A5a. What is the name of the state agency?

A6. How many case workers are employed in (R's UNIT)?

CASE WORKERS

A7. Does (UNIT) have responsibilities other than those related to child abuse and neglect?

1. YES

5. NO → TURN TO P. 3, SECTION B

A7a. What are they?

A7b. Do any of the case workers deal exclusively with cases of child abuse and neglect?

1. YES

5. NO → GO TO A7d

A7c. How many?

A7d. In general, what proportion of total casework time and effort goes to matters related to child abuse and neglect?

_ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _
SECTION B: CASE IDENTIFICATION

B1. These next few questions concern the number of cases of child abuse and neglect that come to the attention of your agency and how you learn about them. If you have these figures somewhere we would appreciate your looking them up.

During the last year for which you have figures, how many cases of child abuse and neglect were referred or reported to (UNIT)? (By cases we mean number of children.)

INTERVIEWER CHECKPOINT A:

1. If R cannot conveniently look up the following figures at this point, ask to leave a case report sheet for him to mail to you later. Go over each item with R to be sure he understands them and then go on to B6.

2. If R can furnish the figures now, continue with B2.

B2. How many families did that involve? ____________________ FAMILIES

B3. What year was that? (In what months did it begin and end?)

FROM ____________________ MONTH ____________________ YEAR

TO ____________________ MONTH ____________________ YEAR

INTERVIEWER CHECKPOINT B:

1. One or more cases reported 5. No cases reported → TURN TO P. 5, B6

B4. How many or approximately what percent of the children were considered cases of abuse and how many neglect?

ABUSE ____________________ CASES or ________ %

NEGLECT ____________________ CASES or ________ %
B5. (CARD J) We are interested in how you learn about cases of child abuse and neglect. How many (or what percent) of all cases you mentioned did (UNIT) first learn about from each of these sources?

Public agencies should stay out of the relations between parents and their children.

E2. It is therapy that parents need, not punishment.

E3. Economic need is the most frequent reason people neglect their children.

E4. Conflicts between therapeutic services and law enforcement activities cannot be reconciled.

E5. Physicians who are known to report cases of mistreatment of children lose the confidence of their patients.

E6. Most parents who mistreat their children do it because of ignorance about child rearing.

E7. The rights of children have long been neglected in favor of parental rights.

E8. Too many children are mistreated in the name of discipline.

E9. People who mistreat their children should have their parental rights terminated.

E10. Treatment for parents who mistreat their children is largely ineffectual.
E11. Agencies are not given sufficient resources to deal effectively with child abuse and neglect.

E12. In spite of mistreatment, the best place for children is with their parents.

E13. It's difficult to say what is and what is not child mistreatment.

E14. Parents who mistreat their children are sick, not criminals.

E15. People have every right to discipline their children any way they see fit.

E16. Public agencies are doing all that can be done in regard to child abuse and neglect.

E17. It's difficult to determine when parents should have their children returned.

E18. Control of child abuse and neglect is not a feasible goal.

E19. We just don't know enough to deal effectively with problems of child mistreatment.

E20. In dealing with child mistreatment, law enforcement efforts should not be mixed with service programs.
E21. Now I would like to ask you about the causes of child mistreatment. What kinds of people are likely to abuse their children and why?

SECTION B: CASE IDENTIFICATION

B1 These next few questions concern the number of cases of child abuse and neglect that come to the attention of your school system and how you learn about them. If you have these figures someplace we would appreciate your looking them up.

During the last year for which you have figures, how many cases of child abuse and neglect were there among the pupils in this system? (By cases I mean number of children.)

INTERVIEWER CHECKPOINT A:

1. IF R CANNOT CONVENIENTLY LOOK UP THE FOLLOWING FIGURES AT THIS POINT, ASK TO LEAVE A CASE REPORT SHEET FOR HIM TO MAIL TO YOU LATER. GO OVER EACH ITEM WITH R TO BE SURE HE UNDERSTANDS THEM AND THEN GO ON TO B7a.

2. IF R CAN FURNISH THE FIGURES NOW, CONTINUE WITH B2.

E2. It is therapy that parents need, not punishment.

E3. Economic need is the most frequent reason people neglect their children.

E4. Conflicts between therapeutic services and law enforcement activities cannot be reconciled.

E5. Physicians who are known to report cases of mistreatment of children lose the confidence of their patients.

E6. Most parents who mistreat their children do it because of ignorance about child rearing.

E7. The rights of children have long been neglected in favor of parental rights.

E8. Too many children are mistreated in the name of discipline.

E9. People who mistreat their children should have their parental rights terminated.

E10. Treatment for parents who mistreat their children is largely ineffectual.

E11. Agencies are not given sufficient resources to deal effectively with child abuse and neglect.

E12. In spite of mistreatment, the best place for children is with their parents.

E13. It's difficult to say what is and what is not child mistreatment.

E14. Parents who mistreat their children are sick, not criminals.

E15. People have every right to discipline their children any way they see fit.

E16. Public agencies are doing all that can be done in regard to child abuse and neglect.

E17. It's difficult to determine when parents should have their children returned.

E18. Control of child abuse and neglect is not a feasible goal.

E19. We just don't know enough to deal effectively with problems of child mistreatment.

E20. In dealing with child mistreatment, law enforcement efforts should not be mixed with service programs.
E21. Now I would like to ask you about the causes of child mistreatment. What kinds of people are likely to abuse their children and why?

E22. And what kinds of people are likely to neglect them, and why?

E11. Agencies are not given sufficient resources to deal effectively with child abuse and neglect.

E12. In spite of mistreatment, the best place for children is with their parents.

E13. It's difficult to say what is and what is not child mistreatment.

E14. Parents who mistreat their children are sick, not criminals.

E15. People have every right to discipline their children any way they see fit.

E16. Public agencies are doing all that can be done in regard to child abuse and neglect.

E17. It's difficult to determine when parents should have their children returned.

E18. Control of child abuse and neglect is not a feasible goal.

E19. We just don't know enough to deal effectively with problems of child mistreatment.

E20. In dealing with child mistreatment, law enforcement efforts should not be mixed with service programs.
E21. Now I would like to ask you about the causes of child mistreatment. What kinds of people are likely to abuse their children and why?

E22. And what kinds of people are likely to neglect them, and why?

Public agencies should stay out of the relations between parents and their children.

E2. It is therapy that parents need, not punishment.

E3. Economic need is the most frequent reason people neglect their children.

E4. Conflicts between therapeutic services and law enforcement activities cannot be reconciled.

E5. Physicians who are known to report cases of mistreatment of children lose the confidence of their patients.

E6. Most parents who mistreat their children do it because of ignorance about child rearing.

E7. The rights of children have long been neglected in favor of parental rights.

E8. Too many children are mistreated in the name of discipline.

E9. People who mistreat their children should have their parental rights terminated.

E10. Treatment for parents who mistreat their children is largely ineffectual.
