CONTENT:
I. BACKGROUND MATERIAL
   A. The Elizabethan Age (1485-1625) named after Queen Elizabeth I, was created partly by European movement called the Renaissance.

1. Renaissance was "rebirth" of learning, brought on by several simultaneous events:
   a. Capture of Constantinoply by Turks drove Greek scholars to seek refuge in Italy - there to revive classical learning.
   b. Discovery of printing by moveable metal type - increased production and spread of books
   c. Development of banking, capital investment, and letters of credit made trade easier and more prosperous.
   d. Great voyages of discovery

2. Reformation arrived to challenge the corruption of the church - and later its doctrines
   a. Led by several men:
      1. Martin Luther - Germany
      2. John Calvin - Switzerland
      3. John Knox - Scotland
   b. Led to ruinous wars throughout Europe

3. The age concentrated on man himself, creating a less strictly ordered, looser form of society.
B. The Flowering of Elizabethan Literature

1. The sonnet form, originally Italian, was imitated.
   a. 14 line poem with iambic pentameter
   b. Several writers succeeded
      1. Earl of Surrey
      2. Sir Thomas Wyatt
      3. Shakespeare

2. The drama was inspired by an Elizabethan passion for poetry
   a. Origins were court masques, generally acted by amateurs but written by professionals, such as Ben Jonson
   b. All roles were played by men or boys
   c. People from all walks of life enjoyed plays and supported them.

C. The Elizabethan Theatre

1. Origins were miracle and mystery play cycles - acted out on portable stage
   a. Other arenas combined for sports, such as bear-baiting, were made permanent
   b. Stages were built in innyards
   c. Eventually buildings were constructed to house plays
   d. Most famous theatre - the Globe

2. Physical layout
   a. Stage protruded into open courtyard from one wall of a circular, or octagonal building of several floors
   b. At back of stage was small, inner stage and balcony, and tiring house
   c. No curtain was used, but there were trap doors in floor and ceiling overhanging stage from which supernatural creatures in a play would enter

D. Elizabethan Language

1. English - a combination of Germanic, Anglo-Saxon and Norman French words--altered with addition of new words after the Renaissance and Reformation.
   a. Latin
   b. Greek

2. New words came from several sources
   a. Exploration
   b. Trade
   c. Scholarship
   d. Science
   e. Translations
3. Spelling and punctuation were not normalized as at present.
4. There were few rules or prescriptions for the language.
5. A question was often begun with a verb (e.g. "Say you so?" or "Looks my love well?")
6. Syntactic constructions were unusual by 20th century standards.
7. Prestige of the language rose greatly during this time, a by-product of the rise of English arts, commerce, and military power.

E. Definition of terms

1. Act - one of the main structural divisions of a drama; Elizabethans divided their plays into five acts

2. Allusion - indirect reference to an event, person, thing, place, or quality; it serves, by suggestion, to extend the significance of a poetic image or prose passage; often a single allusion suggests a whole pattern the reader should have in mind as he considers the work

3. Antagonist - the person or force that opposes the protagonist of a literary work. Hamlet is the protagonist of Shakespeare's tragedy; Claudius, the antagonist.

4. Blank verse - unrhymed iambic pentameter, used by Shakespeare in his dramas

5. Bombast - a high-sounding, inflated, pompous speech; Shakespeare's Falstaff often descends to bombast.

6. Bowdlerize - to remove supposedly offensive passages from a literary work

7. Climax - the final, culminating event in a series of actions, as in a drama or story (e.g. Hamlet's duel with Laertes); decisive moment

8. Comedy - any literary or dramatic composition whose ending is not tragic; humorous, witty, and amusing, and causes us to laugh; can be serious works posing significant human questions (as "problem comedies" such as Measure for Measure which deals with justice, love, and forgiveness).

9. Comic relief - any episode in a serious play especially tragedy, that is introduced to relieve the tension for a few moments through comedy. In Shakespeare, it is closely related in theme and imagery to the main action, often extending and enriching its significance by contrast.

10. Denouement - the point in the plot of a drama or novel where the outcome or the major clarification occurs
11. Deus ex machina - any character, event, or device suddenly introduced to resolve the conflict; literally, in Latin, the "god from the machine"

12. Dramatis personae - a catalogue of the cast, printed at beginning of the play - Latin "characters of the drama"

13. Dumb show - drama performed by gestures without dialogue; Hamlet's playlet "The Murder of Gonzago" is preceded by a dumb show (pantomime)

14. Foil - a character whose behavior and qualities set off or enhance by contrast those of another figure; Fortinbras and Laertes are foils for Hamlet

15. Foreshadowing - an anticipation by indication or suggestion of what will happen eventually; the preceding of an event in a literary work by a remark, an image, etc. later to be associated with the event. It can create suspense or comment ironically upon an event before it occurs.

16. Protagonist - the major character in a literary work, around whom all the action moves (eg. Hamlet, Lear, Othello, Macbeth)

17. Scene - the place, setting, or locale in which any event, real or imaginary, occurs (eg. scene of Hamlet is Elsinore Castle in Denmark); also refers to one of the divisions of an act in drama

18. Soliloquy - an act or instance of talking to oneself; the only "outsider" aware of the speech is the audience or reader

19. Theme - the topic, or subject, of a literary work; or a short formula expressing the subject (eg. the theme of Macbeth is "Ambition doth outrun the pauser reason"; that of Othello may be, he "loved not wisely, but too well.")

20. Tragedy - a serious drama usually concluding with catastrophe - generally that downfall or death of the protagonist. Greek tragedy is always the drama of the downfall of a great man; in modern tragedy, the death of the central figure is not always necessary

21. Tragic flaw - a noble man's single imperfection which brings about his downfall; often the "flaw" is associated with pride and ambition. Not all tragic figures suffer from a flaw; frequently a series of actions and decisions entrap them in a tragic situation in which it is difficult to place the blame for a character's unhappy fate on any individuals' imperfection (Ophelia's death in Hamlet; Juliet's in Romeo and Juliet).
II. WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

A. Life

1. Born April 23, 1564 in Stratford-on-Avon, to John and Mary Arden Shakespeare, one of eight children.
2. At age of seven, attended Free Grammar School, but withdrew at age fourteen.
3. In 1582, he married Anne Hathaway, age twenty-seven, who bore him three children--Susanna, Hamnet, and Judith.
4. Departed for London to seek employment as actor and playwright.
5. Became an important figure, grew prosperous, acted before Queen Elizabeth I and King James I.
6. Rest of his life was filled with affairs chiefly pertaining to the stage.
7. Died in 1616, probably on his fifty-second birthday, and was laid to rest in the church at Stratford.

j. The Tempest
k. Pericles

C. The First Folio

1. Most famous monument to his memory
2. Issued in 1623, seven years after his death, by fellow actors.
3. One of the most highly treasured volumes in the world
4. Definitely assigns the authorship of twenty hitherto unprinted plays to Shakespeare

D. Four Periods of Life/Works

1. Youthful dreams and exuberant spirits
2. Great chronicles and romantic comedies
3. Period of depression and tragedy
4. Calmness and peace of inner spirit

III. MACBETH

A. Background

1. Historical background is from stories in Holinshed's "Chronicles"
2. The period of action in the play is about twenty years. Duncan was slain about 1040, and Macbeth about 1060.
3. The scene of the play is Scotland and England.
4. There was a general belief in witchcraft during the Elizabethan period.

B. Reading of the play:

1. Following plot
2. Understanding character
3. Awareness of theme
4. Reaching conclusion as to the meaning of the play
IV HAMLET

A. Background

1. Historical background is from "Historia Danica" by Saxo Grammaticus
2. The historical period is indeterminate, but dates back to the eighth or tenth century. The time depicted on stage is seven days, with intervals considerably lengthening this time.
3. The scene of the play is Elsinore, Denmark.
4. There was great belief in the power of the supernatural during Elizabethan times.

B. Reading of the play:

1. Following plot
2. Understanding character
3. Awareness of theme
4. Reaching conclusion as to the meaning of the play

V. ACTIVITIES AND PROCEDURES

ACTIVITIES AND PROCEDURES:

1. Students may choose one of the following activities:
   a. Build a model of a Shakespearian theatre
   b. Draw or illustrate the following:
      1. Five scenes from Macbeth or Hamlet
      2. Five main characters, as you think they appear
   c. Dramatization of one scene from Macbeth or Hamlet (either memorized or parts should be well known — this may be a small group project)
   d. Memorization of approximately 30-40 lines of Macbeth or Hamlet, from the soliloquies or more important speeches.
   e. Series of cartoons illustrating some well-known Shakespearian quotations

2. Students, in groups of five or six, will choose an additional play to read (other than Hamlet or Macbeth) and complete the following activities:
   a. The group will present a written summary of their play to the class. Individual copies are to be kept in the student's notebook;
   b. In addition, the group will do a poster or banner illustrating their play;
   c. Finally, the group will give an oral presentation to the class which will review their play and incorporate dramatizations of one or preferably several key scenes from the play, using simple costumes and props.
The group should explain how the language, imagery, and action of the performed passages are related to other passages and to some central theme of the play.

4. Students will read Macbeth and Hamlet and listen to professional recordings of both plays.

5. Questions to guide the reading of Macbeth and Hamlet, as well as important vocabulary terms, will be given.

6. Class discussion will be an indispensable part of Shakespearian study:
   a. Plot
   b. Character
   c. Dramatic elements used
      1. Comic relief
      2. Dumb show
      3. Foil
      4. Foreshadowing
      5. Soliloquy
      6. Tragic flaw
   d. Theme of ambition in Macbeth
   e. Theme of revenge in Hamlet

7. Students will write a paper comparing and/or contrasting character or theme in Macbeth and Hamlet.

8. Summary activities will be directed to the idea that Shakespeare was "not of an age, but for all time."
