The publication provides a collection of descriptions representing a broad cross section of State adult education programs which have integrated career education into their curricula. Career education in this resource has been defined to include career awareness, orientation, skill development or other career education goals as defined by the local adult education program. Approximately 2600 programs were contacted and of the 500 responses received 152 indicated that they had integrated career education into their programs and provided the survey staff with appropriate data and program descriptions. The programs are listed alphabetically by State. Each entry includes the program's study scope (adult basic education, general educational development diploma, English as a second language, continuing education, general adult education, or vocational education), career education goals, methods used to include career education in the curriculum, and a description of career activities. Each program administrator's address and telephone number are listed. (Author/BP)

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This publication is a result of dedicated efforts and contributions by many individuals. We are particularly grateful to the State Directors of Adult Education who provided the Adult Career Education Resources Survey with listings of their local Adult Basic Education and continuing education programs.

We are also extremely appreciative of the information provided by local adult education program personnel who took time from their busy schedules to respond to the Survey's request. Without their assistance, this publication would not have been possible.

To the Directors and staffs of Regional Staff Development projects, and other State and Federally funded programs across the country, we are indebted for continuing assistance, encouragement and guidance.

My thanks are extended as well to all, including Survey staff, who have contributed in the process of developing Explorations, Part II. Both individually and collectively they have made my tasks much easier.

NOTE TO THE READER

The Adult Career Education Resources Survey has been funded by the U.S. Office of Education for an additional year, through June, 1975. During this extended period, Survey staff will field test the career development activities suggested in Explorations, Part I, the first volume of this set of guidelines for career development in adult education. Field testing will be designed to measure appropriateness as well as effectiveness of these activities for various adult student populations. Based on field test results, suggested activities will be refined or modified, and published in a revised edition.

Adult education teachers (either ABE or adult continuing education) who wish to participate in the field test are encouraged to contact us, preferably by October 15, 1974.

We also welcome any comments you may have about Explorations, Part II.

INTRODUCTION

An important premise of the Adult Career Education Resources Survey is that an awareness and orientation to the applicability of career education for one's daily life and one's future be developed by adult students. The importance of each adult being able to explore a variety of job and career possibilities is also stressed. In supporting these premises the Survey compiles career resources for adults. Also provided are materials that may encourage adult educators to easily introduce and implement career education activities into existing curricula.

In viewing the importance of the career education concept in adult education, the newly emerging manpower requirements of this country should be recognized. It is estimated that by the end of this decade, eight out of ten jobs in the United States will require less than a baccalaureate degree. As a result, educational curricula should be redirected to provide adult students with increased opportunities to understand the role of work in our society and the range of jobs and careers available. Career education is a fundamental bridge which may be helpful in closing the gap between projected manpower needs and the present adult education process by bringing opportunities for career orientation, awareness and skill development into the classroom.

The Adult Career Education Resources Survey was established to furnish career education resources for adults through the development of several easy-to-use publications. Explorations, Part II is an administrative guide to many adult education programs throughout the United States which have already integrated career education concepts into their adult programs. Through sharing this career integration information, Survey staff hope that plans will develop to bring career education concepts into the reader's own adult education program.

Explorations, Part II

This publication provides a collection of descriptions representing a broad cross-section of local adult education programs which have integrated career education into their curricula. Career education in this resource has been defined to include career awareness, orientation, skill development or other career education goals as defined by the local adult education program.

Explorations, Part II may be useful to adult educators, both administrators and teachers, who are seeking ways to bring career education into their own programs.

Programs included in this resource are extremely varied. Some career integrated programs are traditional in orientation with emphasis on specific skill development, such as auto mechanics or typing. Other programs are more progressive and general in nature. They offer the adult in-depth counseling, career awareness and orientation, skill development, job seeking skills, placement and follow-up. Several correctional institutions, for example, offer in-depth counseling with regard to the philosophy of working. Each program in this directory, however, stresses that career activities are designed to meet the needs of the adult students enrolled.

Scope of Effort

The Survey staff compiled a listing of approximately 2600 local adult education programs. These were provided, with some exceptions, by State Directors of Adult Education. This listing includes Adult Basic Education programs and continuing education programs sponsored by local public school systems, community colleges and correctional institutions.

Each of the listed adult education programs was contacted by letter which included an information sheet requesting data and descriptions of career activities, if any, of the adult education programs. Approximately 500 programs volunteered responses to the request for information. Of these, 152 indicated that they had integrated career education into their programs and provided the Survey staff will appropriate data and program descriptions.

Information Requested

Each local adult education program received an information questionnaire. The portion applicable to this directory is reproduced here:

C. Description of Career Education Program in Your School. (The Survey is interested in a description of your career activities or program and its scope that would assist other educators in introducing career education into their adult education programs.)

Utilization of Explorations, Part II

Each adult education program included in Explorations, Part II has been categorized by State. In this way adult educators in that State wishing to contact the program may do so with relative ease, possibly arranging an observation visit. Each administrator has been listed along with address and telephone number of the described program.
In addition, each program indicated its study scope: Adult Basic Education, General Educational Development diploma, English as a Second Language, continuing education, general adult education or vocational education. This indication should assist the reader to align and/or compare his or her program interests with the career-oriented adult programs.

The career education goals of each adult career education program are indicated. Many of the programs stressed that they were working towards career orientation and awareness within the adult student population. Often skill development for specific jobs was offered to the adult. There are many variations.

The way in which each program listed in Explorations, Part II has integrated career education concepts into their curricula should also be of interest. Each program was asked to indicate a method used to include career education in its curriculum. The following questions were asked. Were the career education activities a part of the regular adult curriculum? Were the activities available to the students, but supplemental to the program? Were the activities available to the students but sponsored by an outside agency?

Perhaps the most relevant portion of each entry is the written description of career activities within each adult education program. It is here that the specific orientation of each program emerges. Each description was carefully reviewed by Survey staff to ensure that the program did include career education. The reader may note variations in the writing styles of the descriptions. As little editing was done as possible to ensure that the "flavor" of each program was maintained.

Survey staff urges adult educators to contact directly programs whose career activities, methodology for career integration, program goals and student body interest them. Adult educators responding to the Survey's request for information appeared open to inquiries from other adult educators.

Other Survey Resources

Explorations, Part II (State Listing of Adult Career Education Activities) is only one of three printed resources of the Adult Career Education Resources Survey.

Explorations, Part I (Career Activities for Adult Education Classes) is a companion publication which provides a group of guiding, exploring activities which address adult student needs for utilization of career materials in the learning process. It may be useful to adult education teachers in developing career awareness in their students. The activities are designed to assist adults in their practical exploration of career goals and motivations.

Activities are presented as suggestions for incorporating career awareness into the teacher's ongoing curriculum. Each career development activity in Explorations, Part I has been placed in one of four curriculum areas:

- reading
- oral communications
- writing
- critical thinking

The Survey also compiled a compendium of adult career information materials, Resources (Recommendations for Adult Career Resources). This compendium includes abstracts of career information materials from a variety of media. Materials listed were subjected to extensive review to assure suitability, not only in terms of use by adults, but also in presentation of quality career information. Reading levels, of particular importance to Adult Basic Education Teachers, have been included for each written career material. Emphasis has also been placed on inclusion of inexpensive or free materials for maximum acquisition. Each entry in the compendium is catalogued according to major occupational areas and also contains all needed information and cost data for retrieval and purchase.
