ABSTRACT

Materials and information in this quinmester curriculum guide for grades seven through nine focus on tribal living in Sub-Saharan, European influence in Africa, and the African's desire for independence. Activities are offered which stress discussion, inquiry strategies, and concept teaching on tribalism, colonialism, and nationalism in an attempt to enable students to analyze the accomplishments, customs, and existing problems in these societies. Content is related to the course goals emphasizing that students should rid themselves of negative stereotypes about Africans; recognize pre-colonial involvement and reasons for colonization by Europeans; identify and differentiate between the European colonizers and their policies and their varying cultural effects upon Africa; identify factors which gave impetus to the growth of nationalism; recognize social, economic and political problems of national development; and compare in a cross cultural approach American and African societies. A framework of broad goals, content, objectives and learning activities, and materials is outlined. (SJM)

INTRODUCTION

This course of study was written as a part of a total effort to revise curriculum to fit the quimmester administrative organization of schools. The materials and information in this guide are meant to be neither all-inclusive nor prescriptive; but rather, an aide to teachers as they plan instructional programs, taking into account student needs and characteristics, available resources, and other factors.

The major intent of this publication is to provide a broad framework of goals and objectives, content, teaching strategies, class activities, and materials all related to a described course of study. Teachers may then accept the model framework in total or draw ideas from it to incorporate into their lessons.

The guide is divided into 1) a broad goals section, 2) a content outline, 3) objectives and learning activities, and 4) materials. The first section provides descriptive and goal-oriented information for the teacher; "indicators of success" refers to suggested prerequisite or corequisite experiences. The content outline illustrates, in general terms, the scope and major subdivisions of the course. The objectives and learning activities section, hopefully, provides a total picture of the concept or main idea and specific behavioral objectives for a set of given learning activities. The materials section of the guide lists resources in four categories: essential textual or other material; alternate classroom materials to use in place of or in addition to the aforementioned; supplementary teacher resources; and supplementary student resources. The appendix may include other material appropriate for a specific course: e.g., pretests, readings, vocabulary, etc.

Anyone having recommendations relating to this publication is urged to write them down and send to: Social Studies Office, Room 306, Lindsey Hopkins, A-1.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: An investigation of the accomplishments, customs, and problems of the people in Sub-Saharan Africa. The focus will be on tribal living, the influence of the European white man in Africa, and the desire of native Africans for independence and expression. The course will include similarities between African and U.S. societies.

GRADE LEVEL: 7 - 9
COURSE STATUS: Elective
INDICATORS OF SUCCESS: No prerequisites are necessary.

COURSE RATIONALE: An analysis of Sub-Saharan African societies will enable students to explain the reasons for the accomplishments and problems existing in these societies and to develop the concepts of tribalism, colonialism, and nationalism. Inquiry and discussion strategies will be employed utilizing case studies as the nucleus for instruction and as a means of giving pupils the tools of analysis. The course is designed to develop concepts free of stereotypes and will attempt to examine problems which are related to the student's own society.
COURSE GOALS:

1. THE STUDENT WILL BE ABLE TO RECOGNIZE AND CORRECT GENERAL MISCONCEPTIONS WHICH EXIST AS STEREOTYPES RELATIVE TO SUB-SAHARA AFRICA.

2. THE STUDENT WILL BE ABLE TO DESCRIBE ASPECTS OF COLONIAL DEVELOPMENT IN SUB-SAHARA AFRICA AND IN COLONIAL AMERICA.

3. THE STUDENT WILL BE ABLE TO CITE EVIDENCE WHICH SERVES TO DIFFERENTIATE BETWEEN THE POLICIES OF THE THREE MAJOR EUROPEAN COLONIZERS AND THEIR EFFECT ON THE CULTURE OF THE PEOPLE OF SUB-SAHARA AFRICA.

4. THE STUDENT WILL BE ABLE TO IDENTIFY THE FACTORS WHICH LED TO THE GROWTH OF NATIONALISM AMONG SELECTED COLONIZED PEOPLE.

5. THE STUDENT WILL BE ABLE TO IDENTIFY PROBLEMS OF NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AMONG SUB-SAHARA PEOPLES.

6. THE STUDENT WILL PERCEIVE SIMILARITIES AND DIFFERENCES BETWEEN SUB-SAHARAN SOCIETIES AND HIS OWN.

a. Collect papers and list responses on overhead (blackboard) in order to develop a descriptive consensus.
b. Ask students to state generalizations about the people and places, based on the recorded responses. Solicit a statement of attitude from the class about what is indicated by the responses. |
| | | 1. Have students read, "The hands of the Blacks" (Foreword: Through African Eyes, I). Ask students the following:
a. What values concerning African blacks are illustrated in the reading?
b. Are these values supported by factual evidence? Explain your position.
c. If mistaken, could these values lead to false opinions? If so, give examples.
2. Solicit a definition of "stereotype" from the class.
3. Discuss with students opinions which may lead to false ideas about groups of people (Negroes, Jews, Wasps, etc.).

OBJECTIVE

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

b. Describe missionary efforts in Africa and in Spanish Florida (religious groups involved, attitudes toward native peoples, attitudes of native peoples, extent of missionaries successes). Indicate what you feel about the "white man's burden," and why you feel that way.
Focus: Policies of Major European Colonizers

A. The student will identify the European nations which were the major colonizers in Sub-Saharan Africa.

B. The student will describe colonial policies of the British, French, and Belgians in Sub-Saharan Africa.

Objective

1. Show the film, Colonial Expansion of European Nations (1-12548). Ask the students the following:
   - What European nations actively pursued colonial development in Sub-Saharan Africa?
   - Which geographical areas of Sub-Saharan Africa were colonized by the major European powers?

2. Outline map development.
   - Distribute dittoed outline maps of the African continent (without national boundary distinctions).
   - Have students indicate by color code those areas of Sub-Saharan Africa colonized by the major European powers.
   - Compare general areas of colonization with current political outline map of Sub-Saharan Africa (The purpose is to indicate major cultural influence in effect in specific countries today).
   - Have students prepare reports citing reasons each major European colonizer concentrated in the particular areas indicated.

Learning Activities

Teacher Lecture - Pupil Response

- Teacher introduces concepts of paternalism, gradualism, and assimilation as colonial philosophies including a general definition of each term.
- Students will match the differing colonial philosophies with the appropriate European nations and give specific examples of how the philosophy functioned in practice. (This task should result from library study, use of class references, and/or review of information previously presented).
   a. Have students develop a definition of the French assimilation policy in colonial Africa.
   b. Have students cite examples which describe this policy.
   c. Have students prepare a statement which will describe results of French colonial policy in terms of present day relations with former colonies.

3. Role-Playing Activity
   a. Have students assume the role of a British Diplomat who served in the colonial development of the U.S. and who is now assigned to assist in developing a British colonial policy for East and Southeast Africa.
   b. As the British diplomat, each student will prepare a speech to be made before parliament recommending the policies to be followed for British colonial Africa. Speech must include reasons in support of each recommendation.

4. Have student read, "Report from the Congo," and "Leopold The Janitor" (Through African Eyes, IV). Ask the students the following:
   a. What was Leopold's "Private Domain"? If you were an African native, how would you react to it? Explain.
   b. King Leopold said that his intentions in the Congo were "Noble and elevated, to carry on the work of civilization." What do you think his intentions were? Explain.
   c. In terms of the philosophy, "Africa For The Africans," how would you evaluate the policies of European colonizers regarding the distribution of wealth which existed in Africa.

| C.    | The student will examine the effects of colonial policies upon traditional cultural patterns of native Africans. | 1. Role-Playing Activity
   a. Students will assume the role of a native African in Colonized British East Africa who is writing to his grandfather now living in the U.S. (Late 1800's).
   b. Through the letter, students will contrast life styles which existed Before and During colonial rule. Include Effects on such topics as: land, food, taxes, work, leadership, education, beliefs, government.
   (References: Through Africa Eyes, IV; Africa South Of The Sahara, Kolevson; East Africa, Lineberry; Sub-Sahara Africa, A Culture Area In Perspective, Stravianos and Andrews; Africa, Burke; Colonial Kenya, AEP Unit book).

2. Map Exercise
   a. Provide students with two maps, one showing major tribal locations and one showing different tribal language concentrations in Sub-Sahara Africa.
   b. Have student produce an overlay map which shows areas of colonial control of each major power.
   c. Have students identify (written or verbally) the inferences they made regarding the effects indicated by the maps on the tribal populations.

3. Have students read, "Anglo-Saxon Destiny," (Through African Eyes, IV). Have students write a letter as Black Africans to the author of the article responding to his position. Particular attention should be paid to the manner in which Europeans colonized and converted African people.

4. Panel Presentation - Select students as presentors and moderator on the topic: "British and French colonial rule in West Africa". Presentations will attend to: |
FOCUS | OBJECTIVE | LEARNING ACTIVITIES
--- | --- | ---
a. Which policy facilitated smoothest cultural and social transitions?
b. Which policy best provided for participation by black Africans in aiding social change?

Develop both questions by analyzing the effect of colonial policy on the following: religious and educational practices, perpetuation of language, development of local leaders, tribal customs and traditions.

   a. Effects of British land policy on native population.
   b. Role of tribal loyalties in resistance?
   c. Comparison of racially-related policies of independent Kenya.

Assign to students sufficiently prior to planned time of classroom use. Other related books recommended for review: Houseboy, The Old Man and The Metal, Ferdinand Oyono; The Lonely African, Colin Turnbull; Cry The Beloved Country, Alan Patton.

6. Simulated Trial: (Requires designated lead time for research and preparation). Student assignment to roles to be made no later than the second week of the Quimester.

   Trial Particulars:

   a. Charge: The Governments of Western European Countries which colonized Sub-Saharan Africa are accused of immoral and unethical conduct toward African People and Property.
   b. Prosecution: International Committee on Colonial Appeals

| FACTORS OF NATIONALISM | A. The student will propose reasons for the development of nationalism in general among colonial people. | 1. View Film, Twentieth Century Revolutions: The Revolutions in the Colonial World (National Educational Television, A-V Center University of Indiana, Bloomington, Indiana 47401). Ask students the following:

   What forces existed among colonized people that caused them to seek independence?

   a. List all responses on overhead or blackboard.
   b. Categorize responses into general headings, such as: recognition of common goals, strong dislike of outside control, increased education, destruction of superiority myths, growing pride in self-identity, desire for greater economic participation.

2. Individual Group Response Activity

   a. Students will complete the following in paragraph form: "Freedom is...".
   b. Build a composite list of key words which define freedom based on student responses.
   c. Students will choose one colonized group from the following former colonial empires (Asian, African, North or South American) and will indicate, using the composite definition for freedom, those freedoms which were lacking and which led to a desire for independence.
   d. Identify the common elements in independence movements, use selected student responses to provide data.

3. Discussion Questions:

   a. What parallels can you draw between the African and American struggles for independence?

(This activity should follow reasonable research time). |
|       |          | 1. Have students read, &quot;The Parable of the Eagle&quot; (Through African Eyes, p. 12-15). Ask students the following: |
|       |          | b. In the story, who does the man who treats the eagle like a chicken represent? Who does the naturalist represent? |
|       |          | 2. Written Assignment |
|       |          | Write a one page argument against the European myth of the &quot;African Child&quot; as it might have been written by an African desiring independence. Background information: Upon African demands for independence, Europeans generally replied in effect, &quot;Wait until you are ready; That is, grown up.&quot; Reading assignment in this activity (Chicken-Eagle) symbolizes this myth. |
|       |          | 3. Role-Playing Activity (Written) |

| PROBLEMS OF NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT | A. The student will develop a hypothesis regarding reasons why new African nations generally have difficulty maintaining national unity. | 1. Deductive Exercise
   a. Have students write brief answers to the questions, "What makes a nation a nation?" (Factors which bring people together to form a nation).
   b. Discuss pupil responses and list for class (Direct toward categories of: geography-sharing land, same linguistic group, common history, common religion, economic independence, racial identity).
   c. Ask students the following:
      (1) Can any of these factors be eliminated and still have a nation? If yes, explain by examples.
      (2) Are any of these factors indispensable? Explain.
      (3) Do any two or more nations share a common factor but remain separate nations? Examples.
      (4) What formula could be created for nationhood? (Students should see here that no formula is possible).
   d. Given as fact the statement that new African nations are suffering problems of national unity, have students work in small groups to formulate a statement indicating the problems in developing national unity. (e.g., economic insufficiency, language, any other cultural conflicts, conflicts in tribal and national loyalties, no national tradition or common historical base beyond colonialism). |
|       | B. The student will describe conflicts between tribal and national loyalties and conflicts between tribes which have hindered national development. | 1. Show filmstrip, "Africa in Ferment" (N. Y. Times Series) Ask students the following:
   a. What relationship did colonial boundaries have to tribal-national conflicts after independence?
   b. In what ways did the development of national leadership affect tribal leadership?
   c. How have inter-tribal conflicts hindered national development? Give examples. |
2. Have students read, "Men of Two Worlds" (Through African Eyes II, pg. 35-42). Ask students the following:

   a. How does the title relate to the men in the story?
   b. What purpose did the tribal system serve in the past?
   c. Why is the government of Kenya trying to eliminate tribalism?
   d. Should governments try to eliminate tribal organizations? Explain.

3. Pictorial and Verbal Presentation
   a. Have selected students prepare a pictorial review on the Biafran Civil War.
   b. Prepare a panel presentation to include the following:
      (1) Reasons for the conflict.
      (2) Effect on Nigerian population and involvement of other nations.
      (3) Outcome of the conflict (military, political, social, and economic).
   c. Conduct open discussion relating Biafran conflict to problems of national development.

4. Individual Reports
   a. "Difficulties a tribal system is likely to create for newly emerging nations"
   b. "Ancient tribal conflicts in Sub-Saharan Africa"
   c. "Tribal organization among Africans"

5. Have students read, "Why Does a Young Poet Die," "Seeds of War" (Africa, World Studies Inquiry Series, pg. 129-134). Ask students the following:
C. The student will cite evidence which illustrates technological and educational lag as factors in limiting national development.

Many students in senior high school keep the friends they made in junior high school without trying to find new ones. Since this is often true of inter-tribal relationships, how does this affect national development?

   a. Have students identify and comment on frames in the filmstrip which depict technological and educational lags.
   b. Ask students the following:
      (1) If you were an African teenager, what government services would you desire?
      (2) How would your personal advancement aid national development?

2. Small Group Activity
   a. Each group will select a nation and review pertinent needs relative to educational and technological aspects.
   b. Plan a program for assistance to be given by Peace Corps workers in the selected nations.

3. Inferring
   a. Visually present charts, overlay maps, and/or lists depicting language varieties in Africa (e.g. pg. 138 "Official Languages of Africa", Africa, World Studies Inquiry Series).
   b. Have students infer what significance this condition has on national development.

C. The student will recognize political factors which affected national development in selected Sub-Saharan nations. | a. Have students assume the role of members of a United Nations medical's team assigned to tropical Africa.
(1) What medical problems need attention?
(2) What recommendations should be made to the African nations to solve these problems?
Have students prepare a campaign speech promising to improve on political and governmental shortcomings presented in the film.
Through group discussion, identify political factors which relate to national development.
3. Reading Analysis and Prediction
a. Teacher should introduce the concept of Apartheid to class in brief lecture. Emphasize the relationship of this policy to the process of political decision-making.
b. Have students read "A South African's Case for Apartheid," (Tradition and Change in The Republic of South Africa, pg. 73-81; also in hardbound text, Tradition and Change in Four Societies).
c. Ask students the following:

FOCUS

HILARITIES IN SUB-SAHARA AND U.S. SOCIETIES

OBJECTIVE

A. The student will be able to compare elements of youth culture in a Sub-Saharan group with his own.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. Letter Writing

   a. Have students, using "Dear Abby" form, write letters about their problems with parents, other teenagers (peers), schools, and other student-selected concerns (signatures not required).

   b. List problems evidenced in the letters.

   c. Have students read, "Tell Me, Josephine" (Through African Eyes, II pg. 16-25).
      (1) Indicate problems common to youth in both societies.
      (2) Indicate which of Josephine's answers are surprising to them and explain why.

2. Have students read, "The Leopard" and "Manhood" (Africa, World Inquiry Series, pg. 39-43). Ask students the following:

   a. What are some of the manhood tests in the U.S.? Which ones exist in your neighborhood?

   b. At what age is a boy considered a man in our society? (Have students explain).

   c. What roles do sports play in marking the change of boys into men? How are our football games and African animal hunts the same? Different?

3. Music and Songs

   a. Have six selected students bring to class their favorite popular vocal records for listening.

   b. Through discussion, have students indicate what interests, feelings, and problems of U.S. youth are presented.

   c. Have students read, "Listening to the Radio, Pt. 1" (Through African Eyes, II pg. 64-74). Compare lyrics of popular African songs with those of student-selected songs played in class. What similarities, differences in interests, feelings, and problems exist between the two?
FOCUS

The student will identify selected social distinctions which influence the way people live in two societies.

OBJECTIVE

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

4. Student Essays
   a. Have students write two essays on the following topic: "How parents affect my life." (One as an American and one as an African).
   b. From selected readings, have class identify common roles assumed by parents and teenagers in each culture.

1. Making Inferences
   a. Through discussion, have students provide examples of social distinctions common to any society (e.g., age, occupation, group association, authority figures, sex, race, religion, economic status, etc.).
   b. Develop a composite list from suggestions.
   c. Have students indicate in what ways these distinctions affect the way people live in his own society.
   d. From readings about life styles in Sub-Saharan societies, have students infer which social distinctions are strongly operating in these societies.

2. Have students read, "Growing Up in Acholi" (Through African Eyes, I pg. 8-20). Ask students the following:
   a. What are the roles of men and women in this society?
   b. Describe the ideal Acholi man and woman.
   c. How do children learn about these ideals?
   d. Is there an ideal man and woman in the U.S. as presented by parents? Advertisers? Religious leaders?
   e. How do they differ?
