The product of a year's search through numerous selection aids, catalogs, conference exhibits, book stores, shops at Arizona historical sites, etc., this compilation presents both instructional and promotional non-print materials relative to Arizona. Procedures for procuring materials, annotations, and bibliographic information (source, date of development, price, length, etc.) are presented for the following: 16mm films (90 citations); 8mm films (2 citations); super 8mm filmloops (26 citations); cassettes (76 citations); records (48 citations); photos, prints, posters, citations); cassettes (76 citations); records (48 citations); photos, prints, posters, charts, and study prints (24 citations); Arizona maps (25 citations); Arizona flags (13 citations); miscellaneous (11 citations, including book returns, bookmarks, foods, microfilm, place mats, relief model kits, and stereo picture reels). These materials deal with a variety of subjects including Arizona American Indian peoples and cultures, Arizona geographical and geological phenomena (the Grand Canyon, the desert, the Petrified Forest, etc.), and various Arizona related historical and biographical data. Entries are derived from materials developed principally during the 1960's and 1970's. (JC)

FOREWORD

What a pleasure the compilation of this list has been! This listing of non-book materials relating to Arizona is the product of a year’s search through numerous selection aids, catalogs of all kinds, exhibits at conferences, book stores, and shops at Arizona historical sites, etc. The list is organized into sections according to format. Each section may stand alone and thus be updated more easily. The project has been adopted as an official Bicentennial project by the Arizona Bicentennial Commission. What better time for us to build our collections of Arizona materials and to alert ourselves and others to those items available on a loan or rental basis?

Users will undoubtedly find errors, but please be kind in your criticism and bear in mind that the list was compiled by one individual, who, after receiving repeated requests for sources of Arizona materials, sought to fill a void. Original plans were to preview all items, but the task was not practical and perhaps even impossible. I tried to provide as complete a list as possible to save librarians and teachers hours and hours of time in their searches for Arizona materials. INCLUSION DOES NOT INDICATE THAT THE ITEM IS RECOMMENDED BY THE ARIZONA DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. Items entered last fall have probably had a price change, complete information was often not available. If you find one new item for your school which will enrich the students’ studies and help to foster an understanding and love for our exciting state, then my purpose was fulfilled.

Arizona materials are all around you – a piece of petrified wood, a cradle board or model of a hogan purchased at a trading post, a framed dye plant display, rock and mineral collections assembled by students, photographs and slides taken by students and teachers, growing cacti, prints from outdated historical calendars, arrowheads and pottery pieces discovered in your community... the only limits are your imagination and alertness.

Good viewing, good listening, and bon appetit!

ARIZONA ADVENTURE
23 min. sd. color
Some 3500 historical still photographs and diaramas used, most from the Buehman collection in the Arizona Historical Society. Fast paced, iconographic technique used, purpose is to sell Arizona history to students – not to teach it. Places state’s historical events into mainstream of U.S. history.
Source: ADE, AMA, ASU, NAU
Many of these films are available from the film cooperatives based at our three state universities. Each has its own rules and restrictions. As a rule, films are loaned only to members of the cooperatives.

The Library Extension Service does NOT loan films to schools, but does loan to individuals and organizations through the public libraries throughout the state. Here is an excellent opportunity for school personnel to invite the librarian of the local public library to present a program with the desired film in the school.

In this list, the "source" indicates the agency from which the film may be borrowed or rented. If there is a charge for rental, the fee is indicated.

During the Bicentennial Year, there will be numerous films on Arizona history produced locally for TV. The local TV stations are most cooperative and willing to provide video cassettes of these films at cost to schools. Sometimes arrangements must be made in advance.

Phoenix addresses are listed for such sources as the Arizona Bank and the First National Bank. Schools in other Arizona communities should request the films from local branches which will obtain the films for them.

Films from such sources as Association Sterling Films, Shell Oil Company, the U.S. Department of Interior, etc., should be booked far in advance.

If school districts have outdated films relating to Arizona in their collections and wish to dispose of them, it is suggested that they be contributed to the Arizona Historical Society or the Arizona Room of the Hayden Library at Arizona State University.
