Title: Library Materials for Schools in Appalachia.
Pub Date: 74
Page Count: 73p.
Availability: West Virginia University Library, Main Campus, West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia 26505
Price: MF-$0.75 HC-$3.15 PLUS POSTAGE

Descriptors:
- Annotated Bibliographies
- Bibliographies
- Children's Literature
- Instructional Media
- Library Materials
- School Libraries
- Appalachia

Abstract:
A product of a library science seminar on Appalachian library materials at West Virginia University, this selective bibliography includes school library materials in print about, relating to, or rooted in Appalachia. There are lists of fiction; poetry; drama; folklore and folk music; biography; history, geography and travel; social and environmental awareness; films; filmstrips; recordings; arts and crafts; natural history and resources; periodicals; and teachers resources. Grade levels are listed separately for fiction; history, geography, and travel; and natural history and resources. Most bibliographic items are annotated. There are lists of film distributors, filmstrip distributors, and record companies. (LS)
LIBRARY MATERIALS
FOR SCHOOLS
IN APPALACHIA

WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY
LIBRARY MATERIALS FOR SCHOOLS
IN APPALACHIA

Edited by George E. Bennett

West Virginia University Library
Morgantown
1974
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction

1.0 Literature: Fiction, Poetry and Drama
1.1 Elementary Level Fiction .............................................. 2
1.2 Junior High Level Fiction ............................................. 3
1.3 Senior High Level Fiction ........................................... 8
1.4 Poetry and Drama .................................................... 13
1.4a Poetry ................................................................... 23
1.4b Drama ................................................................... 27

2.0 Folklore and Folk Music
2.1 Folklore ..................................................................... 26
2.2 Folk Music .................................................................. 31

3.0 Social Sciences: Biography; History, Geography, and travel;
3.1 Biography ................................................................ 35
3.2 History, Geography, and Travel .................................... 37
3.2a Elementary Level History, Geography, and Travel ........ 37
3.2b Junior and Senior High Level History, Geography, and Travel ................................................................... 40
3.3 Social and Environmental Awareness ............................. 41

4.0 Media ........................................................................ 46
4.1 Films ......................................................................... 46
4.1a List of Film Distributors .............................................. 50
4.1b Filmstrips ................................................................... 51
4.1c List of Filmstrip Distributors ....................................... 51
4.1d Recordings ............................................................... 55
4.1e Record Company Addresses ....................................... 59

5.0 Miscellaneous ............................................................ 60
5.1 Arts and Crafts .......................................................... 60
5.2 Natural History and Resources ..................................... 62
5.2a Elementary Level Natural History and Resources ....... 62
5.2b Secondary Level Natural History and Resources .......... 64
5.3 Periodicals ............................................................... 67
5.4 Teacher's Resources ................................................... 69
INTRODUCTION

During the summer session of 1972, thirty students met in Library Science 109 Seminar on Appalachian Library Materials at West Virginia University. The first stated objective of the course was "to gain a deeper insight into the culture of Appalachia..." Secondly, they were "to explore and evaluate a variety of media which might be made available through a school library to generate and nurture in Appalachian children and young people a pride in their cultural heritage..."

In order to meet the second objective, the students compiled a large number of bibliographic cards, annotating and listing appropriate books and media. That bibliography has been edited into the listings that follow.

The seminar was taught by Professors Olive D. Lewis and Victorine A. Longstaff of the Department of Library Science, West Virginia University. The students who participated were: Barbara Aquare, Mary Lou Baker, James Carter Breinig, Barry Joseph Closer, Lou Ann Crawford, Marion Eliza Davies, Patricia Leon Fraley, Beth Freeland, Barbara Ann Gunn, Barbara Hawkins, Douglas E. Harris, Nancy Lee Hosken, Cheryl McCloy, Fannie McGlothlin, Gloria Ann Propst, Mary E. Propst, Carolyn Roach Pugh, Paula K. Reidland, Maria Rhodes, Mary Jane Russell, Gail Semain, Darby Shafter, Rebecca Kay Shreiner, Mary J. Black Smith, Winmaleen Swiger, Winnie Juanita Vance, Henrietta Walker, Barbara Kay White, Lawrence Williams, and Anne Lynne Wilkes.

The works listed here by no means constitute an exhaustive Appalachian bibliography. At least three limitations were placed upon the bibliography. Primarily, the bibliography was to be listing of book and non-book materials that can be purchased by school librarians and teachers. Therefore, out-of-print items were deleted. The bibliographic information is geared to the purchase of the items, and only the latest publisher and edition are usually given. Occasionally the copyright date is entered rather than the publishing date, particularly for an older book that has been reprinted.

Secondly, there was the limitation of space. For example, to list and annotate phonograph recordings of Appalachian folk music, Appalachian labor music, and Appalachian country music would require practically a book in itself, only representative works from these fields have been included.

Thirdly, all magazine articles were omitted because reproductions of such articles would be not only expensive but also difficult to obtain. For example, although a large number of items related to the health and nutrition of Appalachian people were collected, all of those items were magazine articles. No book-length treatments of the health and nutrition problems of Appalachian people exist. The subject is mentioned here so that teachers and librarians might be aware of it. If one wants articles on health and nutrition, or on any subject related to Appalachian, then one should see the Appalachian Bibliography (2 vols. Morgantown: West Virginia University Library, 1972, 116p, $20.00), which is the most complete bibliography of Appalachian material now available.

The page numbers given in the bibliographic information may not be exactly accurate, but certainly they are reasonably close. Some discrepancies occur because Books in Print (used for prices) does not list page numbers, and so a source such as Cumulative Book Index was used to determine the number of pages in the first edition of a book. Often when a book is either reprinted or published in paperback, the page numbers differ; and since teachers are aware that some students are "turned off" by a large book regardless of the contents, the page numbers are included in the bibliography.

Finally, the grade level indications are included when available. A book was usually included only once, and then placed in that section (elementary, junior high, senior high) in which its grade level began. For example, if a book had been written for grades 3-10, it was entered in the junior high section and was not repeated in the senior high section. This occurred for the most part with fiction books.
1.0 LITERATURE: FICTION, POETRY AND DRAMA

No attempt has been made to give subjective judgments of the relative worth of the fiction here. Since opinions may differ among teachers and librarians as well as among critics, it is considered more valuable for schools to have a list of available items rather than a list tailor-made to represent certain views.

It ought to be noted, however, that quite stimulating discussions should arise when students and teachers consider the accuracy of the portrayals of Appalachian people in the fiction. In particular, one might compare the romantic notions of Mary N. Murfree and John Fox, Jr., to the more modern and realistic views of Harriette Arnow, Mildred Haun, and Cormac McCarthy, among others. Notions of romance, moreover, continue to exist in fiction about Appalachia and this too can be explored.

But the value of fiction is not solely, nor even primarily, in its portrayals of society. One would hope that good fiction would be treated as an art form as well. In this vein, a few Appalachian writers have attained levels of truly national importance: such as Thomas Wolfe, James Agee, and Jesse Stuart. Not far below them are writers such as Harriette Arnow, John Ehle, Davis Grubb, and Cormac McCarthy. Many others are certainly competent writers, being published regularly by established book firms. While such a perspective is important, the point is that Appalachian people have good reason to be as proud of their contemporary writers as of their unnamed and unknown folk-song composers.
1.1 ELEMENTARY LEVEL FICTION

"Beanie goes for a walk in the Carolina woods near his home with his new puppy, Tough Enough, and a toy gun; and he meets a bear!"

"Beanie Tatum, his Great Smoky Mountain family, and his dog Tough Enough come to life in a humorous story."

______. Tough Enough and Sassy. New York: Walck, 1958. 64p. $4.25. (gr. 4-6)

______. Tough Enough's Indians. New York: Walck, 1960. 64p. $4.25. (gr. 4-6)

______. Tough Enough's Pony. New York: Walck, 1957. 64p. $4.25. (gr. 2-4)
Visiting his grandparents, Beanie finds a nearly-dead wild colt. After caring for it, Beanie convinces his father to take the colt back to their mountain home.

______. Tough Enough's Trip. New York: Walck, 1956. 64p. $4.25. (gr. 4-6)

Story of the single-minded enthusiasm of Jamie, a mute boy, who is given the role of one of the shepherds in a church celebration but a blizzard immobilizes the poor mountain community.

"Five-year old Charley subdues his spirits sufficiently to earn the privilege of carrying the flag at school."

-3-
Happy Little Family. Pictures by Decie Merwin. New York: Holt, c1947. 116p. $3.97. (gr. 4-6)
"The day-by-day experiences in the life of the Fairchild family. Based on the author's childhood spent in the Kentucky mountains."

"Jay, a young Tennessee farm boy, finds a cricket and makes a pet of it."

Saturday Cousins. New York: Holt, 1953. 120p. $3.07. (gr. 4-6)
"The games and adventures of six cousins who visit each other's home every Saturday." Setting is fifty years ago in Kentucky.

Schoolhouse in the Woods. Pictures by Decie Merwin. New York: Holt, 1949. 120p. $3.07. (gr. 2-4)
"Bonnie is old enough to go to the one room mountain school of forty years ago."

"Vacation finds Bonnie and her sister selling bluing and pictures from door to door."

Contrary Jenkins always did the opposite of what people told him to do.

Chaffin, Lillie D. Freeman. New York: Macmillan, 1972. 152p. $4.95. (gr. 4-7)
"Exciting adventure story of a young boy on his own rough frontier in Tennessee in 1810. Based on historical fact and figures."

"The McCoys were always picking up and taking off, buying second hand and leaving things to pay for rent. Tired of broken promises...John Henry dreams about putting down roots in the coal-mining mountains of Eastern Kentucky."

"With their Granny's help, two children from the Blue Ridge Mountains find a way to earn money to buy squeaky shoes but then almost lose it."

"Conflict between good and evil is the theme that blends ancient Celtic legendary lore with the devastating effects of strip mining in Western Penna."

Two black children and one white child in a West Virginia mining town become travellers in time.

"Melinda goes to stay with Aunt Wilma in a remote mountain cabin. She and a playmate, Bert, enjoy the forest playground and locate Aunt Wilma's long lost sister."

The unusual experiences of Sam who goes off by himself to live off the land.

"Matt and Glory, brother and sister, live in a cabin in the Tennessee mountains; and through adventure and misfortune, they get to see what is on the other side of the mountain."

A strange child falls from another planet through a doorway into a Southern Appalachian landing place.

"Langstaff has fashioned this version of an old Southern Appalachian mountain trading song, combining the verses he likes best. Filled with broad humor and simple fun."

"The Boy comes over the mountains into a lovely valley where he feels much at home. In his search for his family, he meets the Scarecrow, Mr. Fox, the Witch, the Snowman, and the old man."

Lenski, Lois. Blue Ridge Billy. Philadelphia: Lippincott, c1946. 203p. $5.82. (gr. 4-6)
Written to share the life of the people of the Blue Ridge. Has a glossary of mountain words and phrases.

______. Coal Camp Girl. Philadelphia: Lippincott, c1959. 173p. $4.95. (gr. 4-6)
Life of a family in a coal mining town in West Virginia.

Miles, Miska. Gertrude's Pocket. Illus. by Emily McCully. Boston: Atlantic, Little, 1970. 55p. $5.00. (gr. 1-3)
"Gertrude figures the Tollivers are lucky. They have corn, growing vegetables, hogs, chickens, and now she has a dollar!"

"Not only are Hoagie's pants worn to the point of tearing apart but he and his little brother are always hungry. Their parents are willing to work but there is little work for them to do."

A tale of family reunion, which describes vividly the ever-present anxiety hanging over a mining community in West Virginia.

Raymond, Charles. Jud. Boston: Houghton, 1968. 212p. $3.50. (gr. 4-8)
"Jud Harrow is a spoiled, weak, city kid...To correct this... Pop transports his wife and son to a remote farm on the Smoky Mountains near where he spent his childhood with no television or modern conveniences...."

Savoldi, Gloria Root. Tennessee Boy. Philadelphia: Westminster, 1972. 159p. $4.75. (gr. 5+)
"In 1865 two 13-year old boys, one black, one white, discover many things about each other and the war while traveling the Tennessee mountains to Washington City."

Snow, Dorothea J. A Sight of Everything. Illus. by Vee Guthrie. Boston: Houghton, 1963. 64p. $2.75. (gr. 4-6)
Purdie Popejoy's brothers and sisters are always borrowing money from him, and he's trying to save money for a wagon.
Chris, who lives in the Tennessee mountains, cannot understand why his brother joins the Union Army. He begins to learn the futility of war and the true meaning of courage.

For most of his 11 years Caje Antis has wandered the Tennessee forests with a father he does not understand; then he is left with a settled family.

David, an orphan in the mountains, lives with Grandma Beverly. He goes through the trials of finding Grandma a present.

In the Kentucky mountains Shan meets Old Ben, a big, bull, black snake. Old Ben, with his gentle, friendly ways makes Shan and his family gain a better understanding of snakes.

"The Fogles live up on High Lonesome and life has always been the same, shooting, and fighting, and yelling, until Lysander Bochamp comes to live with them. He doesn’t shoot or fight—he plays the fiddle."

"Set in the coal-mining area of eastern Kentucky...A lonely boy struggles to break through a wall of shame, anger, and pride in order to understand who he is and where he belongs."

Wilson, Leon.  This Boy Cody. Illus. by Ursula Koering. New York: Franklin Watts, 1950. 235p. $3.95. (gr. 4-6)
Cody Capshaw is a ten-year old mountain boy who gets into exciting scrapes.

This Boy Cody and His Friends. Illus. by Ursula Koering. New York: Franklin Watts, 1952. 272p. $3.95. (gr. 4-6)
Sequel to This Boy Cody. Cody decides to make a fiddle only to discover that he must practice to be able to play on it.
1.2 JUNIOR HIGH LEVEL FICTION

Allen, Merritt P.  The White Feather.  New York: McKay, 1944.  196p.  $4.50.  (gr. 7-11)

"Conflicts between loyalty to the North and to the South arise between an illiterate tyrannical Kentucky mountaineer grandfather and his sensitive, educated 17-year-old grandson."

Blackhurst, Warren E.  Of Men and a Mighty Mountain.  Parsons, W.Va.: McClain, 1965.  120p.  (gr. 7-12)

The drama of one of the greatest lumber operations in the eastern U.S. on Cheat Mountain.

_____.  Riders of the Flood.  Parsons, W.Va.: McClain, 1954.  198p.  $5.00.  (gr. 7-12)

Story of driving logs down the Greenbriar River during the period 1884-1900.

_____.  Sawdust in your Eyes.  Parsons, W.Va.: McClain, 1963.  216p.  $6.00.  (gr. 7-12)

An account of the opening of the Appalachian forests for lumbering. A town full of interesting people.

Burch, Robert.  Queenie Peavy.  New York: Viking, 1966.  159p.  $3.50.  (gr. 5-8)

Queenie is a 13-year-old girl living in Georgia's backwoods in the early 1930's. Focus is on her rebellious attitude and poor family life.

_____.  Skinny.  New York: Viking, 1964.  126p.  $3.50.  (gr. 5-8)

A 12-year-old orphan boy and his search for a home. Set in the southern hills of Georgia.

Burke, James Lee.  To the Bright and Shining Sun.  New York: Scribners, 1970.  241p.  $5.95.  (gr. 7-12)

16-year-old Perry Woodson Hatfield James lives in a depressed hollow in the Cumberland Range.

Bryant, Bernice.  Dan Morgan: Wilderness Boy.  Indianapolis: Bobbs, 1962.  200p.  $2.75.  (gr. 7-8)

Story of a Revolutionary War hero.
10-year-old Sammy is left with his grandfather while his parents go to Detroit to look for work. Sammy grows to love his grandfather.

Summer of the Swans. New York: Viking, 1970. 142p. $3.95. (gr. 7-9)
In a story dealing with the tragedy of retardation, a 14-year-old girl lives with her brain-damaged brother in West Virginia.

Carlson, Natalie S. School Bell in the Valley. New York: Harcourt, c1963. 124p. $3.25. (gr. 6-8)
"A 10-year-old mountain girl of 1900 determines to learn and then to help her shiftless relatives in the valley."

Caudill, Rebecca. Barrie and Daughter. Illus. by Berkeley Williams, Jr. New York: Viking, 1943. 314p. $3.50. (gr. 7-9)
Politics, feuds, and romance, as Fern disagrees with her mother about the proper career for a girl.

"Peace-loving 16-year-old Hetty is suddenly thrust into the hard wilderness of men and women who live by the gun."

"Motherless 15-year-old Monica Fifer is sent by her father to spend the summer with relatives on their farm in Kentucky."

"When Christmas is over, the Fairchild family, in its remote snowbound home, organizes a schoolroom in their parlor."

Tree of Freedom. Illus. by Dorothy Bayley Morse. New York: Viking, 1949. 279p. $3.50. (gr. 7+)
"To escape the fighting during the Revolution, a North Carolina family moves to Kentucky."

John Henry wants to stay in the hills of eastern Kentucky to go all year to the same school, to have a real friend, and a dog of his own.
Faced with the threat of losing their home and of being sent to an orphanage when their father dies, 14-year-old Mary Call Luther plots to keep his death a secret.

The Mimosa Tree. Philadelphia: Lippincott, c1970. 125p. $3.95. (gr. 6-8)
A haunting portrayal of a southern family's migration to Chicago. The children are abandoned by their step-mother.

Story of Abraham Lincoln's grandfather who moved from Va. to Kentucky.

Friermood, Elizabeth H. Ballad of Calamity Creek. Garden City, N.Y.: Doubleday, 1962. 214p. $3.00. (gr. 6-9)
In 1904 Ann leaves Indianapolis to teach in a Kentucky mountain mission school.

"Plain, shy Hannah turns to Tice Fowler when the death of her father leaves her alone in the wilderness of Kentucky."

The Land Beyond the Mountains. New York: Paperback Library, 1972. 308p. $.75. (gr. 8+)
Young Cas Cartwright, Kentucky pioneer, establishes a settlement of his own.

The adventures of fifteen-year-old Meggy both in Scotland and in North Carolina.

The Revolutionary War becomes real to Sukey, as her mother goes into the Georgia mountains seeking out information for the patriots.

A proud and independent family wait for Clay Spencer to return home from a job on Christmas Eve. Set during the Depression.
Kjelgaard, J.A. Rebel Siege. New York: Holiday, 1953. 252p. $4.95. (gr. 7-9)
A frontier rifle-maker's son fights the British in the Carolinas.

Lawrence, Mildred. Walk a Rocky Road. New York: Harcourt, 1971. 187p. $4.95. (gr. 6-9)
Two high school seniors from Curiosity Cove are trying to win college scholarships for their work in the class's Appalachian Studies program.

"In 1793 Gordon Shadrow had gone west to Kentucky to make a new home for his wife and children. The wife died suddenly, leaving the six children in the care of Juda, a free colored woman."

McWhirter, Millie. Hushed Were the Hills. Nashville: Abingdon, 1969. 175p. $3.95. (gr. 7+)
A widow and her two daughters go to live in the Tennessee hills during the Depression.

An adventure story depicting pioneer life in West Va.

Oakley, Helen. Freedom's Daughter. New York: Norton, c1968. 179p. $3.54. (gr. 7-9)
A high spirited girl begs her father to take her to the Wheeling convention, where she argues for the creation of a new state, West Va.

Raymond, Charles. Up From Appalachia. Chicago: Follett, c1966. 191p. $3.95. (gr. 7+)
Lathe Cantrell and his family move to Chicago from Kentucky. Only through Gramm's wisdom are they able to cast off the "hillbilly" stereotype.

Two families, one black and one white, grow to understand each other through their cultural assets. Portrays mountaineers adjusting to the outside world.
   The conflict between the hunters and the farmers of the Plum Grove hills of Kentucky has turned into a feud between the town and the hill people.

   "A boy proves that his 'outdated' farm mule is still worth his keep and that he can be a very good friend, too."

   Classic plot of a boy and a stray animal.

   25 stories, articles, and excerpts "which deal...with the wild and domestic animals of the Kentucky hill country."

   The Jarrett family, pioneers of North Carolina, face a band of renegade Indians.

_____. The Mountain Feud. New York: Washburn, c1969. 147p. $3.95. (gr. 6-9)
   Based on an ancient feud between the Searcy and Coulter families.

   A fictional biography of Mary Harris who rallies labor forces across the country, including the coal fields of West Va., to fight for their rights.
1.3 SENIOR HIGH LEVEL FICTION

______.  A Death in the Family.  New York: Grosset & Dunlap, c1957.  339p.  $4.95.  (gr. 12+)

"Published posthumously, this simply but poetically told novel describes the impact of tragedy upon a close-knit family living in Knoxville, Tenn. in the early years of the present century."

______.  Morning Watch.  Boston: Houghton, 1951.  $4.95.  120p.

An adolescent boy and his "rite of passage" at a church school in the Tenn. mountains.  Deals with a "watch" on Good Friday and the boy's reactions.

Gertie and her family move from the Kentucky mountains to Detroit.  The problems of Appalachian migrants during the second world war.

The life of the Arden family in turn of the century Appalachia.

Collection of 10 short stories, published posthumously, and set in a North Carolina poor community.

For 16-year-old Perry, the Job Corps provides an alternative to mining, as well as a means of getting out of his depressed area in the Cumberland Mountains.

Following WWII, Mundy eventually returns to Coal Creek, Kentucky, where he finds a job transporting moonshine.

The novel "takes Frank Clair from his home in England at the turn of the century...to Kentucky oil fields where he attempts to make money."

Collection of tales of the mountain people in Kentucky. "Comes directly from the lives and the talk of the people..."

A young married woman is carried off from her home in the hills of Appalachian Kentucky in 1789 by Indians.

Caudill, Rebecca. Susan Cornish. New York: Viking, 1955. 286p. $3.79. (gr. 9+)
"Susan Cornish, at 18, was going to teach at a run-down country school and bring new life to it and to the community."

A young couple who are having marital problems take Sooner, a 10-year-old mountain girl who has been neglected, into their urban home to care for her.

Tom Skidmore is caught up in the web of change in his native hills.

"These stories seem to be set in the period following the first World War. The return of the soldiers to the North Carolina mountains, the growth of mill towns, and the interest of outsiders all add to the mountaineers' confusion."

Historical novel of the American frontier. The story of two young people and their journey to their own "Beulah Land."

A story in which communism touches the miners of the Southern mountains.

The Thurston family of Southern Appalachia faces a crisis when a member who has returned from the North gets drunk and supposedly kills a black man in a hunting accident.

The life of Lydia McQueen, a North Carolina mountain woman, from her marriage in 1864 to her death over 30 years later.

The experiences of August King during the early 1800's in rural North Carolina as he helps a runaway slave girl.

"A story of pioneer life in the mountain country of the Carolina-Tennessee border, 1770-1784."

Deals with the railroad's struggle to penetrate the mountain area of North Carolina in the 1870's.

Fox, John, Jr. Christmas Eve on Lonesome and Other Stories. Freeport, N.Y.: Books for Libraries, c1904. 245p. $9.50. (Short Story Index Reprint Series)

"War and peace, feuds and 'furriners' figure in these stories of the Kentucky mountains."

——. A Cumberland Vendetta and Other Stories. Freeport, N.Y.: Books for Libraries, c1895. 221p. $7.75. (Short Story Index Reprint Series)

Feuds are the main topic.

"Life among the mountaineers...at a blue-grass college...class feeling between the mountaineer and the 'furriner'...the way in which Kentucky was rent asunder by the Civil War..."
Two young women strive to break into the Nashville country-singer world.

A woman follows her husband to a Shaker colony in Kentucky in the early 1800's.

---
Shows the feelings that mountain people have for their life in the hills.

---
A brave youth narrates his experiences in the Revolutionary War in Ky.

---
Miss Willie. Greenwich, Conn.: Fawcett, 1972. 268p. $.95 (pap.).
A Texas school teacher comes to the Kentucky mountains and has to learn the ways of the mountain people.

---
In the fall of 1861 Confederate and Union forces begin to clash in the nominally neutral state of Kentucky.

---
The daily life of the Fowler family in Broke Neck, Kentucky.

Illustrates personal relationships to the North Carolina mountain wilderness and the domination of Big Lonesome Mountain over the people.

Mattie Appleyard and his two released jail companions plan to use $25,000 of accumulated prison earnings to open an honest general store for West Va. miners.

General Ballard has come back to Greenway County, Ky., in pursuit of peace and nature; but he is caught up in a battle between the people and water power interests.

Haun, Mildred. The Hawk's Done Gone and Other Stories. Nashville: Collection of stories of an East Tennessee Granny Woman's memories.

$5.95. (gr. 9+)
The Spencers hold on to their Va. mountain land while everyone else sells out to lumber companies. Conflict also between giving their son a college education and preserving him from the hazards of city life.

Harben, William N. Northern Georgia Sketches. Freeport, N.Y.: Books for Libraries, 1900. 305p. $9.50. (Short Story Index Reprint Series)
Relationships between hill folk and town people.

Harris, George Washington. Sut Lovingood's Yarns; Spun by a "Nat'r'l
Born Darn'd Fool;" Warped and Wove for Public Wear. M. Thomas
Inge, ed. New Haven, Conn.: College and Univ. Pr., 1966.
299p. $7.50 ($3.45 pap.). (Masterworks of Literature Series)
22 comic tales from the Southern mountains. Heavy dialect.

At least 3 stories treat mountaineers: "The Ethics of Pig,"
"Squaring the Circle," and "The Whirligig of Life."

$4.95. (gr. 9+)
"Romantic story of Delilah Winfield and her love for Charles Bickley against the background of pioneer life in 18th century
western Va."

305p. $4.50.
In 19th century Tennessee wilderness, Jonathan Cannon comes to teach school and becomes involved with the former wife of a notorious local outlaw.

$.95.
Duncan Welsh returns to the home farm after several years in the North. He finds friendship with a bootlegger and they become the object of an extensive manhunt.
"Two Union soldiers escape from the Confederates, make their way through Va. and the N.C. mountains into Tennessee...to fight in the Battle of Franklin."

Set in Civil War period and having a cast that includes Germans, educated Southerners, and relatively crude mountaineers.

"Set in Tennessee in the 1930's, this novel portrays both the beauty and the grim reality of life in the Smoky Mountains. The story centers around the murder in self-defense of Kenneth Rattner."

"Rinthy Holme bears a child by her brother Culla in a forest shack. Culla abandons the child in the woods...The Bleakness of poverty and the dignity of humility are portrayed in Rinthy's search for the child."

Centers around the stories told Cassandra, an invalid, about the events that occur in her worn-out coal mining town in Eastern Ky.

"Private dramas unfold in a number of interconnected lives and ultimately resolve by a shooting that coincides with the coming of a torrential, life-giving rain."

19-year-old Christy goes to teach in the Smoky Mountains of East Tenn.

Pulitzer Prize winning account of a backwoods Georgia family.

Alternates between five miners trapped by a cave-in and their waiting families.

"Attempts to show the humor and beauty in the lives of the isolated Smoky Mountain folk."

"Hiram Kelsey 'tuck up with religion' after the death of his wife and baby. He has gained a small reputation for 'prophesyin' and stirs up angry feelings among candidates for a local election by prophesying the loser."

In the Tennessee Mountains. Knoxville: Univ. of Tennessee Pr., 1970. 322p. $7.50. (Reprint of 1884 ed.)

Collection of short stories about mountaineers.

Porter, William Sidney. See Henry, O.

Preble, John W. Land of Canaan; Plain Tales From the Mountains of West Virginia. Parsons, West Va.: McClain, 1965. 94p. $5.00.

Collection of tales from the mountains that run the gamut from searching for a snake bite cure to stilling tomato juice.

Quigley, Michael J. April is the Cruelest Month. New York: Herder, 1971. 132p. $1.95 (pap.).

A young girl is dying of cancer in a West Va. coal field and the people try to care for her.

"A psychological study of a Kentucky girl of gentle breeding who is called upon to face more than her share of sordidness."

Time of Man. New York: Popular Library, c1926. 382p. $.95 (pap.).

"The Chessers, a family of poor whites from the Kentucky hills, with the restless urge of pioneers, keep moving from place to place...."

A girl's returning to West Va. to attend her brother's funeral is a starting point in a search to find some reason for his wasted life and useless death.

A historical novel covering the "forced evacuation of Berea College in 1859, up to the end of the Civil War."

"York Allen...manages to get a job teaching in a small West Va. community."

Young man returns to West Va. after serving in the Army and takes a job in a steel mill. Conflicts between company union and an outside labor group.

"The almost unbelievably meager existence of the Kentucky coal miner is excellently set forth."

Collection of 16 Kentucky hill stories. "Superstition, eloquent simplicity, and love stories."

20 short stories, some written as early as 1936, range over a number of topics such as a train wreck and a drunken dog.

A lumberjack falls in love with a beautiful girl who belongs to the Melungeon clan, who live isolated on a Tennessee mountain top.

Tales that highlight the fascination of the Kentucky hill people with snakes. A group of short lyric verses are at the end of the volume.

"Collection of the stories Stuart has written since 1936 about his father, mother, and family in the hills of Greenup County, Ky."

George Gallion, retired principal, returns to work at Kensington High, and with his old fashioned courage and discipline turns delinquents into students, ruffians into football heroes, and scrapes together a first class band.

22 short stories dealing with scenes and people of the Ky. mountains.

Short stories, "several using death and the mountain customs connected with death as their theme."

"Story of the pioneer experiences of a Scotch-Irish family set in the back country of western Penna."

Collection of short stories and sketches.

The Hills Beyond. New York: New American Library, c1941. 386p. $.95 (pap.).

"Posthumous collection of some of Thomas Wolfe's shorter unprinted works."

Look Homeward, Angel. New York: Scribner, c1929. 662p. $2.95 (pap.).

The childhood and youth of Eugene Gant in the town of Altamont, state of Catawba, said to be Asheville, North Carolina. Wolfe's best known work.

Story of George Webber and his life in a southern town. Similar to but more objectively written than Look Homeward, Angel.

Sequel to The Web and the Rock; continues the story of George Webber from the 1920's to middle 1930's.
1.4 POETRY AND DRAMA

(Note: Unfortunately for the Appalachian student, very few works of poetry and drama have been published by the established publishing houses. A few books of poetry have been privately printed by "vanity" presses, but by and large these collections are mere versifying and are not poetry. The teacher and librarian can augment poetry with ballads and folksongs. A number of outdoor dramas are now taking place in Appalachia in the summer and these should provide excellent field trips for Appalachian students; but these plays do not appear to be easily obtainable in the commercial market.

1.4a POETRY

Consists of the only book of poetry Agee ever prepared for publication, Permit Me Voyage, and other poems selected by the editor.

Several of these poems illustrate a "regional idiom" in Dillard's poetry. A fine, intelligent poet from Roanoke, Va.

Poems describing West Virginia people, places, and history.

A new collection that displays a fine touch with "ballad-like music that ranges from the matter-of-fact to the macabre."

A collection of poetry for children by the famous Kentucky novelist.)
A collection of over 700 sonnets about Appalachian Kentucky.

Wheeler is known primarily as a song writer and the lyrics to some of his songs are included.

An unconventional poet, Williams employs the idiom of the Appalachians realistically and convincingly. He would be classed as a quite good, avantgarde poet by most critics.

"A run-down hotel room is the setting of this comic tragedy about...three displaced men from the hills who have lost their way in a large city and now...are making last-minute preparations to commit a greedy, violent crime. However...a tough sweetness leaks forth to clash with greed and revolt against the violence."

An excellent "folk fantasy drama that uses as its plot the version of the Barbara Allan ballad in which Barbara marries a witch boy. Makes use of familiar folk songs."
2.0 FOLKLORE AND FOLK MUSIC

2.1 FOLKLORE

Botkin, B.A., ed. A Treasury of American Folklore; Stories, Ballads, and Traditions of the People. New York: Crown, 1944. 932p. $5.95. (gr. 10+)

"Tall tales, and true, of frontier characters and sea captains, recurring American jokes and expressions, ballads of railroad men and miners...."

"More than 500 tales and over 75 folk songs....Basic to the book is the view of folklore as a part of folk culture...."

Carmer, Elizabeth, and Carl Carmer. Tony Beaver Griddle Skater. Champaign, Ill.: Garrard, c1965. n.p. $2.39. (gr. 4-6)

West Va.'s Tony Beaver races Paul Bunyan with slabs of bacon on the griddle.

25 tales from the mountain people of the South.

One of the famous Jack tales in which Jack trades down from a cow to a stone.

17 separate folk tales.

Cothran, Jean, ed. With a Wig, With a Wad, and Other American Folktales. Illus. by Clifford N. Geary. New York: McKay, c1954. 95p. $3.50. (gr. 3+)

Indian tales, stories from the Southern Blue Ridge, New England, and California.

A folk tale about a boy living in a log cabin who always plays jokes on people.

Two small children from the Blue Ridge Mountains long for a pair of shoes and decide to sell turnips in town. Giving all but one away, the one wins a prize with which they buy shoes.

Tales from the Blue Ridge Mountains area.

Chapter 3 deals with "Southern Mountaineers."

Uses examples of folk language and grammar, proverbs, place names, riddles and game rhymes, epitaphs, superstitions, folk medicine, and some songs.

"The vigorous tale of the American folk hero whose strength and skill with the hammer helped build the country's railroads.

21 stories, including Tony Beaver and Southern mountain stories.
   The hardships, pleasures, pains, prejudices, superstitions, customs of North Carolina people.

   "One of the best works in the field." Pages 236-289 are devoted to "The South and Southern Highlands."

   Four stories of holidays celebrated by mountain folk.

   It Happened in No-End Hollow. Illus. by Mimi Korach. Champaign, Ill.: Garrard, c1968. 48p. $2.95. (gr. 3-6)
   Three tales of the folks of No-End Hollow, including their superstitions.

   Miner's songs and music collected in the field.

   "Includes biographies of singers, articles on folk-music instruments, noted collections and collectors, a checklist of folksong titles, and a listing of long-playing records."

   A guide for students and collectors of traditional song.

   Includes a section on state lore which includes the nickname, state flower and bird and characteristic folkways of each state.
Collection of over 200 riddles drawn from folk materials the world over.

Malcolmson, Anne. Yankee Doodle's Cousins. Illus. by Robert McCloskey. Houghton, c1941. 267p. $4.50. (gr. 4-7)
"Twenty-eight American Tall-Tales from the East, the South, the Miss. Valley and the West. Tony Beaver, Johnny Appleseed, etc. -A comprehensive collection for young readers."

"Many of these tales were told by the miners themselves-sometimes in the original languages-and recorded on tape by me. Others were told by miners or miners' families to students."

A collection of 100 ghost stories suggesting something of the lives, oral culture, and beliefs of West Virginians.

A collection of tales from the Cumberland Gap-as told by the people that live there.

Includes "ballads, narrative songs, love songs, jigs and nonsense and children's songs, representing a rich and continuing heritage."

"A new version of an old folk tale about Johnny Cake. In this book, the boundout boy, Johnny, leaves the mountain farm... His parting present, a Journey Cake, leads Johnny into adventures."

Steele, William O. The No-Name Man of the Mountain. Illus. by Jack
Davis. New York: Harcourt, Brace, World, c1964. 79p. $3.03.
Tall tale about three brothers in the Tennessee Mountains.

$3.00. (gr. 4-6)
John Henry and his contest with the steam drill.

Stoutenberg, Adrien. American Tall Tales. Illus. by Richard M.
Powers. New York: Viking, c1966. 112p. $3.50. (gr. 4-6)
"Similar in coverage to Malcolmson's Yankee Doodle's Cousins.
This collection of eight stories provides younger readers with a more simply written but authentic introduction to Paul Bunyan,
Pecos Bill, Stormalong, Mike Fink, Davy Crockett, Johnny
Appleseed, John Henry and Joe Magarac."

Stoutenberg. American Tall-Tale Animals. Illus. by Glen Rounds. Viking, c1968. 128p. $3.95. (gr. 2-5)
A collection of fantastic American Fauna. Drawn from old newspapers, periodicals, out-of-print books and authentic regional resources. These entertaining descriptive accounts of rare animal life and unique hunting tactics add a new dimension to American folklore.
2.2 FOLK MUSIC

Boette, Marie, ed. Sing a Hipsy Doodle and Other Folk Songs of West Virginia. Parsons, WV.: McClain, 1971. 177p. $8.00.

A collection of the earliest music of the pioneers of West Virginia.

"Words, music and bright pictures: Ballads, work songs, marching songs, spirituals, hymns and carols."

In stories, songs, and appropriate pictures, are 29 American work-heroes from east, west, north, and south.

This story and song is over two hundred years old, and still going strong in the mountains and out.

Cox, John Harrington, ed. Folk Songs of the South. Gloucester, Mass.: Peter Smith, c1925. $5.50.

"Collected under the auspices of the W.Va. Folk-lore Society. A large collection of ballads, songs, and folk tunes of W.Va. and the south."

Collection of 88 songs; some background on bluegrass style; includes photos of the well-known and important performers.

So-called "hill-billy" songs and folk songs that deal with mining and have been recorded.

Jackson, George P. White Spirituals in the Southern Uplands. New York: Dover, 1965. 444p. $3.00 (pap.). (gr. 9-up)

The story of the fasola folk, their songs, singing and "buckwheat notes."

Entire issue devoted to "hill-billy" music. An excellent scholarly introduction to early country music and includes the following articles:

"Traces the growth in popularity through the various media of communication and the rise of the music's many performers."

"Blasts a few myths that have developed and introduces the Journal's issue devoted entirely to hill-billy music."

Kraus, Richard G. Square Dances of Today, and How to Teach and Call Then. Illus. by Carl Pfeufer. New York: Ronald Press, c1950. 129p. $6.00. (gr. 5-9)
Drawings to illustrate the steps, and words and music for the calls.

A lively old folk song tells of a foolish boy who keeps trading, becoming poorer every time.

Offers chronologically, "Songs of early America, Frontier songs of work and play, Folk hymns and love songs, Songs of the minstrel stage, Songs of the parlor piano, Songs of the Civil War, Songs of the American Negro, Songs across the continent, and Songs of the turning century."

"Words, music, and origins of over 300 American folk songs including ballads, work songs, and spirituals, as well as a book list, guitar guide, and a discography."

Introduction precedes each group of songs: spirituals, railroad songs, farmers' tunes, lumber-jack ballads, sailors' chants, love songs, work songs, cowboy ditties.

The best single work on country music.

Famous Kentucky folklorist, ballad collector, and singer presents part of his collection of ballads.

Ritchie, Jean. Dulcimer Book. New York: Quick Fox, 1967. 45p. $2.95 (pap.). (gr. 8-up)

"Book about the 3-stringed Appalachian dulcimer, including some ways of tuning and playing, and some of its history."

Ritchie, Jean. Jean Ritchie's Swapping Song Book. Photos by George Pickow. New York: Walck, c1964. 93p. $5.00. (gr. 4-6)

"Photographs and brief text describing life in the mountains. 21 folk songs from Kentucky's Cumberland Mountains."

Account of the life of the Ritchie family. Contains words and music to over 40 songs.

"Surveys American music: its history, development, and the influences which shaped it. Chapters on Indian music, the Madrigals of Appalachia, Negro songs, jazz, and American music today."

Discusses value of folk songs and how to use them with children. Piano accompaniments, and suggested activities for 90 songs from all parts of the country.

"The story of Christmas is told step by step from song to song in the collection. Selected from folk carols, local tunes, hymns and mixed oral and written origins."

"Includes over 400 pages of brief biographies of everybody who has ever stomped a beat or let out a country holler in folk, country and western."

Traces the evolution of country and western music through such major figures as the Carter Family, Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs, Merle Haggard, and Johnny Cash; and gives the history of the Grand Ole Opry.

"An entertaining selection of 20 American folk songs, presented with piano arrangement and some guitar chords."
3.0 SOCIAL SCIENCES: BIOGRAPHY; HISTORY
GEOGRAPHY, AND TRAVEL; SOCIAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS

3.1 BIOGRAPHY

"The odyssey of Gaine Cannon, M.D., who has put the philosophy of Albert Schweitzer to work in the remote regions of North Carolina."

A true story of a poor boy, Jack Craft, who made it big on his own, by putting together southern W.Va.'s biggest passenger transportation system.

Relates his service in West Va. as Colonel of the 36th Ohio Infantry and commander of the Department of West Virginia campaigns of Lewisburg, Lynchburg, and the Shenandoah Valley.

A biography of W.D. Weatherford, an outstanding spokesman for Appalachia.

"Sequoyah, a lame and uneducated Cherokee Indian, devised a syllabary for his people, who had no written language."

Libby, Bill. Clown: Number 33 in Your Program, Number 1 in Your Heart -- Hot Rod Hundley. New York: Cowles, 1970. 184p. $5.95. (gr. 7-12)
Biography of West Virginia University basketball star, Hot Rod Hundley.
Moore, Carmen. Somebody's Angel Child; the Story of Bessie Smith. New York: Crowell, 1969. 121p. $3.02. (gr. 4-7)

The story of a musical genius who rose from the Chattanooga slums to become Queen of the Blues. (The story of blacks in Appalachia is most inadequate and this is the only biography available.)

Myers, Elizabeth P. Angel of Appalachia: Martha Berry. New York: Messner, 1968. 191p. $3.50. (gr. 5-7)

Born into wealth and luxury, she gave everything she possessed to make possible opportunities for a better life for mountain children.

An easy-to-read biography of the lame chief.

"Story of Dr. Mary Sloop and her husband...covering more than forty years in the mountains of North Carolina."

---

Describes the author's teaching career in a one-room school in Kentucky at the age of 17.

An account of the life of the famous protestant, pioneer, circuit rider.

Autobiography of the West Va. basketball player--his childhood in a small town in West Va. and how he became a professional player.
3.2 HISTORY, GEOGRAPHY, AND TRAVEL

3.2a ELEMENTARY LEVEL HISTORY, GEOGRAPHY, AND TRAVEL

"Deals briefly with Kentucky's geography, history, industries, natural resources, educational facilities, historic sights, and travel attractions."

Picture Book of West Virginia. Chicago: Whitman, 1965. 32p. $1.25. (gr. 3-6)

Bealer, Alex W. Only the Names Remain: The Cherokees and the Trail of Tears. Boston: Little, 1972. 88p. $5.75. (gr. 4-6)
"A history of the Cherokees from their first contact with white men to the tragic trail of tears, the Cherokee's removal in the 1830's from their homeland."

Bleeker, Sonia. The Cherokee: Indians of the Mountains. New York: Morrow, 1952. 159p. $3.36. (gr. 4-6)
"Presents daily life, work of children, customs and beliefs of Cherokee before coming of white men, alphabet developed by Sequoyah, their enforced exile, and present day life."

Carpenter, Allan. Enchantment of Kentucky. Chicago. Children's Press, 1967. 95p. $5.00. (gr. 4-6)
"Discusses the geographic regions, the water surfaces, the history and the people of Kentucky. Deals with its minerals, plants, animals, industries, agriculture, breeding of horses, transportation, communication and educational facilities. Presents broad biographical information about its outstanding public figures and describes its tourist attractions."
Enchantment of North Carolina. Chicago: Children's Press, 1965. 93p. $5.00. (gr. 4-6)

Enchantment of Pennsylvania. Chicago: Children's Press, 1966. 95p. $5.00. (gr. 4-6)

Enchantment of Tennessee. Chicago: Children's Press, 1968. 95p. $5.00. (gr. 4-6)

Enchantment of Virginia. Chicago: Children's Press, 1967. 95p. $5.00. (gr. 4-6)

Enchantment of West Virginia. Chicago: Children's Press, 1968. 95p. $5.00. (gr. 4-6)

"A narrative biography of John Ross, leader of the Cherokees during the middle 1800's. Although Ross was only 1/8 Cherokee, he made repeated attempts to negotiate with the U.S. government on behalf of the Cherokees, leading them on the 'Trail of Tears.'"

Henderson, Nancy. The Scots Helped Build America. New York: Messner, 1969. 96p. $3.64. (gr. 4-6)

"Shows the strength, intelligence, and stubbornness of a people who made significant contributions to American history and culture."

The first settlers, the Trail of Tears, the language patterns, the superstitions, and the tall-tales.

"Discusses geography, history, people, industries, recreational facilities, historic sites, schools and colleges."

Radford, Ruby L. Sequoy.a. New York: Putnam, 1969. 59p. $2.52. (gr. 4-6)
"Biography of a lame Indian chief who spent his life creating an alphabet for the Cherokee language so his people could learn to read and write."

Shull, Peg. Children of Appalachia. New York: Messner, 1969. 95p. $3.64. (gr. 4-6)

"Life in southeastern Kentucky. Describes home life, schools, government programs, isolation of some of the families, and the effects of strip mining."

Steele, William O. The Old Wilderness Road; An American Journey. New York: Harcourt, 1968. 177p. $2.65. (gr. 4-6)

"Focuses on the story of four men who hewed the wilderness road from the forests and mountains of western Virginia: Thomas Walker, Elisha Wallen, Daniel Boone, and John Filson."

Sutton, Felix. West Virginia. New York: Coward-McCann, 1968. 126p. $3.86. (gr. 4-6)

"Describes the history of West Virginia, its geography, industry, agriculture, natural resources, and recreational opportunities."
3.2b JUNIOR AND SENIOR HIGH LEVEL HISTORY, GEOGRAPHY, AND TRAVEL

A companion-piece to Seedtime on the Cumberland. This volume details the life of the individual pioneer and his relation to the larger frontier society from 1780 to 1803.

Historical narrative of the experiences and attitudes of the early settlers of the Cumberland region of Tennessee and Kentucky.

Ball, Bonnie S. The Melungeon, Their Origin and Kin. Privately printed, 1969 (available through the Council of Southern Mts. Paperback $2.50.)

Collects facts and legends concerning this mystifying group of people who live in the Appalachias. Re-examines the theory that they may have some connection with the lost colony of Virginia.

An anecdotal, informal account of life on a river that begins in West Virginia, flows through Pennsylvania and joins the Allegheny to form the Ohio River.

First of the volumes for Naturalists' America. The author presents the natural features and plants and wild-life found in the Appalachian area.

Story of the Underground Railroad.

Counted by many as the best single source on Appalachia.

The author, a native of the region, describes what has happened to the Cumberland plateau, in eastern Kentucky, as a result of coal mining there for the past fifty years.

The author portrays her life in eastern Kentucky.

The author describes his life as he grew up in Cass, Pocahontas County, W.Va.

A documentary history of West Virginia.

Davis, Julia. A Valley and a Song: The Story of the Shenandoah River. Holt, 1963. 216p. $3.95. (gr. 7-9)

Geographical and historical sketch of a Virginia river.

Accounts of the expeditions in the West, previous to 1795, and biographical sketches of distinguished persons in the Border Wars.

Describes the settlement and Indian Wars in Western Virginia and Pennsylvania from 1763 to 1783, with a review of the state of society and manners of the first settlers.

The story of a major river in Tennessee.

"Text and picture essays on Appalachia: native handicrafts,
TVA, country music, history and economic development of the country also reported.

A recollection by the author of all that is good and desirable in the Mountain People whom she has known so well.

Hardin, Gail. The Road From West Virginia. Chicago, Ill.: Children's Press, 1970. 63p. $ .75 (pap.). (gr. 6-12)
The story of the author's life. Her father worked for some time in the mines but they moved to Chicago in Uptown where other Appalachian whites were.

Hornbeck, Betty. Upshur Brothers of the Blue and Gray. Parsons, W.Va.: McClain Printing Company, 1967. $7.00. (gr. 7-12)
A localized history of the Civil War based on personal letters, diaries and selections from newspaper accounts. The author integrates Upshur County, West Virginia, with the national conflict.

Probably the best single account of Appalachia's most famous feud.

Exciting and humorous adventures of mountaineers and revenue agents, mostly in Kentucky.

History of the "Mine Wars" in West Virginia in the early years of the twentieth century. Presented objectively - neither strikers nor operatives are treated favorably.

Ten years of broken promises in Appalachia. A collection of newspaper articles by the author summing up present state of Appalachia.

A discussion of the importance of the frontier in the later history of the Allegheny Highlands.

History of the Toe River region of the Carolina Blue Ridge Mountains, with descriptions of present day customs, presented in anecdotes and personal narratives.

Describes the main sections of the Trail, the geology and the plant and animal life, following the seasons from south to north. Information on the history of the Appalachian region.

Written by one of the better known coal operators, the book is a history of coal mining in southern West Virginia.

A prize collection of wise and witty writings from Jim Comstock's West Virginia Hill-billy.

A collection of interviews, pictures and sundry information on topics from hog dressing to planting by the signs, collected by high school students for "Foxfire Magazine."

History of the settlement of northwestern Virginia and of the Indian wars and massacres in that section of the state.
3.3 SOCIAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS

"Describes the uses, origin, mining processes, and chemistry of coal. Early methods and problems of mining are contrasted with modern methods and problems.

The history and problems of mining gold, coal, and iron.

An introduction to what strip mining is doing and has done to the land and people of Appalachia and increasingly to the land and people in our western states.

The text concerns Cole's interviews with poor people. The message is simple: America has the means to eliminate poverty, but is not doing so.

Emphasis is on struggles for freedom and justice by mountain people.

A revealing study of poverty by a young southerner who looks at farmers of the Mississippi Delta and coal miners of eastern Kentucky and notes the need for radical social change.

Personal interviews with mountain people in hollows, homes, and churches. Observations made for stories for newspaper and magazines. Description of the poverty areas of Appalachia and ways of life.

An intensive study of the causes of poverty. Includes statistics as well as accounts of individual families and the work of the OEO.

A collection of articles on social science problems in Appalachia.

Defines critical categories of poor whites in the U.S. and profiles a hippie from Berkeley and a resident of Appalachia.

A reporter's look at contemporary problems in Appalachia.

Focuses attention on the ecology of the mountainous land at the headwaters of the historic Potomac River for a look at the many facets of the natural history of a region of rich and varied natural treasures.

Five days in the lives of the inhabitants of an eastern Kentucky hollow with the view that the people themselves are to blame for their condition.

Collection of articles and essays on the problem and rediscovery of Appalachia in the 1960's.
4.0 MEDIA

(Note: For the purposes of this bibliography, the word "media" is limited to its more popular connotations of films, filmstrips, and phonograph records.)

4.1 FILMS

Appalachia: Rich Land, Poor People (Motion picture). National Educational Television. Released by Indiana University Audio-Visual Center, 1969. 59 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Rental $13; Sale $240.
"Discusses the poverty and problems of Appalachia, explaining that the land is rich with coal, yet its residents are denied adequate food, housing, and medical care."

Appalachian Genesis (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1970. 30 min. sd. color. 16mm. Rental $45; Sale $300.
"Youth of Appalachia talking about coal mining, education, health facilities, recreation, job opportunities, and politics."

The Appalachian Highlands (Motion picture). Coronet Instructional Films, 1967. 14 min. sd. color. 16mm. Sale $162.50.
"Pictures the Appalachian highlands which stretch from northeast Canada to southern Alabama. Describes the revitalization of the region's resources—traditionally used for light manufacturing, cash crop farming, and mining. Shows the impact of growth on the people and economy."

Appalachian Spring (Motion picture). WQED, 1959. Distributed by Rembrandt Film Library. 27 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Sale $200.
"A ballet interpretation of a folk tale about the wedding day of a young couple living in the Appalachian wilderness during the pioneer period in America."

"Explains the development and purpose of the Appalachian Trail, extending over 2,000 miles through the Appalachian Mountains...."

"Shows artisans of the Appalachian region of the southeastern United States working with their families and with apprentices...."

Ballad of Parker Branch (Motion picture). Tennessee Valley Authority, 1963. 30 min. sd. color. 16mm. Free loan film.
"Gives an account of a ten-year experiment in Appalachian agriculture and its results in terms of farm incomes and resource conservation."

"Shows poor Appalachian land owners fighting to obtain a law controlling strip mining, a process which has damaged their houses and farms and desolated the beauty of their mountains."

"A tour of the coal-mining community of Whitesburg, Ky. Newsman interviews families in their homes, the grocer in his store, and children in their one-room schoolhouse."

Coal Miner: Frank Jackson (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 12 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Rental $25; Sale $150.
"An interview with Frank Jackson, who has worked in the mines since the age of 15; presents his years in the mines, the change from pick and shovel to mechanized mining and its effects on miners."

Coon Branch Mountain (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 13 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Rental $20; Sale $150.
"The story of the people in a small community of McDowell County, W.Va., in their fight for a better educational system and a school bus for their children."

Daniel Boone (Motion picture). Encyclopedia Britannica, n.d. 18 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Sale $135.
"Episodes in the life of the famous wilderness scout."
Geography of the Middle Atlantic States (Motion picture). Coronet Instructional Films, 1953. 11 min. sd. color. 16mm. Sale $65 for b&w; $130 for color.

"Surveys the Middle Atlantic States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and West Virginia. Includes scenes of the people, cities, key industries, and vast transportation networks of this densely populated area."

The High Lonesome Road (Motion picture). Released by Brandon Films, 1963. 30 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Sale $165.

"The many kinds of music enjoyed by the mountain people of eastern Ky., help them hold their lives and traditions together."

In Ya Blood (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 20 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Rental $30; Sale $200.

"Coal mining gets 'in ya blood' but the youth of Appalachia do encounter the question of staying or leaving the area." First Appalshop film to be done with a script.

Judge Wooten and Coon-on-a-Log (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 10 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Rental $20; Sale $120.

"Judge Wooten, county judge of Leslie County, Kentucky, is living proof that middle class America's values and goals have not yet taken over in Appalachia."

Kentucky Pioneers (Motion picture). Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corp., 1969. 26 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Sale $151 for b&w; $269 for color.

"Focuses on one family's travels to Kentucky in 1790. Explains that rich Kentucky land lured this family down the Ohio River on a flatboat. Portrays the hardships of pioneer life."

Life in a Coal-Mining Town (Motion picture). Coronet Instructional Films, 1956. 11 min. sd. color. 16mm. Sale $65 for b&w; $130 for color.

"Describes the small coal-mining town of David, Ky., and shows typical activities of a miner and his family."

Linda and Billy Ray from Appalachia (Motion picture). Encyclopedia Britannica, 1970. 15 min. sd. color. 16mm. (Newcomers to the City Series) Sale $86 for b&w; $167.50 for color.

"Portrays the difficulties that an Appalachian family encounters in adapting to city living when lack of job opportunities forces them to move to Cincinnati."
Line Fork Falls and Caves (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 10 min. sd. b& bw. 16mm. Sale $100.
"Exploration of Pine Mountain caves in eastern Kentucky combined with a comic approach to finding a place in the mountains where one can still drink water from a stream."

Pioneer Journey Across the Appalachians (Motion picture). Coronet, 1956. 14 min. sd. color. 16mm. Sale $81.25 for b&w; $162.50 for color.
"A North Carolina family journeys westward across the Appalachians before the Revolutionary War."

"Shows fifteen miles of Kentucky land that has been devastated by strip mining. Includes the comments of mine operators and citizens about the stripping operations."

United Mine Workers of America, 1970; a House Divided (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 15 min. sd. b&w. 16mm. Rental $30; Sale $150.
"The UMWA is divided by a struggle for leadership between Tony Boyle and a group of dissident miners."

Valley of Darkness (Motion picture). NBC News. Released by NBC Educational Enterprises, 1970. 18 min. sd. color. 16mm. Rental $10.20; Sale $240.
"Presents the dilemma of young men in W.Va.: the only work is in the mines with the danger of explosions, cave-ins, and black lung disease."

Whitesburg Epic (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 10 min. sd. b& bw. 16mm. Rental $20; Sale $100.
"A series of interviews with people on the streets of Whitesburg, Kentucky (Letcher County). Their feelings on the war in Vietnam, college unrest, the draft, young people, and recreation are presented against a background of music by a local mountain group."

Woodrow Cornett: Letcher County Butcher (Motion picture). Appalshop, 1971. 10 min. sd. b&bw. 16mm. Rental $20; Sale $120.
"A documentary on the old art of hog killing performed by Woodrow Cornett with Ashland Fouts providing mountain music as background and Frank Majority giving narration when necessary."
FILM DISTRIBUTORS

Appalshop, P.O. Box 332, Whitesburg, Kentucky 41858

Brandon Films, 200 W. 57th St., New York, New York 10019

Carousel Films, 1501 Broadway, New York, New York 10036

Churchill Films, 662 N. Robertson Blvd., Los Angeles, California 90069

Coronet Instructional Films, 65 E. South Water St., Chicago, Illinois 60601

Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corp., 425 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611

Indiana University, Audio-Visual Center, Bloomington, Indiana 47401

NBC Educational Enterprises, Inc., 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, New York 10020

Public Affairs Department, Office of Economic Opportunity, 1200 Nineteenth St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20506

Rembrandt Film Library, 267 W. 25th St., New York, New York 10001

Tennessee Valley Authority, Information Office, Knoxville, Tennessee 37902

Walter J. Klein Co., 6301 Carmel Rd., Charlotte, North Carolina 28204
4.2 FILMSTRIPS

"Color photographs dealing with physical, industrial, and human geography of the area."

"Features Martha Graham's choreographic interpretation of Aaron Copland's 'Appalachian Spring.'" record: 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $11. Also filmstrip and cassette tape combination $12.95. (gr. 4-9)

"Examines the origins of coal rock."

"Traces the ecological evolution of coal and the history of its uses. Shows how coal is mined and processed."

Coal Miners (Filmstrip). American Council on Education, 1944. 51fr. b&w.

"Shows different types of coal-mining communities, the conditions under which the miners work and live, and a number of operations involved in mining coal."

Coal Mining: The Story of Buried Sunlight (Filmstrip). Eye Gate House, 1952. 29fr. color.

"Shows how coal is mined; explains the danger... and the safety measures ... and describes the use of coal and coal products."

"A tour through a modern coal mine."

"Shows Boone's accomplishments and explains why his achievements have not been forgotten."
Davy Crockett (Filmstrip). Encyclopedia Britannica, 1953. 52fr. color. $6. (gr. 4-6)
Captioned color drawings describing the adventures of Davy Crockett.

"Songs of the sea, the Appalachians, the cowboy, the shantyman."

The problems encountered by a small town Ky. girl and her family who move to the city.

Heart of the Shenandoah Valley (Filmstrip). Herbert E. Budek, 1962. 34fr. color.
"Examines the agriculture, the poultry industry, mining, quarrying and new industrial developments of the area."

"Appalachian mountain folk tale of Jack, who with the aid of a magic flying ship and a band of peculiarly talented followers outwits the witch who has cast a spell on the sheriff's daughter."

The legend of the folk hero.

Treats the legend and the ballad of John Henry.

National Parks in the East and South (Filmstrip). Eye Gate House, 1960. 44fr. color. $5.25. (gr. 3-8)
Great Smoky Mountains, Mammoth Cave, Ky., Everglades, and Shenandoah National Parks.

"Describes programs of the Tennessee Valley Authority dealing with air and water pollution, soil conservation, forest improvement, strip mine reclamation, and related activities."
Songs of the Mountains (Filmstrip). SVE, 1963. 51fr. color. $7. Record $4. (gr. 4+)
Traces the history of the songs that were sung by the people who settled in the Southern Appalachian Mountains.

Then and Now in the Appalachian Mountains (Filmstrip). Silver Burdett Co., 1957. Distributed by Encyclopedia Britannica. 45fr. color.
A comparative history of the region, from early settlements to modern time.

Where Red Birds Sing--Kentucky (Filmstrip). Evangelical United Brethren Church, 1959. Distributed by the United Methodist Church. 39fr. color. (gr. 7+)
"Pictures the work of the former EUB Church in Kentucky Highland Mission at Cumberland and Red Bird."
DISTRIBUTORS OF FILMSTRIPS

American Council on Education, One Dupont Circle NW, Washington, D.C. 20036

Bowmar Records, 622 Rodier Drive, Glendale, California 91209

Budek, Herbert E. See Herbert E. Budek

Educational Audiovisual, Inc., Pleasantville, New York 10570

Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corp., 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611

Eye Gate House, Division of Cenco Instruments Corp., 146-01 Archer Ave., Jamaica, New York 11435

Guidance Associates, Box 5, Pleasantville, New York 10570

Herbert E. Budek, P.O. Box 307, Santa Barbara, California 93102

International Book Corp., 7300 Biscayne Blvd., Miami, Florida 33138

McGraw Hill Textfilms, 330 W. 42d St., New York, New York 10036

Popular Science Filmstrip of the Month Club, 355 Lexington Ave., New York, New York 10017

SVE = Society for Visual Education, 1345 West Diversey Parkway, Chicago, Illinois 60614

TVA = Tennessee Valley Authority, Information Office, Knoxville, Tennessee 37902

United Methodist Church, Audio-Visual Service, 475 Riverside Dr., New York, New York 10027
4.3 RECORDINGS

The records selected below are a small sampling of those available for use and for study. Appalachian folk music has been fairly well preserved because of the interest of folklorists and the "revival" of folk music in the 1950's. Only recently, however, has the attention of scholars turned to what some might consider, because of its commercial appeal, the more mundane country-western (earlier called "hillbilly") music. Smaller record companies are now turning to older 78 rpm recordings of the 1930's and 1940's and are reissuing them on 33 1/3 rpm long-playing albums that have much better sound quality. Many students in Appalachia may relate quite easily to these commercially recorded records. Also the resurgence of numerous folk, country, and bluegrass festivals now taking place throughout Appalachia can only raise the stature of the music in the eyes of both Appalachian and non-Appalachian people.

American Fiddle Tunes (Phonodisc). Ed. by Alan Jabbour. Library of Congress L62, 1934-46. 2s. 12in. 33 1/3 rpm. $4.95.
Many tunes familiar to and collected in Southern Appalachia.

Anglo-American Ballads (Phonodisc). Recorded by John and Alan Lomax. Library of Congress L1, 1934-1941. 2s. 12in. 33 1/3 rpm. $4.95.
Sung by native Appalachians and collected for the most part by the famous Lomax folklorists.

(Note: Not all the selections on this and the following "Anglo-American" albums are solely Appalachian; but many are quite important, being actual recordings of "folk" in their home areas and not modern interpretations of folk songs by commercially oriented folk singers.)

Anglo-American Shanties, Lyric Songs, Dance and Tunes and Spirituals (Phonodisc). Recorded by Alan Lomax, Herbert Albert, and others. Library of Congress L2. 1937-41. 2s. 12in. 33 1/3 rpm. $4.95.
Anglo-American Songs and Ballads (Phonodisc). Recorded by Artus Moser, Vance Randolph, and Duncan Emrich. Library of Congress L12, 1941-46. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95.

Anglo-American Songs and Ballads (Phonodisc). Recorded by Artus Moser, Vance Randolph, and Duncan Emrich. Library of Congress L14, 1941-46. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95

Anglo-American Songs and Ballads (Phonodisc). Recorded in various parts of the U.S. by several collectors. Library of Congress L20, 1938-47. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95.

Anglo-American Songs and Ballads (Phonodisc). Recorded in various parts of the U.S. by several collectors. Library of Congress L21, 1938-47. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95.

Blue Ridge Mountain Field Trip (Phonodisc). Comp. by Janet Kerr. Leader LEA 4012, 1970/71 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.00.
Folk music of the Southern Appalachian region, recorded in Va. and N.C. in 1969.

Bluegrass from the Blue Ridge; a Half Century of Change (Phonodisc). Folkways F53832 1967 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $5.98.
Country band music of Va. performed by various musicians.

Chase, Richard. Richard Chase Tells Three "Jack" Tales From the Southern Appalachians (Phonodisc). Folk-Legacy FTA 6. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.98.

Sung by Jean Ritchie and Aunt Molly Jackson among others.

Children's Songs and Games From the Southern Mountains (Phonodisc). Folkways FC 7054, 1960. 2s. 10in. 331/3 rpm. $4.50.
"Play-party games from the Kentucky Mountains."

Clawhammer Banjo: Old Time Banjo and Fiddle Tunes (Phonodisc). County 701, n.d. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95.
The more traditional style of banjo playing by Kyle Creed, Fred Cockerham, George Stoneman, and Wade Ward.
Galax, Virginia, Fiddle Contest (Phonodisc). Folkways 2435, n.d.
2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $5.98.
Selections from one of the actual fiddle contests annually held at Galax.

The Hammons Family; A Study of a West Virginia Family's Traditions
(Phonodisc). Library of Congress. 2 records (4s.) 12in.
331/3 rpm. $10.45. (Accompanying 36-page booklet with photographs by Carl Fleischhauer.)
"The study combines vocal and instrumental music, lore, oral history, historical research, and cultural reflections."

Hodges Brothers. Watermelon Hangin' on the Vine (Phonodisc).
Arhoolie F5001, n.d. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $5.98.
Traditional songs from Southern Appalachia, including "Six White Horses," and "Mountain Dew."

Jack Tales (Phonodisc). Told by Mrs. Maud Long of Hot Springs, North $4.95.
Jack and the Drill; Jack and the Sop Doll; Jack and the Bull.

Mitchell, Howard W. The Hammered Dulcimer; How to Make it and Play it (Phonodisc). Folk-Legacy FSI 43 1972 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm.
$7.95 (for book and record).
Includes a detailed, illustrated book of instructions. The hammered dulcimer is quite different from the traditional 3 or 5
stringed Appalachian dulcimer, resembling a large zither in appearance.

Folkways FA 2317, n.d. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $5.98.
Religious, traditional, and drinking folk music recorded near Hazard, Ky.

Richardson, Larry, and Red Barker. Larry Richardson and Red Barker and the Blue Ridge Boys (Phonodisc). County 702, n.d. 2s. 12in.
331/3 rpm. $4.95.
Bluegrass music.

Ritchie, Jean. British Traditional Ballads in the Southern Mountains
$5.98.

Ritchie, Jean. British Traditional Ballads in the Southern Mountains
(Phonodisc). Vol. II. Folkways 2302, n.d. 2s. 12in. 331/3
rpm. $5.98.
Sacred Harp Singing (Phonodisc). Recorded by George Pullen Jackson and Alan Lomax. Library of Congress L11, 1942. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95.

Although recorded at the Alabama Sacred Harp Singing Convention at Birmingham, this style of singing was popular in Appalachia and is still done in some areas.

Songs and Ballads of the Bituminous Miners (Phonodisc). Recorded in the eastern United States by George Korson. Library of Congress L60, 1940. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95.

Versions and Variants of "Barbara Allen" (Phonodisc). Edited by Charles Seeger. Library of Congress L54, 1933-54. 2s. 12in. 331/3 rpm. $4.95.
RECORD COMPANY ADDRESSES

Arhoolie Records, Box 9195, Berkeley, California  94719

County Records, 309 East 37th St., New York, New York  10016

Folk-Legacy Records, Inc., Sharon, Connecticut  06069

Folkways Records and Service Corp., 701 Seventh Ave., New York, New York  10036

Leader Records, 5 North Villas, London, England
(also may order Leader records through Rounder Records, 727 Somerville Ave., Somerville, Massachusetts  02143)

Library of Congress, Recorded Sound Section, Music Division, 10 First St. SE, Washington, D.C.  20540
5.0 MISCELLANEOUS

5.1 ARTS AND CRAFTS

Brings "the arts and crafts of their own country to American boys and girls. In story form... it tells of people who created beauty in iron, wax, glass, pottery, and other materials."

"The Penland School of Handicrafts, Penland, North Carolina."

Eaton, Allen H. Handicrafts of the Southern Highlands; With an Account of the Rural Handicraft Movement in the United States and Suggestions for Wider Use of Handicrafts in Adult Education and in Recreation. New York: Dover, 1972. 370p. $4.50. (gr. 9+)

"Includes architecture, tools, handicrafts, etc., in their regional forms and variations."

"The crafts and people of the Southern Appalachians."

"The homespun world of which it tells is vanished."

Wigginton, Eliot, ed. The Foxfire Book: Hog Dressing; Log Cabin Building; Mountain Crafts and Foods; Planting by the Signs; Snake Lore, Hunting Tales, Faith Healing; Moonshining; and Other Affairs of Plain Living. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972. 384p. $8.95; $3.95 (pap.).

A collection of articles written by high school students in Rabun Gap, Georgia. Displays the kind of activities that Appalachian students can engage in to learn about and to preserve their arts and crafts. A national best-seller.

Subtitled: Ghost Stories, Spring Wild Plant Foods, Spinning and Weaving, Midwifing, Burial Customs, Corn Shuckin's, Wagon Making and More Affairs of Plain Living. This is a second collection of student-written articles on the culture of Appalachia.
5.2 NATURAL HISTORY AND RESOURCES

5.2a ELEMENTARY LEVEL NATURAL HISTORY AND RESOURCES

Note: While these elementary level science books are not specifically about Appalachia, they do clearly treat the kinds of flora and fauna that are found in Appalachia. The secondary level books are specifically oriented to Appalachian natural history and natural resources. A representative selection of elementary books only is given.

Buehr, Walter. Timber! Farming our Forests. New York: Morrow, 1960. 96p. $3.56. (gr. 4-6)
A description of lumbering told in a simple, direct manner.

The account of a fawn's life "describes how each season affects the life of the forest animals."

Bulla, Clyde Robert. A Tree is a Plant. Illus. by Lois Lignell. New York: Crowell, 1960. n.p. $2.35. (gr. 2-4)
"Pictures several different kinds of trees and explains in detail the life cycle of an apple tree."

"A factual presentation, beginning with the balance of nature....the need for resource management and restoration."

Goetz, Delia. Mountains. Illus. by Louis Darling. New York: Morrow, 1962. 63p. $3.78. (gr. 4-6)
"Beliefs about mountains; mountains of the world; how mountains are formed; mountain climates; transportation; wealth from the mountains...."
Mason, George F. Animal Homes. New York: Morrow, 1947. 96p. $2.60. (gr. 4-6)

"Endless variety of animal nests, dens, lodges is explored. A handy guide for locating and studying wildlife in the field."

"Two children return to a river which they had visited the year before to find it filled with garbage, dead fish, and trash... the father takes them to a water treatment plant where he explains the process of purifying water."

Selsam, Millicent E. Plants That Heal. Illus. by Kathleen Elgin. New York: Morrow, 1959. 96p. $2.75. (gr. 4-6)

"Story of plants and plant products which relieve pain and cure sickness."

Smith, Frances C. The First Book of Conservation. Pictures by Rene Martin. New York: Franklin Watts, 1954. 68p. $3.75. (gr. 4-6)

"The importance of the balance in nature and of the contribution of plants, insects, birds, and animals in preserving this balance is explained."

"In the mountain country of Maryland where Chippy and his mates are at home on the terrace of a human family. "Clear biological information about Chippy's habits. No detail has seemed too small."

"Simple explanation of what fish are, how they live... how they swim..."

"How they fly, build nests, get their food, and spend their winters."

"134 paintings in full color. A field guide..."
5.2b SECONDARY LEVEL NATURAL HISTORY AND RESOURCES

"Because of its central geographic position and its variety of habitats, Kentucky possesses a rich herpetofauna of 99 species, 45 amphibian and 54 reptilian. Each of these is fully described and photographed."

"Rhapsodic essay extolling the natural beauties of this as yet unspoiled river located in the Appalachian region of East Central Kentucky. Conservationist and ecological emphasis with strong opposition to a proposed dam-building project of the U.S. Corps of Engineers."

"Includes the natural history of the northern and southern Appalachians as well as some general history of the culture of the area."

An excellent field guide, with "lively descriptions, botanically accurate, that tell when and where to find the flowers."

Connelly, Thomas L. Discovering the Appalachians: What to Look For From the Past and in the Present Along America's Eastern Frontier. Harrisburg, Penna.: Stackpole, 1967. 223p. $7.95.

"History, geological description, folklore, flora and fauna, and travel guide...."

"Seventy-two excellent photographs... illustrate each species listed in this careful report on cold-blooded animals of the Park."

"Through descriptive writing and close-up photography, the author explores nature in his valley of peace and tranquility. The hidden valley lies in the heart of the Great Smoky Mountains in the region where the Little River begins."

Actually covers almost all of Appalachia. "The most complete guide to the abundant wild flowers of a large part of the southeastern United States."

"Describes 65 species of mammals and discusses their ecology, distribution, habitat," feeding and reproducing habits.

"Observations of over 25 years of field work ... on distribution, abundance, and migration of more than 200 species."

"Notes on prevalence, occurrence, altitudinal range, and flowering periods of the Park's woody plants."

Concerned "with walking along this particular trail, with the role of this trail and all trails in the structure of modern society."

"Authoritative guide contains 500 full-color photographs accompanied by descriptive captions."
5.3 PERIODICALS

General information on the development of the region.
Often has articles on educational programs in Appalachia.

Appalachian Heritage. Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, Kentucky 41844. Quarterly. $5.00/year.
A new journal focusing primarily on art and literature of Appalachia.

$6.00/year.
High school students research and write the articles in this highly praised journal. The articles have been collected into the best-selling The Foxfire Book and the recently published Foxfire 2.

$5.00/year in Kentucky; $7.00/year outside Kentucky.
Devotes considerable space to problems of Southern Appalachia, especially stripmining. Most of paper is local news from the Whitesburg area.

"The dean of peoples' publications in Appalachia." In the past few years the journal has adopted an activist's stance toward Appalachia's problems.

Peoples Appalachia: a Critical Research Report From the Peoples Appalachian Research Collective. The Peoples Appalachian Research Collective, Rt. 3, Box 355B, Morgantown, West Virginia 26505. Published irregularly. $5.00/year.
Left-wing but not rabid, the journal is a good source of non-traditional ideas about Appalachia's problems.
West Virginia Hillbilly. Richwood, West Virginia 26261. Weekly. $10.00/year.

Sometimes folksy, always interesting; although focused primarily on West Virginia, it is a source of valuable information on Appalachian history and culture.
5.4 TEACHER'S RESOURCES

Appalachian Advance (Periodical). Appalachian Educational Laboratory, P.O. Box 1348, Charleston, West Virginia 25325. Monthly (Sept.-May). Free.

Produced for Appalachian educators, this is a magazine devoted to discussing the problems facing education in Appalachia.

"A computer-based annotated bibliography on the Appalachian region."

Campbell, John C. The Southern Highlander and His Homeland. Lexington: Univ. Pr. of Kentucky, 1969. 405p. $2.95 (pap.).

"A pioneer work. Perhaps the first major study which could be described as being of lasting importance."

Caudill, Harry M. Night Comes to the Cumberlands; a Biography of a Depressed Area. Boston: Atlantic-Little, 1963. 394p. $8.50; $2.45 (pap.).

"An account of the development and present status of the 'coal counties' of eastern Kentucky. The book is already a classic in the literature of the Southern Appalachians."

An account of the way of life of a very poor community in a remote Kentucky hollow.

Iannone, Ron. "School Ain't No Way..."/Appalachian Consciousness. Parsons, West Va.: McClain, 1972. 129p. $4.00.

A provocative new analysis of education in Appalachia. Presents his experiences in a high school experimental program and suggests some interesting methods of teaching Appalachian adolescents.

"A child psychiatrist...describes a mental health project carried out in eastern Kentucky. The book contains much information on child rearing practices in Appalachia."

"A useful compilation of journal articles on the problems, progress, and prospects of Appalachia during its latest re-discovery by the American people."

"Probably the single most influential and widely-read book on Appalachia."

Wiggington, Eliot, ed. The Foxfire Book: Hog Dressing; Log Cabin Building; Mountain Crafts and Foods; Planting by the Signs; Snake Lore, Hunting Tales, Faith Healing; Moonshining; and Other Affairs of Plain Living. Garden City, N.Y.: Doubleday, 1972. 384p. $8.95; $3.95 (pap.).

An example of the kinds of activities that Appalachian students can engage in to learn about and to preserve their arts and crafts.