The job placement manual of Forest Park Senior High School, Forest Park, Georgia, assists in producing a more effective program by providing specific job placement procedures for the high school. The 1,900 student high school, located in a suburban area south of Atlanta, had 522 graduates in 1974 (42 percent--college-bound, 10 percent--technical school, 35 percent--employment, and 13 percent--other plans). The manual provides information regarding: the job placement advisory committee; management plan (staff roles and responsibilities); surveying student needs; publicity; assessing placement opportunities; preparing students for finding, entering, and maintaining employment; placement procedures; job adjustment; records; related agencies; staff development; and calendars. Appendixes contain copies of various sheets related to job placement. (EA)

Clayton County School System serves a suburban county southeast of Atlanta, Georgia. Clayton County is part of metropolitan Atlanta. The school system is organized on a 6-3-3 system. There are four high schools, 8 junior high schools, and 22 elementary schools as of July, 1974. Of the four high schools vocational facilities exist in one, are under construction at one, are approved for the third and are planned for the fourth.

The system is growing in students at the rate of 10% per year. In 1973-74 there were 31,500 students.

Two high schools have Job Placement Programs. The programs operate separately although the coordinators work closely together by telephone.

The Board of Education in an official meeting approved the Job Placement Program and its funding.

Forest Park Senior High School

Forest Park Senior High School is located in a suburban area south of Atlanta. It will have approximately 1,900 students in 1974. Five hundred twenty-two students graduated in 1974. Of the graduates 42 percent planned to attend college. 10 percent planned to attend technical school, 35 percent planned to enter employment, and 13 percent had other plans.

It is a comprehensive high school with new vocational facilities. Vocational and career exploration programs currently serving students include Business Education, Distributive Education (DE), Diversified Cooperative Training (DCT), Health Career Cooperative Education (HCCE), Home Economics, Industrial Arts, Job Placement, and Vocational Office Training (VOT).
Need for this Manual

This manual will keep a coordinator and team member from floundering. It will keep objectives clearly focused. Time wasted in "getting organized" is eliminated. Time invested in developing the manual is well justified. It produces a more effective program.

This manual will be developed and revised annually by the Job Placement Team. Work on the manual serves as a basis for program planning. It aids in clarifying purposes and procedures.

In time, personnel working with the program will change. New team members will find the manual a good beginning point.

It also serves as a consistent basis for explaining the program to school personnel, parents, students, employers, and other persons in the community. Placement team members, school administrators, and others have a specific point of reference.

The manual is also needed because changes in procedures must be made to fit changing conditions. Changing the manual is a way of clearly communicating changes in the program. Discussing changes needed in the manual gives a focus for periodically reexamining purposes and evaluating procedures.

Most of all, the manual gives specific procedures for Forest Park Senior High School. General guidelines that are given in books and articles on placement are helpful, but adaptation and the implementation of specific plans and ideas are needed.

The yearly calendar of activities allows team members to quickly determine what needs to be done weekly. The calendar along with specific plans and procedures assures an effective program with minimum effort.

Appendices provide reference material frequently needed by team members.
The Advisory Committee will be a joint committee for Job Placement, DE, VOT, DCT, HCCE, Trade and Industrial Programs. The general committee will consist of approximately 25 members. Each of these members will serve on a sub-committee for one of the areas listed above. 4 to 5 members for Job Placement, 4 to 5 members for DE, 4 to 5 members for VOT, 4 to 5 members for DCT, and the remainder of the Trade and Industrial Programs.

Recommendations for the Advisory Committee will be made by the T & I instructors, coordinators of the cooperative education programs, the Job Placement Coordinator, the Vocational Supervisor, the local Director of Vocational Education, and the Principal. Selecting members in this way will assure that there are knowledgeable people on each subcommittee. Each subcommittee will contain members who understand the particular business for which each program is training students.

Organizing the Advisory Committee in this way will allow maximum effort in a minimum of time and will prevent overlapping of committee members. Each subcommittee can meet at the same time to discuss its business and then report to the general Advisory Committee. Consequently, everyone will know what is happening in each area and will be a part of the discussion on topics which concern every member. This procedure will allow a valuable exchange of information to take place in one meeting instead of five or six different meetings.

Each person who is recommended will receive a letter from the superintendent inviting him to serve on the committee. Following the Superintendent's letter the Vocational Supervisor will write each person, explaining the activities of the Advisory Committee. A personal contact will be made by the vocational supervisor to each person who states his desire to serve on the Advisory committee.

The committee will advise the Vocational Supervisor, the staff of the various programs, and the administrators regarding

1. types of employees they are seeking,
2. availability of openings in various fields,
3. long-range projections in occupational areas,
4. ways in which all teachers can include career in the curriculum,
5. adequacy and appropriateness of facilities and equipment,
6. development of good public relations, and
7. criteria for the evaluation of programs.
MANAGEMENT PLAN

Staff Organization for 1974-75

The program began on a small scale in order to perfect basic procedures. Changes in the organization will be made as the program develops in order to serve more students. Details on developmental phases leading to serving all students are given in the section entitled "Surveying Student Needs and Interests."

SURVEYING STUDENT NEEDS

A survey of student interest in getting assistance with job placement is made early in each school year. The Job Placement Coordinator visits each homeroom, explains the program, and asks students to complete a "Survey of Student Employment Status" (See Appendix H.).

In addition to identifying students who want job placement assistance, the survey identifies students who are

* enrolled in a cooperative vocational education program.
* already employed, or
* who do not want job placement assistance.

The survey also serves as a basis for identifying employers who are likely to hire part-time help in that students who are already employed are asked to give employers' name and address.

Students desiring assistance in job placement who have had vocational courses are identified. This procedure allows the coordinator to make more appropriate placement of these students.
PUBLICITY

The program will be publicized through

* Newspaper articles
* School newspaper articles
* School bulletin boards
* PTA meetings
* Civic group meetings, if requested
* Faculty meetings
ASSESSING PLACEMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The cooperative education teachers and the Job Placement Coordinator are all familiar with the area served. During late Summer they will draft a tentative list of careers available in the area.

New contacts will be made in early Fall with business in the area to explain the new Job Placement Program.

The initial contact of the Job Placement Program purpose is two fold: first, to make business aware of the placement program and its objectives and second, to find the needs of the business in the community. A list of licensed businesses will be obtained from the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce. This list will be divided into areas for survey purposes. Initial contacts to the businesses will be made by the placement team beginning in August. The coordinators will be fully briefed on the Job Placement Program before contacts are made. Each will have a visual aide, such as a flipchart, to help him with his presentation. Each will have job order sheets (see records section and appendices) with him so that employers who have job openings and wish to use the Placement service may do so. Each coordinator will be given a list of ten businesses he is to contact. Before the coordinators visit the businesses, the coordinators will set up appointments by telephone. After each contact is made they will report the results to the Job Placement Coordinator.

New business will be moving into the community and will need to be contacted. This will be a personal contact made by the Job Placement Coordinator unless growth becomes too rapid for this to be done. In that event, the previously described method will be used.

Updating

Coordinator will periodically update the list of openings by telephoning business previously contacted in person.
First Quarter

In order to prepare students for placement the Job Placement Coordinator will meet with all students expressing an interest in entering employment. The sessions will consist of 5 to 6 student meetings before school, after school, and during study halls. Sessions will include such activities as:

1. Discussions
   a. Employer expectations
   b. Relationships with other employees
   c. Appropriate dress
   d. Interviews
2. Filling out applications
3. Role playing

These activities will help students develop the following competencies:

1. Evaluating personal characteristics realistically (skills, interests, values, etc.)
2. Investigating job requirements
3. Locating job openings
4. Writing a resume
5. Writing letters of application, if appropriate.
6. Completing application forms
7. Applying by telephone for an interview
8. Evaluating a company
9. Building confidence prior to an interview
10. Responding well in an interview
11. Evaluating a job
12. Following up on an interview
13. Learning job responsibilities and carrying them out
14. Maintaining good social relations on the job
15. Evaluating job performance
16. Investigating need for more training and education and keeping options open
Beginning Second Quarter

During the second quarter a class which will develop the same competencies will be given. It will replace the sessions conducted by the Job Placement Coordinator. This class will be open to all students in the school except cooperative program students who have this preparation in their cooperative classes.

In addition to the competencies listed above, this class will include career exploration activities.
PLACEMENT PROCEDURES

1. Employers and students are surveyed; Job Placement Coordinator periodically telephones companies to locate openings; employers call to report openings; the program is continuously publicized among students.

2. Students have individual conferences with Job Placement Coordinator.

3. Students who are interested fill out resumes.

4. Students take home a Parent Permission Agreement Form for signature.

5. Students attend sessions to prepare for employment.

6. Students are referred to companies with openings; students are sent with a referral slip (See Appendix G.)

7. On the day following student referrals, the Job Placement Coordinator telephones the companies to which students were sent.

8. Based upon information given by the companies, the Job Placement Coordinator records results of the referral on the back of the student's resume filed in coordinator's office.
9. If a student is hired, a memorandum is sent to the student's parents.
JOB ADJUSTMENT

As indicated in the Management Plan section, the Job Placement Coordinator will contact students and their employers two or three weeks after placement to determine if student is succeeding on the job. If a student is having difficulty, the coordinator will assist the student and the employer in identifying the problem and will attempt to find a solution.

Quarterly contacts will be made with all placed students and their employers by telephone.

Employers and students will be encouraged to seek the assistance of the coordinator upon the first indication of problems in job adjustment.

EVALUATION

(To be completed after State Department of Education Evaluation Model is explained.)
RELATED AGENCIES

During the school year arrangements for cooperation will be made with related agencies by the Job Placement Coordinator. Outlined below are anticipated services that will be provided by Department of Labor, Vocational Rehabilitation, Mental Health Center at Clayton General Hospital, and post-secondary schools.

Mental Health Center at Clayton General Hospital

Students who need the counseling services of a mental health facility will be referred prior to placement.
