INTRODUCTION

This is the third annual edition of A GUIDE TO PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITIES FOR A COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATORS. Its purpose is to help college and university administrators locate places where they can get help on management procedures throughout 1973.

This edition includes a wide variety of activities from a large number of sponsors. In addition to activities sponsored by associations, corporations, and consulting groups, a number of seminars and short-term professional development courses given at colleges and universities have been included. As in previous editions, university degree programs and their components: courses are not included. Nor have we listed the extensive programs which many professional associations carry on at their annual meetings.

The enthusiastic response to the previous editions of this guide testifies to the widespread interest of college administrators in improving their management capabilities. Reasons behind the need for such opportunities -- the financial pinch, social turbulence, pressures for change, high turnover, increasingly complex managerial responsibilities -- have not abated during the past year. Indeed, they have increased. The demand for professional development programs in higher education management remains high. And, as the size of this Guide indicates, the opportunities are numerous.

The Academy would like to thank all those who cooperated in submitting information on their programs. It welcomes further comments from users of the Guide, and from organizations who would like to have their programs listed in future editions.

In most cases the descriptions presented here were prepared by the sponsoring organizations. The Guide is intended solely as a source of information; the appearance or absence of a particular organization or program represents no endorsement, criticism or other evaluation by the Academy.

7. In 1972 the Foundation established the Institute for College Development for a three-year period, a program which was conducted on a pilot basis in 1969-70. In continuing the Institute the Foundation seeks to assist a number of private colleges of limited resources by providing them the opportunity to relate educational reform to fiscal operation through planning and program development, with the aim of encouraging long-term institutional survival and development. The emphasis is upon the linkage -- the inter-relatedness -- between educational programs and fiscal matters. To implement its purpose the Institute provides a four-fold strategy: 1) Use of a diagnostic check list to assist the participating colleges in determining important areas related to their own significant survival; 2) A fall workshop bringing together five-member teams from the colleges; 3) On-campus study of the element(s) selected with the assistance of a consultant; 4) A spring workshop focusing on intensive team study with the further assistance of consultants, the sharing of plans and progress with the other participating colleges, and specific attention to the implementation of plans.

INSTITUTIONAL RESEARCH AND EVALUATION
1. COGNITIVE INSTRUCTION: RESEARCH AND DESIGN

4. AERA members - $135; nonmembers - $150.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

7. The goal of this research training session is an investigation of variables and conditions that have a direct application to the design and development of instruction. This session can be summarized as: (1) analysis and synthesis of what is presently known in instructional theory and practice for complex cognitive learning; (2) standardization of basic terminology relevant to instructional design; (3) establishment of instructional psychology as a field of inquiry; and (4) formulation of instruction-oriented methodology for both research and development. To accomplish these goals the training session will be staffed with professionals who are actively engaged in instructional research and development, and who have the expertise to address these stated goals.

Participants should have requisite knowledge in current instructional theories and a background in evaluation procedures for instructional systems. Participants should be interested in using the scientific method for instructional development.
1. COMPUTER MANAGER INSTRUCTION

4. AERA members - $135; nonmembers - $150.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

7. The primary objectives of this session are to provide the participants with a concise, up to date, examination of the field of computer-based instructional management systems (CMI). This examination will focus upon the conceptual basis of CMI, the design rationale of existing CMI systems, and the role of CMI systems as a powerful vehicle for conducting a wide range of educational research. Upon completion of the session participants will have acquired an understanding of the role played by CMI systems in the instructional process, will be aware of the "state of the art" in the field of CMI; and establish a relationship between their own research and CMI.

It should be noted that it is assumed the participants have no prior computer experience. A course outline, copies of survey papers, system documentation, and instructional materials will be provided participants prior to the training session.
1. DEVELOPING CRITERIA AND PROCEDURES FOR EVALUATING ARTS IN EDUCATION PROJECTS

4. AERA members - $135; nonmembers - $150.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

7. This training session will introduce participants in the state of the art of evaluating arts in education projects to procedures and techniques. Specifically this seminar and practicum will identify criteria and procedures for evaluating arts in education projects and share them with the conferees; assist in meeting the growing needs to evaluate the work of students and teachers in the non-cognitive areas and initiate the building of a network of interested, knowledgeable and skillful personnel for evaluating arts in education projects.
1. MULTIVARIATE STATISTICAL ANALYSIS IN EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

4. AERA members - $225; nonmembers - $250.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

7. This session will consist of an introduction to the concepts and techniques of multivariate analysis, including computer programs for making the appropriate calculations. The presentation will focus upon an intuitive understanding of multivariate procedures and their application to educational research. The mathematical development and proofs of theorems will be restricted, as much as possible to the handout materials.

This session will be open to holders of a doctorate in education and allied fields where academic responsibilities include the design of educational research studies and analysis of research data. The course is intended for educational researchers with a strong background in quantitative methods but whose primary commitment may be substantive areas other than statistics and experimental design.
1. 7th AREA RESEARCH TRAINING PROGRAM

4. $100 fee.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

6. Requests for applications and inquiries should be directed to American Educational Research Association, 1126 - 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

7. This Training Institute is designed to provide participants with a general overview of the state of the art of the field of evaluation, an understanding of the roles of evaluation, the kinds of problems that evaluation raises concomitant with ways of devising appropriate solutions, and conceivable contributions that evaluation can make to education. Participants will be familiarized with extant or emergent formulation of alternative approaches or models of evaluation. Instruction will emphasize the common elements relevant to these conceptions of evaluation. The format of the Institute will include lectures and discussion, case-book studies, independent reading and study, role playing and small group sessions. Participants will be encouraged to bring to the session problems or projects they are presently dealing with or that they anticipate they will be involved with in the future.

4. AERA members - $90; nonmembers - $100.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

7. The session will explore procedures for the development of measures suitable for the expanding area of objectives-based measurement. Increased emphases in the areas of program evaluation, empirical development of instructional materials and teacher accountability combine to require of the educator substantial sophistication in the procedures and rhetoric of criterion referenced measurement.

The audience for this session is designed consists of university professors, school evaluators, and persons with responsibility in instructional development. Applicants will receive a list of reference materials to assist them in their fruitful participation in the session. Desired, but not required, prerequisite skills include the ability to distinguish operational from non-operational statements of objectives and previous development or evaluation activity.
1. MANAGEMENT AND PLANNING INSTITUTE FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

2. Columbia University, Graduate School of Business

4. $500 includes tuition, room and board.

6. Program includes discussions on institutional strategy formulation, planning for the changing role of higher education, the computer center and information systems, implementation of instructional strategy, the application of operation research to higher education, faculty budgeting and productivity, the planning process, university governance and university planning, long range planning and budgeting.
1. THE DANFORTH WORKSHOP ON LIBERAL ARTS EDUCATION

2. The Danforth Foundation

3. Late June and early July (2-1/2 weeks, annually)
   Colorado College, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

4. All expenses other than travel covered by the Foundation, including room and board at Colorado College.

5. By invitation to institutions, not individuals. Inquiries should be sent to Ms. Laura Bornholdt, Director, Workshop on Liberal Arts Education, Danforth Foundation, 222 South Central Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.

7. Provides an opportunity for intensive study and discussion of ways and means for improving the quality of liberal arts education at the undergraduate level. Faculty, administrative officers, and some students join in serious consideration and unhurried discussion of the large issues of educational policy. Outstanding scholars in higher education and other disciplines bring their most recent research findings. Approximately 25 colleges and universities are invited annually by the Foundation to participate. Each institution agrees to send a team of four, one member being the dean or comparable academic officer. Each institution submits, well in advance of the Workshop a statement of the problems on which the team will concentrate, and at the conclusion of the Workshop, presents a final report of findings and suggestions which the team will take back.
1. MANAGEMENT PLANNING COURSE

2. Planning Dynamics, Incorporated

3. Conducted by arrangement for five or more participants. Location may be either Pittsburgh or on site of the sponsoring organization.

4. $1,500 -- covers all planning materials, manuals, books, illustrative forms, etc., and group luncheons.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant and/or his sponsoring organization.

7. This course provides intensive, practical instruction and coaching in the fundamental principles, procedures and techniques necessary to the development and implementation of a systematic process for management planning. Designed expressly to equip basically qualified designates to begin to function effectively as in-house planning specialists, the course is highly results-oriented; it is focused on the conceptual and practical knowledge demanded by an operable management system which emphasizes decentralization, participation and predetermined objectives.
1. USER EVALUATION OF SIMULATION MODELS

2. Society for College and University Planning

4. Approximately $40 (members); $65 (non-members) for admission to all conference sessions.

5. Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D.C., $20-$30 per day for room only.

7. Discussion by users of various major simulation models (WICHE, CAMPUS, SEARCH, HELP/PLANTRAN) as to their advantages and disadvantages when applied to various institutional situations, with opportunity for audience-participants to raise questions about range of applicability. Open to all interested.
1. PLANNING AND BUDGETING SEMINARS FOR COLLEGES, UNIVERSITIES, AND MEDICAL SCHOOLS

2. Systems Research Group

3. Offered monthly in Toronto, Canada.

4. $100 per day per person.

5. Room and board handled by individual participant.

6. For application and other information contact Dr. Jack Levine, Systems Research Group, 252 Bloor Street West, Toronto 5, Canada. Phone (416) 964-8411.

7. Three separate seminars held simultaneously, each devoted to a special area of planning: the community college, the health sciences center, the university. Designed for senior administrators, academic staff, as well as technically oriented personnel, each seminar demonstrates the concept and describes applications of CAMPUS (Comprehensive Analytical Methods for Planning in University College Systems) an integrated information, planning and budgeting system. Utilizing operations research, information systems, and computer-assisted analysis, each seminar deals with the total concept in stages to meet the different needs of the various levels of administrators and personnel. The first two days (for all personnel) deal with the basics: introduction to CAMPUS, where it can be applied, and what it can and cannot do. The last two days (intended mainly for the technical personnel) probe the technical heart of CAMPUS -- the simulation mode: mathematical and computer structure, adaptation problems, computer operation, and command and control languages.
PLANNING

(b) Long-Range Objectives
1. ESTABLISHING THE MASTER PLAN

2. Didactic Systems, Inc.

3. In-house, as requested.

4. $150 per participant (if 25 participants or more attend) include: program development, staff and all materials. Larger groups require an expanded program.

5. Room and board in-house as requested.

6. For information contact: Erwin Rausch, Didactic Systems, Inc., 6 North Union Avenue, Cranford, New Jersey 07016. Phone (201) 272-5004.

7. A three-day workshop, custom designed for the specific needs of the college or university, to help administrators establish a framework for setting goals and preparing a Master Plan which will actually be used as a working document by the various divisions and departments. Some work is required of prospective participants prior to the start of the seminar.
1. IMPROVING ORGANIZATIONAL EFFECTIVENESS AND DECISION MAKING

2. Didactic Systems, Inc.

3. In-house, as requested.

4. Minimum 10 participants, maximum 15. $250 per participant, includes complete program, staff, and seminar materials.

5. Room and board in-house, or as requested and arranged by sponsoring organization.

6. For information contact: Erwin Rausch, Didactic Systems, Inc., 6 North Union Avenue, Cranford, New Jersey. Phone (201) 272-5004.

7. A two-day workshop custom designed for the specific needs of the college or university to help administrators systematically analyze the decision-making process in their own institutions and to develop long-range plans for streamlining it, while retaining a high degree of participation by all those who are affected. The program covers approaches to clarification of the roles of the various groups as well as the management techniques which can mold these into an effective team. Some work is required of prospective participants prior to the start of the seminar.
1. WORKSHOP ON INSTITUTIONAL GOVERNANCE, POLICY FORMATION AND DECISION

2. Indiana University

4. $100 covers all conference costs except for academic credit which may be earned by additional work and special registration.

5. Participants live in a conference center within a residence hall area.

6. Apply by July 1, to Dr. Robert Shaffer, Professor-Higher Education, School of Education-319, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana 47401.

7. The workshop will be concerned with issues and dilemmas in institutional governance, achieving understanding and congruence of institutional goals and establishing the most effective procedures and mechanisms for sound policy formation and decision making. Models for involving all segments of the university community will be examined and evaluative criteria for judging their effectiveness in specific situations and environments will be developed. Stress will be placed upon effective methods of student involvement and input of student personnel at various levels of institutional governance. The workshop will place greater emphasis upon system concepts, establishing objectives, resolving goal conflicts and clarifying roles than upon the forms and mechanics of governance and administration. Participants, who may earn up to two hours of graduate credit by special registration, are expected to have experience in some phase of administering student affairs.
1. CAREER EDUCATION

2. National Education Program Associates

5. Accommodations at the Essex House, New York City -- $30 per day average.

7. Seminar limited to 15 registrants. Not a lecture. Workshop learning by doing. Participants explore problems and solutions for Long Range Planning. This seminar workshop is designed for educational administrators who have encountered difficulties in achieving success in the planning and control aspects of their operations or who desire an orientation in establishing a long-range plan in order to better control their areas of management responsibilities.
MISCELLANEOUS CONFERENCES

AND

SPECIAL PURPOSE SEMINARS
1. INDIVIDUALIZING INSTRUCTION FOR THE INTELLECTUALLY GIFTED

4. AERA members - $90; nonmembers - $100.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

7. The goal for this session is to interest and train educators and educational researchers in the articulation of highly flexible and individualized approaches for the education of one select group -- the intellectually highly gifted. The objectives of the workshop encompass the study of testing and measurement theory and applications as well as educational planning strategies with respect to this select group.

The prerequisites for participation in the session are a basic understanding of psychological and educational tests and measurement techniques (percentiles, standard scores, norms, etc.). Some familiarity with currently used tests such as those of the College Entrance Examination Board (e.g., SAT-V, SAT-M, and the achievement tests) or the SCAT and STEP series, is important. Participants will also be expected to read in advance a designated short selection of articles and monographs on research with the gifted.
1. RESEARCH ON READING ACQUISITION: WITH AN EMPHASIS ON DEPRIVED POPULATIONS

4. AERA members - $225; nonmembers - $240.

5. Living arrangements at the discretion of the participant.

7. This session will discuss a number of unresolved issues such as the role of language variation and its interference in reading, existence of subskills in reading, and the role of intelligence differences in reading acquisition. The objectives consist of presenting data on each of these issues and introducing new unpublished information on how to facilitate decoding and comprehension. This session will include such topics as: (a) language differences among the disadvantaged; (b) special curriculum needs of the learning-disabled child; (c) operationalization of the comprehension process for instruction; (d) twelve easy ways to make reading difficult; (e) new ways to facilitate perceptual learning; (f) role of intelligence in reading, and how to minimize the effects of low IQ in reading acquisition; (g) theories of the reading process for beginning and skilled readers; and (h) prerequisites for reading.

No special training or background beyond that usually found at professional meetings is required. Selected materials will be given to the audience. Additional materials, such as books, will be available for a temporary loan.
1. THE UNDERWOOD FELLOWSHIPS IN THE CAMPUS MINISTRY

2. The Danforth Foundation

3. Offered annually.

4. No fees.

5.

6. For application materials and requirements write to Robert Rankin, Danforth Foundation, 222 South Central Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri 63105. Completed applications due December 7, 1973.

7. Fellowships available to educational administrators, college and university professors and parish clergy in the university community, as well as to campus ministers. Faculty and administrators as candidates must be interested in the concerns of the campus ministry and its relationship to higher education and must receive an endorsement from a professional campus minister on their campus. The purpose of this grant is to enable faculty and administrators to engage in study or other projects which relate their educational tasks to religious leadership in their institutions. The grant may not be used for study in their own disciplines. Outline of study project and budget will be required. Period of grant -- up to six months. Similar requirements for parish clergy and campus ministers.
1. ANNUAL MEETING OF NCURA

2. National Council of University Research Administrators

4. $50 - two lunches, one breakfast for members, membership dues.

5. Statler Hilton Hotel, Washington, D.C., Rooms-$20 single.

6. Write to: Mr. Robert Gentry, University of Wisconsin, 1746 Van Hise Hall, Madison, Wisconsin 53706.

7. Informative workshop type conference for all those participating and interested in research, training and other sponsored projects at colleges and universities including affiliated hospitals.
1. CONSULTATION SKILLS

2. NTL Institute for Applied Behavioral Science

4. Tuition and registration: Seven day programs -- $350; Twelve day programs -- $395.

5. Accommodations approximately $175 at California and Miami sites; $165 at Colorado site. To be paid to hotel.

6. Brochure sent on request. Contact Information Services, NTL Institute, 1201 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Phone (202) 833-4341. Application form to be completed and returned to Admissions Department one month in advance of program, if possible. (Cable reservations accepted.)

7. For professionals engaged in helping others -- internal and external consultants, lawyers, teachers, ministers, program administrators, etc. Emphasizes principles and skills of helping individuals, groups, and organizations toward a fuller use of resources and more creative solutions to work problems. Participants work on such aspects of consultation as building a climate for change, collecting and analyzing data, ethics of change, principles for giving help, and on staff and team development.
1. TECHNICAL MESSAGE MANAGEMENT FOR EXECUTIVES

2. UCLA - The School of Engineering and Applied Science, Graduate School of Management and University Extension

3. April 6 & 7, 1973, University of California, Los Angeles, Room 2444, Boelter Hall.

4. Fee includes textbook when listed, class materials or the use of them and a campus parking permit. Fees do not include lodging or meals.

5. Accommodations are available at special rates in Rieber Residence Hall. Write to Residence Halls Coordinator, Rieber Hall, 310 De Neve Drive, Los Angeles, California 90024. Phone (213) 825-5305.

6. Apply to Continuing Education in Engineering and Science, Post Office Box 24902, University of California Extension, Los Angeles, California 90024. Phone (212) 825-1295 or 825-3344.

7. Examination of real-world problems in message management establishes that methods for control of programs and organizations are not applicable to management of either large or small formal technical communications. The special constraints imposed by the nature of complex communications and by the characteristics of the author-presenter, and contributor-team are explored. Special emphasis is placed upon the severe constraints media designers must meet in adapting to reader and audience limitations in information assimilation. Effective devices to set direction, control content, and standardize message inputs are introduced, and their application in message management developed. A workshop utilizes exercises in management of the message simulated proposals and presentations to build confidence in application of the methodology.

Requirements: Bachelor's degree or equivalent.
ACADEMY FOR EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT - MANAGEMENT DIVISION: Plans to arrange a series of invitational seminars and to cooperate with other organizations in the planning and operation of conferences concerned with improvements in the governance, organization, and management of institutions of higher education, primarily the four-year colleges and universities.

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATORS held its first National Assembly in Chicago May 1-2, 1972, and is already making plans for National Assembly Two, to be held in Washington, D. C., May 6-7, 1973, with the theme, "Career Development for Administrators". A statement of Rights of Administrators has been adopted and publicized. A twenty-four hour seminar on collective bargaining and higher education will be held February 25-26, 1973, at Chicago's O'Hare Holiday Inn. An invitational conference on major issues faced by higher education administrators is being planned for the summer of 1973, as is a mini-conference on administrative accountability and evaluation. A Clearing House for Career Advancement has been established. For further information contact Fred A. Bennett, General Secretary, American Association of University Administrators, One Library Circle, Crosby Hall, Buffalo, New York 14214. Phone (716) 245-5551.

BRAKELEY, JOHN PRICE JONES, INC. has in the past offered seminars in the areas of organization, planning and governance. Though no seminars in these areas are scheduled for 1973, they will be offered in sufficient demand as indicated. For more information contact Bernd Brecher, Senior Vice President, Brakeley, John Price Jones, Inc., 6 East 43rd Street, New York, New York 10017. Phone (212) 697-7120.

DOUGLAS TROUT ASSOCIATES, INC. offers consulting services and training for institutions of higher education, including teleproduction consulting services, program production, and training (workshops and seminars) in Washington, at regional centers, and/or on campus. For information on future programs, contact William B. Dunham, Consultant, Douglas Trout Associates, Inc., 888-17th Street, N.W., Suite 1101, Washington, D. C. 20006. Phone (202) 659-4685.
THE KANSAS CITY REGIONAL COUNCIL FOR HIGHER EDUCATION has conducted many conferences, seminars and workshops covering such diverse topics as The Cost-Price Squeeze, Concepts of Data Processing, Social Welfare as a Social Institution, Student-Centered Instructional Improvement Program, Decision-Making for College Management Teams, and Commercial Sales Techniques in the College Setting. Other programs have been aimed at college bookstore managers, admissions directors, business managers, librarians, development officers, physical plant personnel, information systems users, and others. For information on future programs contact D. Stanley Love, Executive Associate, Kansas City Regional Council for Higher Education, 4901 Main Street, Suite 309, Kansas City, Missouri 64112. Phone (816) 561-6693.

THE NATIONAL CENTER FOR DISPUTE SETTLEMENT (NCDS) of the American Arbitration Association conducts various seminars and workshops under the general designation of Alternative Approaches to Problem Solving Using Negotiations, Mediation and Arbitration. Some activities may apply to the campus situation, others may not. Techniques used in these activities include role playing, case studies, audio-visual aids, small group discussions and general meetings. The seminars and workshops are most often developed in cooperation with other groups such as individual universities and associations, like the American Association for Higher Education and the National Student Association. College and university officials interested in either attending up-coming activities or co-sponsoring an activity with NCDS should contact Phyllis E. Kaye, Program Development Officer, National Center for Dispute Settlement, 1212 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Phone (202) 628-1545.

THE NATIONAL CENTER FOR THE EXPLORATION OF HUMAN POTENTIAL offers experiential leadership and facilitator training programs, a series of short, intensive training experiences in group methods designed to actualize human potential. These are offered on a fee basis to requesting institutions. For more information contact Dr. A. J. Lewis, National Center for the Exploration of Human Potential, 8080 El Paseo Grande, La Jolla, California 92037. Phone (714) 459-4469.

Other Management Division Publications

BY 1990: DOUBLED ENROLLMENTS, TRIPLED COSTS. Charts showing the chronic financial squeeze with which most urban universities will have to learn to live.

MEETING THE FINANCIAL PINCH AT ONE UNIVERSITY. The university is Princeton; the saving -- one million dollars -- reflects the impact of Provost William Bowen's incisive memorandum explaining why the University needed to tighten its belt.

BLACK STUDIES: HOW IT WORKS AT TEN UNIVERSITIES. After the ideological furor dies down, there are these management problems to solve: organization, faculty, money.

319 WAYS COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES ARE MEETING THE FINANCIAL PINCH. An expanded check-list of practices being used right now to save money and increase income.

THE ADVANTAGES OF WORK-STUDY PLANS. In addition to helping balance a university budget, work-study can attract capable students who need a chance to earn their way, and make education more relevant for all students.

SURVIVAL THROUGH CHANGE. A case study of a privately supported urban university's plan to fight the budget squeeze.

RESCUE BEGINS AT HOME. Highlights of To Turn the Tide (Father Paul C. Reinert, President of St. Louis University), including an 11-point self-help plan other institutions can follow.

PUTTING COOPERATION TO WORK. A survey of how voluntary cooperation is helping colleges and universities.

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT IN HIGHER EDUCATION. Three papers discussing general scope and problems, focusing on the current issues of tenure and collective bargaining, and suggesting ways to decrease costs and increase efficiency.

HIGHER EDUCATION WITH FEWER TEACHERS. A survey of colleges and universities which have recently increased their student-faculty ratio to 20 to 1 or more, for those who are considering such a change and wondering how class size affects quality.

THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF BUSINESS MANAGEMENT TO HIGHER EDUCATION MANAGEMENT. Report of a seminar, in which higher education administrators learned from business experience without losing sight of differences between the two institutions.

(SINGLE COPIES OF ALL MANAGEMENT DIVISION PUBLICATIONS ARE FREE). There will be a charge for quantity orders. We will be pleased to provide, at your request, information on these charges.
