A set of nine teacher-prepared Learning Activity Packages for individualized instruction on world history at the tenth grade level includes the following units: Early Man and the Beginning of Civilization; Our Heritage from Greece and Rome; Life in the Middle Ages; The Renaissance and the Reformation; Revolution; The World at War; Totalitarianism; New World Settlement and Colonial Growth; and Revolution and the Birth of a Nation. The materials, generally written at 10th grade level, are particularly suited for average students who may be interested in college, business, or technical school, and who will do an average amount of studying. Each unit contains a rationale, a list of behavioral objectives, resources, activities, self-evaluation tests, and suggestions for advanced study. (Author/KSM)
EARLY MAN AND THE
BEGINNING OF CIVILIZATION
To The Student

1. You selected the level on which you wish to work. In selecting that level you automatically agree you will perform satisfactorily on that level.

2. You are urged to work on the highest level of your ability. If you are making less than A in your work, you will be encouraged to work up towards that level. You will be required to spend the allotted time on a LAP before going to the next LAP. If you have proven your ability to work on a higher level, you may request to move to a higher level.

3. Those students working on level 4 and achieving an "A" average may move from LAP to LAP as rapidly as they wish and receive a units credit when the required work is complete. When a student completes the LAP in one unit area, he will automatically start on the LAPs in the next grade level of that subject.

4. No student may advance faster than the allotted time except that covered in the items above. Students are encouraged to do better work in the levels of their selection or move to the next higher level.

5. You must satisfactorily complete all LAPs listed below to receive a unit credit in the subject.

6. Your parents will be mailed a Deficiency Notice when you: (a) receive three times on any test, (b) fail to move into the next LAP within 2 weeks of the date specified, (c) consistently turn in work which is unsatisfactory for your level.

7. You will automatically be dropped to the next lower level when: (a) you fail one full LAP behind, (b) three Deficiency Notices have been sent.

PREHISTORIC MAN

RATIONALE

"In the beginning, God..."—"Five, four, three, two, one, blast-off! "Th events that have occurred between these two periods are endless! These "recorded events" we call history.

Certainly there was a starting point in our lives—all of us were born. There was also a beginning or starting point for this world and universe. But how did it happen? How did man appear? How did man develop into a civilized being?

In this Learning Activity Package we shall look at these questions and try to relate the story of the beginning of man to where he is now—we shall start on our journey of the study of man and the development of our way of life. In so doing it is hoped that you will see that it is important for us to try to take a look at the past, hopefully, in order to try to plan for the future.

The Fertile Crescent became known as one of the cradles of civilization. The map shows the crescent as it appeared 5,000 years ago. It was long believed that the crescent was the site of the Garden of Eden because of its fertile soil.

Our Heritage

Greece and Rome

Ninety Six High School
Social Studies 103

LAP NUMBER 11

Written by James B. Burgdor

32273
Rationale

"Ancient Greece and Rome will live forever!" Historians seem to agree with this statement, but how can civilizations that ended over 2,000 years ago still live? The Greek and Roman civilizations do not still exist, yet their ideas still live: democratic government, the great philosophies of Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle, the dramas of Sophocles, the Latin language and many others.

In our first LAP we saw how early man came into being and first lived; and we realized the many contributions the Egyptians and early Chinese made to our civilization today. In this LAP we will take a special interest in the Greeks and Romans, because they were the first people in history to think and act in ways clearly similar to our own. While the Greeks were considered a creative and original group of people, the Romans were the "practical" group.

We will study Greece from the standpoint of its culture and government. We will try to get a general understanding of Roman culture, and in studying the reasons for the fall of the Roman Empire; we will compare the ideas to the present world situation.

RATIONALE

While autocratic rule was developing in England, as in other nations of Europe, there was a continuing struggle to limit the powers of the king.

This LAP is involved with the roles the English and French Revolution played in the development of Western Democracy. The effects of revolution is looked at from a positive as well as a negative standpoint. Napoleon is studied in this LAP in regard to the role he played in history and how his expressive thirst for power has reflected on mankind. The effect the Industrial Revolution had on the decline of feudalism and the development of our present way of life is also emphasized.
