This bibliography represents a collection of 1,300 book volumes and audiovisual materials collected by the Luzerne County Community College Library in support of the college's Hotel and Restaurant Management curriculum. It covers such diverse topics as advertising, business practices, decoration, nutrition, hotel law, insurance, landscaping, health standards and air conditioning, as well as food service and related technologies. Although more than half of the references are available through regular trade publishers, many of the references come from a wide range of small, independent, and relatively obscure publishers. Materials are cross-referenced by curriculum topic: fundamentals food, hotel and restaurant accounting, food sanitation, introduction to hospitality industry, nutrition and menu planning, food purchasing, quantity food preparation, hotel-motel operations, property management and housekeeping, layout of food service equipment, beverage operations, merchandizing for the hospitality industry, meat analysis, food vending, food and labor cost control, and related topics. Many of the references are included under several topic headings. The college's Hotel and Restaurant Management curriculum is briefly described. (NMM)

INTRODUCTION

Luzerne County Community College, Nanticoke, Pennsylvania is one of the newer colleges in the country, having opened its doors to its first students in October, 1967. Its library, however, already contains one of the finest collections of books available for support of a Hotel and Restaurant Management Program.

The College's Hotel and Restaurant Curriculum closely follows the recommendations of the Committee on the Junior College Curriculum for the Public Hospitality Industries, Council on Hotel, Restaurant, and Institutional Education (CHRIE). The program is designed to prepare students for middle management positions in the hospitality industry.

The primary purpose of this program is to prepare students for immediate employment upon completion of studies leading to the Associate in Applied Science Degree. (If they so desire, students may choose a one-year course of study leading to the Certificate of Specialization. In some instances, certain courses may be accepted for advanced standing in transfer to a four-year college or university).

To provide the student with a practical working knowledge of the various activities found within the public hospitality industry, about half the curriculum is devoted to the basic principles of hotel and restaurant operation and management. Liberal arts-sciences and basic business account for the other half. In addition, a number of hours of work experience in the hospitality industry is required. Subject matter content is supplemented with visual aids, guest lecturers, seminars, laboratory work, field trips, and the ever-vital library assignments such as term papers, abstracts and research reports.
The Luzerne County Community College Library contains an estimated 1,300 book volumes and receives 18 periodicals relating to the public hospitality field. The collection takes on added significance as it represents the most complete and comprehensive collection of its kind in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Although the books and periodicals are primarily for student use, the College has adopted a policy of making them available to representatives of the hotel and restaurant industry in the area. Those affiliated with the industry may visit the College library to do research or to borrow materials for study. Persons located outside Luzerne County have access to the literature on an inter-library loan program through local public and educational libraries. (See page ____ for further details)

The references listed on the following pages represent the hotel and restaurant resource materials cataloged at the Luzerne County Community College Library. A quick preview of the titles shows the literature includes many practical "how-to-do-it" books for the practitioner. There are, in addition, books of a highly technical nature, dealing with such areas as frozen food technology, nutrition, and the like. Only a representative selection of cookbooks is listed, and these are regional in character.

The scope of the literature, consistent with the courses taught at Luzerne County Community College, includes such diverse topics as advertising, business practices, decoration, nutrition, hotel law, insurance, landscaping, health standards and air conditioning, as well as food service and other related technologies.

More than half the references are available through regular trade publishers; many of the others, however, come from a wide range of small, independent, and relatively obscure publishers. For bibliographic access to the latter group, one should investigate the periodical literature of the field (several titles are listed below), announcements and bibliographies from various trade and business organizations, and government documents.

This bibliography represents a balance between fairly recent titles and older titles—many still in print. It should be recognized, however, that Hotel and Restaurant Management is a relatively new field of study; the technologies involved are barely out of their infancies. Purchase of older titles should be weighed carefully against the possibility that their usefulness will be short-lived in light of new developments in the field. Caution is also advised in the acquisition of a great many cookbooks, which add bulk but little substance to a collection.

Some periodicals containing bibliographic and review information are: American Automatic Merchandiser; Cooking for Profit; Food Service; Food Technology; Cornell Hotel and Restaurant Administration Quarterly; Hospitality, Food and Lodging; Gourmet; Institutions; Volume Feeding Management.

The National Restaurant Association is another important source of literature in the field, as is the Council on Hotel and Institutional Education (Ithaca, New York).
