that our own preconceptions may have interfered. If at times you feel that you can answer a question in terms of what your colleagues think and what you think, please give us both opinions and label them.

Please give your time and effort in this endeavor which we hope will improve English teaching in our type of college.

Sincerely yours,

Samuel Woolf Garten (Chicago City Junior College), Chairman

Frederick Kroeger (Flint Community College, Flint, Michigan), Associate-Chairman

P.S. You will notice that the last question on the questionnaire asks your name and your college. If anonymity will make your Answers more free and informative, you do not have to tell us who you are.
