National Center for Public Service Internship Programs

This publication was prepared with financial support from the National Urban Fellows
The NATIONAL CENTER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS has been established to "serve the needs of public service internship and fellowship programs, to encourage and facilitate the establishment of such programs, and to promote the acceptance of such programs as a significant and viable component of higher education."

Plans are underway to improve information exchange by compiling the first complete data bank on internship funding, program design and educational components. This information will be disseminated on a regular basis through a national newsletter and program catalogues.

The National Center will conduct research into the educational and social effectiveness of internships, and offer technical assistance to new and operating programs. It will represent internship interests in Washington, operating a legislative information service through its newsletter, making information available to Congress and the Executive Branch, and promoting new revenues for internship programs.

The new organization was founded by a planning committee that grew out of the national internship conference held at Lexington, Kentucky in October 1971. The Center is governed by a Board of Directors representing a broad spectrum of internship programs: local, state, regional, minority, university-affiliated, and national. Both experimental and traditional educational institutions are represented, as well as a wide variety of government officials and public interest organizations.

Policy is set by the Board of Directors, and also by a nine-member Executive Committee chosen by the Board.

For further information about the National Center's programs and publications, membership categories, and if you would like to be placed on our mailing list, please contact Richard Ungerer, Executive Director, at (202) 331-1516, or write to:

ABOUT THIS DIRECTORY

Richard A. Ungever
Executive Director, National Center for Public Service Internship Programs

This Directory is designed primarily for individuals seeking internship programs that meet their educational and career development needs. Information about existing graduate, post-graduate and mid-career public service internship opportunities has not been made available in any one comprehensive publication. The National Center for Public Service Internship Programs recognized the importance of such a publication as a result of the numerous requests it received from individuals for this information and also from statements from the administrators of these intern programs who have been unable to assist and refer the many applicants not accepted to their competitive programs.

We envision a revised edition of this Directory being published each year. Readers are urged to send literature, names and addresses of programs not included in the Directory and relevant bibliographic information. This first edition is recognizably imperfect, partial and fragmentary; however, the National Center has implemented procedures to facilitate the continuous updating of these program listings.

The major difficulty encountered in the preparation of this Directory was the diversity of programs discovered and the lack of a conceptual scheme of program categories. Many of the programs surveyed were designed to serve constituencies with multi-purpose objectives. It became difficult to determine which programs to include in the Directory and which to eliminate. Not only were our category boundaries vague, but knowledge about the full universe of these programs was largely non-existent. We initiated our extensive research contacting numerous universities, foundations, public interest associations and state, local and federal governmental units. The terms "public service" and "internship" were defined broadly in recognition of the diverse, overlapping and often ill-defined interests of many of the potential users of this Directory.

Essentially, we observed two general categories of internship programs:

(1) The first category includes internship programs which are designed to serve the professional practitioner who interrupts his or her career for an internship/fellowship experience. Frequently these programs are labeled early-career, mid-career, leadership, executive development, post-doctoral, or faculty fellowship and research programs. Most participants in these programs will have already begun their professional careers, and are either interested in enhancing or perhaps modifying their future career objectives.
The second category encompasses internship programs essentially pre-professional in nature, designed for the individual perhaps as part of a formal graduate program or immediately following his or her graduate work (such as the management intern programs). We did not include university sponsored programs that were open only to those students enrolled at that university.

The research and publication of this Directory have been made possible by the financial support from the National Urban Fellows. The Director of the National Urban Fellows, Frank Logue, was chiefly responsible for identifying the need for the urgency of undertaking such a publication. The National Center for Public Service Internship Programs would also like to thank all those who cooperated in submitting information on their program and especially recognizes L. Jean Russell who served as the principal research and staff assistant for this project and Cole Trudel who professionally completed the tedious job of typing this lengthy publication.

MID-CAREER: LEADERSHIP, EXECUTIVE DEVELOPMENT, AND POST-DOCTORAL INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS
The Academic Administration Internship Program is designed to strengthen leadership in postsecondary education by identifying and training individuals who have shown promise for responsible positions in academic administration. There have been 393 Fellows who have completed the program. Since 1964, over eighty percent of Alumni have become professional academic administrators in higher education and 38 have become college or university presidents.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Six basic components: (1) a competitive identification and selection process; (2) an internship experience from September to June or August arranged either at a host institution or on the Fellow's home campus. Details about the experience are worked out between the Fellow and his or her Mentor, normally a president, chancellor, or chief academic officer; (3) three week long seminars in St. Louis, Boulder, and Washington, D.C.; (4) extensive reading in postsecondary education; (5) an analytical paper produced by the Fellows; (6) travel and consultation opportunities with leaders in American higher education.

Scope of Placement: No placement, we refer names upon request.

Sponsors/Mentors: One or two from each Fellow, usually college or university presidents, chancellors, or academic vice presidents.

Scope of Recruitment: Candidates must be nominated by ACE member institutions (1400). Individual applications are not accepted.

Recruitment Strategies: ACE member colleges, universities, and organizations are invited each September to nominate one or two candidates. The program is widely publicized in the scholarly press.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): For the 1975-76 Internship Program:

September 1, 1974 - Invitations mailed to ACE member institutions
October 15, 1974 - Deadline for Council's receipt of the invitation
November 15, 1974 - Deadline for Council's receipt of nomination forms
January 6, 1975 - Finalists announced
February, 1975 - finalists interviews at regional sites by senior administrators
March 28, 1975 - 1975-76 ACE Fellows in Academic Administration announced

Administrative Requirements:

Age: 30-45
Education: Doctorate or generally recognized terminal degree,
Occupation: Faculty or college or university staff member,
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: None,
Other Criteria: 3 years college teaching experience; record of accomplishment indicative of substantial career potential.

Remuneration and Stipend: Salaries paid by the nominating institutions; programmatic costs paid by ACE.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Work for nominating college or university for a minimum of one year after the internship.
American Society for Engineering Education/National Aeronautics and Space Administration Summer Faculty Fellowship Program

Address and Phone Number: Dr. Fawzi P. Emaad
Department of Electrical Engineering
University of Maryland
College Park, Maryland 20742

Program Director: Dr. Fawzi P. Emaad

Administrating Agency: National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the American Society for Engineering Education with the University of Maryland and the Catholic University of America.

Source of Funds: Contract between NASA and participating universities.

Year Commenced: 1965

Interns/Fellows per Year: 25 in Goddard program, divided almost half and half between first year and returning fellows.

Objectives of Program:

A. To further the professional knowledge of qualified engineering and science faculty members.
B. To stimulate an exchange of ideas between participants and NASA.
C. To enrich and refresh the research and teaching activities of participants' institutions.

Program Description (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): The program consists of two parts: Research (approximately 85%) in the general areas of data systems, information transmission and processing, tracking, space and earth sciences, earth observation sciences, communications and telemetry, electronic systems, mechanical systems, automatic control, optics, and ground and spacecraft antennas, and education (approximately 15%) including lectures, seminars and short courses on topics related to the research problems and the mission of Goddard Space Flight Center. The program runs 10 weeks during the summer and fellows may be approved to return for a second summer if the research area warrants and funds are available.

Scope of Placement: Fellows are placed throughout the technical areas of the center, appropriate to selected research projects and subject to mutual agreement.

Sponsors/Mentors: Research problems are solicited from center technical managers, and as topics are selected, the respective proposing managers act as colleague advisors to fellows.

Scope of Recruitment: ASEE makes broad distribution of program fliers through various academic and professional mailing lists. Participating NASA Centers and Host Universities also have material for distribution.

Recruitment Strategies: --
Announcing and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Research problems are advertised in the program brochure and applicants apply for specific topics. Program co-directors evaluate candidates' education and experience as they relate to research topics offered at the Center. Selections are made for specific research areas and non-selected applicants are often considered for more appropriate research topics at other centers. The timetable for application and selection is described in the program brochure.

Admission Requirements: Applicants must be U.S. Citizens who are university level faculty or research members, preferably with two years of teaching experience. Qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

Remuneration and Stipend: $275/week for first year fellows, $300/week for returning fellows. Individuals initial travel to and final travel from the center is also paid.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Fellows are asked to submit a short report on their research at the end of the summer. No commitment on the part of the fellow or the NASA is implied by the offer or acceptance of a fellowship award.

Note: National Aeronautics and Space Administration/American Society for Engineering Education Summer Faculty Fellowships are available at many NASA field installations:

ARTS ADMINISTRATION INTERNSHIP PROGRAM (CONNECTICUT COMMISSION ON THE ARTS)

Address and Phone Number: 340 Capitol Avenue
Hartford, Connecticut 06106
(203) 566-4770

Program Director: Catherine M. Gasper

Administrating Agency: Connecticut Commission on the Arts

Source of Funds: National Endowment for the Arts and the William H. Donner Foundation

Year Comenced: 1974

Intens/Fellows per Year: Five

Objectives of Program: By preparing people to work effectively in broad-based arts administration, the Commission is moving significantly closer to fulfilling a major goal of public arts agencies: bringing arts experiences of quality and diversity to as many people as possible.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Interns interact with people at all levels of the arts, in a combined course of academic study, practical field assignments, and exposure to outstanding practitioners. Learning within the framework of the Commission, interns follow a curriculum which includes: the objectives and operations of federal, state and local arts agencies; approaches to supporting creative and interpretive artists; the relationship of arts administration to municipal, state and federal government; grant processing; program development; project management; research techniques; fiscal management and budgeting; public relations; and general administrative skills.

Work experience with the Commission staff alternates with the study of relevant texts and documents, attendance at seminars conducted by leading arts administrators, foundation officers, artists, and government officials, observation of Commission meetings and legislative sessions, participation in conferences in Connecticut and elsewhere in the country, and the carrying out of specific field assignments with community arts councils, arts organizations and artists around the state.

Scope of Placement: --

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: State arts agencies, community arts agencies, key personnel and key publications in the field, arts organizations and arts service organizations in the country, university and college programs in all the arts and arts administration.

Recruitment Strategies: --
Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): This year's procedures and timetable: early Spring: announcement of 1975 program and availability of applications; August 1st application deadline; October 15th announcement of the five 1975 interns.

Admission Requirements: Very broad -- further information available from the Commission.

Remuneration and Stipend: 1974: $6,000 plus $1,000 out-of-state travel. 1975: $7,000 plus $1,000 out-of-state travel.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Full one-year evaluation report.
ATLANTA FELLOWS & INTERNS PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: Atlanta University Center (404) 522-8881
360 Westview Drive, S.W.
Atlanta, Georgia 30310

Program Director: Naomi S. Finke

Administering Agency: Atlanta University Center

Source of Funds: Public and Private

Year Commenced: August 1973

Interns/Fellows per Year: 5 interns - 5 Fellows

Objectives of Program: The Atlanta Fellows and Interns Program is designed to make academic resources more accessible to city government and relate curricula, teaching and research to contemporary urban needs.

With a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to the Atlanta University Center, the special resources of the schools and the vitality of the new city administration will be brought together in a formal relationship. Talented individuals will bring their own perspective, expertise and experience to the task of policy-formation and city management. Students will have new and expanded opportunities for studying and being involved in the processes of city government.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Basic to the objectives of the Atlanta Fellows and Intern Program is a carefully developed series of seminars bringing Fellows, Interns and Faculty together.

Fellows must be willing to be available at all times as a resource to the faculty of the Center and the students and to participate in the total program.

This is an especially valuable training ground for the young people of Atlanta's strong black community. They will gain the experience, sensitivity and skill to play their increasingly important role in decision making in the city.

A second very important part of the program will be frequent high level meetings held during the year between Fellows and city, state and county officials and prestigious resource people from outside Atlanta.

Research and analysis in various academic disciplines will be used to arrive at solutions to social and environmental problems. The Academic Policy Committee will provide integration, guidance and oversight for the programs. The committee consists of Atlanta University Center faculty members.

The duration of the program is one year; the first Fellows will be placed January 1.

Scope of Placement: Placed in various departments and bureaus of city government and within the office of Mayor. Fellows will work directly with city commissioners and top professionals on the Mayor's staff for required one year period.

Scope of Recruitment: Nation-wide

Recruitment Strategies: Preference will be given to applicants who have demonstrated exceptional ability and leadership capacity and who have exhibited outstanding potential for development.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): The program is primarily of interest to persons with backgrounds in management, urban affairs, public policy and technology; the selection committee will consider applicants who have demonstrated a high degree of competence in other fields which can be successfully applied to city government. No applications will be accepted from federal employees.

Fellows will be chosen in a national competition conducted by a six member Selection Committee composed of individuals from the Atlanta University Center, officials of the Atlanta city government and the Atlanta community.

Applications must be submitted by September 1. Fellows will be notified of their appointments by October 15.

Admission Requirements:

Age: 25-35
Education: --
Occupation: --
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: --
Other Criteria: A letter of interest, stating goals and reasons for desiring to participate in the Atlanta Fellows and Interns Program must be sent to the Atlanta University Center. If the letter of interest is accepted, application materials will be sent.

Remuneration and Stipend: Up to $20,000 per year, based on previous education, experience and salary, plus a relocation allowance.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: -- BUSH LEADERSHIP FELLOWS PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: P.O. Box 15125
Minneapolis, Minn. 55415
(612) 227-0891 - St. Paul
(612) 926-0948 - Minneapolis

Program Director: Donald Peddie

Administrating Agency: The Bush Foundation, St. Paul, Minn. 55101

Source of Funds: The Bush Foundation

Year Commenced: 1985

Interns/Fellows per Year: 12 academic year awards (4-18 months)
20-25 summer month awards (3-10 weeks)

Objectives of Program: To provide combination of enriched academic-internship experience in mid-career so as to groom promising individuals for high level leadership throughout our geographic area in a variety of fields -- business law, law enforcement, government, social services, divinity, trade unionism, journalism or in the administration of education, health or arts organizations.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Award lengths tailored to meet individual goals and availabilities, combination of academic and internship program preferred. Some awards made for academic term only, non-degree basis usually preferred.

Each Fellow will be expected to pursue a well-structured - though often non-degree - academic program at a leading college or university for up to nine months. At the completion of the academic program, the Fellow must re-submit to the Program Director a plan for a period of temporary employment in an internship with a leader or mentor in business, government or in one of the other mentioned professions. A high-level reporting relationship will be stressed during the internships which are approved.

Scope of Placement: National

Sponsors/Mentors: Varies by field

Scope of Recruitment: Within our district, currently 3-1/2 states (i.e. Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and northern part of Wisconsin).

Recruitment Strategies: Newsletter (bi-monthly), newspaper advertisements, direct mailings (key lists), referrals by alumni, community organizations.

CONGRESSIONAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: 1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
(202) 483-2512

Program Director: Thomas E. Mann

Administering Agency: American Political Science Association

Source of Funds: Numerous foundations and corporations including Poynter Fund, IBM, Exxon, Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Earhart Foundation, Upjohn, Merck and others; affiliate Fellows supported by U.S. Civil Service Commission, Asia Foundation, Commonwealth Fund, and Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

Year Commenced: 1953

Interns/Fellows per Year: Varies (49 in 1974-75)

Objectives of Program: To afford political scientists, journalists, federal civil servants, medical faculty and others an opportunity to acquire a rich understanding of the national legislative process.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): One-month orientation period followed by numerous conferences with Members of Congress and others during the remainder of the year.

Nine months working as a full-time aide to members of the House and Senate, or on the staff of a Congressional Committee (divided equally between the two houses).

Scope of Placement: Entire Congress, including House and Senate personal offices and committees.

Sponsors/Mentors: None

Scope of Recruitment: National competition for political scientists and journalists; recruitment varies for other participants.

Recruitment Strategies: Announcements to political science departments, newspaper editors, newspaper guilds, and in journals and magazines.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): (For political scientists and journalists): Applications due December 1. First screening by committee in Washington by February 1. Regional interviews for finalists by March 1. Final selection by March 15.

Admission Requirements:

Age: For political scientists: completion of Ph.D. within the last ten years (or near completion).

Education: For journalists: Bachelor’s degree and between two and ten years of professional experience in newspaper, magazine, radio or television reporting.
Occupation: --
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: Applications from minority political scientists and journalists encouraged.
Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: $7,500. Upward adjustments made on the basis of number of children.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Submission of reports on House and Senate assignments.
CONGRESSIONAL INTERNSHIPS IN TECHNOLOGY ASSESSMENT

Address and Phone Number: Department of Engineering-Economic Systems
Stanford University
Stanford, California 94305
(415) 497-3080 or 497-4169

Program Director: John T. McAlister, Jr.

Administrative Agency: Department of Engineering-Economic Systems

Source of Funds: The Ford Foundation

Year Commenced: 1974

Interns/Fellows per Year: 3

Objectives of Program: The Congressional-Internship in Technology Assessment is created to provide legislative experience for advanced graduate students having strong technological backgrounds. The interns will be assigned to the personal staffs of three to four members of the Technology Assessment Board and will work in conjunction with their permanent staff member assigned as liaison to the Office of Technology Assessment.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): One year internship. Interns will be selected from among the advanced graduate students of the Department of Engineering-Economic Systems, will be in their late twenties and early thirties, will have completed all of the graduate coursework, and will have their dissertations (doctoral) in various stages of preparation.

Scope of Placement: Senators or Congressmen of the Technology Assessment Board, United States Congress.

Sponsors/Mentors: Technology Assessment Board, Office of Technology Assessment.

Scope of Recruitment: At present, limited to advanced doctoral students of the Engineering-Economic Systems Department, Stanford University.

Recruitment Strategies: --

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): A selection committee chaired by the Department's chairman, Professor William K. Linvill, and composed of five professors of the EES Department made the selections on the basis of a student's demonstrated academic excellence and his aptitude and commitment to the internship. The criteria for the selection of the Congressional interns include a demonstrated ability in problem formulation, problem-solving, and policy recommendation. In addition, students will also be selected on their ability to convey complex technical information in language that is easily understood by lay audiences.
Admission Requirements:

Age: Late 20's, early 30's.

Education: At advanced Ph.D. level.

Occupation: --

Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: --

Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: Stipend, $875/month; tuition allowance @ $360/ea. and relocation expenses to Washington, D.C.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Return to department to complete doctoral dissertation.
CONGRESSIONAL SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING FELLOW PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: The American Association for the Advancement of Science 1515 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005
(202) 467-4475

Program Director: Richard A. Scribner

Administering Agency: The American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS)

Source of Funds: From the AAAS (internal funds); the Ford Foundation (1974 and 75); the William F. Golden Foundation (1973 and 74); the International Business Machines Corporation (1973); the Milbank Memorial Fund (1973).

Year Commenced: 1973

Interns/Fellows per Year: Six (6) total (1973)/Three (3) from the AAAS; Nine (9) total (1974)/Four (4) from the AAAS.

The program, which was initiated and is centrally coordinated by the AAAS, also involves Fellows selected and funded by several other participating scientific and engineering societies. The criteria for selection and the selection processes and stipends for the participating Fellows are comparable to those of the AAAS.

Objectives of Program: To provide a practical and unique educational experience for trained scientists and engineers in legislative decision-making and policy development.

To develop new avenues and opportunities for competent young scientists and engineers to contribute to good government through public service.

To demonstrate beyond doubt to the governmental and scientific and engineering communities that an important role exists for scientists and engineers in the legislative and policy-making areas.

To facilitate career change, directed toward public service, for trained scientists and engineers by making such public service careers a more viable professional option and thereby bridging the career stratifications and barriers which currently exist between the scientific and engineering professions and the public service professions, and encouraging more people to enter such careers.

The program stresses public service, assistance to the Congress, changing career patterns, and increased understanding of governmental processes.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): One-year fellowship.

Requirements: A. Period of fellowship to be spent in Washington, D.C. working with an individual congressman or office or committee, or the Office of Technology Assessment.
   C. Completion of interim and final reports regarding the experience.

Structure and Educational Component: A. Two week intensive orientation program.
B. One week interview period/placement process.
C. Series of formal and informal seminars throughout the year (approximately three per month).

Scope of Placement: See Requirements (A) above.
Sponsorship/Mentor: Not applicable.
Scope of Recruitment: National; professional, academic, industrial, and personal channels and levels.

Recruitment Strategies:
A. Announcement in national journals and professional magazines (e.g., Science, ca. 160,000).
B. Mailings to top 50 universities (Deans of Graduate Schools and Directors of Placement Offices).
C. Additional mailings to selected individuals (ca. 200) and to general inquiries (ca. 100).

Note: 90 completed applications were received for the 1973-74 year and 92 for the 1974-75 year.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): For the 1974 applicants (subject to change for 1975 year):
B. Deadline for receipt of applications, letters of reference, and candidate statements, April 5, 1974 (1975 deadline may be earlier).
C. Prescreening of applications to choose the best third of the applicants (prescreening committee includes the director of the program and one member of the Ad Hoc Screening and Selection Committee) complete, April 15, 1974.
D. Screening of application material by the Ad Hoc Committee to determine the fifteen semi-finalists to be interviewed, complete April 19, 1974.
E. Interviews of the finalists with the Selection Committee to choose the finalists; first awardees and alternates, complete May 17, 1974.

Admission Requirements:
Age: Postdoctoral level to mid-career (ca. 28 to 42)
Education: Ph.D. or equivalent in natural and/or social science or engineering.
Occupation: Any occupation consistent with the educational requirement and the selection criteria.
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: U.S. citizen.
Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: 1974: $15,000 with no adjustments for experience and dependents.
1975: Expected to be the same as for 1974.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Submission of a final report.

Source of Funds: Ford Foundation

Year Commenced: 1969

Interns/Fellows per Year: 25 to 30

Objectives of Program: To enable successful applicants (mid-career librarians or other professionals serving the library community) to pursue a self-developed study or research project aimed at improving their competence in the substantive, administrative, and/or technical aspects of librarianship.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Period of internship/fellowship is from three to nine months. Applicants develop their own programs, including contact with libraries or institutions at which they may wish to intern or conduct research. The fellowships are not intended to support work toward an advanced degree in librarianship, although course work which complements a candidate's program and is outside the normal professional curriculum may be considered.

Scope of Placement: Interns have served with the Newberry Library and with the Association of Research Libraries. Arranged with CLR guidance.

Scope of Recruitment: The United States and Canada library community.

Recruitment Strategies: Announcements are distributed annually to most of the nation's major libraries. Information is also published in news columns of most library publications.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Applications can be received by writing to the CLR Fellowship Committee. These must be completed and in the hands of the Committee by early November each year. The completed applications are screened by groups of distinguished librarians in December and final selections are made by the Council's Fellowship Committee in February. In reviewing the applications, emphasis will be placed on the thought and care given to the development of the proposed study, investigation, training or internship; its usefulness to the profession as a whole; and on the candidate's professional qualifications.
Application Requirements:

Age: None (mid-career)
Education: None given
Occupation: Professional librarian, or professional serving the library community.
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: U.S. or Canadian citizenship or resident status in either country.
Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: The fellowships/internships are intended to cover costs during a period of continuous leave from three to nine months. They do not cover salary but are for expenses incident to the proposed program. (Range: $1,000 - $6,000.)

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: A final report must be submitted to the Council—though CLR Fellows retain full rights to the results of their programs and are encouraged to seek publication of their final reports and to write articles and make professional presentations based on their findings.

Source of Funds: Bequest to the Council of Southern Universities by the Duguid sisters of Lynchburg, Virginia.

Year Commenced: 1970

Interns/Fellows per Year: 5 to 8 or 9

Objectives of Program: Designed for women whose career and professional goals have been deferred because of marriage or other reasons. The fellowships make funds available for 1 year of intensive re-training or concentrated study (of their choice) on a full-time or part-time basis.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Education Component): Fellowships are for one year of formal study, internship, or independent efforts that can benefit participants directly in pursuit of significant careers.

Scope of Placement: --

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: Distribution of brochures to various organizations.

Recruitment Strategies: --

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Fellowship will be awarded in response to a detailed proposal for 12 months of academic study. A selection committee will evaluate the year successfully and the contribution the planned activity promises to make to the development of her career. Past academic achievement is considered less important than prospects for a future career.

Deadline for filing applications is December 1. Announcement of awards will be made February 1.

Admission Requirements:

Age: 21 or older

Education: --

Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: No racial restrictions. Must reside in Southern region of the country.

Other Criteria. Must demonstrate financial need of the assistance.

Remuneration and Stipend: From $3,500 to $6,000 a year, depending upon needs of the recipient.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: None
Address and Phone Number: 1828 L Street, N.W.

Source of Funds: Ford Foundation, the Carnegie Corporation, the Commonwealth Fund, the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation, and the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

Year Commenced: 1972

Interns/Fellows per Year: 5 - 7

Objectives of Program: This program is designed to improve the quality of research and analysis in the field and to stimulate consideration of drug abuse issues in academic and professional and government circles from an interdisciplinary perspective.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): One year.
The Fellows carry out projects related to Drug Abuse by conducting Seminars and Colloquia and by interacting with the staff of the D.A.C. in the course of the fellowship term.

Scope of Placement: --

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: National (recruit within city, state and federal government, universities and private industry, as well as through professional organizations.

Recruitment Strategies: A recruitment letter is sent in early September to over 500 individuals in various disciplines, which initiates the recruitment process. The recipients of this letter may either nominate an individual(s) he feels is a strong candidate for the program or may ask to be considered for the program himself. The nominee is notified of the nomination and is free to accept or withdraw at this point. Any individual may apply to the program without a nomination.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable):

RECRUITMENT: (September to December) - Each applicant is requested to submit an official application, a resume, a list of publications, copies of publication(s), and a project proposal that explains the reason for applying for the fellowship and the work that will be pursued.

REVIEW & EVALUATION: (January) - Each applicant file is reviewed to assure its completion; a synopsis is written as to the individual's proposal.
ELECTION: (February) - A Selection Committee outside the DAC staff reviews each title and synopses and makes his recommendation as to preferred candidates. Selected individuals are contacted and negotiations begin as to salary and to project work.

ANNOUNCEMENT: (March) - The DAC announces the Fellow selections in March by letter.

Admission Requirements: There are no admission requirements per se other than those mentioned above. However, the level of functioning is assumed to be post-graduate. The program attempts to attract some of the established and new professional research and analytical talent concerned with drug abuse policy.

Remuneration and Stipend: Fellowship is negotiable based on applicant's experience and present salary.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Each Fellow agrees to abide by the prospectus used for his/her selection.

Judicial Fellows Program

Address and Phone Number: Suite 4
Supreme Court of the United States
Washington, D.C. 20543
(202) 393-1640, Ext. 413

Year Commenced: 1973

Interns/Fellows per Year: Two

Objectives of Program: Chief Justice Burger described the purpose of the program in July 1973: "The program is directed toward attracting talented young people who will not only make a contribution during their year as Judicial Fellows, but who will continue to make a contribution to judicial modernization in future years. Some may do this through careers in judicial planning and management, while those who pursue careers outside the judiciary can help the general public to understand the nature and needs of the judicial system."

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Education Component): One year (normally September 1 - August 31). Fellows work closely with officials at the Federal Judicial Center, the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts, and the Office of the Administrative Assistant to the Chief Justice. Fellows study and do research in the area of judicial administration and are involved in a wide range of participant-observer activities bearing on the administration of the federal and state court systems.

Scope of Placement: --

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: --

Recruitment Strategies: Program materials are mailed annually to schools of law, business, and public administration, as well as political science departments that offer graduate degrees. Professional organizations which have publicized the program through their journals or newsletters include the American Bar Association, American Judicature Society, American Political Science Association, American Society for Public Administration, Council of Graduate Schools in the U.S., Institute for Court Management, and Law and Society Association.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Application deadline for the 1975-76 fellowship year is December 1, 1974. The Judicial Fellows Commission, chaired by retired Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, is involved in all stages of the screening and selection process. It is anticipated that notification of recipients of fellowships will be sometime in March 1975.
Admission Requirements: The keen competition for Judicial Fellowships makes some self-screening advisable. Candidates should be no more than 30 years of age, have one or more post-graduate degrees, and at least two years of professional experience. Selection criteria include a distinguished academic record, writing ability, productivity, interpersonal competence, confidentiality, multi-disciplinary education and/or experience, and familiarity with and commitment to judicial modernization.

Remuneration and Stipend: $12,500 to $25,000 depending on the qualifications and present salary of the Fellow.

Resident Research Associateships

Address and Phone Number: Associateship Office (JH 606)
National Research Council
2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20418

Program Director: Dr. Thomas Curry, Program Administrator

Administrating Agency: National Research Council of the National Academy of Science and National Academy of Engineering jointly with National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Source of Funds: National Aeronautics and Space Administration contract with the National Research Council.

Year Commenced: --

Associates per Year: 280 to 300 NASA-wide with approximately 70 at Goddard
Space Flight Center.

Objectives of Program:

A. To provide postdoctoral scientists and engineers of unusual promise and ability opportunities for research on problems largely of their own choice, and

B. To contribute to the general research effort of the Federal laboratories.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Associates are typically appointed for one year, but there are provisions for the granting of extensions under certain conditions.

The program provides associates the opportunity to use NASA facilities to pursue independent program-related research. Associates will have the status of visiting scientists or engineers but will be subject to the general working conditions of the laboratory. The Center will provide the necessary support services, facilities, and equipment for the approved program of the associate. There is no formal educational component to this program.

Scope of Placement: Associates are placed in any area of the organization appropriate to their chosen field of research.

Sponsors/Mentors: Associates are paired with a senior technical manager at Goddard Space Flight Center who is an expert in the chosen field of research. While associates are selected by NRC, mentors are selected by Goddard Space Flight Center.

Scope of Recruitment: National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Research Council make broad distribution of program brochures through various academic and professional lists.
Recruitment Strategies: --

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): All applications are directed to the National Research Council who in turn refers them to the appropriate NASA area for evaluation of the research projects. Goddard Space Flight Center approves or disapproves research proposals and the National Research Council selects the final awardees from among applicants with approved research proposals. The National Research Council evaluation board meets three times a year, and tenure of an associateship is normally expected to begin within 6 months of appointment.

Admission Requirements: Applicants can be either U.S. Citizens or foreign nationals (with valid Exchange Visitor or Immigrant Visas) with a reasonable command of English. Applicants must produce evidence of training represented by the Ph.D. or Sc.D. or other research doctoral degree in any discipline, or combination of disciplines, which prepares him to undertake a significant research problem in NASA program-related fields. Qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

Remuneration and Stipend: Basic stipend of $14,000/year with a suitable travel grant determined for each awardee. It is expected that the Associate will devote his efforts entirely to the research project. No additional monetary aid may be accepted from another appointment, fellowship, or similar grant during the period of the Associateship.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: A final report will be submitted to the National Research Council. There are no other obligations, no commitment on the part of either the Associate or the Agency with regard to later employment is implied by the offer or acceptance of an award.

ROBERT WOOD JOHNSON HEALTH POLICY FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: Institute of Medicine,
National Academy of Sciences
2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20418
(202) 389-6825

Program Director: Richard L. Seggel

Administering Agency: Institute of Medicine, in cooperation with the American Political Science Association

Source of Funds: Robert Wood Johnson Foundation

Year Commenced: 1973-74

Interns/Fellows per Year: Six

Objectives of Program: Provide outstanding mid-career health professionals working in academic settings with a better understanding of the major issues in health policy and a knowledge of how federal health policies and programs are established in the United States.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): The program covers one year beginning in September and requires residence in the Washington area. It begins in September with a six to eight week period of orientation arranged by the Institute of Medicine to familiarize the Fellows with the Federal health agencies, the congressional committees responsible for health affairs and the health interest groups and with their views on health policy problems and issues.

Following this period, the Fellows move into the schedule of the American Political Science Association's Congressional Fellowship Program. This includes full-time working assignments for a period of 9 months in Congress. These are supplemented by seminars and group discussions on health arranged by the Institute of Medicine. Background reading is prescribed. Each Fellow is encouraged to submit one or more written reports on selected subjects during the course of the year and required to submit a written evaluation of the program upon completion of the fellowship.

Scope of Placement: The Fellows will be assigned to offices of Senators and Congressmen who are active in health affairs. Four and a half months are spent in each House.

Sponsors/Mentors:

Health Policy Fellowship Board - Dr. Ivan L. Bennett, Jr., Chairman
Program Director, Institute of Medicine - Mr. Richard L. Seggel
Director of Congressional Fellowship Program, American Political Science
Association - Dr. Thomas Mann

Scope of Recruitment: Fellows are selected on a competitive basis from nominations by academic health science centers and other institutions with medical schools throughout the United States.
Recruitment Strategies: Major reliance is placed on the institution in the selection process. Each eligible institution is asked to screen all interested and qualified candidates within its jurisdiction and send the nomination of one to the Institute of Medicine.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Each nomination must be accompanied by a letter from the nominee explaining how the fellowship would be useful in his or her career development, a letter from the institution evaluating the candidate's qualifications and explaining the institution's plan for utilizing the experience and training to be gained by the Fellow, the nominee's CV, and three references who have knowledge of the nominee's qualifications.

Each nomination will be initially screened by the Institute's Health Policy Fellowship Board on the basis of the required documentation. Twelve to fifteen finalists are selected and invited to come to Washington for interviews by the Board.

All nominations are due at the Institute of Medicine in mid-December. Finalists are selected in January. The Fellowships are awarded in March.

Admission Requirements:

Age: Although no firm age bracket is specified, it is anticipated that candidates will generally be age 30 to 40. They must be faculty members at the mid-career stage.

Education: They must have completed all of their basic education and training and had some faculty experience.

Occupation: The program is open to all health professional faculty members in all eligible institutions. These include physicians, dentists, nurses, and members of other health professions and faculty trained in the social sciences.

Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: None

Other Criteria: Records of professional achievement and potential for professional growth and exercising leadership and influencing policy in an academic or governmental setting, demonstrable interest in public affairs, substantial qualities of social awareness, ability to adapt to complex circumstances and work cooperatively with people of diverse backgrounds and experiences.

Remuneration and Stipend: Stipends will equal the salary paid them by the institution, not to exceed $30,000. Fringe benefit arrangements will be continued.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Generally to return to the academic institution. Institutions must provide a statement of assurance that the nominee will have an appropriate academic position upon completion of his or her fellowship.

Administering Agency: The American Institute of Planners

Source of Funds: The American Institute of Planners

Year Commenced: 1972

Interns/Fellows per Year: 4-6 Interns per year

Objectives of Program: The AIP internship program provides students with a working understanding of the full range of policies and activities of the American Institute of Planners. This includes, but is not limited to, involvement in analysis and development of federal legislation relating to planning; developing programs to improve the professional development of planners; and participation in research and administration of specialized institute program and projects in substantive areas of planning.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Four interns are hired full time for three months during the summer. Two interns are hired for five to ten hours per week during the remainder of the year.

Scope of Placement: All interns work in the national AIP office.

Sponsors/Mentors: All members of the Institute's professional staff work with every intern.

Scope of Recruitment: Summer Interns are recruited from AIP-recognized planning schools throughout the U.S. and Canada. Part-time Interns (Sept. through May) are recruited from planning programs in the D.C. area.

Recruitment Strategies: Chairpersons of AIP-recognized planning degree programs are asked to recommend one student from their program for an AIP internship.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Students who have been recommended by their department chairperson must submit a resume, a statement explaining why they choose planning as a profession, and a statement defining their research interests. These statements must be received by March 15 of the year the internship is for. Four members of the Institute's professional staff screen and decide on which applicants to select.

University), local public and private non-profit agencies and organizations, foundation and private contributions, and private profit-making sector.

Year Commenced: 1969

Interns/Fellows per Year: 600-800 per year (150-200 post-graduates)

Objectives of Program: To provide post-secondary students with meaningful, structured internship positions which will provide them with a learning experience in line with their stated career/academic/personal goals and interests, as well as provide needed services to agencies and organizations in the Metropolitan Atlanta area.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Internships usually last three months - one year and are tailored to the needs of the students and agencies. Seminars and workshops are offered periodically during the internship, as is on-going counseling by AUC staff members.
A Law Internship Project is offered to law students, as is a Medical Internship Project to medical students. This year two other graduate-oriented projects will be developed: (1) Business and Management Internship Project, placing students in business-oriented fields of study within the private profit-making sector in Atlanta; (2) Community Development Internship Project, placing students in urban planning and studies programs in neighborhood planning and organizing associations within Atlanta.

Scope of Placement: Any public or private non-profit agency/organization within the metro-Atlanta area. A selective number of private profit-making businesses and firms are being developed for placement starting in January 1975.

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: Any college or university nation-wide. AUC presently deals with approximately 100 educational institutions. Recruitment is not limited either to Georgia State University or local colleges and universities.

Recruitment Strategies: Mass mailings, extensive telephone contact, personal contact with local campuses, promotional, recruitment and application materials sent to over 1,000 colleges and universities per year.
Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Applications should be received by AUC at least one month prior to anticipated starting date of internship. Starting dates are flexible, but generally follow the quarterly schedule (summer - June 1st, fall - September 1st, winter-spring - January 1st, spring alone - 2nd or 3rd weeks of March. Application is reviewed by AUC staff and personal interviews with applicants are arranged (interviews with non-local students are arranged with former AUC interns living near applicant, or are conducted by phone with AUC staff member. Applicants for research-oriented internships are required to submit samples of their research along with the regular application.

CONNECTICUT GENERAL ASSEMBLY INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: Office of Legislative Research
Room 120, State Capitol
Hartford, Connecticut 06115
(203) 566-4150

Program Director: David J. McQuade, Intern Coordinator

Administering Agency: Intern Committee, Connecticut General Assembly

Source of Funds: State Appropriation

Year Commenced: 1971

Interns/Fellows per Year: Approximately 25 interns per year

Objectives of Program: The Intern Program has been established to offer students an opportunity to study the legislative process firsthand while providing legislators with additional staff. Interns spend most of their time doing legislative work and are exposed to the wide variety of experiences available at the State Capitol. In addition, the program seeks to present a sound theoretical understanding of state government and includes a strong academic component.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): The 1975 Intern Program will coincide with the legislative session of the General Assembly; January 9 to June 4, 1975.

The program provides legislators with interns to assist them in the legislative process and includes reading assignments, seminars, and a schedule of speakers. Additional requirements may be placed on interns by faculty advisors such as research papers and additional readings. It is recommended that full-time interns receive twelve to fifteen academic credits and that part-time interns receive four to six academic credits for their participation in the program.

Scope of Placement: Placement is made with individual legislators in the General Assembly.

Sponsors/Mentors: Connecticut General Assembly Intern Committee.

Scope of Recruitment: Undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in institutions of higher education in Connecticut.

Recruitment Strategies: Preference is given to upperclass students and to students whose experience and academic background offer some preparation for the work they will undertake. In addition, some consideration will be given to contributions which the applicant has made to his campus and community.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable):

October 1 - applications mailed to colleges
November 1 - colleges return selected list of candidates
November 15 - December 15 - Intern Committee interviews and selects final candidates
January 10 - 15 - meeting between legislators and assigned interns

(617) 259-9500

Program Director: Mr. John R. Cook, Jr.

Administrating Agency: Massachusetts Audubon Society

Source of Funds: Jessie Smith Noyes Foundation, Rockefeller Foundation and Ford Foundation.

Year Commenced: 1972

Interns/Fellows per Year: 200 to 250

Objectives of Program: There is a resource of potential staff in colleges and universities and a need for staff in private and public agencies. The program coordinates the supply in the educational system with the demand in agencies. The internship gives the intern practical experience while supplying the agencies with neglected staff.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Interns will be coordinated with agencies throughout the academic year for various intern periods depending upon the needs of the agency. To insure professional output, the majority of interns are from graduate schools using a wide variety of skills such as legal research, economic analysis, land-use planning, environmental quality analysis, open-space planning, solid-waste management, model legislation drafting, and general research.

Scope of Placement: New England and New York

Sponsors/Mentors: --

GOVERNOR'S SUMMER FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM (ILLINOIS)

Address and Phone Number: Governor's Office
State of Illinois
Springfield, Illinois
(217) 782-5160

Program Director: William J. Grimshaw

Administrating Agency: Governor's Office

Source of Funds: Participating state agencies

Year Commenced: 1973

Interns/Fellows per Year: Approximately 60

Objectives of Program: (1) Encourage students to consider public service, particularly state government, as a career option. (2) Familiarize students with the actual operation of state government and the goals of the current administration. (3) Provide a useful practical component to the students' academic training. (4) Encourage state agencies to look afresh at some of their conventions, programs, and policies.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Two months, from mid-June to mid-August. The internship would be in one of approximately 25 participating state agencies. There would be a weekly evening seminar, primarily involving discussions with key actors from various parts of state government, e.g., Governor's Office, Bureau of the Budget, Agency Director, General Assembly and lobbyists. No college credit is offered for participation; although some of the students make individual arrangements to receive credit from their schools.

Scope of Placement: Participating state agencies, approximately 25 in number.

Sponsors/Mentors: Each state agency assigns an intern liaison to work with the Governor's Office and the Program Director has overall responsibility for the interns' progress.

Scope of Recruitment: Illinois residents enrolled in junior or senior colleges and universities through the graduate and professional levels. This includes out-of-state enrolled students, so long as they are residents of Illinois.

Recruitment Strategies: Materials are sent to all Illinois junior and senior colleges as well as to selected out-of-state schools.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Initial screening performed by the Governor's Office and then the best half dozen or so applicants are sent to the appropriate agency which then makes the final selection for each position. Applications are sent out in mid-February, cut off is April 1, and notification is made by May 1.
Admission Requirements:

Age: None
Education: In college minimally
Occupation: None
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: Some to blacks, females, junior colleges, and small schools.
Other Criteria: None; but generally agencies select students with high grade point and some formal or informal relevant experience.

Remuneration and Stipend: $500.00 per month

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: None; although a critique of any or all aspects of the program is encouraged, which is used to supplement a formal evaluation in which the students and agencies participate.
GOVERNOR'S SUMMER INTERN PROGRAM (IDAHO)

Address and Phone Numbers
Director, Dept. of Administration
145 Len B. Jordan Building
Boise, Idaho 83720
(208) 384-3380

Program Director: D. E. Chilberg
Director, Administration

Administering Agency: Department of Administration

Source of Funds: Idaho State Legislature, through the Governor's Office

Year Commenced: 1971

Interns/Fellows per Year: 12 in past programs, with hopes of expansion next year.

Objectives of Program: The purpose of our program is three-fold:
1. To educate students in the operation of state government.
2. To have the students accomplish much needed work for the state.
3. To interest good students in pursuing careers in state government.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Students are chosen on the basis of applications sent to the Department of Administration in early spring. Applications consist of a resume and any other information the student feels is applicable, such as references. Resumes are also asked for from agencies in Idaho State Government with a summary of internships they feel are available in their area. Hopefully, a variety of fields offer internships and the students are then placed into the agency they choose to work for; the students have access to the agency resumes, and make their choices in this way, and also through interviews with the department administrators. We encourage individual input into the internships, hoping that the student can tailor his work experience to his interests. Participating students are assigned for a period of two months, usually June-July.

As important as the job assignments are the weekly meetings held with interns to discuss their particular agency's operation, and internship. Students are given a partial insight into other agencies in this way than in their own solely. The weekly meetings establish friendships, and create an organization with which the students can express their views and learn about particular areas of interest. Elected officials and other persons of governmental interest are invited to these informal meetings to discuss their positions.

Scope of Placement: All agencies in government are available for interns if they offer worthwhile positions to the students.

Sponsors/Mentors: 1974: Idaho Department of Transportation, division of aeronautics; Idaho Office on Aging; Attorney General Division of Budget, Policy Planning and Coordination; Department of Employment, Division of General Services; Department of Health and Welfare, Legal Services; Idaho State Historical Society; Commission on Human Rights; Legislative Fiscal Office; Parks and Recreation Department, Department of Public Lands.
Scope of Recruitment: Active advertisement is usually limited to Idaho State.

Recruitment Strategies: Any student may apply if he is a resident of Idaho with the school location of no consequence.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Resumes are usually received by the end of April with selection based on the content of the resumes: grades, interest, recommendations. Interns are notified by the first week in May with the group proceeding with the program in early June; the internships end in the last week of July.

Admission Requirements:

Age: College age
Education: Freshmen in college and above
Occupation: None specified; we encourage a diversity of interests
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: A resident of Idaho
Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: $500 for two months has been given in the last year; however, the Minimum Wage Law, if pertaining to internships, will raise this figure. Also, the increase in legislative appropriation will raise the stipend.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Booklet created by the intern group of suggestions and recommendations.
GRADUATE PUBLIC SERVICE INTERNSHIP (ILLINOIS)

Address and Phone Number: Sangamon State University
Springfield, Illinois 62708
(217) 786-6750

Program Director: Gary Combs

Administering Agency: Public Sector Program Evaluation Center

Source of Funds: Joint SSU/Employing Agency

Year Commenced: 1974

Interns/Fellows per Year: Five this first year will increase to probably 15 - 20 per year.

Objectives of Program: To provide a joint educational relationship between Illinois state government agencies and Sangamon State University to offer the student the best opportunity for growth under conditions that make a career in state government highly probable.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Two academic years and one summer where the intern works half-time in his intern position and takes 10 semester credit hours of work during the academic years and works full-time in his intern position during the summer. Over the entire time the intern is required to take a special internship seminar for credit.

Scope of Placement: Possible in any agency of the State of Illinois except the legislature which has its own intern program operated by SSU.

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: Students with Bachelors degree from all public and private colleges and universities in the State of Illinois.

Recruitment Strategies: Recruit from all disciplines through contacting individual departments and especially placement officers emphasizing women and minority groups and stressing that the student can enter any masters program at SSU while he is in the internship and complete that degree while costs are being paid by the internship program.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable):

Screening is done by a university wide faculty and student committee and then by the agencies seeking interns.

Program Director: Mr. Julius H. Lauderdale

Administering Agency: Internal Revenue Service

Source of Funds: Through Funds of Internal Revenue Service

Year Commenced: 1961

Interns/Fellows per Year: 20

Objectives of Program: The A.I.P. was established to ensure a continuing source of talent for this staff. Some of the varied functional staff duties deal with training, personnel, financial activities, facilities management, and public information programs -- duties that enable the service to collect taxes in the most efficient manner possible.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): The design of the training program provides the flexibility necessary for establishment of your own pattern of development and career goals.
Classroom Training includes discussions of goals of I.R.S. and plans for meeting its future needs, and techniques employed by administrative specialists; workshops; classes in management; and seminars and lectures with leaders in government, business and education.
Rotational Work Assignments give you a chance to look over the organization through various offices. Encouraged to develop individual interests and talents that will lead to a permanent assignment. Lengths of assignments will vary to conform to your needs and interests. A scheduled one year long program. Internships begin in July.

Scope of Placement: Most assignments are in Washington though some may be arranged in field offices.

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: Through the Register of the Federal Service Entrance Examination maintained by the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

Recruitment Strategies: In order to be available for an appointment made in the summer, the Federal Service Entrance Examination should be taken six months to one year ahead of desired time for placement.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): When selecting interns, the Service places a high premium on general ability and potential, not subject matter background. Significant work experience may also contribute to one's over-all qualifications.
Admission Requirements:

Age: To be eligible for a GS-7 or GS-9 level and above after the Federal Service Entrance Examination.

Education: --

Occupation: --

Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: --

Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: GS-7 enters with a salary of $830/month, or $1,015/month (GS-9).

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: The one year internship will develop with a full time career position anywhere with the I.R.S. (with complete benefits).

MT. LEBANON INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: Municipal Building
710 Washington Road
Mt. Lebanon, Pennsylvania 15228
(412) 343-3400

Program Director: H. Edward Wesemann, Assistant Manager

Administering Agency: Mt. Lebanon, Pennsylvania Municipal Government

Source of Funds: During 1975 the Mt. Lebanon Internship Program will be fully funded by the Municipal Government.

Year Commenced: 1960

Interns/Fellows per Year: Approximately 16

Objectives of Program: The Mt. Lebanon Internship Program is designed to provide students with an opportunity to review their academic course work in an operational environment. In addition, interns have the opportunity to gain insight into the complex and diverse operations of a municipal government through participation in the day-to-day activities of the municipality by rotating among the various staff and line departments. Finally, the program provides the student with access to experienced professional administrators for advice, both regarding the internship projects and general career preparation and opportunities.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Generally, the Mt. Lebanon program attempts to assign an intern to one major project in a series of smaller projects. Approximately 60-70 percent of the student's time is spent on the major project which is frequently prepared in lieu of a graduate thesis.

Internships are normally scheduled for a 13-week period of full-time work. In particular circumstances it is possible, however, to prepare a part-time program when requested by the student and the university involved.

Scope of Placement: Interns are placed in one of the staff or operating departments of the municipality dependent upon the special interests and career preparation of the student. Frequently interns are rotated among departments.

Sponsors/Mentors: The internship program was designed and is operated under the guidance and supervision of Robert A. Finley, Manager, Mt. Lebanon, Pennsylvania.

Scope of Recruitment: Interns are recruited from universities offering graduate programs in public administration.

Recruitment Strategies: An informational brochure on the internship program is mailed to universities having a graduate school in public administration. On-campus interviews and discussions are held with students attending schools in close geographic proximity to the Pittsburgh area.
Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Generally, Mt. Lebanon prefers to coordinate internship programs through the respective universities and accepts graduate students on the recommendation of the advisor. Normally, students who have completed their academic course work and require an internship for completion of their degree requirements are given favorable priority. Interns seeking a career in municipal management with concentrations in public administration, urban affairs, planning or other fields oriented toward municipal management, are desired. Under certain circumstances undergraduate students in public administration or graduate students in other areas of concentration may be accepted. Due to the short duration of the internship period, applications for internships are accepted throughout the year and selection of interns is made one to two months prior to the commencement of the internship.

Admission Requirements:

Age: No requirement
Education: Graduate students in public administration or field closely related to municipal management preferred.
Occupation: No requirement
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: None
Other Criteria: Academic achievement, academic and personal references, writing ability, and interest in municipal management career.

Remuneration and Stipend: $1,500 per internship period paid in by-weekly segments.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: None
NATIONAL INTERNSHIP PROGRAM (NATIONAL RECREATION & PARK ASSOCIATION)

Address and Phone Number: 1601 North Kent Street

Program Director: Dr. Donald Henkel

Administering Agency: National Recreation and Park Association

Source of Funds: National Recreation and Park Association Funds

Year Commenced: 1956

Interns/Fellows per Year: 12

Objectives of Program: Comprehensive bridge between academic community and practical world. The program seeks out those with unusual potential and provides opportunities to test their capabilities on a broad range of operational functions. The experience is tied closely to top management functions but provides experiences in all major facets of an agency's operations.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): One year duration. Exposure to all facets of Park and Recreation Agency operation - however, mainly in agency administration, experiencing its responsibilities of problems, demands, obligations, complexities, methods of operation, limitations, successes, etc.

Scope of Placement: 10 agencies in various National Recreation and Park Association regions

Sponsors/Mentors: Agency and National Recreation and Park Association

Scope of Recruitment: Nationwide

Recruitment Strategies: Word of mouth - meetings and discussions and brochures.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Submission of special application, National Recreation and Park Association membership, faculty and operational supervisor reference letters, personal interview.

Admission Requirements:

Age: --
Education: Bachelor's Degree
Occupation: Preference to park and recreation students

NATIONAL LEVEL INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: University Council for Educational Administration
29 West Woodruff
Columbus, Ohio 43210
(614) 422-2564

Program Director: Dr. Richard Podemski

Administrating Agency: University Council for Educational Administration

Source of Funds: U.S. Office of Education
Bureau of Education for the Handicapped
Washington, D.C. 20202

Year Commenced: 1973

Interns/Fellows per Year: 1973-74 Six interns
1974-75 Eight interns

Objectives of Program: The National Level Internship Program will provide a fulltime field experience of one calendar year for carefully selected doctoral candidates from all areas of Special Education and/or General Education. The field-based experience occurs within a national level Special Education or General Education Agency, such as, USOE/BEH, Council for Exceptional Children, American Association of School Administrators, Council of The Great City Schools, etc. The immediate goal of the program is to provide interns with a national perspective on education and change strategy skills within national agencies. Ultimately, the internship program would provide a "talent pool" of educational leaders with training and experience at the national level upon which national agencies may draw for leadership personnel which is at this time non-existent.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Education Component): One year, July 1 through June 30. Fulltime field experience in the assigned agency, with significant duties and responsibilities assumed by the intern. Some portion of the intern's time is involved in interaction with leaders in pertinent government agencies other than the one where he/she is assigned. A series of training experiences (about 2 days per quarter) are provided for interns to receive specific training (i.e., seminars, workshops, etc.). A select group of individuals having experiences at national agencies act as a consultant/resource pool capable of interacting on an individual basis with the interns concerning change processes, politics, etc.

Scope of Placement: Each of the eight interns are placed in a different agency: OE/BEH, Office of the Handicapped, Office of Women in higher Education, Council of the Great City Schools, Association of Chief State School Officers, National Association of State Directors of Special Education, American Association of School Administrators and Council for Exceptional Children.

Sponsors/Mentors: The program is sponsored by the University Council for Educational Administration and the universities that represent the various interns.
Scope of Recruitment: The interns are recruited from all the universities in the United States which offer doctorates in Educational Administration.

Recruitment Strategies: Notification through UCEA publications, announcements at AASA Convention, etc.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Initial screening and selection will be done by a committee selected by UCEA from universities who do not have students applying for an internship. All applications are reviewed on the basis of ability, creativity, and congruence between the candidate's career aspiration and purposes of the Internship Program. The candidates who pass the initial screening are brought to Washington to be interviewed and "matched" with agency responsibilities and activities. Candidate's initial application is due to UCEA on March 31. Candidates are interviewed in Washington in May and notified by the end of May of acceptance.

Admission Requirements:

Age: None
Education: Doctorate or near completion of doctorate in Educational Administration, General and/or Special.

Occupation: --
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: None
Other Criteria: Desire to gain experiences at the National Level.

Remuneration and Stipend:

Moving costs: Expenses to moving site up to $700
Stipend: $12,000 cost of living allowance
Travel: $1,200 for related travel

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: None
NATIONAL WILDLIFE FEDERATION INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: 1412 16th Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
(202) 483-1550

Program Director: Mr. Sheldon Kinsel

Administrating Agency: National Wildlife Federation

Source of Funds: From Federation Budget

Year Commenced: 1974

Interns/Fellows per Year: Minimum of 6

Objectives of Program: Designed to provide highly qualified students with practical experience by offering them an opportunity to be an important part of the nation’s largest conservation organization.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Interns work for a three month period. The greatest share of an intern’s time is divided between research and reporting for the CONSERVATION REPORT. The research undertaken by interns varies depending on their ability, background and interests, and the needs of the Federation and the environmental community. Projects may range from answering member’s inquiries on various environmental issues and helping prepare testimony given by the Federation at Congressional and Executive hearings, to intensive and long-term background investigations of a particular environmental problem.

The CONSERVATION REPORT is one of the educational services provided by the National Wildlife Federation and interns will devote part of their time to attending hearings or floor debates on environmental issues before Congress and reporting them in this publication. In addition, interns are called upon to attend hearings, briefings and seminars held within the executive branch and private institutions and organizations and report these to NWF staffers. A small percentage of the interns' time is also devoted to routine office work.

In addition, the interns must be qualified to do independent research and write well. The interns' responsibilities offer fine educational opportunities for observing Congress, Executive departments, and environmental groups in action. In addition, the Federation encourages the interns to visit the museums, monuments and other attractions in Washington, D.C. and cooperates with schools which offer academic credit for internship experience.

Scope of Placement: Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: Nationwide

103 97
Recruitment Strategies: Juniors, Seniors, and Graduate students in natural resource areas, political science, and journalism are usually the most likely candidates for interns, depending on their "cross qualifications." However, any student with a strong environmental background and the necessary writing skills and knowledge of government will be considered.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Because of the kind of tasks they are called upon to perform, only individuals with a high degree of initiative, maturity, motivation, and sense of responsibility can be accepted.

Admission Requirements:

Age: --
Education: Junior, Senior, and Graduate students
Occupation: --
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: --
Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: A living allowance is provided.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: None imposed by Federation.

NORTH DAKOTA LEGISLATIVE INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

Address and Phone Number: North Dakota Legislative Council
State Capitol
Bismarck, North Dakota  58505
(701) 224-2916

Program Director: C. Emerson Hurry
Director, North Dakota Legislative Council

Administering Agency: North Dakota Legislative Council

Source of Funds: State legislative appropriation (i.e. State General Fund)

Year Commenced: 1969 Biennial Legislative Session

Interns/Fellows per Year: 1969 - 6 interns; 1971 - 8 interns; and 1973 - 14 interns. Proposed for 1975 Session - 14 interns.

Objectives of Program: To provide an educational experience for the interns involved while, at the same time, providing needed research and drafting services for the Legislative Assembly. To expose interns to the legislative process, and give them an introduction to the possibilities of service in State government.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): The program's duration is the length of the legislative session - approximately 70 calendar days each biennium. The program is designed to accept a given number of interns from each of the State's public universities who are initially chosen by the administration of each university. The interns are then assigned by the staff of the Legislative Council to serve particular standing committees. In addition to OJT, the staff supervisor arranges informal presentations by leading State officials, and conducts evaluation sessions with all interns periodically during the Session. Interns' drafting activities are supervised by attorneys on the Legislative Council staff.

Scope of Placement: During the 1973 Session, an intern was assigned to each legislative standing Committee, with the exception of the two Appropriations Committees. No effort is made at further placement as the interns return to classes for completion of the Spring semester or quarter.

Sponsors/Mentors: The University of North Dakota and North Dakota State University, in conjunction with the North Dakota Legislative Council.

Scope of Recruitment: Determined by the Universities involved. Within Colleges and Universities in North Dakota.

Recruitment Strategies: --

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Final review by interim Committee of the Legislative Council (legislator members) responsible for making arrangements for Legislative Session. Prior selection procedure is left to discretion of the Universities and the Law School at the University of North Dakota (the latter with respect to law student interns).
Selections and notifications usually occur prior to the opening of the Organizational Session of the Legislature in early December of each even-numbered year.

Admission Requirements:

Age: Twenty years old and up.

Education: Working on post-graduate degree or law degree, except in case of interns working on bill status reporting who can be undergraduates.

Occupation: --

Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: None, except that they be students at the Universities above mentioned.

Other Criteria: Class standing indicating high native intelligence, indication of tact and initiative.

Remuneration and Stipend: $600 per month proposed for 1975 Session.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Fill out evaluation questionnaires for Legislative Council staff, plus any requirements placed upon the intern by the University from which he was sent.

Washington, D.C. 20007
(202) 338-7444

Program Director: Lenny Conway

Administrating Agency: Robert F. Kennedy Memorial

Source of Funds: --

Year Commenced: 1968

Interns/Fellows per Year: Approximately 24 on a rotating basis

Objectives of Program: The Robert F. Kennedy Fellows Program is a tax exempt public/foundation which provides support to various community level organizations working with youth. The Fellows Program focuses on the educational rights of children and youth.

A person seeking a Fellowship would apply to the Fellows program along with an organization (host organization) whom they would be fulfilling their fellowship with.

The Memorial is not a grant making foundation nor does it have a scholarship program.

The Fellows Program consists of a Senior Fellows area and a Youth Fellows area. S.F. are young adults and Y.F. are adolescents (aged 15 - 19).

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Senior Fellows placements are usually for one year and Youth Fellows for six months - serving in local communities and schools to help young people. The Memorial encourages Youth Fellows to undertake local projects, hoping, by example, to encourage more young people to work for freedom of expression and against social injustice in their schools and communities.

Scope of Placement: Each Fellow arranges the locality and organization in which to work for.

Sponsors/Mentors: --

Scope of Recruitment: --

Recruitment Strategies: The major recruitment of the Memorial puts stress on the educational opportunities for Blacks, Indians, and Chicanos and are also seeking out those groups which are attempting to commit more fortunate young people to the battle against poverty and discrimination.

Program Director: Michael C. Ortner
Administering Agency: Legislative Research Council
Source of Funds: Special state appropriation
Year Commenced: 1974
Interns/Fellows per Year: 20

Objectives of Program: To provide legislative internships for college students to foster knowledge and understanding of the governmental process and to provide assistance to the legislative branch of the State Government.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component):

6 weeks in even numbered years
9 weeks in odd numbered years

Most colleges allow credit for the internship.

Scope of Placement: Legislative Body members of the State of South Dakota
Sponsors/Mentors: Legislators and legislative committees
Scope of Recruitment: All colleges in South Dakota

Recruitment Strategies: Approximately 50% Democrats and 50% Republicans

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Must complete application form provided by the legislative research council and furnish them with a copy of their transcripts at least six weeks prior to first day of legislative session. The character, aptitude, academic attainment, and interests of applicant shall provide basis for selection.

Admission Requirements:

Age: Any student currently enrolled in a degree-granting post-secondary educational institution.
Education: --
Occupation: --
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: --
Other Criteria: --
Remuneration and Stipend: $70 per week

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Brief personal written evaluation of program by interns and legislators.
Address and Phone Number: Dept. of Education & Cultural Affairs
State Capitol
Pierre, South Dakota 57501
(605) 224-3119

Program Coordinator: Mrs. Pamela Bollinger

Administering Agency: Dept. of Education and Cultural Affairs

Source of Funds: Legislative Appropriation of State Dollars

Year Commenced: 1973

Interns/Fellows per Year: Program is expanding -- 58 Summer '74, approximately 25 school year '74-'75.

Objectives of Program:

1. To provide students with off-campus work experiences that will supplement and enhance their academic training.
2. To provide work experiences relevant to the students' educational objectives.
3. To offer state government agencies the opportunity to utilize the talent and creative ideas of youth.
4. To encourage young people to enter careers of service in South Dakota.
5. To foster a greater knowledge and understanding of the governmental process.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Opportunities open to public and private schools in South Dakota for academic credit. Credit is not centrally decided by department, but is presently a matter of decision at the college level. State agency internships are in a variety of areas -- law/pre-law, communications, social sciences, economics, business/math, social services, etc. Presently a twelve-week internship is utilized, but eventually program may move to a semester long internship during the regular school year with a twelve-week segment in the summer.

Scope of Placement: Agencies, committees, and associations that are a part of the Executive Branch of the South Dakota State Government.

Sponsors/Mentors: Varies throughout program -- state agencies request interns for the purpose of providing a service learning experience for the young people of South Dakota. Sponsors range from Social Welfare, Education and Cultural Affairs, Commerce and Consumer Affairs, to Indian Affairs, Central Data processing, Economic and Tourism Development, Bureau of Personnel, Administration, etc.

Scope of Recruitment: Coordinator contacts campus intern coordinators at each participating institution. In turn, the students receive the information on campus. News releases and posters are also put out.
Recruitment Strategies: Slide-tape presentation on program is presented at the campuses; brochures are available; news releases and posters are displayed; academic advisors and curriculum planners encourage internships as a part of the students major program. Program provides opportunities for youth to become involved in the State government in South Dakota and hopefully encourages them to work in their state. Uppermost in the program is the practical work experience gained.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Applications available through coordinator at Pierre, as well as coordinators on each campus. Applications are sent to main office. Copies of applications are sent to each agency for which the intern has requested an internship with, in accordance to the job description sent out by the state agencies. The supervisors at the agencies will review the applications and personally interview up to three applicants by phone, or in person. After student is chosen, the agency contacts the coordinator’s office about selection and student is contacted about choice of intern. The student, then, has ten days to accept or decline.

Admission Requirements: Should be a resident of South Dakota or attending a college or university in South Dakota. Preference is given to junior or senior or graduate status.

Age: Preference given to junior, senior, or graduate status.
Education: Same as above.
Occupation: In line with field of study.
Geographical, Ethnic or other Preferences: Resident of South Dakota or attending South Dakota college or university.
Other Criteria: --

Remuneration and Stipend: $100 per week for undergraduate; $125 per week for graduate status.

Obligations Upon Completion of Program: Final evaluation and final booklet.
Address and Phone Number: 529 East 12th Street
Des Moines, Iowa 50312

Program Director: Robert F. Tyson, Director
Barry M. Petrowsky, Personnel Officer

Administrating Agency: State Office for Planning and Programming

Source of Funds: Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD 701)

Year Commenced: 1969

Interns/Fellows per Year: Varies; is determined by the amount of funding available during a given fiscal year. Usually four to six per fiscal year.

Objectives of Program: The interns in OPP have the opportunity to assist full-time state planners in a number of areas including environmental affairs, rural development, general state planning, highway safety, comprehensive health planning, municipal affairs, educational planning, and public information. This exposure serves as on-the-job training or provides an apprenticeship for individuals who are interested in working in the government sector upon graduation from a college or university.

Program Design (Duration, Internship, Educational Component): Duration - one school semester. However, an intern may have the opportunity to work an additional semester to finish a given project. Maximum hours per week allowed - 20 hours per week. A schedule for each intern is arranged between the office personnel officer and the intern in order to insure that the intern can continue with a full-time course load at his or her University, while also working up to twenty hours per week in the Office for Planning & Programming.

Scope of Placement: Not applicable

Sponsors/Mentors: Not applicable

Scope of Recruitment: Surrounding colleges and universities.

Recruitment Strategies: In conjunction with the Public Administration and Political Science Departments, as well as the general placement offices of the neighboring colleges and universities.

Screening and Selection (Procedures and Timetable): Available intern positions are announced via letter and phone calls to the neighboring Colleges and Universities, who in turn post the employment positions in their respective institutions (in the various Departments). Applications of those interested individuals are received for approximately one to two months prior to the selection process. Through the process of elimination, the candidates are selected and matched with the various intern positions that are available, taking into consideration the intern candidates ultimate career goals.
