LATIN GUIDE

1970
Foreword

During the last year and a half Latin curriculum committees have been struggling with the problem of specifying language skills and related areas of knowledge. This guide has been developed with the following principles in mind:

1. Because of the high mobility of students in the city of Atlanta, it is essential that Latin teachers agree on the basic objectives and content of the Latin curriculum.

2. The quality of a Latin program must be measured by the extent to which the goals are achieved rather than by the methods and procedures of achieving them. It is not the aim of this guide to prescribe "the way to teach Latin," but rather to make available to the teacher suggested resources and methods which may be useful in selecting and developing appropriate means of helping his students attain the goals.

3. The study of Latin has a unique contribution to make to a student's understanding of the world, past and present, and a greater appreciation of his own language and culture. For a student to realize full value from his study of this important language, he must develop reasonable proficiency in the fundamental skills which then become the vehicle for acquiring knowledge and understanding of the heritage of classical civilization in the modern world.

It is hoped that this guide will prompt all concerned to re-examine the comprehensiveness and soundness of the Latin program in the local school with regard to the skills and related areas of knowledge which are presented here and to make suggestions for the continued improvement of the instructional program in Latin.

Many thanks to all those who have worked in preparing this guide.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE TEACHING IN ATLANTA
Classical Languages

A. Philosophy and Ultimate Goals

The study of foreign languages has a vital contribution to make in the education of today's youth. The ultimate goals of foreign language teaching in Atlanta are as follows:

To enable the student:

1. to read directly without constant recourse to a bilingual vocabulary list
2. to translate some passages of the classical language both to gain an appreciation for the forcefulness and beauty of the classical passage and to achieve an enhanced skill in his own language
3. to apply spontaneously to new situations the language skills one has learned
4. to comprehend new arrangements of familiar material when spoken at normal tempo and with normal intonation and rhythm
5. to reorganize familiar vocabulary and grammatical forms and to apply them to new situations using acceptable pronunciation and intonation
6. to understand the nature of language and that there are certain relationships between English and the foreign language
7. to evaluate the foreign culture objectively and on its own merits as well as from the standpoint of Anglo-American culture

B. Who Should Study a Foreign Language?

1. Everyone should have the opportunity to study a foreign language at some stage in his educational experience. He should be allowed to continue as long as his abilities and interests warrant.

2. Designation of language courses as "college preparatory" is to be discouraged. There are many young people for whom language study can be a profitable and enjoyable experience regardless of their vocational aspirations. Moreover, unlike the college-bound student, the terminal student may never have another opportunity for the unique experience which foreign language study offers.

C. How Long a Language Should be Studied

1. With regard to length of study, the first objective should be to establish a minimum of four sequential years in high school in at least one foreign language.
2. Secondary school students should be encouraged to take a longer sequence in one foreign language instead of dividing their time between two, but those students whose ability and schedules permit should be encouraged to begin a second foreign language while continuing the first.

D. The Place of Grammar in Foreign Language Teaching

The objectives listed previously call for the ability to communicate in the foreign language rather than the acquisition of knowledge about the language. Grammatical generalizations are thought of as a means to an end rather than as being important in and of themselves. Accordingly, a pupil's progress in the language must be evaluated in accordance with his ability to understand, read, and write it rather than by his ability to talk about its structure. A rule of thumb would be "teach only that grammar which is necessary; do not assume that everything is."

Latin Department

Course Number 351210 Beginning Latin A

Description of Course:

A course to begin the development of the skills of understanding Latin. Some attention is given to reading. Language skills are developed through vocabulary and the following grammatical structures:

1. case endings and simple uses of the 1st and 2nd declensions (Jenney: 3rd decl.)
2. Present, Imperfect, Future and Perfect tenses of the 1st and 2nd conjugation
3. Agreement of adjectives and nouns in gender, number and case
4. Present infinitive
5. Imperatives
6. Irregular verbs, sum and possum

Administrative Requirements:

1. A maximum of 30 students - 25 recommended
2. An electronic classroom with 30 positions
3. A tape recorder
4. A map of the Mediterranean World
5. Access to a record player, film and filmstrip projector, and other audio-visual aids
6. Sufficient number of textbooks for the students
7. Appropriate and recorded tapes and visual aids for the teacher
8. Class sessions of not less than 250 minutes per week

Course recommended for any student who expresses an interest in and a desire to learn Latin.
Beginning Latin A

Objectives of Course

The student is able:

1) to demonstrate knowledge of sounds of Latin words

Given simple questions in Latin using vocabulary studied and structures previously practiced, students should be able to answer orally in Latin with 80% accuracy. Knowledge of accents and macrons must be demonstrated.

2) to identify in context meaning of vocabulary studied

Given a paragraph in Latin using vocabulary studied, student should be able to identify four out of five connotations expressed.

3) to manipulate with facility structures and vocabulary studied

In given Latin sentences, students should be able to identify the noun, adjective, and verb endings studied and make changes of endings according to the use in the sentence of 80% of structures covered.

4) to read for comprehension sentences in Latin with the context of structures and vocabulary studied

Given a paragraph of connected Latin prose, the students should be able to give four out of five ideas expressed.

5) to write simple sentences in Latin, using structures and vocabulary studied

The students should be able to supply correct endings to a completion exercise or render simple English sentences into correct Latin with at least 70% accuracy.

Beginning Latin A continued on page 6
I. Concepts:

A. Latin pronunciation differs from that of English in that every syllable of a Latin word is pronounced. There are no silent syllables.

B. Unlike English, the same sound symbol always represents the same sound.

II. Skills:

A. Pronunciation of Latin determined by the sound of the letters (vowels, diphthongs, consonants) and by the number and length of syllables in a word.

B. Latin alphabet same as English, except that Latin has no j and no w.

C. Vowels (a, e, i, o, u) same as in English, plus y and a few words borrowed from the Greeks.

D. Diphthongs (ae, au, oe, ei, eu, and ui) always long and each always has the same sound.

E. Double consonants, cs or gs, pronounced like x and ds like z.

F. Syllables
   1. as many as there are vowels or diphthongs
   2. long or short according to the time required in pronouncing it
   3. long by nature if it contains a long vowel or a diphthong
   4. long by position if it ends with a consonant

G. Accent
   1. words of two syllables accented on the 1st
   2. words of three or more accented on the next to the last if that is a long syllable

H. Marking of long vowels - a key to pronunciation - e.g. vill'la (weel'la)

I. Concepts:

A. Inflection in Latin used more than in English Inflection (a change of meaning of a word by changing its ending)
   a. of verbs called conjugation - e.g. amat, monet
   b. of nouns called declension - e.g. terram, mihi, bona

B. Agreement of Adjectives in gender, number, case.

C. Ending of verb determined by person, number, tense, voice.

D. Ending of noun determined by number and use in sentence.

II. Skills

A. Nouns
   1) 1st, 2nd, 3rd Declensions
   2) Nominative, Genitive, Dative, Accusative, Ablative, Vocative cases
   3) Singular and Plural Numbers

B. Verbs
   1) 1st, 2nd, 3rd Conjugation
   2) Present, imperfect, future, perfect, pluperfect, future perfect
   3) Singular and plural numbers
   4) Active and passive voices

C. Irregular verbs
   1) Sum
   2) Possum

D. Adjectives
   1) 1st and 2nd Declension
   2) 5 cases
   3) Singular and plural
Syntax

I. Concept:

Word order of sentences is different from English, especially with reference to verbs, adjectives, and in questions.

Normal order of sentence is subject, object and verb, although this order may change for the sake of emphasis.

II. Skills:

A. Uses of Nouns
   1) nominative - subject, predicate nominative
   2) genitive - possessive
   3) dative - indirect object, dependent dative
   4) accusative - direct object, object of prepositions
   5) ablative - object of preposition; means; agent; accompaniment
   6) vocative - noun of address

B. Agreement of adjectives in gender, number and case

C. Questions
   1) introduced in interrogative words e.g. *cui?
   2) -ne attached to word usually the verb at the beginning of the sentence when there is no suggested answer
   3) num, used when a negative answer is expected
   4) nonne, used when an affirmative answer is expected.

Vocabulary

I. Concept:

In spoken and written form, words make up a language. To communicate in that language one must grasp the meaning isolated or in context. Though some structures are parallel, languages cannot be equated word for word.

II. Skills:

A. 1st declension nouns
B. 2nd declension nouns
C. 3rd declension nouns (Jenney)
D. 1st conjugation verbs
E. 2nd conjugation verbs
F. 1st declension adjectives
G. 2nd declension adjectives, masc, and neut.
H. 3rd declension adjectives (Jenney)
I. Conjunctions such as et, sed, and quod
J. Prepositions as cum, ad
K. Adverbs as igitur, bene
L. Irregular verbs, sum and possum

Culture

Introduction to Roman culture should be an integral and natural part of teaching Latin but should not take the place of teaching the language. The textbooks with their photographs in color and black and white cover the full range of Roman sculpture, painting, architecture. The textual material introduced the student to the majestic civiliztion of Rome. Roman culture is also introduced by means of tapes, films, filmstrips and supplementary reading.

Roman religion is introduced through the study of mythology and Roman history through the reading lessons in the texts.

5) Agreement of Adjectives and Nouns in gender
6) Conjugations I and II
7) Future Tense
8) Ablative without preposition

Allyn-Bacon (Lessons XVI-XX)
1) Perfect Tense
2) Pluperfect and Future Perfect Tenses
3) Imperatives and Vocatives
4) Adverbs

Unit V:

Scott-Foresman
1) Perfect Tense
2) Principal Parts of Verb; Perfect Stem
3) Variations of Perfect Stem

Allyn-Bacon (Lesson XXI-XXVII)
1) Third Declension nouns
2) Second Conjugation
3) Third Declension Adjectives
4) Passive Voice
Suggestions for Evaluation
(Beginning Latin A)

I. To recognize and repeat sounds of Latin words

A. Given 10 simple sentences in Latin, using vocabulary which has been covered, students should be able to answer in Latin sentences with 80% accuracy.
   e.g. Ubi est Gallia?
        Gallia est in Europæ.

B. From a given paragraph ask students to select 10 nouns. Divide nouns into syllables, place accent mark, and be prepared to pronounce orally with 80% accuracy.

II. To recognize in context meaning of vocabulary studied

A. From a given paragraph, ask students to select 10 Latin words from which English words are derived. Give the meaning of the Latin and the English word with 80% accuracy.
   e.g. Spectátē pictūram spectátē - look at spectator - one who looks at pictūram - picture
        picture - framed scene

B. Read given paragraph in Latin. Write a short paragraph in English with 60% accuracy.

III. To manipulate with facility structures and vocabulary studied

A. Given ten sentences in Latin, students should change correctly subject of each and make other necessary changes of person and number of the verb in at least eight. Given ten sentences in Latin, students should reverse subjects and objects using correct endings in at least eight.

B. Translate the underlined words in these sentences. The student should be able to translate the underlined phrases of 10 sentences illustrating the specific grammatical structures studied with 70% accuracy.
   1) He is running with great speed. Magnã cum celeritāte
   2) He is walking with a friend. cum amicō
   3) He wounded his horse with a sword. gladiō

IV. To read for comprehension sentences in Latin within the context of structures and vocabulary studied.
   e.g.

A. In a given lesson, the story may be read by six pupils, each of whom summarized his paragraph in English, while others challenge any incorrect statement.

B. Questions may be asked in English and in Latin which would test the student's comprehension accuracy.
C. The class may be divided into groups. Each group would dramatize the story as understood by the group. The group would evaluate each other's presentation.

V. To write sentences in Latin, using structures and vocabulary studied.

A. Distribute a sheet that contains questions in Latin on the text and tell the students to write out the answers in complete Latin sentences. This will test the knowledge of structures and vocabulary studied. Students should be able to do this with 70% accuracy.

B. Give to students a page of incomplete sentences about the story. Have students to complete them. This should be done with 80% accuracy.

VI. To identify derivatives of vocabulary studied

A. In a given paragraph underline at least 10 Latin words from which an English word is derived and give an English derivative.
   e.g. DeIs - deity
        dona - donation
        multa - multitude pulchra - pulchritude

B. Give each student a sheet of paper on which a tree is outlined. On the trunk of the tree a Latin word is written. The student should be able to write a derivative on five branches of the tree.

   Students should accomplish this with 90% accuracy.

VII. To learn when and where Latin was spoken and the languages influenced by Latin.
   e.g. On a map, point out countries whose language has been influenced by the Latin language.

Description of Course:

A course to investigate mythology and some aspects of daily Roman life and to continue the development of the skills of understanding, reading and writing Latin. Additional vocabulary and structures assist in more advanced reading.

Administrative Requirements:

1) A maximum of 30 students - 25 recommended

2) Sufficient number of textbooks

3) A tape recorder

4) A map of the Mediterranean world

5) Access to a record player, film and filmstrip projector and other audio-visual aids

6) Appropriate and recorded tapes and visual aids for the teacher

7) Class sessions of not less than 250 minutes per week

Course recommended for any student who has successfully completed Beginning Latin A and desires to continue his study of Latin.
Beginning Latin B

Objectives of Course

The student is able:

1) to read orally and pronounce Latin with increased facility

2) to increase working vocabulary and inflection forms

3) to manipulate forms for meaning (orally or in writing) in Latin sentences of increasing difficulty

4) to comprehend Latin sentences without recourse to English

5) to reply to questions based on content of sentences or passages

6) to analyze grammatical constructions

7) to summarize in English material read

8) to identify derivatives of vocabulary studied

9) to investigate mythology and some aspects of daily Roman life

Introduction to Roman culture should be a natural part of teaching Latin but should not take the place of teaching the language. The textbooks with their photographs in color and black and white cover the full range of Roman sculpture, painting, architecture. The textual material introduced the student to the majestic civilization of Rome. Roman culture is also introduced by means of tapes, films, filmstrips and supplementary reading.

Suggestions for Evaluation

I. To manipulate with facility the essential structures of the Latin language.
   A. Ask each student to find a form or construction he does not understand. As soon as a hand goes up, ask for the form and see if some other student can explain it. Giving its use is more important than telling its form.
   B. In a passage translated in class, have the student analyze each Latin word, telling its part of speech and use in the sentence. In a sentence of 10 Latin words this should be done with 80% accuracy.

II. To read Latin with facility and understanding
   A. Give students sight passage to read. Have students answer specific questions pertaining to the passage read.
   B. Have students read a specific passage. Below the passage, write a series of incomplete statements. Ask students to select the answer on the basis of the information given in the passage.

III. To convey in smooth English the meaning of a Latin passage
   A. Call on pupils in alphabetical order, having each one translate a paragraph. Then ask one pupil to summarize the chapter in English.
   B. Appoint six pupils to ask one or two questions about a paragraph, which will show whether he has grasped the meaning. He should choose someone to answer, and others should be ready to criticize questions or answers.

IV. To write complex sentences in Latin with the structures and vocabulary studied. In the following sentences:
   A. Translate into Latin all the verbs that go in the subjunctive
      1. He will persuade the citizens not to choose a leader.
      2. Julia is coming to see the fair.
      3. The shield is so heavy that he cannot carry it.
   B. Combine the two sentences into one sentence, making all necessary changes
      1. Use an ablative absolute:
         Proelium confectum erat. Milites ad castra redierunt.
      2. Change to an indirect statement:
         Pueri labrant. Hoc audiremus.
      3. Use a complementary infinitive:
         Mox incipient. Mox ducem sequentur.
         Ex: Use relative pronoun:
         Caesar erat imperator. Caesar bellum gessit.
         Caesar qui erat imperator bellum gessit.

V. To demonstrate an understanding of the mythology and Roman history as reflected in selections read.
   A. "Quis sum?" contest - list 4 clues as to identify a mythological character. This affords research opportunity.
   B. A matching test is also excellent to identify mythological characters or events in Roman history; such as:
      Col. A               Col. B
      1. 753 BC     a. founder of Rome
      2. 100 BC     b. assassin of Caesar
      3. 44 CB      c. birth of Caesar
      4. Romulus    d. founding of Rome
      5. Brutus     e. assassination of Julius Caesar

Suggestions for Evaluation

I. To read selections included with understandings
A. Have three people read the Latin story by paragraphs - ask a volunteer to tell the story in his own words
B. Check comprehension by questions based on story

II. To convey in smooth and appropriate English the meaning of Latin passages
A. The teacher may read the Latin story aloud, while pupils watch for words they know or can guess from English derivatives
B. While one pupil translates, the rest of the class should watch for better ways of expressing the thought.

III. To manipulate Latin structures with ease
A. Underline the best translation of the following, as used in lesson
   1. de improvIs5 - (a) unexpectedly
      (b) from an undisclosed place
      (c) unseen
   2. qui docErrent - (a) who showed
      (b) to show
      (c) who taught
B. Find in the particular translations certain constructions, such as
   1. dative of agent
   2. ablative absolute
   3. ablative of time

IV. To write correct Latin prose within vocabulary and structures studied
A. ex. of indirect discourse:
   The messenger informed Caesar that Crassus was in charge of the winter camp
B. cum concessive
   Although Cicero himself was sick and tired, nevertheless he worked with his men throughout the night.

V. To identify the over-all schematic structures of the Latin language
A. Direct quotation to indirect statement
B. Active to passive voice

VI. To demonstrate an understanding of the Roman culture as reflected in selections read

Vergil's Aeneid C

Description of Course:

A study of Vergil's Aeneid Book V and VI with a brief survey in English of Books VII-XII.

Administrative Requirements:

1) A maximum of 30 students
2) A sufficient number of textbooks for each student to have one
3) A map of the Mediterranean World of the Classical Period
4) Supplementary materials:
   a) Homer's Iliad, translated by W.H.D. Rouse, Books VII-XII, A Mentor Classic
   b) Gayley's Classic Myths
   c) Pöschl, Viktor, The Art of Vergil
5) Class sessions of at least 250 minutes per week

Course recommended for a student who has completed Intermediate Latin C (352230) and whose course selection has been approved by a Latin teacher on the basis of satisfactory performance of prerequisites to advanced level work. If Vergil's Aeneid A and B have not been completed, the first four books of this work must be read in translation before beginning the course.
Objectives of Course

The student is able:

1) to read for comprehension, with the use of a dictionary, selections offered.
   Given a passage from the Aeneid, he should respond correctly to at least eight out of ten questions based on the events of the reading.

2) to contribute to class discussion of Roman ideals and ethical standards.
   He should offer at least two or three helpful comments during a given period.

3) to identify the mythological references encountered.
   Given ten questions concerning the geography and inhabitants of the underworld or the major deities involved in the Aeneid, he must respond with 80% accuracy.

4) to demonstrate acquaintance with the figures of speech used by Vergil.
   From given lines of readings point out three out of four specific figures and explain their use.

5) to read rhythmically or scan dactylic hexameter.
   Given a passage he should scan with proper markings or read orally with correct quantity, elision, and hiatus.

6) to identify rhetorical devices used in readings.
   In a given passage he should point out with 70% accuracy the rhetorical devices used.

7) to demonstrate knowledge of the themes and purposes of the Aeneid.
   He should select a theme or purpose as discerned in the Aeneid and discuss it orally or in an essay, relating it to specific actions and approaches.

Suggested Content

Readings, vocabulary, syntax, rhetorical and poetic devices as encountered in Books V-XII of Vergil's Aeneid.

Texts:

Horn Gummere, Using Latin IV. Scott, Foresman, 1968.

Any paper back edition of the translation of the entire Aeneid.

Suggested: W.H.D. Rouse translation, a Mentor Classic.
Vergil's Aeneid C

8) to describe the Roman belief in immortality.
   In oral discussion or written essay he should point out the various beliefs as revealed by the description of the underworld in Book VI.

9) to discuss the literary, historical, and aesthetic values of the Aeneid.
   He should be able (1) to evaluate the qualities of versification, dramatic force, and moral tone of the Aeneid, (2) to describe the levels of significant periods of history used by Vergil, and (3) to compare and contrast passages of the Aeneid with those of other literary works.

10) to discuss the achievement and influence of Vergil in literature.
   He should show the relation of Vergil to other classical Roman writers such as Horace, Ovid, etc. as well as the influence of Vergil on later writers such as Dante, Milton, T.S. Eliot, etc.

11) to demonstrate the knowledge of the plot of the Aeneid.
   He should point out the major events of the voyage of Aeneas, the characters and their relationship, and the significant crises of the plot.

12) to answer with at least 60% accuracy questions concerning the basic ideas of a sight passage with no dictionary or other help.

   Fields of mourning
   Tartarus
   Elysium

VII. 679-901: Meeting with Anchises
   Destiny of Rome
   Return to Upper World

Suggested Resources, Materials, Media, Methods, Activities

Book V:

Homer's Iliad - Catalog of ships.
In discussion the following topics may be stressed: funeral games, intervention of gods, symbolism of fire, glorification of Roman youth and athletic prowess, initiation of mood of light that extends through Book VIII.

Suggested Procedure: Divide book into lines for each student to prepare and present in seminar fashion. Each day students read in English approximately ninety lines orally to rest of class. Teacher repeats reading and students responsible for lines lead discussion. For homework everyone reread day's work.

Book VI

Slides of Cumae and Campania
Gayley's Classic Myths
Oxford Classical Dictionary
Pöschl, Art of Vergil
Renault, The King Must Die
Rose, Religion in Greece and Rome

Home reading of text, class discussion and clarification of events. Topics for discussion, reports or term papers:
Romans' views on life after death;
Comparison with Dante's Inferno;
Geography of underworld;
Inhabitants of underworld;
Glorification of Rome;
Mood of optimism;
Vergil's purposes of reinforcing Augustus' programs
Vergil's Aeneid C

_Suggested Content, (Continued)_

2 weeks: Bks. VII - XII

Book VII: Latinus welcomes Aeneas. Juno sends Allecto to arouse Turnus. Turnus and allies gather for war.

Book IX: Attack on Camp. Nisus and Euryalus. Fierce fighting.

Book X: Council of the gods. Death of Pallas. Fighting continues.

Book XI: Funeral rites of armies. Fighting resumes. Death of Camilla.

Book XII: Single combat between Aeneas and Turnus. Intervention of Juturna. Juno submits to Jupiter's will for Trojans. Death of Turnus.

_Suggested Resources, Materials, Media, Methods, Activities (Con't.)_

Homer's Iliad - Achilles' shield
Pöschl, _Art of Vergil_
Boak, Arthur: _A History of Rome to 565 A.D._
Frank, Tenney: _A History of Rome_
Map of ancient Italy

It is suggested that these six books be read in translation in order to give the students a completed picture of this epic. If readings could be assigned by books with each book followed by discussion, both the continuity of events and their significance could be brought out.
Vergil's Aeneid C

Suggested Resources, Materials, Media, Methods, Activities

Resource Materials:

- Slides of southern Italy and Sicily
- Hight, Gilbert, Poets in Landscape, "Vergil", Knopf.
- Homer, The Iliad, and The Odyssey, (in translation)
- Horn and Gummere, Using Latin IV, Scott, Foresman

See appendix for further references

Methods and Activities:

1) Introduction
   a) Thorough discussion of first four books of the Aeneid, their events and significance
   b) Discussion of Vergil's themes, purposes, and characteristics
   c) Use of map of ancient Mediterranean World to show course of Trojans as Book V begins
   d) Review of events of Book III that took place on the island of Sicily

2) Individual Work
   a) Assignment of lines of Book V to be read aloud in class. It is suggested that the teacher read the lines to the class again after each student and all students re-read for themselves at home.
   b) Oral reports or term papers on research subjects such as Roman games, Roman aristocracy, description of the underworld, Roman belief in immortality, patriotism of the Augustan age, the r.oms of Augustus, Vergil's influence on authors such as Dante, Wordsworth, and Milton.
   c) Memorization of lines for memorable quotations and for practice of rhythm and sound.

3) Class Activities
   a) Reading aloud in Latin by students and teacher followed by discussion in English of content, syntax, rhetoric, versification, themes, purposes, figures of speech etc.
   b) Linear translation by students for comprehension of difficult passages
   c) Group work to discuss or translate passages
   d) Group work to create charts and maps to illustrate geography and voyages both in upper and in lower worlds
   e) Frequent reading beyond prepared line: to practice sight reading either by reading in Latin for comprehension or by linear translation.
Suggestions for Evaluation

(Unless otherwise noted, questions and answers will be in English)

1) To read with facility for comprehension the selections offered.
   e.g. Given the passage Aeneid Book VI ll. 721-751, with the help of a dictionary the student responds correctly to at least eight of the following:
   a) What, according to Anchises, pervades the world, sun and moon?
   b) What is the source of all living things?
   c) Name three emotions felt by mortals.
   d) When life departs, what is necessary?
   e) For what are men punished?
   f) What methods of cleansing does Anchises mention?
   g) Where do the spirits go after being punished?
   h) Where do a few remain?
   i) How long do the spirits then remain in the underworld?
   j) What happens to most after they drink from the river Lethe?

2) To contribute to class discussion of Roman ideal and ethical standards.
   e.g. He should offer at least two or three comments during any given class period.

3) To identify the mythological references encountered.
   e.g. Identify as to significance in the appropriate book of the Aeneid at least eight of the following:
   a) Iris. b) Styx, c) Cerberus, d) Tartarus, e) Charon, f) Lugentes Campi, g) Rhadamanthus, h) Tityon, i) Marcellus, j) Eburna porta

4) To demonstrate acquaintance with figures of speech used:
   e.g. In three out of four following passages, identify the figures of speech used and discuss the poetic significance of each.
   a) "Dardanidae, quos ille omnis longo ordine cernens ingemuit, Glaucumque, Medontaque, Thersilchumque." (polysyndeton - repetition of conjunction with a series of words)
   b) "tum stridor ferri tractaeque catenae." (onomatopoeia - sounds like sense)
   c) "Qualis saepe viae deprensus in aggere serpens aerea quem obli-quum rota transit, etc... " (simile -- expressed comparison)
   d) "Nunc, nunc surgite...
   ... illas promite viris; Nunc animos (anaphora - repetition for emphasis of a word at beginning of each of a series of phrases)

5) To read rhythmically dactylic hexameter.
   e.g. Given a passage he should scan with proper markings in written form or read orally with correct quantity, elision and hiatus.

6) To identify rhetorical devices used in readings.
   e.g. Given the passage Aeneid VI, ll. 836-853, he should point out at least three rhetorical devices used.
   (apostrophe, rhetorical questions, change from statement to question to exclamation, Homeric epithet Armipotens, etc.)
Vergil's Aeneid C

7) To demonstrate knowledge of the themes and purposes of the Aeneid.
   e.g. Name at least one theme and two purposes used by Vergil in the Aeneid and relate them to specific passages.

8) To describe the Roman's belief in immortality.
   e.g. In oral discussion or written essay give a brief sketch of the fate of souls as they cross the Styx, are judged, and progress either to their punishment or reward.

9) To discuss the literary, historical and aesthetic values of the Aeneid.
   e.g. In an essay or in oral discussion he should:
        a) point out the superior qualities of versification, dramatic force and moral tone of this work
        b) describe the levels of significant periods of history used by Vergil
        c) compare and contrast the beauty of imagery and description of specific passages with other passages of the Aeneid and with passages from other authors.

10) To discuss the achievement and influence of Vergil in literature.
    e.g. In oral discussion or written essay he should point out the relationship of Vergil's writings to other classical Roman literature, and the continuing influence on later writers such as Dante, Shakespeare, Milton, Wordsworth, T.S. Eliot, etc.

11) To demonstrate knowledge of the plot of the Aeneid.
    e.g. He should list the major events of the entire epic and point out the significant place each book has in the entire structure.

12) To read passages from other writings of Vergil with fair comprehension.
    e.g. Given a sight passage such as from the Georgics Book II, he should be able to answer comprehension questions concerning the basic ideas expressed with at least 60% accuracy.
Vergil's Aeneid C

Prerequisites to Advanced Level Work

1) Given a paragraph from Caesar's Gallic Wars and a dictionary, correctly answer in English at least five of seven questions asked in English concerning the events described in the passage.

2) Reply correctly in English to at least eight of ten English questions concerning the classical period of Roman history.
   e.g. Describe the basic forms of governments of Republican and Augustan ages; name Punic, Social, Civil and Gallic wars; identify such men as Scipio, Sulla, Cicero, Caesar, Pompey, Augustus; Compare and contrast the government of this period with American government.

3) Reply correctly in English to four out of five English questions concerning Roman life.
   e.g. Houses, education, marriage laws, dress

4) List in English at least six major Roman deities and their functions.

5) Demonstrate acquaintance with sounds and quantities of Latin consonants, vowels, and dipthongs by reading a passage aloud with correct pronunciation.

6) From the paragraph from Caesar, identify eight out of ten constructions involving case uses and subjunctive mood.

Reading of Vergil's Aeneid, Book II, line 268 to the end;
Book III, and Book IV.

Administrative Requirements:

1) a maximum of 30 students
2) a textbook for each student
3) a map of the Mediterranean world of the classical period
4) supplementary resource materials:
   a) Gayley's Classic Myths
   b) Rose, H.J., Religion in Greece and Rome
   c) Pöschl, Viktor, The Art of Vergil
   d) Oxford Classical Dictionary
5) Class sessions of at least 250 minutes per week

Course recommended for a student who has completed Intermediate Latin C (352230) and whose course selection has been approved by a Latin teacher on the basis of satisfactory performance of prerequisites to advanced level work. If Vergil's Aeneid A (353250) has not been completed, Book I and Book II through line 267 of this work must be read in translation before beginning the course.
Vergil's Aeneid B

Objectives of Course

The student is able:

1) to read for comprehension, with the help of a dictionary, the selections offered

   Given a passage from the Aeneid, he should respond correctly to at least eight out of ten questions based on the events of the reading.

2) to contribute to class discussion on subjects of Roman mythology, history, and customs as revealed in the readings.

   He should be able (a) to list the major deities and discuss their role in the epic, (b) outline the major events of Roman history from its beginning to the Augustan Age, and (c) to identify the significant customs.

3) to identify the mythological references encountered.

   He should be able to name and identify the divine forces that influence the Trojan war, the travels of the Trojans, and the tragic encounter of Aeneas with Dido.

4) to outline the plot of the epic through Book IV

   He should be able to list the major events and characters.

5) to identify poetic devices employed by Vergil.

   He should demonstrate knowledge of figures of speech and rhetorical devices.

Suggested Content

Readings, vocabulary, syntax, rhetorical and poetic devices as encountered in Vergil's Aeneid, Book II, line 268 - end, Bks. III and IV.

Texts:

- Horn, Gummere, Using Latin IV
- Scott, Romans, Foresman, 1968
Vergil's Aeneid B

6) to read rhythmically or scan dactylic hexameter

Given a passage from the Aeneid, he should be able to scan with proper markings or read aloud with correct pronunciation and rhythm.

7) to demonstrate knowledge of the themes and purposes of the Aeneid

He should be able to list two or more themes and two or more purposes that become evident in the development of this work.

8) to identify the foreshadowing of future Roman events

He should be able to discuss (a) the roots of hatred that began with the Dido episode and erupted in the Punic Wars and (b) the inauguration of Roman games.

9) to compare and contrast the basic human values expressed in the Aeneid with those extolled by many modern societies

He should be able to list and support with references to the readings such virtues as spiritual awareness, physical and moral courage, compassion, and devotion to duty.

10) to demonstrate ability to comprehend sight passages of Latin

Given a passage of Latin poetry, either from the Aeneid or some other Vergilian work, he should answer questions based on the subject with 60% accuracy.

Vergil's Aeneid B

Suggested Resources, Materials, Media, Methods, Activities

Resource Materials:

- Homer's Iliad (in translation)
- Pöschl, Viktor, The Art of Vergil
- Larousse, Encyclopedia of Mythology
- Filmstrips and slides of Mediterranean World
- Records of readings of Aeneid by experts (e.g., Moses Hadas)
- Richards, I.A., Practical Criticism

Activities:

Book II:

It is suggested that this book be read in translation or divided among students by lines and read rapidly. If the teacher will follow each student with a second reading and discussion, the class can absorb a great deal from this type of work and will find the change in tempo a relief from the slow painstaking study of the previous books.

Books II and IV

1) Home preparation of assigned lines
2) In class, reading in Latin followed by discussion of content, poetry, themes, and purposes
3) Translation of passages
   a) to clear up difficulties of comprehension
   b) to gain awareness of forcefulness and beauty of expression
   c) to improve ability of expression in own language
4) Grouping of students for reading and for discussion of style and purpose
5) Carr and Wedeck's Latin Poetry, Work Units IX - XVI
6) Panel discussions on such topics as Vergil's use of visions, the roles of Juno and Jupiter, symbolism as found in the Dido episode, the theme of lacrimae rerum, the foreshadowing of the Punic Wars, etc.
7) Memorization of quotable lines:
   - Book II, line 317, 354, 390
   - Book III, lines 56, 57
   - Book IV, lines 569, 570
   - Book IV, line 412

   It is suggested that a portion of Aeneas' or Dido's speeches in Book IV be memorized to practice sound and sense coordination.

8) Point out examples of poetic devices

Suggestions for Evaluation
(Vergil's Aeneid B)

(Unless otherwise noted, questions and answers will be in English)

I. To read for comprehension with the help of a dictionary the selections offered.
e.g. Given the selection Aeneid Book IV, ll. 393-436, answer the following questions:

a. What would Aeneas rather do than leave?
b. Why does he go back to the fleet?
c. Why is Aeneas "pius" at this point?
d. What indicates that the Trojans are leaving hastily?
e. Name three activities of the arts to which the Trojans are compared.
f. Where is Dido as the men prepare their ships?
g. To what does Vergil attribute the tragedy of this situation?
h. What activity of the sailors does Dido point out to Anna?
i. What reason does Dido give for sending Anna to intercede for her?
j. What does Dido want Anna to ask Aeneas to do?

II. To contribute to class discussion on subjects of Roman mythology, history and customs.
e.g. a. Name three major deities in these readings and describe the role of each.
   b. Sketch briefly the foundation of Rome and its subsequent forms of government.
   c. Trace the origins of such customs as Roman games, marriage rites, and religious ceremonies as revealed in the Aeneid.

III. To identify the mythological references encountered.
e.g. Compare and contrast the roles of the gods in the Aeneid with that in the Iliad.

IV. To outline the plot of the epic through Book IV.
e.g. a. Name five major events occurring in the Aeneid up to the time the Trojans leave Carthage.
b. Write a character sketch of
   1) Pius Aeneas
   2) Pulchra Dido
   3) Fidus Achates
   4) Parvus Iulus
c. Compare and contrast the attitude of Aeneas toward war with that of Achilles.

V. To identify poetic devices employed by Vergil.

a. Given a passage from the Aeneid, identify three figures of speech and two other poetic devices.
b. Name five figures of speech and either define or give an illustration of each.
c. Select one poetic device used by Vergil and discuss how it enhances the drama and/or beauty of the passage that contains it.
VI. To read rhythmically or scan dactylic hexameter
e.g. Given a passage from the Aeneid, either read orally with correct pronunciation and rhythm or scan it with proper markings.

VII. To demonstrate knowledge of the themes and purposes of the Aeneid.
e.g. Given the passage Aeneid II, lines 346-369, discuss Vergil's theme of the horror of war.

VIII. To identify the foreshadowing of future Roman events.
e.g. Describe the curse of Dido and the fulfilment of this curse.

IX. To compare and contrast the basic human values with those extolled by many modern societies.
e.g. Aeneas is shown as a man of compassion; name at least three situations in which this is revealed and discuss whether a typical American would react in the same way.

X. To demonstrate ability to comprehend sight passages of Latin.
e.g. Given a passage of Latin poetry not previously encountered, answer factual questions with at least 60% accuracy.

Cicero: Selected Orations

Course Description:

A study of Cicero's fight against the corruptions that led to the collapse of the Roman Republic.

Administrative Requirements:

1) A maximum of 30 students
2) Sufficient number of texts
3) Map of Mediterranean world of classical Roman period
4) Reference materials:
   - Aller and Greenough: New Latin Grammar
   - Duff, J. Wight: Literary History of Rome
   - Cambridge Ancient History, Vol. IX
   - Grant, Michael: The World of Rome
   - Syme, Ronald: The Roman Revolution
5) Class sessions of not less than 250 minutes per week

This course is recommended for students who have completed Intermediate Latin C (352230) and whose course selection has been approved by a Latin teacher on the basis of satisfactory performance of the prerequisites to advanced level work.
Cicero: Selected Orations

Objectives of Course

The student will be able:

1) with the help of a dictionary to read with understanding the material studied

Given a passage from a Ciceronian oration the student will be able to answer with 70% accuracy English questions concerning the text.

2) to comprehend sight passages of Latin with increased facility

He will be able to identify principle ideas of a given passage with 80% accuracy.

3) to demonstrate increased knowledge of Latin syntax

The student will be able to analyze complex grammatical structures of Latin prose and write English into Latin with increasing skill.

4) to identify the rhetorical devices and figures of speech of Ciceronian oratory

The student will be able to list at least three rhetorical devices and five figures of speech and give examples from the text.

5) to read Latin orally with increased facility

The student will read Latin aloud with 80% accuracy of pronunciation and expression.

6) to improve English writing skills by study of a master writer

The student will improve skills by practicing writing of subjects similar to those of Cicero's orations, using Ciceronian devices and methods.

Suggested Content

1) Readings, vocabulary, syntax, and rhetorical devices as encountered in three Ciceronian orations: Pro Archia, De Imperio Cn. Pompei, In C. Verrem.

2) Background history and political events of Rome of the first half of the first century B.C.

Texts:

Horn and Gummere: Using Latin III, Scott Foresman, 1968

Jenney and Scudder: Third Year Latin, Allyn and Bacon, 1967
Cicero: Selected Orations

Objectives of Course

7) to demonstrate knowledge of issues of Roman government elicited from the orations studied

He will be able to identify with 80% accuracy the problems of concentration of power in the hands of one man, the question of citizenship, the value to a country of the cultural arts, and the abuses of the provincial system.

8) to identify the relevancy of the problems and ethics of Cicero's day to those of modern times

He will be able to compare and contrast the ideas Cicero discusses with subjects current in the news media today.

Suggestions for Evaluation

1) With the help of a dictionary to read with understanding the material studied Give a passage from any of the three orations studied with questions concerning factual content.

2) to comprehend sight passages of Latin with increased facility Short passages from Gellius or some of Cicero's philosophical works, or epigrams from Martial are good for this practice.

3) to demonstrate increased knowledge of Latin syntax.
   a) In the passage given for comprehension assign some of the subjunctive verbs and verbal phrases for analyzing.
   b) Give English sentences to be written into Latin with constructions typical to Cicero.

4) to identify the rhetorical devices and figures of speech of Ciceronian oratory
   a) Name and give examples or explain at least two rhetorical devices and three figures of speech used by Cicero.
   b) Cut from magazines or newspapers ten examples of figures of speech used in English and in Cicero. Tape to sheet of paper and have students identify as in a lab practical.

5) to read Latin orally with increased facility and expression Given a passage to read aloud, the student will read with expression suitable to the meaning. Memorization of short passages are helpful.

6) to improve English writing skills by the study of a master writer
   Write an essay on some topic related to the orations read, imitating
   Cicero's style as far as possible.
   e.g. a) A character sketch of Pompey
       b) The Liberal Arts, necessary for education
       c) The dangers of concentrating too much power in the hands of one man

7) to demonstrate knowledge of the issues of Roman government elicited from the orations studied
   a) What was the goal sought by the Social War that broke out in 90 B.C?
      How did this affect the poet Archias?
   b) What were the requirements of the law for citizenship as a Roman?
   c) Describe the importance of Sicily to the Roman Empire.
   d) Explain the system of provincial government
   e) List the campaigns Pompey waged in the East
   f) It has been said that the Manilian law marked the end of one epoch of Roman history. Explain.
   g) Describe the final defeat of Mithradates.

8) to identify the relevancy of the problems and ethics of Cicero's day to those of modern times
   a) Imperialism
   b) Citizenship
   c) Court procedures
   d) Education
   e) Morality
   f) The arts

List of Resources and Materials:

- Slides of Italy, Greece, Asia Minor, Northern Africa
- Tapes of reading of dactylic hexameter
- Homer's Iliad and Odyssey in translation
- Duff, J. Wight, A Literary History of Rome, Barnes and Noble, Inc., N.Y.
- Grant, Michael, The World of Rome, New American Library of World Lit., NY
- Hamilton, Edith, Mythology.

Methods and Activities:

1) Introduction to course with reading of the Iliad in translation and a discussion of the events leading up to the Aeneid.

2) Discussion of the epic form and the great epics of the ages.

3) Readings in history of political and literary history of Rome. Oral reports and class discussion of these topics may be helpful.

4) Reading Book I and Book II to line 267
   a) Daily homework assignments of reading of Latin for comprehension.
   b) Reading aloud in class; questions based on subject matter; summing up in oral or written English basic ideas of passage.
   c) Translation of passages difficult to comprehend.
   d) Analysis of grammatical forms; such as, complex sentences, participial phrases, Greek accusative with middle voice, and case uses. Use of work units in Carr and Wedeck's Latin Poetry.
   e) Study of metrical forms with particular emphasis on dactylic hexameter. Daily reading aloud for rhythm and sound.
   f) Study of poetical devices such as figures of speech, rhetorical questions, symbolism, and imagery.
   g) Discussion daily of Vergil's purposes and themes as revealed in the Aeneid.
   h) Discussion as encountered of mythological references and religious significance of events and speeches.
   i) Group work for translation and discussion of style or subject matter can be very helpful after students have become self-confident with poetic work.
   j) Panel discussions of history of Rome and life of Vergil can enliven class work and prevent monotony of assignments.
   k) Memorization of passages, short ones of memorable quotations and longer ones for practice of the sound of poetry, is usually a source of satisfaction for the students.

Suggestions for Evaluation

(Vergil's Aeneid A)

I. To read with understanding the selections offered e.g. Given the passage Aeneid Book I lines 419-440 and a dictionary, answer the following questions in English:

   a. Where do Aeneas and Achates go?
   b. What do they see; from where?
   c. Name four activities going on in the city.
   d. Name four activities of bees

II. To list relevant factors of background information needed for appreciation of selections studied.

   a. Compare and contrast Homer's themes with those of Vergil.
   b. Name two programs of reform promoted by Augustus and supported by Vergil.
   c. On a map locate the area of action involved in Books I and II.
   d. Name two possible sources from which Vergil derived his epic.

III. To identify the poetic devices of the epic.

   a. Given the passage Book I lines 159-179, identify at least three figures of speech and explain their uses.
   b. Define the following devices and give examples in English (or, if using the book, Latin):
   1) rhetorical questions
   2) hyperbole
   3) transferred epithets

IV. To compare and contrast Roman ideals, ethical standards, and aspirations as revealed in this work with those of modern America
e.g. Write an essay comparing and/or contrasting a prominent virtue extolled in the Aeneid with a similar virtue considered good in American life. Support your points with occurrences or characters in the Aeneid and with citations from modern life.

V. To evaluate the Roman religion as revealed in the readings:

   a. Name three major deities involved in the life of the Trojans and explain their significance to the development of the plot.
   b. Compare or contrast the role of the gods in the Aeneid with that in Iliad.
   c. Identify the importance to Romans of the ship of Venus, mother of Aeneas.
   d. Describe the conflict in life between order and chaos, mind and emotion, light and darkness as revealed in the conflict between Juno and Jupiter.
   e. Show how Vergil reveals the three levels of reality:
      1) Cosmos, the sphere of divine order
      2) Myth, the heroic world of poetic persons and destiny
      3) History, the world of historical and political phenomena (See Pöschl, Art of Vergil, p. 23)
Suggestions for Evaluation (Continued)
(Vergil's Aeneid A)

VI. To analyze the Golden Age in literature
e.g. Name four authors of the Augustan period and list at least one work or the literary genre of each.

VII. To discuss the Aeneid as a classic.
e.g.
   a. In an essay discuss the style of the Aeneid and give illustrations of the dramatic and poetic power of the poem.
   b. Given five quotations from later writers, identify the reference to the Aeneid of each. (See Carr and Wedeck, Latin Poetry, Work Units)
   c. Describe the influence of Vergil on one later writer such as Dante or Milton.

VIII. To demonstrate knowledge of dactylic hexameter.
e.g.
   a. Given a passage from the Aeneid, Book I, scan the lines, marking the measures, quantity of each, and all elisions,
   b. Read aloud a passage from the Aeneid with correct pronunciation and rhythm.

Cicero and Sallust

Suggested Resources, Materials, Methods and Activities

List of Resources and Materials:

- Slides of Rome
- Record of first thirty lines of Cicero's 1st Catilinarian read by Moses Hadas
- Maps of Rome and Italy
- Duff, J. Wight: Literary History of Rome
- Scullard, H.H.: From the Gracchi to Nero
- Syme, Ronald: The Roman Revolution
- Taylor, Lily Ross: Party Politics in the Age of Caesar
- Allen and Greenough: New Latin Grammar

Methods and Activities:

1) Introduction to course by study of Roman history with special emphasis on the period of 70 - 60 B.C.
2) Individual research with papers and/or reports on phases of Roman government, law and politics or on significant personalities of Cicero's day.
3) Readings concerning the Catilinarian conspiracy, alternating the history as recorded by Sallust with the orations delivered by Cicero.
   a) Daily homework assignments of reading of Latin for comprehension.
   b) Reading aloud in class - Summing up in English of specific points and basic ideas.
   c) Linear translation for comprehension of difficult passages.
   d) Discussion of rhetorical devices used so effectively by Cicero
   e) Analysis of complex grammatical structures for the purpose of clarification of content.
   f) Writing of English prose in Latin. An interesting and helpful exercise is to combine a number of simple sentences into one Ciceronian sentence.
   g) Discussion of customs, morals, religion, and philosophy of the Republican period as evidenced by Sallust's and Cicero's own words.
   h) Frequent discussion questions on tests concerning topics raised in class. This is an excellent opportunity for improved practices of discussion, insisting upon a well introduced subject, points organized with support for argument from the text, and forceful summation or conclusion.
   i) Comparison of the crisis in Rome 63 B.C. with such episodes as revolutions of South America, various attempted coups in all parts of the world, and even attempted rebellions in our own country.
   j) Debates on various topics such as (1) the need for absolute proof before bringing men to trial, (2) capital punishment, (3) moral decay of Rome similar to that of America, etc.
   k) Memorization of first thirty lines of the First Catilinarian Oration.
1) Group work for reading of text or discussion of topics arising from readings.
Cicero and Sallust:

Suggestions for Evaluation

1) With the help of a dictionary to read with understanding the material studied e.g. Cicero's 1st Catilinarian Oration 7: Read the passage and answer in English the following questions:
   a) What emotion does Cicero feel toward Catiline?
   b) What was the reaction of the other senators when Catiline entered?
   c) What would Cicero do if his servants feared him as the citizens fear Catiline?
   d) What metaphor does Cicero use in referring to one's native land?
   e) Name the charges Catiline's native country is accusing him of.
   f) What's the present feeling of the state concerning Catiline?

2) To read sight passages of Latin with increased facility
   Selections from Cicero's letters are good material for such practice.

3) To demonstrate increased knowledge of Latin grammar
   In the above passage, analyze the construction of the words videar, sib. . . . oppressus, adventu, tibi, ferendum, agnoscas, neglegendas, esse, abhorreat.

4) To identify the rhetorical devices and figures of speech of Ciceronian oratory
   a) In the above passage identify three rhetorical devices.
   b) Name three other devices used by Cicero and give an example of each either in Latin or English.

5) To read Latin orally with increased facility and memorize portions of the text.
   a) Given a passage to read aloud, the student will read with correct pronunciation and with phrasing appropriate to the meaning.
   b) Recite aloud the first 30 lines of the 1st oration.

6) To discuss with improved English expression topics related to the text:
   Suggested Topics:
   a) Choose one purpose Cicero reveals in the 1st oration and discuss how he pursues this purpose, giving examples from the text.
   b) Sallust said that Cicero was either "praesentiam Catilinae timens sive ira commotus"; choose one of these emotions and support your belief with passages from the text.

7) To describe the political structure of the Roman Republic:
   a) Describe one political program sponsored by each of these three men: Cicero, Pompey, Caesar.
   b) Sketch briefly the methods of holding elections in the late Republican period.
   c) Rome had no political parties as we know them today, but describe the two major positions held by the ruling class.
   d) Name the five major offices of the Roman government and define the duties of each.
   e) Discuss the corruption in the Roman government as evidenced by the flagrant plotting of Catiline and his follower.
Cicero and Sallust

8) to compare and contrast the problems and conditions in Roman society of the 1st Century B.C. with those of the 20th Century.

a. Compare and contrast the power of the Roman Senate with that of our Congress and House of Representatives.
b. Identify at least three legal procedures found in Cicero's Rome that we still observe today.
c. Compare the decay in idealism of Cicero's day with that evident in modern America.
d. Write a brief oration in Ciceronian style and tone, using some contemporary subject - Castro? Mao-Tse-tung? or perhaps one of your own choosing.

4) Discussion of political, religious, and moral questions arising from text

5) Group work with reading and discussion

6) Identification of rhetorical devices

7) Memorization of 1st 30 lines of 1st Oration

8) Papers and/or oral reports on topics encountered by students in discussion

9) Analysis of syntax

10) Writing of Ciceronian prose both in Latin and English

11) Study of English derivatives to improve vocabulary
Advanced Level Latin Survey Courses

Description of Courses:

Survey of writings of Rome from beginnings through classical period with selections from the major writers.

Administrative Requirements:

1) Number in class may be two or more
2) A text and dictionary for each student
3) Access to commentaries, encyclopedias, and other library resources
4) Class sessions of at least 250 minutes per week

It is recommended that these courses be treated as directed reading courses basically for fifth year students or exceptional students who cannot schedule another advanced level course.

Suggested Procedures for directed study:

1) Careful planning session of content and objectives of the course by students and teacher
2) Schedules for readings planned by students
3) Consistent home preparation by students
4) Reading in translation of other works of authors studied
5) Class periods:
   a. Students meet to discuss readings and translate challenging passages that need interpretation
   b. Teacher meets with students at least once a week for discussion and help.
      NOTE: If this course is scheduled simultaneously with another advanced level course, the teacher can work with this group while the other takes a test or engages in a group activity.
   c. When need arises, class may meet in the library to research subject such as the history of the period, critical studies of the work being read, or additional readings of the same author.
   d. Assignment by the teacher or selection by the students of topics for research with oral reports seminar fashion to the group.
   e. Written tests following each author studied
   f. One paper during quarter on subject arising from interest in the readings
   g. Brief period during quarter for intensive review of grammar
   h. Reading aloud in Latin of scenes from plays or passages of poetry.

NOTE: "Comprehension"(in advanced level work) extends to an understanding of style and to an interpretive approach to the work. What is the author trying to do? How far does he succeed? What technical means does he employ to achieve his end? Of what genre is the work. Is an understanding of it aided by cross references to other classical and modern works?

- Roman Drama, ed. by Dorey and Dudley, Basic Books, Inc., NY Survey Latin Lit. A

Objectives of Course

The student is able:

1) to demonstrate a knowledge of the early writings of the Romans to the Ciceronian era.

The student should know the types of literary works that are extant and the names of important writers and the influences that are evidenced in their work.

2) to analyze critically Roman comedy with a comparative study of Plautus and Terence.

He should be able to demonstrate thorough knowledge of the plot, style, and characters of at least one play from each of the dramatists studied with only occasional assistance from the teacher.

3) to read Latin for comprehension with increasing skill

He should contribute to the class discussion and answer questions concerning the characters, plot, and other dramatic elements of assigned selections.

4) to demonstrate independence and responsibility for directed reading and individual research.

He should demonstrate self-motivation to prepare the assigned readings and investigate problems of interpretation and references without prompting from a teacher.

Suggested Content

1) Lockwood's Survey of Classical Roman Literature, pages 1-169
   a) Introduction
   b) All critical essays introducing each period
   c) Plautus: Miles Gloriosus
   Epidicus
   Terence: Adelphoe
   Caesar: Selections from Letters and De Bello
   Gallico

2) Critical and historical commentary or readings

Suggested Points to emphasize:

1) Periods of Roman literature
2) Roman staging
3) Influence of Greek on Latin comedy
4) Comedy of manners
5) Stock figures of drama
6) Caesar, a man of extraordinary gifts, his role in the last days of the Republic.
Survey of Latin Lit. A

Suggestions for Evaluation

I. To demonstrate a knowledge of the early writings of the Romans to the Ciceronian era.
   e.g. Identify the types of writings found in the first three periods of classical Roman literature, naming the major writers of each period and at least one of their works.

II. To analyze critically Roman comedy with a comparative study of Plautus and Terence.
   e.g.
   a. Identify three stock figures found in early Roman comedy and characterize each.
   b. Select two characters each from Epidicus and Adelphoe and compare the author's treatment of their types.
   c. Contrast the philosophical tone of Terence's work with the exuberant, light approach of Plautus, with examples from the plays read.

III. To read Latin for comprehension with increased skill.
    e.g. Given a passage from the text, write a comprehensive summary, indicating by choice of words the spirit of the author.

IV. To demonstrate independence and responsibility for directed reading and individual research.
    e.g. Conscientious voluntary research of obscure references.

Organizations for Latin Teachers

1. CMFLA or Classical and Modern Foreign Language Association
2. MALTA or Metropolitan Atlanta Language Teachers' Association
3. ACL or American Classical League
4. ACTFL or The American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages
5. The Vergilian Society

CMFLA informs a teacher about the state contests sponsored by this group and held at the University of Georgia, Athens, usually the second Saturday of May.

Since much research has been done in recent years in the field of linguistics, it has been considered advisable, before completing an approved Latin textbook list, to explore some of the new methods of language teaching already widely adopted in the modern language teaching. Although most of the publishers are producing tapes to accompany their traditional Latin texts, two recent publications present challenging new techniques: Artes Latinae and Lingua Latina Viva. Both of these employ the structural approach which makes use of some of the more sophisticated linguistic research that affects the order of presentation.
Junior Classical League

Latin clubs organized to stimulate interest in the language and to increase the students' knowledge of Greco-Roman civilization should enroll as chapters of the American Classical League, the national level, and of the Junior Classical League, the state level. To affiliate with ACL, send $5.00 annual dues to:

The American Classical League
Miami University
Oxford, Ohio 45056

JCL pins can be bought from ACL for a small fee. Brochures of program materials, plays, posters, games, etc. will be mailed to the teacher. An annual national convention is held by this group.

To affiliate with the Georgia send $3.00 annual dues to:

Mrs. Jim Cavan
Robert E. Lee High School
Thomaston, Georgia

Pay this before December first when the membership closes or the chapter cannot attend the state convention at Rock Eagle in the spring or participate in the Latin contests sponsored by JCL.

Active chapters exist at East Atlanta, Dykes, Northside, and North Fulton. A teacher new to the system would profit by talking with the sponsoring teacher at one of these schools. A call to the office secretary at any one of the schools named and a request for the sponsor of the Latin club to call you will be enthusiastically received.
