Designed to measure comprehension of intact and deleted sentence structures corresponding to selected deletion transformation rules, this test is intended to be used with primary age children. Eight test passages were constructed at each of the first reader and high second reader levels from stories in the Ginn Basic Reader so that each passage contained test sentences for 12 deletion transformations (WH deletion, BE deletion, WH and BE deletion, that and subject as object, performative deletion, imperative deletion, preposition deletion, verb phrase deletion, noun phrase deletion, noun phrase and auxiliary deletion, noun phrase and verb and other elements in the verb phrase deletion, and comparative deletion), half in the deleted form and the other half intact. [This document is one of those reviewed in The Research Instruments Project (TRIP) monograph "Measures for Research and Evaluation in the English Language Arts" to be published by the Committee on Research of the National Council of Teachers of English in cooperation with the ERIC Clearinghouse on Reading and Communication Skills. A TRIP review which precedes the document lists its category (Reading), title, author, date, and age range (primary), and describes the instrument's purpose and physical characteristics.] (WR)
The attached document contains one of the measures reviewed in the TRIP committee monograph titled:

Measures for Research and Evaluation in the English Language Arts

TRIP is an acronym which signifies an effort to abstract and make readily available measures for research and evaluation in the English language arts. These measures relate to language development, listening, literature, reading, standard English as a second language or dialect, teacher competencies, or writing. In order to make these instruments more readily available, the ERIC Clearinghouse on Reading and Communication Skills has supported the TRIP committee sponsored by the Committee on Research of the National Council of Teachers of English and has processed the material into the ERIC system. The ERIC Clearinghouse accession numbers that encompass most of these documents are CS20/320-CS20/315.
Purpose - To measure comprehension of intact and deleted sentence structures corresponding to selected deletion transformation rules.

Date of Construction - 1972

Physical Description - Deletion transformations are one of the set of elementary transformations in the transformational generative grammar and they function to remove items from a string of words. Fagan's (1969) grammar served as the starting point in delineation of deletion transformations to be included in the experimental cloze tests. Rules were added and omitted on the basis of linguistic analysis of primary reading material. Only optional deletion transformation rules could be included because both the intact and deleted forms corresponding to these rules are grammatical. Intact sentence structures refer to sentences in which words that could be optionally deleted by a transformation rule have been left intact.

The 12 deletion transformations in the final set follow:

1. WH deletion: Example - Here are the very best shoes you can buy.
2. BE deletion: Example - Nothing but bread in the wagon.
   - A big, big hill.
3. WH & BE deletion - Example - Here is a big bear funny and brown.
"We are ready to go now," said Mr. Wonderful.
"You get in the school bus."

Just then the children saw a balloon man.
"Balloons!" called the balloon man.
He had red balloons and he had blue balloons.
The children ran to get balloons as fast as they could.

"I want a red balloon," said one little girl.
"Red is the color that I like best."

Then the children ran and jumped on the bus.
Away went the big yellow bus.
Then the school bus went up, up, up.
It went up over the trees and it went up over the houses.
"What can I do?" said Mr. Wonderful.

"I think I know what to do," said one of the children.
"We can help to make the bus come down.
We can pop the balloons.

Then pop, pop, pop!
Pop! went the big blue balloons and pop! went the big red balloons.
All of the children in the bus did get home to dinner.

4. (That) & S as Object: Example - They think I am too little.

5. Performative deletion: Example - Zoom! Zoom!
   - On down a hill.

6. Imperative deletion: Example - Look in this bag.

7. Preposition deletion: Example - I can help you make a cake.

8. Verb phrase deletion: Example - Flip and Pony went fast.

9. Noun phrase deletion: Example - Mr. Green saw the girls and came to the door.

10. Noun phrase and auxiliary (verb) deletion: Example - The fly sat on his nose and then on his ear.

11. Noun phrase and verb and other elements in the verb phrase deletion: Example - A black bear came to the pond to drink and to catch fish.

12. Comparative deletion: Example - Before long he could read as well as anyone in the woods.

Eight test passages were constructed at each of the first reader and high second reader levels from stories in the Ginn Basic Readers so that each passage contained test sentences for all 12 deletion transformations, half in deleted form and the other half intact. The cloze technique was applied to all passages so that ultimately every word was deleted. Since there is some question about the validity of the cloze procedure at the first-grade level, an oral response was accepted. Pupils in grade two provided written responses to cloze blanks.
"We are ready to go now," said Mr. Wonderful. "Get in the school bus."

Just then the children saw a balloon man. "Here are balloons!" called the balloon man. He had red balloons and blue balloons. The children ran to get balloons as fast as they could run.

"I want a red balloon," said one little girl. "Red is the color I like best."

Then the children ran and the children jumped on the bus. Away went the big yellow bus. Then the school bus went up, up, up. It went up over the trees and the houses. "What can I do?" said Mr. Wonderful.

"I think that I know what to do," said one of the children. "We can help make the bus come down. We can pop the balloons."

Then pop, pop, pop went the balloons! Pop! went the big blue balloons and the big red balloons. All of the children who were in the bus did get home to dinner.
Validity and Normative Data:

The tests were administered to 160 children in each of grade one and grade two. In order to ensure a representative sample of cloze test items, grade one pupils completed between 26 and 106 cloze blanks. The number of items completed by pupils at the second-grade level ranged from 111 to 129. First grade pupils obtained a mean proportion score of 0.329 on the cloze tests with a standard deviation of 0.145. Pupils in grade two obtained a mean of 0.357 and a standard deviation of 0.136. Correlations between scores obtained on the experimental cloze tests and the comprehension subtest of the Gates-MacGinitie tests were computed. The correlation coefficient at the first-grade level was 0.738 and at the second-grade level, 0.744. Both scores were statistically significant at the .001 level of confidence, suggesting that the experimental cloze tests are a valid measure of reading comprehension at both the first and second grade levels when an oral response is accepted from pupils in grade one.

DIRECTIONS FOR ADMINISTERING THE CLOZE TESTS

Say: "I have taken some stories from a grade one/two reader and I have left some of the words out. I want to see if you can tell what words should go in each of the spaces."

Grade One

Sample: Read: "Go fast, Flip," (pause and point to the space) Tom;" Then say: "What word can go in this space (point)?" If the child responds correctly, proceed. If the child responds incorrectly, read the sentence with the word the child has suggested and say: "Does that word sound right?" If the child says yes, say: "Not quite. The word said can go in this space to make the sentence "Go fast, Flip," said Tom. If the child says no, say: "The word said can go in this space to make the sentence "Go fast, Flip," said Tom. Proceed with the next sentence. If the child does not respond after approximately 15 seconds, ask: "Do you have any idea what word could go in this space?" If no, say: "This is a practice one so I will help you." Then continue as above.

"Go fast, Flip," _____ Tom.
"Run fast, Pony. _____ can play cowboy."
Flip _____ Pony did go fast.
_____ Cowboy Tom went fast.
_____ went Tom for a ______.

Test: Say: "Now I want you to tell me what word goes in each space on this page. (present page). You may either read the sentence to yourself and then tell me what word should go in each space; or you can read the sentence out loud putting in the word that you think should go in the space." Record the child's response for each item on the answer form.

If the child does not respond after approximately 15 seconds, ask: "Do you have any idea what word could go in this space?" If not, say: "That's fine, leave that one and go on to the next one."

If the child responds with more than one word at any point in the test, say: "You can only put in one word."
Grade Two

Sample: Read the first two sentences and have the children orally complete the blanks. Then have them print one word in each blank in the remainder of the sample passages.

Test: Say: "Print one word in each blank on this page. If you need help to spell a word, put up your hand and I will help you."

One day Patsy and ____ mother went into the ____ paper store. They wanted ____ pick out wall paper ____ Patsy's room.

"Look, Mother!" ____ Patsy. "See all the ____ of wall paper! At ____ I liked this green ____ best of all. Now ____ like the yellow paper ____ the flowers better."

One day a little old woman made a pancake. The pancake jumped out of the pan. "I will help you catch that pancake," said the little old man. The old man ran after the pancake and the old woman ran after the pancake. The pancake called back, "You run as fast as you can. You cannot catch me."

Pancake Man rolled on and Pancake Man rolled on. On down a hill. A dog that was at the foot of the hill saw the pancake. "A pancake!" said the dog. "This is something that I want for my dinner." The dog ran after the pancake but could not catch it.

The Pancake Man met a fox. He sang, "I ran away from a little old woman and I ran away from a little old man. I know I can run away from you, too."

The fox said, "I do not want to run after you. Sing for me again." Pancake Man sat by the fox. And the fox ate him up.
Betty and Nan ran up the street.
Soon they met Dick and they met Tom.
Buttons, Dick's little pet dog, was with the boys.

"You come with us," said Nan.
"We are going to look in the toy store window."

"Look at the toy cake," said Betty.
"I like to help Mother make cakes."

"There is a toy airplane," said Dick.
"A toy airplane is in the store window.
It can go faster than the train."

Buttons ran into the store and Buttons jumped up in the window.

One morning Ben and Mary Ann ran to Father. "We are building a store at school," said Ben. "Can you help us to find some boxes, please?"

"I think there are some empty boxes in the basement," said Father. "You take as many as you want."

The children put some boxes on Ben's express wagon, and went up the street to school.

The man who was in the shoe store called to them, "Do you want some more boxes?"

"We want all the boxes we can get," said Ben.

Mr. Tony was the peanut man. He had a sign which said, "Popcorn and peanuts are warm and brown." He put a yellow box in the wagon.

"Thank you," called Ben. Then the children went around the block and on to school.

At school Mary Ann picked up the little yellow box.

"We can play store with these boxes and peanuts. Mr. Tony's peanuts are better than any other peanuts in town."

"Run to the window," called Mother. "Your friends will be here soon."

"That looks like the bus looks now," said Joe.

Mary Ann opened the door of the apartment and looked out. She saw five of her friends get off the elevator.

"Come in and see Sonny Bear dance," called Ben.

The children watched Sonny Bear dance and they watched him jump. Then they all helped Mary Ann eat the birthday cake!

After the party Mary Ann took some birthday cake out to Bill who was the elevator man.

"I thought something was happening up here today," he said.

"Now I have a surprise for you. We will take a ride all the way to the basement." Then the elevator began to go down. Down to the basement it went. "We have some new neighbours," said Bill.

"Mrs. Tabby cat with five kittens!" said Mary Ann.

"I like the fine sign that Bill has put on the box!"

Three circus clowns were dressing in a small tent. They were looking in their big boxes for trick hats and funny shoes. The three clowns wanted to look as funny as they could look for the big circus.

The tall clown had a policeman suit and green hair. He got into his old car. Away he went into the big tent.

The big clown had a trick hat. "This is the funniest hat that I have," said the big clown. "I think the children will like it." The hat had a little bell on the top. Tinkle! Tinkle! went the bell. The big clown went out with Billy, his trick goat.

The little clown was dressing too. He painted his face white and he put a big red dot on his nose. Into the circus tent he went.

Mary and Ben were in the big circus tent.

"Some of the children at school have gardens," thought Abel. "I will have one, too." He picked up cans and he picked up sticks. Then he took the shovel and began to dig.

Mr. Gates looked out of his window. "You cannot have a garden without corn," he said.

Abel knew how to plant beans, but he did not know how to plant corn. "Can you help me plant my corn?" he asked.

Mr. Gates told him just what to do. "You put four seeds in each hill," he said. "I suppose you have heard the old rhyme? One is for the squirrel, one is for the crow, one is for the chicks, and one is to grow."

Mr. Gates' rhyme could not have been right. The squirrels and the chicks did not get this corn. How it did grow! It grew right up under Mr. Gates' window.

Mr. Gates said, "This is about the best corn I ever saw. It is as pretty as a picture is."

Up flew the big airplane.
"Just the same old trip," said the pilot. "There is the same train that we always see on the track here."
"There are the piles of lumber at the lumber mill and by the loading station," said the co-pilot.
The pilot knew all of the big farms which were along the way.
All at once the co-pilot said, "Look down there! What is that by the farmhouse? It looks like smoke."
The airplane turned and flew over the farmhouse. Roar! Roar! it went.
"I don't see a fire engine," said the co-pilot. "I don't think the farmer knows that his barn is burning."
Around the airplane went once again. It flew low and it flew straight ahead. The farmer and his wife heard the noise.
Soon the pilot saw two big fire engines come up the road. He watched the fire engines help to put out the fire.
Far away in the big woods was a little pond. The animals thought the little pond was beautiful.

A mother duck quacked to her baby ducks who were near the shore. A black bear came to the pond to drink and to catch fish. The birds liked the little pond and the raccoons liked the little pond, too.

One summer there was no rain for many days. The grass the rabbit liked to eat turned brown.

The duck said, "Far away through the trees, there is a big lake which has more water than our little pond has. I will help you find it. You follow me."

All the animals followed. On through the hot, dry woods. All at once they heard a loud noise overhead.

"I have found it," quacked the duck. "I saw green grass and I saw flowers there."

For many days the animals stayed by the big lake. Then one day it rained and they started back to the little pond. The duck went ahead and showed the others the way. The animals did not think the trip was a long one this time.

Second Reader, Passage Seven, Version II

Far away in the big woods was a little pond. The animals thought that the little pond was beautiful.

A mother duck quacked to her baby ducks near the shore. A black bear came to the pond to drink and to catch fish. The birds and the raccoons liked the little pond, too.

One summer there was no rain for many days. The grass which the rabbit liked to eat turned brown.

The duck said, "Far away through the trees, there is a big lake which has more water than our little pond. I will help you to find it. Follow me."

All the animals followed. On through the hot, dry woods they went. All at once they heard a loud noise overhead.

"I have found it," quacked the duck. "I saw green grass and flowers there."

For many days the animals stayed by the big lake. Then one day it rained and they started back to the little pond. The duck went ahead and showed the others the way. The animals did not think the trip was a long one this time.

Second Reader, Passage Eight, Version I

Every morning all the animals in the woods went to school. That is, they all went but Timothy Bear.

One day Timothy saw something in his mailbox, but he did not know how to read.

Soon Billy Bunny came down the road and Betty Bunny came down the road. Hoppity-hop! Hoppity-hop! Billy was helping Betty to carry a big bowl of cabbage salad.

The five squirrel brothers brought an apple pie and a basket of nuts. More animals came by and each one had a covered basket.

Timothy followed them and he peeked around a tree. A picnic! It was the most wonderful picnic that he had ever seen.

Timothy began to cry.

Mac Mouse saw Timothy. "Come to the picnic," he called. "The postman put a letter about the picnic in your mailbox."

Just then Mother Bear came down the road with a ginger cake and she came down the road with Timothy's letter. "Now you can see it is always good to know how to read," she said.

The very next day Timothy went to school. Before long he could read as well as anyone in the woods.
