This guide describes and outlines a course that focuses on a historical view of the ethnic, racial, and religious composition of our society with emphasis on how minorities have contributed to the makeup of America. The problems and progress of the major minority groups are also examined. The concept that everyone is part of a minority and that every minority has contributed to the whole of American culture is stressed. The course is designed as an elective course for grades 7 through 12, and is intended to fit the quinquemester organization of schools. Course content, which is closely integrated with 13 behavioral objectives, is organized around the following sections: 1) types of minorities; 2) history; 3) causes of minority prejudices; 4) effects of prejudice; 5) role of government at all levels; 6) role of volunteer organizations; 7) contributions of minority groups; 8) progress in solving problems; and 9) pluralism vs. melting pot theories. A wide variety of student materials and several resources for the teacher are listed. Related documents are: SO 002 708 through SO 002 718, SO 002 768 through SO 002 792, and SO 002 947 through SO 002 970. (Author/JLB)

MINORITIES IN AMERICAN SOCIETY
SOCIAL STUDIES
COURSE DESCRIPTION: A HISTORICAL REVIEW OF THE ETHNIC, RACIAL, AND RELIGIOUS COMPOSITION OF OUR SOCIETY WITH EMPHASIS ON HOW MINORITIES HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO THE MAKEUP OF AMERICA. THE PROBLEMS AND PROGRESS OF THE MAJOR MINORITY GROUPS ARE ALSO EXAMINED. THE CONCEPT THAT EVERYONE IS PART OF A MINORITY AND THAT EVERY MINORITY HAS CONTRIBUTED TO THE WHOLE OF AMERICAN CULTURE IS STRESSED.

CLUSTER: American Studies
GRADE LEVEL: 7-12
COURSE STATUS: Elective INDICATORS OF SUCCESS: None

COURSE RATIONALE: No part of American life has been left untouched by the contributions of American minority groups. The effect of minorities on our national life is unmistakable. The diversity of race and ethnic groups has led to a cultural pluralism that needs to be understood and appreciated.

It is important to every student to understand that American culture has been influenced and shaped by the diverse groups that make up its population and that distinguished contributions have been made in every area of life by minority groups. It is important that every student understand our nation's cultural heritage in order that he might strengthen his personal pride in his own and other groups.
COURSE GOALS:

1. THE STUDENT WILL IDENTIFY MINORITY GROUPS IN THE UNITED STATES TODAY AND IN HIS IMMEDIATE COMMUNITY.
2. THE STUDENT WILL TRACE HISTORICAL REASONS FOR SETTLEMENT OF MINORITY GROUPS IN THE UNITED STATES.
3. THE STUDENT WILL GENERALIZE FROM GIVEN DATA SOCIAL IMPLICATIONS OF GOVERNMENT IMMIGRATION POLICIES THROUGHOUT THE HISTORY OF OUR NATION.
4. THE STUDENT WILL DRAW CONCLUSIONS REGARDING THE EXPECTATIONS OF THE IMMIGRANTS AND THE REALITY THEY ENCOUNTERED.
5. THE STUDENT WILL EXAMINE THE CAUSES AND NATURE OF PREJUDICE AND DISCRIMINATION AGAINST MINORITY GROUPS AND CITE EXAMPLES OF THE EFFECTS OF PREJUDICE AND DISCRIMINATION: A) POLITICALLY, B) SOCIALLY, C) ECONOMICALLY.
6. THE STUDENT WILL ATTEMPT TO JUSTIFY GOVERNMENT INVOLVEMENT IN THE POSSIBLE ALLEVIATION OF SOME OF THE ECONOMIC, POLITICAL, AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS FACING MINORITY GROUPS TODAY.
7. THE STUDENT WILL PROPOSE REASONS WHY EDUCATION COULD BE THE KEY TO ELIMINATING MANY OF THE PROBLEMS THAT MINORITY GROUPS FACE.
8. THE STUDENT WILL CITE EVIDENCE TO SHOW THE PROBLEMS OF MINORITY GROUPS WILL NOT "JUST DISAPPEAR;" IT WILL TAKE A CONCERTED EFFORT BY ALL CITIZENS TO ABOLISH THE EVILS OF PREJUDICE.
9. THE STUDENT WILL FIND A VARIETY OF EVIDENCE THAT DEMONSTRATES (A) THE IMPORTANT CULTURAL CONTRIBUTIONS MADE BY MINORITY GROUPS AND (B) THE WAYS THESE CONTRIBUTIONS HAVE HELPED SHAPE AMERICAN LIFE.
10. THE STUDENT WILL MAKE A JUDGEMENT ABOUT THE PROGRESS THE UNITED STATES HAS MADE IN THE SOLVING OF PROBLEMS FACING MINORITIES.
11. BY GIVING EXAMPLES, OR FORMING GENERALIZATIONS THE STUDENT WILL DEMONSTRATE HIS ABILITY TO IDENTIFY CHANGING ATTITUDES TOWARDS SPECIFIC MINORITY GROUPS IN AMERICA.
12. GIVEN TWO VIEWS ON THE FORMATION OF THE AMERICAN ETHOS, (A) PLURALISTIC, & (B) MELTING POT, THE STUDENT WILL INTERPRET AND EVALUATE THE TWO POINTS OF VIEW.
13. GIVEN THE INFORMATION HE HAS ANALYZED AND FROM HIS EXPERIENCES WITH THIS COURSE OF STUDY, THE STUDENT WILL GENERALIZE "WHAT IS AN AMERICAN?"
COURSE CONTENT OUTLINE:

I. Types of Minorities (Classification)
   A. National Origin (Italian, Spanish, Greek, etc)
   B. Religion (Jews, Quakers, Catholics, etc.)

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

(If the student infers that the "typical" American is probably white, Anglo-Saxon, Protestant, the teacher should correct the notion by emphasizing the following: Popular notions to the contrary, white Protestant Americans of English descent do not form a numerical majority in the U.S. Something less than one-third of the U.S. population can be described as "WASP."

The teacher should further clarify: "The making of a dominant group within a society does not depend on numbers alone. A dominant group exists whenever one group yields greater economic and political power than other groups. The cultural traditions of the dominant group tend to prevail over the ways and customs of the other groups. Those who feel left out of this dominant culture are the minority groups in that society."

10. The student should become aware that even their own neighborhoods may reflect a wide range of national origins. To help them see this, put up a map of the world and have each member of the class indicate with pins or clay and string where his ancestors came from. The students can ask their oldest relatives: Where did our ancestors come from? When did they come to America? Why did they come? Where did they live first?

11. Using the chalkboard, ask students for items to form a list of ways in which various ethnic groups differ from one another (clothes, language, physical features, etc.) Are there similarities among some groups?

12. Students might read the following for further enlightenment:

a. "A RISING CRY: ETHNIC POWER" pp. 32-36 and
b. "ERIK ERIKSON: THE QUEST FOR IDENTITY" pp. 84-89 both from NEWSWEEK, Dec. 21, 1970

The student will be asked what connection could be inferred from knowing this information:
"By 1890 the western lands had all been settled and large numbers of Southern and Eastern European immigrants were coming to the United States."
Possible responses: All those events happening at one time could mean that the poor immigrant was trapped in the city, and the living and working conditions found in big cities at that time were extremely harsh.
2. Teacher: Read excerpts from THE IMMIGRANT'S EXPERIENCE, pp. 10-19.

OBJECTIVE

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

What are the effects of prejudice and discrimination on minority groups, politically, socially, and economically?

The student will examine the causes and effects (superficial and underlying) of the major problems facing minority groups in the United States.

The student will gather evidence from the mass media (films, newspapers, magazines, filmstrips, radio, T.V.) citing the economic, political and social problems facing a particular minority group in the United States. Problem should cover the following:

a. Economic: job opportunities, education, housing, job training, poverty
b. Political: right of franchise, equal representation, policy making, leadership positions.

(Student materials for the activities for this portion of the quin.)

A. Class set of THE RACES OF MANKIND, by Benedict and Weltfish (Public Affairs pamphlet No. 85)
B. Filmstrip: WHAT IS PREJUDICE?
C. PREJUDICE, THE INVISIBLE WALL, unit anthology, jr. high level at a reading level of 4-6.
D. I WONDER WHY and THAT'S ME (films on prejudice against Negro girl and Puerto Rican dropout.)
E. THE CHINESE CHILDREN NEXT DOOR, record by Pearl S. Buck
F. MINORITIES IN THE UNITED STATES, pamphlet by Leonard I. Irwin.

(Teacher materials for activities in this portion of the quin.)

A. THE NATURE OF PREJUDICE by Gordon Allport.
B. PREJUDICE AND DISCRIMINATION by Fred R. Holmes

| IV. What should be the role of government in alleviating some of the problems facing minority groups? | A. Student should be able to (justify) cite government involvement in the possible alleviation of some of the economic, political, and social problems facing minority groups today. | 1. Have students research Federal legislation beginning with the Civil Rights Act of 1875 to the present. (Teacher could use the following transparencies from AEVAC INC:)
   a. Civil Rights Act-1875  3 overlays
   b. Civil Rights Act-1964  3 overlays
   c. Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 3 overlays

2. Organize students into groups with a group recorder to discuss the following:
   a. How have laws (like the Fair Employment Practices Act) changed the conditions of some minority groups?
   b. Can a government legislate morality?

3. Organize students into groups. Each group will be given a major Supreme Court decision that directly or indirectly affected a minority group. The groups will discuss the following questions:
   a. What were the consequences of the Supreme Court decision?
   b. Did the decision result in any significant progress for the group involved?

(Teachers could use the following transparencies: Series GT-30, 31 KEY SUPREME COURT DECISIONS)

B. Student should be able to propose and defend reasons why education could be the key to eliminating many of the problems facing minority groups. |

1. Discuss how knowledge and skills resulting from education are useful in helping to eliminate discrimination and prejudice. For example, knowing facts can dispel fears. Having skills can help one be competitive, i.e., jobs, advancement, etc.

GOAL: THE STUDENT WILL FIND A VARIETY OF EVIDENCE THAT DEMONSTRATES (a) THE IMPORTANT CULTURAL CONTRIBUTIONS MADE BY MINORITY GROUPS AND (b) HOW THESE CONTRIBUTIONS HAVE HELPED SHAPE AMERICAN LIFE.

FOCUS

American culture has been influenced and shaped by the diverse groups that make up its population.

OBJECTIVE

A. Student should find a variety of evidence that demonstrates the important cultural contributions made by minorities in shaping American life.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. Have students select and read a biography of a member of a minority group who has achieved recognition in his field. The student will give an oral report on his selection using any form of visual aid. (Transparency, poster, diorama, collage, etc.)

2. Have a student select a type of music related to a minority group and trace its development into its present form. He should give examples of the music to the class either by tapes or records. The same activity can be applied to dance forms.

3. Class should set up display areas within the classroom or selected school areas to exhibit the contributions of personalities from major minority groups in the fields of the arts.

4. Resource people from the community representing the different religious faiths could be invited to speak to the class, or students might want to visit a house of worship different from their own faith.

5. Student may want to dramatize portions of well-known dramas or musicals, such as "Fiddler on the Roof," "West Side Story," "Raisin in the Sun," or "Black Like Me."

6. List the names of states, rivers, cities, etc. that have Indian names or names from other ethnic groups.

<td>7. List some games or sports that have come to the U.S. from different ethnic groups, i.e., Bocce, the Italian game, etc.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>8. Students should be able to identify words used in our language that have their derivation from different ethnic and racial groups. For example: espresso, spumoni, spaghetti come from the Italian language. In fact the majority of our musical terms come directly from Italian, i.e., alto, contralto, basso, adagio, etc.</td>
</tr>
<td></td>
<td>9. Each student will be asked to investigate religious and festive holidays that have become part of American culture which have a basis from different minority groups. Students can focus on one particular holiday such as: St. Patrick's Day, Chinese New Year, Columbus Day, Oktoberfest, Cinco de Mayo, Martin Luther King Day, Easter, Christmas, Passover, Hanukkah, Halloween, Thanksgiving and be asked to answer the following questions:</td>

| B.    | The student will identify outstanding personalities from minority groups that have excelled in a particular profession or area. | 1. Research members of minority groups who have risen to high ranks in government in the last five years. Follow up activities could include: writing to officials and collecting articles from the media and placing them on bulletin board or in a scrap book.
2. Student should select one personality from a minority group in any field whom he admires and believes made the greatest contribution to humanity and be prepared to defend his selection.
3. Student should select one or more personalities from a minority group in any field and present his findings before the class in a novel or unusual way. For example: Enrico Carcuso and Mario Lanza were great Italian American opera singers. The student might play portions of their music to the class, introducing each selection with appropriate comments about the musician. This can also be done in the sports and other fields. |

| VI. What progress has been made in solving the problems facing minority groups? | A. The student will compare the advancements toward equality made by minorities between the early and latter parts of the 20th century. | 1. Have students investigate the following:
   a. "Separate but equal," doctrine from its origin to the 1954 Supreme Court decision.
   b. Poll Tax laws
   c. Jim Crow laws
   d. Franchise restrictions re: Indians, Puerto Ricans and Blacks
   e. Treatment of Japanese in W.W. II and other groups during wartime.
   Compare and contrast old and new legislation in the areas described above; encourage students to make hypotheses regarding progress made by involved minorities.
   2. Using the information the students have previously researched regarding the problems facing minority groups the students will form committees to present the progress made by one minority group in the areas of social acceptance, housing, employment, education, politics, and the arts. A variety of visual aids such as posters, transparencies, charts, etc., can be used.
   3. Discuss: How have private citizens and non-profit organizations effectively contributed to the progress of minority groups? The students will cite evidence to show the effectiveness of individuals and organizations. (Focus #4, Objective C deals with researching different organizations for information. Students can use the listed organizations and others.) |

C. The student will demonstrate by giving examples or forming generalizations, his ability to perceive changing attitudes toward specific minority groups socially, politically, and economically.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

(Information for the above activity could be gotten from library research and information received from different organizations.)

4. Show the filmstrip/record series: Nat Hentoff-Black Power. Student should know the meaning of the terms—Black power, white backlash, racism, and discuss the ideas portrayed in the filmstrip series.

5. Newspapers and magazines today are filled with references to "Black power," "Red power" and "Chicano power." Students can collect articles and share with class for discussion.

6. Invite leaders representing the above groups to speak to the students on the aims and goals of their groups. Students should be prepared beforehand to ask questions.

1. Students will devise an opinion poll which they will use within their school and neighborhood in order to determine attitudes regarding minorities.

   The poll could include questions about inter-racial dating, "mixed neighborhoods," inter-racial or inter-faith marriages, and conceptions about major stereotypes. The students should analyze their findings and share with the class the following activities:

   a. role-play some of the situations they encountered while taking the poll.
   b. set up small groups to discuss the answers received
   c. have a panel discussion on the results of the poll.

2. Have a class discussion on the topic:

   "Is there a gap between the way your parents think and you think about having a friend of different ethnic, religious and racial background in your home on a social basis? If so,

| VII. Examination of these two concepts of our culture: Pluralistic and Melting Pot. | A. The student will be able to (1) identify in what areas of our culture the melting pot concept is more apparent than the pluralistic concept (2) propose and defend reasons why the melting pot concept is more apparent than the pluralistic concept in those areas of the culture. | 1. Give the definitions of the pluralistic and melting pot concepts:
   a. Pluralistic—a group maintains distinct traditions that are identifiable.
   b. Melting Pot—the group loses its ethnic and national identity, becomes "Americanized."
   Elicit from the students their understanding of the terms. The following questions should be discussed:
   a. Which of the minority groups discussed do you think have been completely absorbed into the mainstream of American life?
   b. Have any of these groups lost their national identity completely?
   c. Which groups do you think still stand outside the mainstream of American life?
   d. Who in your opinion bears the responsibility for any continued isolation: the isolated group or the main body of Americans?
   e. Do the reasons vary with any particular minority group?
   Note: This would be an appropriate time to show OUT OF THE MAINSTREAM (filmstrip series)
2. The class will be divided into committees. Each committee will be assigned a minority group, and attempt to defend the concept that both the pluralistic and melting pot theory are in operation in some of the following areas:
   a. Celebration of births
   b. Courtship
   c. Weddings
   d. Funerals
   e. Schooling
   f. Food
   g. Music
   h. Sports |
B. Given two views on the formation of the American ethos, the student will defend the view which he believes to be more accurate.

1. After the committees have come up with their findings (#2 above) the whole class should discuss the following questions:

a. In a society like the United States is it better if everyone forgets the traditions of his ancestors and conforms to uniform American custom? What is gained? What is lost?

b. Are the young people particularly happier when old customs are put aside and every one in the group is alike?

2. Have students prepare choral readings from the writings of Walt Whitman, Carl Sandburg and other American authors who portray the American "character." Discuss whether the images portrayed are accurate or not.

3. Students or teacher should try to obtain copies of the defunct Saturday Evening Post magazine covers by Norman Rockwell which depict "Americana." or the teacher could use the newly published book, "Norman Rockwell, Illustrator." The illustrations can be projected on the screen and students encouraged to interpret what they see according to their own experiences.

4. In 1915, Woodrow Wilson told a meeting of naturalized citizens: "America does not consist of groups...a man who thinks of himself as belonging to a particular national group in America has not yet become an American." Do you agree or disagree with Woodrow Wilson? Why? After the discussion, have students write a paragraph or two in response (agreement or disagreement) to President Wilson's statement, quoted in Milton M. Gordon's Assimilation in American Life.
