College offers special opportunities for older students to begin or return to college. Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special, counselor, tutoring, reduced course load. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will sometimes be given on basis of Advanced Placement Examinations. Academic regulations: For 31 credits, 1.5 grade-point average required and no more than 8 credits of D or 55% complete year if good standing. Additional information: College prides itself on its reputation as a small college where quality education and individual growth are possible for the women who is also interested in the preservation and transmission of values in society.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 407 women applied, 294 were accepted. Admissions requirements: SAT by end of senior year. ACH in English composition required. Prospective biology or mathematics majors must take a mathematics ACH. Prospective chemistry majors must take a mathematics and a chemistry ACH. ACH used only for placement. High school English 3 units, social studies 1, foreign language 2, college preparatory mathematics and science 3, other academic 6. For specific reasons, exceptions to the above requirements are made on occasion. Interview recommended. Bases for selection: A committee of 9 reviews folders and make its decision according to the following factors in the order of their listing: school achievement record and recommendations, activities, and SAT scores. Special consideration is given to alumnae daughters, to minority and low-income groups, and to mature students. The college is also interested in enrolling foreign and out-of-state students. Close to 80% of the entering students rank in the top two fifths of their graduating classes. Application fee: $15, may be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: Applicants notified of decisions on a rolling admissions basis beginning January 15, accepted applicants must reply by May 1. EDPS. Transfer applicants: About 150 apply annually; most are accepted. Apply by August 1 for fall term. Letter of recommendation from dean of college and college transcript required. Other requirements same as for freshmen. Credits transferable depend on grade (no D's transferable), the individual's proposed major, and the comparison to the college's curriculum requirements. Ordinarily 64 credits are the maximum of transferable credits. Students applying with an AA degree who were in a transfer program are accepted with credits of D if their cumulative grade-point average is 2.0. Special consideration is given so that substitutions can be made for general requirements.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 175 women. 82% from New Jersey, 18% from other states. 90% live on campus, 10% commute, 0% from minority backgrounds. The academic ability of the freshman class varies over a wide range, and there is a degree of flexibility in the program to meet the academic needs of the students by means of honors and independent study. Programs for undergraduates: Liberal arts 56%, education 22.5%, business 17.1%, home economics 20.2%, science 18%. Student activities: Student government, student newspaper, magazine, yearbook, religious organizations (Liturgy Commission), drama, fine arts, political organizations (Young Republicans Club), ethnic organizations (Organization of Black Students, International Students Organization). Athletics: Basketball, bowling, field hockey, horseback riding, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, volleyball. Student services: Counseling, health services, student employment service for undergraduates, placement service for graduates and alumnae. Regulations: All students who are not commuting from home are expected to live in the college residence halls. Residence halls are governed by student-faculty councils. Most dormitory regulations stem from consideration of others as persons. There is no compulsory chapel attendance.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $2,175. Room and board: $1,400. Other expenses: $200-300.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs. NDSL, SEOG, CSSFP. Opportunities for financial aid are good, including some full-tuition scholarships. Bases for selection: College awards are either scholarships—based on rank in class and SAT results and need—or grants-in-aid based on need. No distinction is made in regard to residence of applicants unless there is a restricted scholarship involved. For all other aid, such as federal programs or New Jersey state programs, guidelines for need and eligibility stated by each program are used. Students from poverty-level families may receive sufficient aid for all college expenses. Application procedures: Closing date for applications for college scholarships January 15, other aid May 1. Applicants notified of decisions for college scholarships by March 15, other aid July; recipients of aid must file any reapplication by April 1 for other aid no reply needed. PCS required. Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special counselor, pre-matriculation summer program, tutoring, summer program. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will sometimes be given on basis of Advanced Placement Examinations. Academic regulations: The college has few academic regulations, and only about 2% of a freshman class is required to withdraw for academic reasons. Graduate programs: All departments offering courses on undergraduate level also have graduate programs.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 6,788 men applied, 1,558 were accepted; 2,967 women applied, 596 were accepted. In January 1974 the trustees approved a policy of "sex-blind" admissions. Men and women are now admitted without regard for numerical quotas. Admissions requirements: SAT and any 3 ACH, preferably by December of senior year, although they can be taken in spring of junior year. No fixed number of units or course prerequisites, but a recommended secondary school program might include the following: high school English 4 units, social studies 2, foreign language 4, mathematics 4, science 2, art, music. Interviews not required. Conferences can be arranged upon request. Basis for selection: Candidate's entire record considered. Entering class selected from among those whose performance in school gives strongest promise of success in college. Princeton seeks to maintain an undergraduate body that is self-conscious of its diversity and comprehends the range of cultural, ethnic, and economic backgrounds. Considerable weight placed on nonacademic interests and talents, particularly for applicants relatively less strong academically. Performance on SAT and ACH less important than academic attainment in school. Application fee: $15, may be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: Closing date for applications January 15. Applicants notified of decisions by mid-April. accepted applicants must reply by May 1. CRDA. Transfer applicants: Apply by March 1 for fall term. Application for transfer is advised only if the candidate's record is excellent and he or she has particularly valid reasons for seeking transfer to Princeton. School and college record, SAT, and ACH required.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 788 men, 342 women. 17% from New Jersey, 95% live on campus, 15% from minority backgrounds. Programs undergraduates choose: Liberal arts 85%, engineering 15%. Postgraduate studies: 80% of graduates enter graduate or professional programs. Student activities: Student government officers of undergraduate assembly elected by entire student body; dormitories elect assembly representatives; through standing student-faculty committees, students are represented in discipline, admmission, financial aid, course of study, and other areas; each year a member of the graduating class is elected to the Board of Trustees for 5-year term), student newspaper, magazine (humor, literary), yearbook, radio (FM, AM), film, religious organizations (Chapel Fellowship and 12 denominational organizations), drama, musical theater, dance, symphony orchestra, marching band, concert band, several singing groups, political organizations (several groups, both formal and informal, ranging from radical right to radical left), ethnic organizations (Association of Black Collegians, Chinese Club, Latin American Union, Third World Center), social service organizations (Community House, Chapel Fellowship, summer camp, volunteers council, Friends of the Earth, Ecology Action), social organizations (upperclass eating clubs, Wilson College, Princeton Inn College). Student services: Counseling, health services, student employment service for undergraduates, placement service for graduates and alumni. Regulations: Few regulations; all students may operate automobiles and are not required to live on campus; students determine their own part 1aets. Additional information: Freedom and diversity characterize life at the college. Many different cultural, extracurricular, and social opportunities enable students to pursue the kind of life that interests them most. Academic work is demanding, but most students find ample time to become meaningfully involved in other activities.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $3,500. Room and board: $1,675. Other expenses: $650.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, low-interest loans, jobs. NDSL, SEOG, CWSP. 621 accepted freshman applicants were judged to have need; all of these were offered aid in the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for Selection: Demonstrated financial need. An application for aid does not prejudge the decision of the admission committee, since financial aid awards are made by a separate office. Every effort is made to continue assistance to a student throughout his 4 years of college, provided he remains in good standing and continues to need financial aid. Application procedures: Closing date for applications January 1. applicants notified of aid decisions at time of admission. PCS required. Transfer students: No special requirements. good academic standing at end of year. Graduate programs: Computer science and systems analysis, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, psychology, management. Additional Information: The engineering curriculum is a unique interdisciplinary one. Students may begin graduate studies while undergraduates.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 1,040 men applied, 860 were accepted; 33 women applied, 28 were accepted. Admissions requirements: SAT by January of senior year. ACH by March of senior year (English Composition Test, Level I or II Mathematics Test, Chemistry or Physics Test). High, school English 4 units, foreign language at least 2 recommended, mathematics 4, science 3. Applicants must have a strong background in science and mathematics.
Interview required. Basis for selection: Applications are considered individually. An applicant's high school record is by far the most important factor considered. Most successful applicants are in top quarter of high school class. Recommendations, test scores, and activities are also considered. Applicants from minority and low-income families are expected to fulfill academic requirements but exceptions are made in considering test scores. Middle 50% of applicants accepted for admission had SAT-verbal scores between 490

Thomas A. Edison College, Trenton, New Jersey

Public external degree college that awards associate and baccalaureate degrees to men and women. Undergraduates: 707 men, 440 women. Calendar: Since Edison College offers no instruction, enrollments are accepted at any time for evaluation. Location: Academic counselors are located throughout New Jersey. Special features: Edison College awards degrees the requirements of which are fulfilled by transfer of credits from other colleges, by award of credits based on examinations, and by award of credits for college-level knowledge acquired in other ways through Edison College Assessment, or any combination of these. In addition to evaluation, assessment, and examination programs, Edison College also offers academic counseling in New Jersey, intended principally to serve adults wishing to begin or continue their post-secondary education.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Associate, baccalaureate. Fields of study: Thomas Edison College Examination Program (TECEP) examinations in connection with the BS in business administration, AAS in radiologic technology, and AS in management. To satisfy degree requirements for BS in business, students may elect specializations in accounting, finance, management of human resources, marketing, or operations management. Requirements for AA degree involve distribution of credits. Requirements for the BA include area concentration in humanities, social sciences, or natural sciences/mathematics, in addition to which subject specializations or interdisciplinary specializations may be included using elective options. Special programs: Accelerated programs. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will generally be given for grades of 3 and higher in Advanced Placement Examinations.
Examinations. Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP General and Subject Examinations. Academic regulations: An average of 2.0 (C) is required for graduation in all degree programs. However, all passing grades from accredited institutions (including candidates for accreditation) are accepted in transfer.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 569 men applied and were accepted; 363 women applied and were accepted. Admissions requirements: High school diploma is not required; all may enroll regardless of academic background. Basis for selection: $35 fee for permanent enrollment. The college reserves the right to return fees and refuse enrollment to students whom it may not be able to serve, especially those whose studies in other countries may not be susceptible to reliable evaluation. Application fee: None. Application procedures: No closing date for applications, applicants notified of decisions immediately. Transfer applicants: All students are accepted. No credits are disallowed. In general, there is no time limit on "old" credits. The only exception is some courses applied to waive certain examinations in the business component of the AS in business administration degree. Additional information: Academic counseling service is available for counseling, without charge, at many locations in New Jersey. Consultation with this service, or correspondence with the college, is recommended before admission, especially when, after consulting the college catalog, applicants have doubts as to whether they can be served by Edison College programs.

STUDENT LIFE. Programs undergraduates choose: Bachelor Arts 62%, business 30%.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: Enrollment fee $35, graduation fee $25, examination fees vary. No tuition or other fees.

FINANCIAL AID. We do not have a financial aid program. In certain cases, fees may be reduced for senior citizens and for inmates of penal institutions. Institutions may be made of the registrar.

Barnard College, New York, New York

Four-year private nonsectarian liberal arts college for women (co-ordinate education with Columbia College). Undergraduates: 1,950 women. Calendar: Semester. There is a 1-month break between semesters during which some internship programs are offered. Location: Large city. Special features: Resources of Columbia University and New York City provide extraordinary educational and cultural facilities and opportunities for students in conjunction with and in addition to their studies.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Bachelor. Fields of study: Architecture (urban development), art (art history, studio art), biological sciences (biochemistry, biology, ecology), conservation (environmental conservation and management), education (elementary, secondary), English and literature (creative writing, English, literature, speech), ethnic studies (American Indian or native American, black or Afro-American, Spanish American), foreign languages (Classical languages, Eastern languages, French, German, Italian, linguistics, Russian, Spanish), history and cultures (American, ancient, area and regional, European), mathematics, music (composition and theory, instrumental music, music history), philosophy and religion (philosophy, religion), physical sciences (chemistry, earth science, geology, physics), psychology (child, experimental, general, social), social sciences (anthropology, economics, international relations, political science, sociology), theater arts (dance, drama). Special programs: Independent study, study abroad (Barnard-Columbia Institutes in France, Junior Year in Paris; students may enroll for the junior year at any accredited foreign university with the approval of Barnard advisor), 3-2 liberal arts and engineering combination. Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special counselor, tutoring. Required freshman courses: English composition, physical education. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will sometimes be given on basis of Advanced Placement Examinations. Credit may sometimes be given on the basis of CLEP Subject Examinations and an additional examination administered by the Barnard department concerned. The required foreign language ACH is used for placement in language courses. Students who score 700 or above have satisfied the language requirement for the degree. Academic regulations: Freshmen must maintain a 2.0 grade-point average to remain in good standing. Over 90% of the freshman class generally complete the year in good academic standing. Additional Information: Several interdepartmental offerings are available in humanities and women's studies. Unique program in the arts offers opportunity to continue the development of professional skills in the arts and obtain liberal arts education. Approximately 75% of the classes at Barnard have fewer than 20 students.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 1,400 women applied, 950 women were accepted. Admissions requirements: SAT by December of senior year. ACH in English composition, foreign language, and either mathematics, history, or science required by January of senior year. Foreign language ACH used for placement in language courses as well as for admissions. Suggested minimum high school preparation includes English 4 units, social studies 1, foreign language 4, mathematics 3, science 1. The admissions committee will consider programs which vary from this. Interview recommended. Basis for selection: The single most important factor is the high school record. Careful attention given to recommendations and test scores also. Most students ranked in the top fifth of their secondary school class. Middle 50% of applicants accepted for admission had SAT-verbal scores between 570 and 680 and SAT-mathematical scores between 550 and 660. Application fee: $15, may be waived for applicants with financial need upon receipt of a letter from the student's counselor attesting to extreme financial need. Application procedures: Closing date for applications January 1. Applicants notified of decisions by April 15, accepted applicants must reply by May 1. CRDA, EDP-S. Transfer applicants: About 500 apply annually, and 270 are accepted. Apply by May 15 for fall term. Transfer applicants must have completed 1 full year at an accredited college or university. Strong B average required. Minimum of 4 semesters (2 full years) at Barnard required for the degree. Transfer work evaluated after admission and upon receipt of an official transcript. Transfer students must complete at least 18 courses at Barnard. Applied or professional courses usually not transferable.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 440 women. 55% from New York State. 60% live on campus, 30% commute, 16% from minority backgrounds. Programs undergraduates choose: Liberal arts 100% Student activities: Student government (includes 12 tripartite committees), communications and publications (student newspapers, magazine, yearbook, radio, film, Barnard-Columbia Course Guide (published by students), religious organizations, performing arts (drama, musical theater—Gilbert and Sullivan Society, dance—ballet, modern, jazz, and folk dance groups, symphony orchestra, marching band, concert band, Chamber Music Society, political organizations, ethnic organizations (Barnard Organization of Soul Sisters, Chinese Students Club, Latin-American Students Organization, Hellenic Society, Irish Cultural Society, Hindu Students Association, Kadimah), social service organizations (Barnard Book-In, Columbia-Barnard Community Service Society), social organizations. Athletics: Archery, badminton, basketball, bowling, fencing, rowing (crew), sailing, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, volleyball. Student services: Counseling, health services, student employment service for undergraduates, placement service for graduates and alumni. Additional information: Barnard and Columbia students share classes, libraries, and the extracurricular activities on either campus. 3 of the 7 Barnard dormitories are coeducational.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs, NSL, SEOG, CSWSP. 360 accepted freshman applicants were judged to have need; 285 of these were offered aid; all 285 were offered the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: Financial need is the primary criterion. Aid is offered first (until the available funds are depleted) to students with financial need who have the best records and overall credentials. Application procedures: Closing date for applications January 15; applicants notified of decisions by April 15. Recipients of aid must apply by May 1. PCS required. Transfer students: Transfer students are not usually offered grant aid directly from Barnard their first year in attendance. They may, however, apply for NSL, CSWSP, and federally guaranteed loans. After the first year, transfers are eligible for aid along with all other returning students.

Columbia University: School of Nursing
New York, New York

Four-year private nonsectarian school of nursing for men and women. Undergraduates: 5 men, 666 women. Graduates: 1 man, 29 women. Calendar: Semester, summer session. Location: Metropolitan area. Special features: In 1935, Columbia University assumed the educational responsibilities of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, founded in 1892. The School of Nursing is under the Faculty of Medicine and is located on the Health Sciences Campus at the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Bachelor. Fields of study: Health and medical professions (nursing-registered). Special programs: Independent study, 2-2 liberal arts and nursing. Required freshman courses: English composition, foreign language, history or social studies, mathematics, science. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will sometimes be given on basis of Advanced Placement Examinations. Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP Subject Examinations. Academic regulations: A student must maintain a C average to continue in good standing. Failure to maintain a standard places a student on academic probation. Graduate programs: Health professions, nursing. Additional information: Liberal arts courses are offered by Barnard College and Columbia's School of General Studies. In 1973, the nursing curriculum was enriched to admit freshmen for a 4-year baccalaureate degree program.

ADMISSIONS. Applications In 1974: 4 men applied, 1 was accepted; 200 women applied, 85 were accepted. Admissions requirements: SAT or ACH by senior year. English Composition ACH required; ACH in science and foreign language recommended. English 4 units, social studies 1-2, foreign language 2-4, mathematics 3, science 1-2 (biology and chemistry recommended). Interview recommended. New School for Social Research, New York, New York

Three-year private nonsectarian senior college and university for men and women. Undergraduates: 150 men and women matriculated, 14,000 nonmatriculated. Graduates: 2,500 men and women. Calendar: Semester, summer session. Location: Metropolitan area of large city. Special features: At the center of the New School is the Adult Division offering program of over 800 courses each semester in the humanities, social sciences, creative and performing arts, business, and other fields. Further extensive year-round series of lectures, concerts, exhibits, and so forth. Courses open to both credit and noncredit students. About two-thirds of students are college graduates, many with more than 1 degree. There are also substantial numbers of students with relatively little formal education.

New School students seek to keep pace with those intellectual and cultural developments which affect their lives as citizens in a changing and increasingly complex urban milieu. Program alters on semester-by-semester basis so that new subject matter and critical themes of contemporary interest can be incorporated.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Bachelor. Fields of study: Architecture (city planning, urban development), art (history, design, fashion design, graphic arts, interior decorating, photography, printing, studio), biological sciences (ecology), business and commerce (advertising, business management and administration, finance, marketing), communications (film, radio and television), computer science and systems analysis (computer science, data processing, systems analysis), education (art, music), English and literature (creative writing, English, literature, speech), ethnic studies (American Indian or native American, black or Afro-American, Mexican American, Spanish American), foreign languages (Classical languages, Eastern languages, French, German, Italian, linguistics, Russian, Spanish), history and cultures (American, ancient and modern, regional, European), mathematics (statistics, music (composition and theory, instrumental, history, voice), philosophy and religion (philosophy, religion, scholastic philosophy, theology), psychology (child, experimental, general, social), social sciences (anthropology, economics, international relations, political science), public administration, social work, sociology), theater arts (dance, drama, theater arts). Special programs: Independent study. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP General and Subject Examinations. Graduate programs: Anthropology, economics, liberal studies, philosophy, political science, sociology, urban planning and policy analysis, human resources and manpower development.

ADMISSIONS. Admissions requirements: All 80 degree candidates must have 60 or more college credits in liberal arts. Graduate Record Examination required for candidates who have not completed 60 or more credits. Any high school graduate may take courses for credit as nonmatriculated student. Interview required. Basis for selection: College transcripts. Graduate Record Examination, CLEP, or College Proficiency Examination Program test scores, if any, and personal interview are all important. Application fee: $15, for BA degree and $20 for graduate, study candidates. No application fee required for noncredit or general credit students.

Transfer applicants: In effect, all applicants are transfer applicants. Apply 4 weeks before fall term or spring term starts. Must submit scores on Graduate Record Examination if over 60 college credits completed. All students entering BA degree program must have already earned 30 credits in liberal arts with grades of C or better. There are no requirements for noncredit and general credit (nonmatriculated undergraduate) students.

Additional Information: Freshman Year Program, a full-time day program, offers a limited number of carefully selected students the opportunity to begin undergraduate study before completing high school. The program has its own faculty and a curriculum specifically designed to meet the expectations and needs of college freshmen. All classes are small seminars. Upon successful completion of the program, students transfer to other campuses as college sophomores. Dormitory space is available for this program only.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: There is no freshman class. 100% of students commute. Student services: Counseling.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $100 per credit.

Siena College, Loudounville, New York

Siena College is a private, Catholic liberal arts college located in Loudounville, New York. It offers undergraduate and graduate programs, including fields such as business, education, and the arts. The college is a member of the New York State University System.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $2,125. Room and board: $1,300. Other expenses: $400-$600.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, jobs, NDSL, SEOG, CSWP. New York State program of financial aid for educationally and economically disadvantaged students is also available. 702 accepted freshman applicants were judged to have need; 261 of these were offered aid; 159 of these were offered the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: With exception of limited number of academically outstanding applicants who do not possess a demonstrated financial need, college gives priority to financial need in determining eligibility for financial assistance. Type, amount, and packaging of awards is based primarily on academic qualifications such as class rank, grades, test scores, and comments and recommendations made by high school guidance counselors. The college is in full partnership with State of New York in meeting financial need of academically and economically deprived students who are admitted under provisions of HEOP. Middle 50% of applicants who were offered financial aid who took SAT had SAT-Verbal scores between 500 and 560 and SAT-Mathematical scores between 520 and 570. Based on student's academic record and recommendations from institutions previously attended.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Associate. Fields of study: Agriculture (agricultural business, agronomy—field crops, animal science-beef or horse, dairy science, fish and game—wildlife management, horticulture, landscaping), biological sciences (biology, environmental health), business and commerce (accounting, business management and administration, hotel and restaurant administration, marketing, sales and retailing, secretarial studies), computer science and systems analysis (data processing), education (child development and nursery), engineering (agricultural), English and literature (English), forestry and conservation, health and medical professions (laboratory technology), home economics (institutional management, professional chef, restaurant management), mathematics, physical sciences (chemistry), social sciences, trade and vocational (professional chef), 1-year certificate programs (commercial cooking, agricultural mechanics, office services, dairy cattle management, greenhouse management, grounds maintenance). Special programs: Study abroad (Foods Service—Leeds Polytechnic Institute, Leeds, England), early admissions for exceptional high school juniors. Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special counselor, tutoring, remedial instruction, reduced course load. Required freshman courses: English composition, history or social studies, physical education. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will generally be given for grades of 3 and higher in Advanced Placement Examinations. Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP Subject Examinations. Maximum of 15 semester hours of credit by examination may be counted toward degree. Academic regulations: A freshman is placed on academic probation if quality point average is 1.50-1.99 after first semester or 1.75-1.99 after second semester. Students with averages below 1.50 or 1.75 are subject to dismissal. 75% of freshmen complete year in good academic standing.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 2,444 men applied, 1,712 were accepted; 2,489 women applied, 1,742 were accepted. Admission requirements: ACT or SAT by May 1 of senior year. ACH by May 1 of senior year. None of the above are required but are used for screening, placement, and counseling. High school English 4 units, social studies 3, mathematics 1, science 1. Admission is based on individual programs—some curricula require extensive academic preparation. Interview required. Basis for selection: The number of applications to individual programs dictates selectivity of these programs. Campus Visit Day information evaluated. Cutoff scores are not used in selection. Middle 50% of applicants accepted for admission had SAT-verbal scores between 400 and 450 and SAT-mathematical scores between 400 and 450. Application fee: $15 for first college on SUNY application packet, $5 for each additional college application. Application procedures: No closing date for applications, but students applying after April 15 have less chance of favorable decision for program choice. Applicants notified of decisions within 30 days on a rolling admissions basis. Transfer applicants: About 483 apply annually, and 182 are accepted. Transfer candidates are considered equally with first-time candidates on basis of academic and other information. Rolling admissions dictates that transfer candidates apply early in academic year for September admission. Students transferring from other accredited colleges may be admitted with advanced standing. Transcripts carefully evaluated and credit given for courses passed with a grade of D, P, or better and equivalent to those prescribed in the student's curriculum at Cobleskill. Additional information: Campus Visit Day is required for most applicants.

Transfer applicants: About 5,600 apply annually, and 1,200 are accepted. Apply by January 15 for fall term. Transfer admission is competitive; therefore, no minimum grade-point average is pre-set for admission. Applicant's community college and overall academic achievement and how this compares with that of competition is important factors. Other important factors are program for which student is applying and community college program applicant is completing. Biology, English, political science, psychology, history, sociology, speech pathology and audiology, technical technology, and nursing particularly competitive programs. Community college transfer programs are obviously better preparation for admission than career programs.

Special programs: Contract major, independent study, study abroad (Italy, Germany, Russia, France, Spain). Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special counselor, pre-admission summer program, tutoring, remedial instruction, reduced course load, Higher Educational Opportunity Program. Required freshman courses: English composition, physical education. Tests...
Shawangunk Mountains and Minnewaska State Park provide first-rate opportunities for hiking, rock climbing, swimming. Additional facilities available: planetarium, 27 tennis courts, college camping facility (Ashokan, New York).

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $820, out-of-state students $1,124.5. Room and board: $1,350. Other expenses: $700.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs. NDSL, SEOG, CWSF, Law Enforcement Education Program. 300 accepted freshmen applicants were judged to have need; 200 of these were offered aid; 125 were offered the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: The major criteria for awarding financial aid is financial need. A student must also be enrolled in good standing at the college. The college has a Special Admissions Program designed specifically for low-income and minority group students. Out-of-state students receive consideration for NDSL, SEOG, and CWSF equally with those in state. New York State reservation Indians may apply for special state grant. Application procedures: Close for applications March 1 for NCS, April 1 for college application. Applicants notified of decisions June to July. Recipients of aid offered must reply by July. PCS, college application, and oath required. Transfer students: Requirements and criteria for transfer students, are essentially the same as those for regular students. June 1 deadline, line for PES and aid application. Additional Information: Particular emphasis on on-campus and off-campus employment programs is placed on providing aid and also providing a student with work experience that will help shape his career concept.

State University of New York College at Old Westbury

Old Westbury, New York

Four-year public liberal arts college for men and women. Undergraduates: 558 men, 834 women. Calendar: Semester. Location: Suburban community 3 miles from New York City. Special features: The college is atypical in that it attracts a high percentage of non-traditional students of ranging ages (women, members of the working force, and minority students). Less than one-third of student body enrolled directly from high school.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Bachelor. Fields of study: Art (design, photography, studio art), biological sciences (biology), business and commerce (accounting, business management and administration, marketing), communications (journalism), education (child development and nursery, elementary), English and literature (creative writing, English, literature), foreign languages (French, Italian, Spanish), geography, history and cultures (American, area and regional), mathematics (statistics), music (composition and theory, instrumental music), philosophy and religion (philosophy, religion), physical sciences (chemistry, physics), psychology (general, social), social sciences (anthropology, economics, social work, sociology), theater arts (dance). Special programs: Accelerated program, cooperative education, independent study, study abroad. Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special counselor, tutoring, remedial instruction, reduced course load. These programs are available to all students as needed. Required freshman courses: English composition. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: College Proficiency Examination. Placement, credit, or both will sometimes be given on basis of Advanced Placement Examinations. Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP General and Subject Examinations. Academic regulations: Each full-time freshman must satisfactorily complete at least 8 credits or 2 courses in each of his first 2 semesters in college, and...
12 credits or 3 courses each semester thereafter. Any student who fails to meet these requirements will not be in good academic standing. Additional information: Interdisciplinary approach to education aims to provide student with more meaningful and comprehensive understanding not only of a particular subject, but how it relates to student's personal experience and society. Unlike many colleges, where curricula are organized according to discrete disciplines, this interdisciplinary structure represents a move to integrate fragmented knowledge into coherent whole.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 6,150 men applied, 2,162 were accepted; 768 women applied, 336 were accepted. Admissions requirements: Interview required. Basis for selection: Approximately two-thirds of the students transfer from other colleges. Motivation and non-academic experience (in the military, community programs, or various fields of employment and training) weigh heavily in acceptance decision; and while class rank and test scores are de-emphasized, the college does consider these especially in the case of recent high school graduates. We support the right of an individual to postpone the decision to enter college until personally ready to engage in college learning. Application fee: $10, may be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: No closing dates for applications, applicants notified of decisions on a rolling admissions basis. Transfer applicants: About 795 apply annually, and 365 are accepted. Apply by April 15 for fall term. College transcripts required. Maximum of 72 transfer credits may be applied toward degree. Additional information: Prospective students invited to visit college for informal interview with students and staff to discuss admission, complete personal statement required of all applicants, and view the campus. A high school diploma or GED required. Because of practical necessity of filling on-campus residence halls, first priority will be given to students indicating intention to be resident students. Credit awarded towards degree for experiences which have contributed materially to student's education, provided academic credit has not previously been received for these experiences.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 425 men and women. 95% from New York State, 40% live on campus, 60% commute, 50% from minority backgrounds. Freshmen are bright, competent people with a wide range of abilities. Programs undergraduate choose: Liberal arts, education (elementary, home economics, secondary), English and literature (English, literature, speech), ethnic studies (black or Afro-American, Spanish American), foreign languages (French, German, Russian, Spanish), geography, history and cultures (American, area and regional, European), home economics (clothing and textiles, family relations, food and nutrition, dietetics, infant and child care, institution management), mathematics (statistics), music, philosophy and religion (philosophy), physical sciences (chemistry, earth science, geology, meteorology, physics), psychology (general), social sciences (economics, political science, sociology), theater arts (drama). Special programs: Accelerated program, honors program, independent study, study abroad (Germany, Israel, England), 3-2 liberal arts and engineering combination, general studies, pre-professional programs (medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, law). Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special counselor, tutoring, remedial instruction, reduced course load, New York State Higher Education Opportunity Program. Required freshman courses: No general requirements; suggested requirements for some majors. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will generally be given for grades of 3 and higher in Advance Placement Examinations. Academic regulations: Maintain 2-semester grade-point average of 1.7. Over 90% of freshmen eligible to return. Graduate programs: Biological sciences, conservation of historic and artistic works, education (counselor), English and journalism, folklore, history museum, home economics, mathematics, physics sciences, social sciences.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 5,795 then applied; 4,655 were accepted; 7,635 women applied, 6,300 were accepted. Admissions requirements: ACT or SAT by January of senior year. New York State Regents Scholarship and College Qualification Test for New York State residents by fall of senior year. High school English 4 units, social studies 3, foreign language 2, mathematics 3, science 3. Interview recommended. Basis for selection: Secondary school record (including class rank, course sequence, counselor's recommendations, leadership in activities) receives greatest consideration. Higher Educational Opportunity Program available for disadvantaged students. Middle 50% of applicants accepted for admission had SAT-verbal scores between 500 and 600 and SAT-mathematical scores between 500 and 600. Application fee: $5, may be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: Closing date for applications April 1, applicants notified of decisions after February 15, accepted applicants must reply before May 1. Transfer applicants: About 3,800 apply annually, and 2,400 are accepted. Apply by April 1 for fall term. Grade-point average of 2.5; all arts and science credit of C or better quality; and 45 hours of residence credit required.

State University of New York Downstate Medical Center
Brooklyn, New York

Four-year; public; for men and women. Enrollment 381. Zip code 11203.

State University of New York Empire State College
Saratoga Springs, New York

Four-year public college of arts and science for men and women. Undergraduates: 1,189 men, 1,097 women. Graduates: 216 men, 228 women. Calendar: Students may begin or end their individualized programs on any business day. Special features: Empire has no fixed location. Instead, the institution operates learning centers and units throughout New York State. Students range in age from 17-72 with a mean of 34. Over 50% of student body work full time while studying.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Associate, bachelor. Fields of study: Students develop individualized programs of study in cooperation with faculty mentors. These programs fall into 9 general areas: the arts; business and economics; community and social services; cultural studies; educational studies; historical studies; human development; science, mathematics, and technology; and social theory, social structure, and change. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will sometimes be given on basis of Advanced Placement Examinations if applicable to student's program of study. Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP General and Subject Examinations if applicable to student's program of study. Maximum of 26 months of credit by examination may be counted toward 32-month bachelor degree and 10 toward 16-month associate degree. Academic regulations: All students must show progress toward achievement of their academic goals. Additional information: No formal classes. Students, in consultation with a mentor, develop learning contracts that use the learning resources of the community: internships, courses at other institutions, work-study opportunities, tutors. This allows students to tailor their studies to their needs and gives them flexibility of study time and place.

ADMISSIONS. Admissions requirements: Interview recommended. College currently accepts 90% of those who complete applications. Because of backlog, must wait several months before space becomes available. Application fee: $10. Application procedures: No closing date for applications, applicants notified of decisions as soon as possible. Transfer applicants: About 1,000 apply annually, and 99% are accepted. All students may develop portfolios documenting prior learning from school and nonschool experiences. Faculty committees award appropriate amounts of credit. This is not done at admission.

STUDENT LIFE. 98% from New York State. 100% commute, 12% from minority backgrounds. Programs undergraduate choose: Liberal arts 60%; education 15%, business 10%, fine arts 5%, health services 10%. Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Special counselor, pre-admission summer program, tutoring, remedial instruction, reduced course load. These services for New York State residents through the Higher Educational Opportunity Program. Required freshman courses: English composition. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will generally be given for grades of 3 and higher in Advanced Placement Examinations and courses: English composition. Tests used for counseling, the Higher Educational Opportunity Program. Required freshman courses: English composition. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will generally be given for grades of 3 and higher in Advanced Placement Examinations and New York State College Proficiency Examinations. Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP Subject Examinations. Maximum of 30 semester hours of credit by examination may be counted toward degree. Academic regulations: In order to maintain good standing a student must have a C (2.00) average.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 484 men applied, 384 were accepted; 439 women applied, 389 were accepted. Admissions requirements: ACT of SAT by April of senior year. High school English 4 units, mathematics 1 (for engineering 3 to 4). The 1 unit of mathematics must be algebra. Interview recommended. Basis for selection: Policy of college is to admit students who can benefit most from educational opportunities offered. Students' prospects for success measured by evaluation of past academic performance, scholastic ability, and personal characteristics. Consideration given to applicants who indicate ability to complete college program despite educational background which might not enable them to meet usual admissions requirements. Application fee: $15, will be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: Closing date for applications July 1 (later applications will be reviewed), applicants notified of decisions on a rolling admissions basis, accepted applicants should reply within 30 days. CRDA. Transfer applicants: About 460 apply annually, and 395 are accepted. Apply by July 1 for fall term; later applications will be reviewed. All transcripts and catalogs of previous work taken must be submitted. Transfer credit will be granted from accredited colleges. From 2-year institutions credit not to exceed half of hours necessary to meet degree requirements. To qualify for a degree the last 30 hours must be at Utica College on a matriculated basis.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 155 men, 163 women. 82% from New York State, 66% live on campus, 34% commute, 8% from minority backgrounds. Mean SAT-verbal score is 494. Programs undergraduates choose: Liberal arts 41%, business 32%, health services 14%. Postgraduate studies: 10% of graduates enter graduate or professional programs. Student activities: Student government (students, faculty, and administration constitute a tripartite decision-making college council; equal members of each group sit on 13 standing committees of the council), student newspaper, magazine, radio, television, film, Hillel, Newman Community, campus ministry council, drama, dance, woodwind and brass ensembles, chorus, Black Student Union, social service organizations (Alpha Phi Omega, Gamma Eta chapter of Gamma Sigma Sigma, Circle K Club), fraternities, sororities. Student services: Counseling, health services, student employment service for undergraduates, placement service for graduates and alumni. Academic services: Writing center to help with writing problems, media center where students listen to tapes of plays, poetry, music, and lectures.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs, NDSL, SEOG, CWSF. About 250 accepted freshman applicants were offered aid; 235 were offered the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: The amount of financial assistance awarded is based directly on student need as determined each year by the financial analysis systems of the college and the CSS. Forms of financial aid (scholarships, loans and work-study grants) offered are affected by student need, academic potential, creativity, and participation in activities. Because the amount of financial assistance awarded usually reflects the financial situation of the student's family, it is not the policy of the college to make public notification of awards. Application procedures: Closing date for applications preferably May 1, applicants notified of decisions as soon as approved, recipients of aid offers must reply 30 days after notification. PCs and college application required. Transfer students: Should have applications by February 15. Transfer and freshman applicants considered for aid on an equal basis.

Academic regulations: Students must pass each semester, with a grade of C or better, 3 of 4, 2 of 3, or 2 of 2 courses taken; to remain in good standing. 80% of freshmen complete year in good standing. Additional information: Teaching is the primary function at the college, and students are the foremost concern. Extra-curricular teaching which produces out-of-the-ordinary learning is encouraged. Teaching methods include*seminars, internships, and independent study and research.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 496 men applied, 451 were accepted; 503 women applied, 482 were accepted. Admissions requirements: SAT by May, High school English 4 units, social studies 1, mathematics 2, science 1, and other electives to complete requirements for graduation. Students over 21 may be admitted on basis of a high school equivalency certificat. Interview recommended. Basis for selection: Application should have an overall C average (2.0 quality-point ratio), approximately 800 combined score on SAT, rank in top two-thirds of high school graduating class, and have a satisfactory personal recommendation from school official. Application fee: $15. Application procedures: Closing date for applications August 1, applicants notified of decisions on a rolling admissions basis, accepted applicants must reply within 2 weeks of notification of acceptance. Transfer applicants: About 150 apply annually, and 125 are accepted. Apply by August 1 for fall term. Applicants should have minimum 1.75 quality-point ratio; they should be in good standing and eligible to return to school from which transferring. Transcripts required from all colleges attended; limited number of D's accepted in non-major areas. Additional Information: Not elitist in admissions policies, the college feels that variety in the student body enhances the educational environment. The college prefers students who are acquainted with this type of institution and who are genuinely interested in what the college has to offer.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 201 men, 245 women. 54% from North Carolina, 90% live on campus, 10% commute, 2% from minority backgrounds. Middle 50% of enrolled freshmen have SAT-verbal scores between 360 and 480 and SAT-mathematics scores between 390 and 500. Programs undergraduates choose: Liberal arts 12%, education 37%, business 11%, home economics 2%, fine arts 4%, health services 1%, religion 3%, mathematics or science 17%, social science 13%. Four-year Baptist liberal arts college for women. Undergraduates: 1,250 women. Calendar: Semester, summer session. Location: Small city, R.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Bachelor. Fields of study: Art (studio art), biological sciences (biology), business and commerce (business management and administration), education (art, business, elementary, home economics, music, secondary), English and literature (English, literature), foreign languages (Classical languages—Latin, French, Spanish), history and cultures (interdisciplinary American studies, interdisciplinary non-Western civilizations), home economics, mathematics, music (instrumental music, voice), philosophy and religion (religion), physical sciences (chemistry), psychology (general), social sciences (economics, social work, sociology). Special programs: Independent study, cooperative education, study abroad in approved programs, community internships in some fields, cooperative program with other 5 Raleigh colleges. Programs for students from minority or low-income families: Reduced course load can be arranged when needed. Required freshman courses: English composition, foreign language, physical education, freshman colloquium—unstructured one-hour course on broad, general topics or issues of particular interest to students with emphasis on thinking in new ways about these topics and on maximum student-faculty discussion. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Placement, credit, or both will generally be given for grades of 3 and higher in Advanced Placement Examinations. Placement, credit, or both may be given on the basis of a departmental examination. Academic regulations: A student is considered to be making minimal progress toward graduation if he passes 9 semester hours and earns 18 quality points in any given semester. A grade of A carries 4 quality points; a B, 3; a C, 2; a D, 1; an F, none. Approximately 95% of freshmen complete the first year in good academic standing.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 610 women applied, 516 were accepted. Admissions requirements: SAT by December of senior year. High school English 4 units, foreign language 2, mathematics 3. At least 16 units, including a minimum of 13 academic units, are required. Interview recommended. Basis for selection: Strong consideration is given to the high school record including course selection, academic performance, and class rank. A student is expected to rank in the top half of her graduating class. SAT scores are evaluated in light of other academic factors. Recommendations, and often interviews, provide a good basis for considering nonmeasurable qualities such as motivation, creative ability, and independent thought. Middle 50% of applicants accepted for admission had SAT-verbal scores between 430 and 530 and SAT-mathematical scores between 440 and 540. Application fee: $15, may be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: Closing date for applications February 15. Applicants notified of decisions on rolling admissions basis after mid-December, accepted applicants must reply by May 1. CRDA, EDF-S. Transfer applicants: About 130 apply annually, and 107 are accepted. Apply by February 15 for fall term. A transfer applicant is expected to have a minimum grade-point average of 2.00 (on a 4.00 scale) and to be in good standing at the institution previously attended. A transfer applicant having fewer than 30 semester hours of credit must meet freshman admissions requirements. Credit is transferred on all acceptable courses passed. The student transferring from a junior college is expected to have from a senior college at least 58 semester hours before she can graduate.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 340 women. 80% from North Carolina, 97% live on campus, 3% commute. 1% from minority backgrounds. Middle 50% of enrolled freshmen have SAT-verbal scores between 420 and 520 and SAT-mathematical scores between 440 and 540. Programs undergraduates choose: Liberal arts 61%, business 5%, home economics 16%, fine arts 12%, religion 6%. In addition to major fields, approximately 50% of students also complete programs in education leading to teacher certification. Postgraduate studies: 10-15% of graduates enter graduate or professional programs. Student activities: Student government and representation on nearly all college committees, student newspaper, magazine, yearbook, religious organizations, drama, dance, chorus, choir, and vocal ensemble, political organizations, ethnic organizations, social service organizations. Athletics: Basketball, gymnastics, swimming, tennis. Student services: Counseling, health services, placement service for graduates and alumni. Regulations: All students must live on campus unless living with close relatives or married and living with husband. Juniors and seniors may have cars on campus. Drinking on campus is prohibited.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $1,800. Room and board: $1,000. Other expenses: $550.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs. NDSL, SEOG, CWSP. 102 accepted freshman applicants were judged to have need; all of these were offered the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: Financial need is the basis for determining most student aid awards. Competitive scholarships also available, in which selection is based on talent and ability, but amount of stipend is still set according to need. Aid is awarded initially and is renewed without regard to academic performance as long as the student is eligible for admission or, if enrolled, is making satisfactory progress toward the degree. Every effort is made to see that students from low-income families receive the assistance needed to make enrollment possible. Application procedures: Closing date for applications February 15, applicants notified of decisions by April 1. Recipients of aid offers must reply by May 1. PCS required. Institutional application required. Transfer students: A transfer student approved for admission will be considered for all types of aid available at the college, including scholarships, loans, grants, and job opportunities. The basis for an award is financial need. Two honor scholarships for junior college graduates are available; the award is based on aca-
Methodist College, Fayetteville, North Carolina

Four-year private liberal arts college for men and women, affiliated with the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church. Undergraduates: 400 men, 300 women. Calendar: Early semester, summer session. Location: Large city 55 miles from Raleigh, North Carolina.

CURRICULUM. Undergraduate degrees offered: Bachelor, Fields of study: Art (art history, design, studio art), biological sciences (biology, botany, ecology, zoology), business and commerce (business management and administration, finance, marketing, sales and retailing), education (art, elementary, general, health, music, physical, secondary), English and literature (English, literature, speech), foreign languages (French, Spanish), geography, history and cultures (American, ancient, European), mathematics (statistics), music (composition and theory, instrumental music, music history), philosophy and religion (philosophy, religion), physical sciences (anthropology, economics, international relations, political science, sociology, social work, physical education). Special programs: Independent study, 3-2 liberal arts and engineering combination. Programs for students from minorities or low-income families: Reduced course load. The college's academic requirements for continuation in college are helpful to the educationally deprived. Although the student must pass at least 16 semester hours per academic year, if he fails to reach the desired grade-point average, he may be allowed to continue for another year on academic warning. Thus, if he has the potential, he has a good chance to work up to the 2.00 grade-point average needed for graduation. Required freshman courses: English composition, foreign language, history or social studies, literature, mathematics, physical education, religion, science, general psychology. Tests used for counseling, placement, or credit: Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP General and Subject Examinations. Academic regulations: A minimum cumulative grade-point average of 1.25 at the end of the spring semester of the first academic year is required. Additional Information: Through its teacher education program the college prepares secondary school teachers of English, French, mathematics, science, and social studies, and special teachers of general music.

ADMISSIONS. Applications in 1974: 266 men applied, 219 were accepted; 170 women applied, 162 were accepted. Admissions requirements: ACT or SAT. High school English 4 units, history or social studies 1, mathematics 2, science 1, electives 6. In some special cases, the high school language requirement may be waived if students are otherwise qualified. Interview recommended. Basis for selection: Evaluation of admission is based on high school graduation, average on pre-college courses, satisfactory performance on the SAT or ACT, and character reference. The first requisite is academic ability, but this is not the sole requisite. Any student whose record indicates reasonable potential for doing acceptable college work will be considered academically eligible. Of equal importance are intangible assets of character and attitude. Application fee: $10. Application procedures: Applications accepted up to the beginning of classes (September 3), applicants notified of decisions as soon as application and all supporting papers received, accepted applicants should reply within 30 days of acceptance (reservation fee refunded until July 1). Transfer applicants: About 125 apply annually, and 90% are accepted. Apply by August 25 for fall term. A transfer applicant is required to submit a transcript of the high school record, SAT scores, and a transcript of all college work attempted. A transfer student should have a grade-point average (from last institutions attended) equal to, or better than, that required of students at the college. Additional information: Eligibility for transfer to the college is based on cumulative grade-point average at the end of a given academic year on the 4.00 system. A student is eligible to be considered for admission provided he has a minimum cumulative grade-point average of 1.25 at the end of the spring semester of the first academic year, 1.50 at the end of the second academic year, and 1.75 at the end of the third academic year. The maximum number of hours transferable from a junior college is 68 semester hours or 102 quarter hours.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 40% commute, 12% from minority backgrounds. Programs undergraduates choose: Education 32%, business 28%, fine arts 10%, religion 15%, science 20%. Student activities: Student government, student newspaper, religious organizations, drama, symphony orchestra, chorus; social service organizations. Athletics: Baseball-M, basketball, bowling-M, cross-country-M, football-M, golf-M, soccer-M, softball-W, tennis-M, wrestling-M, volleyball-W, cheerleading for intercollegiate athletics. Student services: Placement service for graduates and alumni. Regulations: Freshmen are allowed to have automobiles on campus. Additional Information: Horseback riding is available at a stable within a half mile of the campus.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $1,510. Room and board: $1,140.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs. NDsl, SEOG, CWS. Over 75% of the students receive financial assistance. Basis for selection: Decisions are reached by computing need by procedures of the CSS after the appropriate financial aid application is received and reviewed. Application procedures: Closing date for applications July 1, applicants notified of decisions by July 15, recipients of aid offers must reply within 2 weeks of notification date. PCs required. Transfer students: Same procedures as for freshmen.

Placement, credit, or both will generally be given for grades of 3 and higher in Advanced Placement Examinations. Credit will generally be given on basis of CLEP General and Subject Examinations. Maximum semester hours of credit by examination that may be counted toward degree is determined by the school to which the applicant has applied. Academic regulations: New grading system — A, B, C, no-credit (NC) — implemented when an undergraduate student has attempted 28 or more credit hours. He will be suspended at the end of that regular semester or summer session, or any regular semester or summer session thereafter, if he has failed to pass 50% of the cumulative hours attempted. No data are yet available as to the number of freshmen completing the year in good standing; however, last year the percentage was 65%. Graduate programs: Agriculture, architecture, biological sciences, computer science and systems analysis, education, engineering, English, fiber and polymer science, forestry, international development technology, mathematics, physical sciences, public affairs, social sciences, urban design, wood and paper science. Additional information: 80 curricula and more than 2,200 courses offered, providing students with a great range of elective course opportunities outside their major fields of study. The Division of Undergraduate Studies offers elective, non-prospectus courses dealing with major national, international, scientific, and humanistic issues and topics.

ADMISSIONS. Applications: In 1974: 11,423 men applied, 3,321 men were accepted; 1,693 women applied, 1,372 were accepted. Admissions requirements: SAT by November of senior year, scores preferable especially if applying for financial aid. English and Mathematics Level I Ach recommended for placement. High school English 4 units, social studies 2, foreign language 2 (School of Liberal Arts only), mathematics 3 (algebra I, II, geometry, advanced mathematics recommended for some curricula), science 2. Units should be earned in an accredited high school. High school equivalency certificate accepted. Basis for selection: Courses taken in high school, the class rank, and the SAT scores: Applicants must have a high school average of at least 1.6 (C-) in order to be admitted. This GPA is computed from a formula which uses the student's class rank upon graduation and scores on the SAT (generally the SAT's should total no less than 800). The rank in class carries greater weight. Slightly higher standards for out-of-state students. Middle 50% of applicants accepted for admission had SAT-verbal scores between 480 and 500 and SAT-mathematical scores between 530 and 550. Application fee: $10, may be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: Closing date for applications May 1. Applicants notified of decisions by mid-June. Transfer applicants: About 1,574 apply annually, and 993 are accepted. Apply by May 1 for full term. At least 28 semester hours of C or better work and an overall minimum 2.0 average on all work attempted required. Transcripts from all colleges attended should be submitted along with the high school transcript for anyone applying to the School of Liberal Arts. $12 nonrefundable transfer application fee. Transcripts evaluated by the school to which the application was made to determine the exact amount of transferable credit. D's do not transfer, and no transcript will be evaluated until the applicant has been admitted.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $487.50, for out-of-state students $2,033.50. Room and board: $775. Other expenses: $550.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs. NDSL, SEOG, CWSF, Law Enforcement Education Program. 457 accepted freshman applicants were judged to have need; all 457 of these were offered the full amounts of aid they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: Goal is that no qualified student will be unable to attend University because of economic disadvantages. Financial aid is to be used to supplement the resources of the student and his family, not replace them. Family resources, usually and mainly parental income, considered along with number of dependents and other relevant factors, as weighed against the estimated cost of study, determines whether the student qualifies for aid and in what amount. Student must be of good character and must show evidence of academic achievement and potential. In the awarding of competitive scholarships, outstanding academic promise and leadership qualities are also sought. Application procedures: Closing date for applications February 1, applicants notified of decisions by May 1, recipients of aid offers must reply within 21 days. PCS required. Transfer students: Personal data sheet completed to supplement the PCS. This data sheet is obtained from and returned directly to the financial aid office. Additional Information: Part-time employment is available on and off campus, and assistance in locating work is available to any student from the employment counselor at the financial aid office. Only jobs under the work-study program require financial aid applications.

ANNUAL EXPENSES. Tuition and fees: $10.50 each semester hour; for students from out of state $27 each semester hour. Room and board: $880.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs. NSLP, SEOG, CWSF, Law Enforcement Education Program, vocational rehabilitation scholarships. 780 accepted freshman applicants were judged to need; all of these were offered the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: A normal financial need analysis based on the guidelines of the federal programs for financial assistance applies to all awards. Awards are made first to the most needy and work upward to the exhaustion of funds, and they are awarded academically on the basis of retention in the institution. In certain instances if funds are limited, the higher academically qualified students are awarded first. No difference is made between Oklahoma and out-of-state nor is any discrimination applied because of race, creed, or national origin. Application procedures: No closing date for applications. Applicants notified of decisions within reasonable time prior to the beginning of term if application has been received allowing 2 weeks for processing. Recipients of aid offers must reply within 10 days after award is offered. However, if funds remain available, late returns are awarded on a basis of when received. Request completion of the college's student financial aid application. Additional information: This college attempts to fulfill the needs of every student who applies in one form or another. The college offers special counseling, testing, and tutoring services to help a student maintain his academic eligibility and participates fully in the veterans' tutoring program.

High school English 4 units, social studies 2, foreign language 2, mathematics 2, science 2. Bachelor of Science degree requires high school mathematics 4 units and science 4. Interview recommended. Basis for selection: Primary criteria for admissions are student's academic record and class rank. Generally speaking, class rank in at least top 40% required for realistic consideration. Test scores and recommendations rank next in importance. Special consideration given to minority students; however, since special programs are not available, academic achievement still an important criterion. Middle 50% of applicants accepted for admission had SAT-verbal scores between 480 and 530 and SAT-mathematical scores between 500 and 600. Application fee: $15, may be waived for applicants with financial need. Application procedures: Closing date for applications March 15, applicants notified of decisions on a rolling admissions basis. CRDA. Transfer applicants: About 60 apply annually, and 60 are accepted. No transfer student allowed to apply before college evaluates transcript material; therefore, all applicants are conditional. Transfer students must accumulate 60 credit hours with this institution to receive degree.

STUDENT LIFE. Freshman class: 211 men, 192 women. 65% from Pennsylvania, 75% live on campus. 25% commune, 1% from minority backgrounds. Middle 50% of enrolled freshmen have SAT-verbal scores between 450 and 550 and SAT-mathematical scores between 500 and 600. 50% of incoming freshmen rank in top 20% of their high school class and 90% are in the top 40%. Programs: Pre-law.

FINANCIAL AID. Aid offered: Grants, loans, jobs. NSLDS, SEOG, CSSP, Nursing Loan and Scholarship Program. 38% of offered freshman applicants were judged to have need; all of these were offered aid; 35% of these were offered the full amounts they were estimated to need. Basis for selection: Primary basis for awarding aid is need. Factors such as class rank and test scores determine distribution of certain specialized scholarships. Certain scholarship funds have been given to college for specific benefit of minority students. Application procedures: Closing date for applications April 1, applicants notified of decisions on a rolling basis, recipients of aid offers must reply within a reasonable amount of time. PSC required. Transfer students: Transfers from 2-year colleges who have completed degree work are eligible for all forms of financial aid. Transfers from 4-year schools are only eligible to receive loan money during first semester.
