This revised social studies course outline follows the New York State Methodology in the development of understandings, the building of concepts, and the generalizations arrived at in the study of a variety of broad issues at the local, state, national, and international levels. General objectives are to provide students with opportunity for in-depth study in critical thinking on current issues, using discussion as a primary teaching technique and also activity units that incorporate some role playing. Concepts, understandings, suggested activities, and resources provide a framework for each of twelve relevant issues on the relationship between urban and suburban areas, students' voices in education, racial conflict, social problems, censorship, protest and dissent vs law and order, pollution, poverty, human relations, living in space, population control, and the roles of Asia, Africa, Latin America in tomorrow's world. Our sincere gratitude is extended to the many social studies teachers of Grades 11-12 whose foresight and initiative developed this original elective course in the social studies program and its revision ten years later.

Our appreciation is also extended to the members of the original citizen's committee for GREAT ISSUES who provided immeasurable assistance by their comments and suggestions. A new citizen's committee will be invited to guide teachers using this revised curriculum. Representatives of labor, industry, League of Women Voters, Syracuse University, the State and local governments, and the black community can identify meaningful resources and teaching strategy for the most successful experiences for our school youth.

Supervisor of Social Studies

FOREWORD

A survey of the needs of our students resulted in the development of GREAT ISSUES as an elective course in the social studies in 1961. The nature of the issues, and the methods used provide for considerable oral expression as well as practice in other skills found to be valuable in post-high school life.

The student of the 1970's will have special need for skill in thinking critically about issues in their community, state, nation, and on the international scene. In this time of even greater expansion of the printed and spoken word, the opportunities for immediate viewings of happenings all over the world and in outer space, there is "bombardment" from many sides to convince the readers, listeners, and viewers to particular ways of thinking and acting. The "battle for men's minds" is being engaged in by scientists, politicians, commercial interests, many self-interests, and international ideologies.

The development of critical thinking should be a continuous one from early childhood through adult life. The intent in GREAT ISSUES is to offer opportunity for depth study and investigation into a number of important concerns of our times and in a manner which could serve as a pattern for similar approaches to issues and concerns after high school.
GENERAL OBJECTIVES

1. To provide opportunity for research and reporting, both oral and written.

2. To provide better guidance for individual achievement through the small classes and increased opportunity for participation.

3. To encourage use of the interview, the classroom guest expert, and field trips in order to take research beyond the printed word.

4. To develop, especially, skill in oral expression by providing for a planned sequence of experiences which will develop confidence and improve ability.

5. To prepare students for leadership roles in their communities—local, state, national, international—by offering stimulating issues which are real.

6. To provide opportunity for the use of the techniques of critical thinking through depth studies of issues which are the concerns of the present and possibly of the future.

GREAT ISSUES
(Revised)

THE COURSE

The revised course attempts to follow the State's methodology in the development of understandings, the building of concepts, and the generalizations arrived at after study.

REQUIREMENTS

The course outline suggests a variety of broad issues which can be studied at different levels - local, state, national and international. The course requirement is:

1. A minimum of four and a maximum of six issues studied during the term

2. These studies should include:
   a. use of local sources as much as possible
   b. study should be in relation to more than one level of concern; namely, local as well as national, international as well as national, etc.

ORIENTATION

1. An orientation period of two weeks is suggested in order that issues to be studied may be selected by the students, library skills reviewed, and a study of newspapers - local and metropolitan - may be made to improve the use of current materials.

2. This is NOT a lecture course. Class time may be devoted to research in the classroom or library, visits, interviews, resource speakers. The major portion of the time should be devoted to informal discussions, panels, debates, etc., in order that skill in discussion be improved.

3. Written reports may be required on one or more topics. These should meet college requirements for such papers. Wide use of newspapers, periodicals, library sources and community resources are necessities.

4. Interviews and guest resource speakers are essential to bring to the class the expert knowledge necessary. Field trips will also prove of great benefit for "on-site" personal observations. Social studies teachers of GREAT ISSUES should plan together for these in order that the best use be made of these sources with the minimum of disruption to the total program.
5. Role-playing, or socio-drama, sometimes proves useful to dramatize issues and conflicts and varied points of view.

STUDY PROCEDURES AND TECHNIQUES

Note: Teachers must be familiar with the State outline of Grade II American Studies (American History) for this elective will follow the development of concepts and understandings.

1. Great issues is now intended to provide opportunity for in-depth study in critical thinking on current issues which are vital problems today.

2. Certain steps have been identified as models in the process of critical thinking, although they are NOT to be used as a step-by-step model for many of the processes shuttle back and forth in the study. The steps include:

   a. Identification of the Issue - a sensitivity to the issue or problem on the part of pupils, plus a clear and concise statement of it

   b. Gathering, organizing, evaluating pertinent and relative data

   c. Analysis - drawing comparisons, noting differences, recognizing cliches, and stereotypes, identifying assumptions, etc.

   d. Formulating and testing hypotheses - the educated guesses, hunches, and insights into alternative solutions. These may be tested by trial and error, an analytic approach by individual or group research

   e. Drawing warranted conclusions - use of relevant and verifiable data to arrive at a tentative revision, depending on future development

   f. Testing conclusions - teacher and pupils must realize that certain problems cannot be solved because the adult world has not been able to do so. However, if they can see alternative solutions and consequences, they may have gained much

CREDIT

This revised course is intended to care for the needs of both Regents and terminal pupils. The topics are considered of importance to ALL, the method and depth of study may differ. Regents credit for the revised course is now being applied for.

*From Starr's "The Nature of Critical Thinking" SKILL DEVELOPMENT IN SOCIAL STUDIES, NCSS 1963
CLASS SIZE

As this is a seminar-type course, providing much opportunity for interchange of ideas, communication, discussions, debates, round-group face-to-face arrangement for greater sensitivity to each other, the number of pupils assigned to one class should be limited.

MATERIALS

The current nature of the topics can only be served through the use of current materials. There should be access to daily and metropolitan newspapers, weekly news magazines, governmental reports and pamphlets of all types on general, or specific areas of interest.

Much of the newly acquired materials for Grade II American Studies are excellent sources. Each pupil should have access to a wide variety of sources and should be guided into full exploration of the group selected topics. Great Issues is also a vehicle which provides many opportunities for formal and informal discussions and experience in taking a stand, defending it, and/or adjusting to new evidence.
TOPIC 1
URBAN AND SUBURBAN AREAS - THEIR RELATIONSHIP

CONCEPTS to be developed or expanded urban suburban inner city land use metropolitanism urban renewal scatter-sites

UNDERSTANDINGS

THE SYRACUSE METROPOLITAN AREA INCLUDES A VARIETY OF LAND USE PATTERNS DEVELOPED IN AN ATTEMPT TO MEET THE NEEDS OF THE PEOPLE AND OF THE COMMUNITY.

Why do people live where they do in our community?
Are there forces that determine where people shall live?
Who decides on the use of available land?
What areas are most desirable and why?

THE GROWING NEEDS OF INDUSTRY NECESSITATE THE USE OF NEW AREAS, WITH THE RESULTING PROBLEM OF ACCESS BY EMPLOYEES IN URBAN AREAS.

Why are the old Geddes and North Franklin Street Industrial areas no longer able to serve today's industries?
How has this influenced where employees live, or where area residents work?
What are the changing needs of the industrial areas?

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS HAVE TRIED TO ALLOCATE LAND USE TO BEST SERVE COMMUNITY AND INDIVIDUAL NEEDS.

How has this allocation of land been decided?
What are the requirements for residential areas?
What are the recreational provisions?
How can businesses take their place in residential areas to serve the needs of the people?
How are community needs - water, garbage and trash disposal, protection - provided in governmental plans?

GOVERNMENTS AT VARIOUS LEVELS COMBINE FORCES TO PROVIDE HOUSING, SERVICES, REPLACEMENT OF SLUMS, DEVELOPMENT OF NEW DOWNTOWN PROJECTS.

What has been the role of the federal and state governments in the local area?
What role does local and county government play in providing for housing, etc.?
How are decisions made in regard to replacement of slums, etc.?
What role do the people of the community play?

THE POPULATION NUMBERS ARE SHIFTING TO THE SUBURBS THUS LEAVING THE CITY WITH AN INCREASINGLY LOWER-INCOME POPULATION

What were the forces which first planned the industrial and residential developments outside the city?
Were there events, or forces, which stimulated this emigration from the city of certain periods of time?

What were some of the expressed desires of people who emigrated to the suburban area?

THE UNHEARD VOICES IN EDUCATION: THE STUDENTS

CONCEPTS to be developed or expanded

- minority group
- state control
- confrontation
- student protest
- terminal
- conflict
- establishment
- interaction
- social control

UNDERSTANDINGS

EDUCATION IN NEW YORK STATE IS UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE STATE, WITH LOCALITIES ALSO EXERCISING SOME CONTROL.

- What are the special controls of the State on educational instruction?
- To what extent are local school systems free to establish local instructional criteria and programs?
- Who should determine what is taught?

MIGRATIONS INTO THE SYRACUSE AREA SINCE WORLD WAR II HAVE PRESENTED CHANGING NEEDS FOR EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT.

- In what ways were the new populations different from the local, and why were the needs different?
- How might local schools prepare students for new employment needs?
- Why were special programs for pre-school age children important?

MINORITY GROUP POPULATION HAVE CONFLICTED WITH THE LOCAL "ESTABLISHMENTS" BY THEIR DEMANDS AND CONFRONTATIONS.

- What are the long-term reasons for conflict between less-advantaged groups and the "establishment"?
- What is the role of the teacher in this confrontation?
- Should a policy of "freedom" and a lack of accountability replace the former pupil-school relationship?

CHANGES IN EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT HAVE BEEN MADE AND MINORITY GROUPS HAVE BECOME MORE INVOLVED IN LOCAL AFFAIRS.

- In what ways should pupils have a voice in their educational program?
- Are pupils knowledgeable in regard to anticipated requirements for industries, government, professions?
- What areas lend themselves best for pupil involvement in planning?
- Are racial needs different?

STUDENTS' PROTESTS FOR MORE CHANGES IN THE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEMS HAVE NOT ALWAYS BEEN HEARD.

- What has been the form taken by students for protests?
- Has their method brought desired changes?
- Has there been a long-record of student protest throughout American history?
What are the "established" avenues for student suggestions for change? Why have these voices been unheard for so long a time? What are the noticeable differences and similarities between student protests on the local scene and those of the nation's schools?

PROBLEMS IN FINANCING, MEETING THE FELT NEEDS OF STUDENTS, PROVIDING MORE OPPORTUNITIES AND TIME FOR EDUCATION ARE PROBLEMS OF TODAY FOR THE SYRACUSE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

What has been the effect on the Syracuse City School District of the changing nature of the school population? What has research shown regarding pupil achievement today and that of various previous years? How has the increased costs of vandalism and destruction affected the finances of the district? What has been the net result for change of the "Superintendent's Council" of young people? Has the community failed its schools by making bussing necessary? What changes in community attitudes - for both young and old - would improve school operations?

SUGGESTED ACTIVITIES

Research the statistics on white and non-white pupils in each local school.

Ascertain the Research Department testing results and compare as to differences in pupils bussed or not bussed.

Through use of newspaper files (and newspapers on microfilm in the Syracuse Public Library) study the student demonstrations, riots, walk-outs, etc.

Study these, or chart them, by dates, type of reasons, etc. to ascertain possible patterns.

Interview pupils, and/or visit different schools.

Survey the un-met needs of pupils in our local schools.

Present a future educational program, from the pupils point of view.

Compare such a projection with that of educational trends.

TOPIC VII
POLLUTION: CAN WE LIVE WITH IT?

CONCEPTS

- pollution
- ecology
- evidence
- evaluation
- modified market economy
- Industrialization - urbanization syndrome
- analysis and synthesis

UNDERSTANDINGS

INDIVIDUALS, INDUSTRY, AND COMMUNITIES CONTRIBUTE TO THE POLLUTION OF OUR AIR, LAND, AND WATER.

- For what types of pollution are you personally responsible?
- Is pollution necessarily bad?
- Could we possibly live without those things which contribute to pollution?
- How could the industrial world eliminate the present pollutants?

NEW INVENTIONS, PROCESSES, AND MATERIALS WHICH BENEFIT OUR WAY OF LIFE ALSO AID IN POLLUTION PROBLEMS.

- Should we do without detergents, fertilizers, gasoline motors?
- How can an industrial product be tested for possible pollution problems?
- Can communities and taxpayers support the necessary sewage and trash disposal processes recommended?

THE AMERICAN PUBLIC HAS A LONG RECORD OF "NOT-LISTENING" TO WARNINGS OF OUR DANGERS.

- Why was Rachel Carson's Silent Spring, the explosive Number One Bestseller of 1962, of so little immediate effect?
- How was it that Vance Packard's 1960 The Waste Makers exposed the "progress through planned chaos" but few heard?
- How many people must die in smog-polluted cities to make the rest of the nation awaken to our danger?

THE DANGERS OF POLLUTION AFFECT EVERYONE.

- Are rural areas "safe" or are they facing the same dangers?
- What are the reaches of polluted water? - the streams? rivers? lakes? oceans?
- Is our food supply safe? Is mercury in our fish a threat? are shellfish safe along our polluted shores?
- Can our birds survive to keep the insect world under control?

THE COST OF ANTI-POLLUTION MEASURES WILL HAVE TO BE ASSUMED IF WE ARE TO SURVIVE.

- Which measures are of prime importance?
- Is this a decision of each local community?
- What are the guarantees that the problems will not return?
- How safe is our drinking water now?
SPACE, OR THE PLANETS, CANNOT SERVE AS REFUGES BUT MAY AID IN OBSERVATIONS AND ACQUISITION OF SCIENTIFIC DATA.

. What have been the observations of space satellites in regard to pollution?
. Can we use such observations in international planning against pollution?
. Or, can space techniques and observations be put to use on earth to determine prime areas for control?

INDIVIDUALS WILL NEED TO ASSUME MORE PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

. To what extent do you encourage the expansion of pollution by your own purchases and uses?
. What can you do, in the disposal of your own trash and sewage?
. What part do you play in littering our natural wonders and parks?
. How do you help protect the bird, fish, and animal life in your area?
. What are the needed anti-pollution measures needed at once in our community?
. How can you be heard - in our legislative chambers?

SUGGESTED ACTIVITIES

Interview various people of responsibility in the area
Visit Onondaga Lake and the Solvay Process Waste Beds
Visit the Land-fill operation near Route 81 and MacArthur Stadium
Drive to a high point near Syracuse and note the smoke pollution
Visit Hancock Airport and note the take-off of jet planes
Confer with State Conservation experts and Public Health officials Visit our chief water supply - Skaneateles Lake - and discover why our 90+ % pure drinking water is no longer true

SOCIAL PROBLEMS ARE UNDERLYING CAUSES OF SOCIAL WELFARE.

. Why are broken-families one of the leading social problems?
. What other, ever-winding, problems result from this one cause?
. How does lack of education cause unemployment?
. Is the "dignity of man" important to every individual?

THE CONCEPT OF SOCIAL WELFARE HAS BECOME AN ACCEPTED PART OF AMERICAN LIFE.

. With rising welfare costs, and in inflationary trend, can we afford to continue to accept social welfare?
. Would it be better to apply those funds and effort toward elimination of the underlying causes?
. How long can we afford to accept social welfare as our burden?

MEDICARE HAS PROVIDED FOR SOLUTIONS TO MANY SITUATIONS BUT IT ALSO HAS DISADVANTAGES.

. Who really benefits from Medicare?
. Is the legislation sufficiently clear?
. Can it be understood by those who need it, or is it merely confusing?
. Is it possible for people to lose what is rightfully intended to be theirs?
. What are some alternate plans for health care?

PROVISIONS FOR AN ADEQUATE LIFE FOR ALL AMERICANS IS A NATIONAL GOAL.

. To what extent is this true?
. Does such an aim tend to lessen self-motivation and ambition?
. What measures need to be enacted to permit an adequate life for all Americans?

VARIOUS FACTORS IN TODAY'S WORLD HAVE DETERRED THE ACCEPTANCE OF POSSIBLE PERMANENT SOLUTIONS TO POVERTY.

. What is poverty by our standards?
. Are these standards accepted by other nations?
. Should the same standards be applied to all sections of our country?
. Do the necessities of life cost the same in all sections or do they differ?
. Are all peoples equally capable of handling funds and purchases?
SUGGESTED ACTIVITIES

Gathering of pertinent information and reports on welfare in Onondaga County and comparison with other sections of the country

EDUCATION MUST PREPARE CHILDREN FOR THE ACTIVE SPACE AGE TO COME.

- Can the old lecture-method, rote-learning provide the skills needed for our youngsters?
- What special subjects and skills need to be included in our educational programs?
- Do we need to include more modern technology for both space and ground-control workers?
- Will math and science be the prime requisites?
