The social studies unit about Basque people in Nevada integrates activities in history, geography, math, and political science for grades one through seven. Goals are to instill knowledge of Basque culture and influence in Nevada, encourage attitudes of cooperation and responsibility, and develop skills in research and group interaction. A major section of the unit outlines learning activities and integrated activities in areas of Basque history, influence in Nevada, art, music, and dance; language and literature; family structure; and industry and sports. These include visits from guest speakers, performing a mock naturalization ceremony, learning native dances, making costumes, comparing Basque and English alphabets, and visiting a sheepherder's outpost. Plans for presenting a Basque festival as a culminating activity are given. Another major section of the book contains resource materials for the activities outlined in the previous section. The materials include a map of the Basque sheep industry in Nevada, songs, rubbings of tree carvings, the Basque alphabet, a play, paperdoll cutouts, and a design for making a beret. (AV)

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Gratitude is an inadequate term in expressing our appreciation to the following people. Through their unselfish cooperation we compiled the materials necessary for completing this unit dedicated to the Basques of Nevada:

- Our families;
- Interested Basque members of the community;
- Interested non-Basque members of the community;
- Fellow teachers of Nevada;
- Faculty and Staff of the University of Nevada, Reno;
  College of Education
  Basque Studies Program
  University of Nevada Press
  Foreign Language Department
  Media Center
- Children of the Early Learning Center, University of Nevada, Reno; and
- Nevada State Department of Education, Carson City, Nevada.

The basic outline for a Basque Teaching Unit was done by the authors as a course requirement for Methods of Teaching the Social Studies, Rosella Linskie, Ph.D., Professor of Curriculum and Instruction, University of Nevada, Reno. The outline was later revised and rewritten as a teaching unit to encompass the Basque community for the entire state.
INTRODUCTION

The Basques existed long before we became residents of Nevada. However, our exposure to the Basque people in our respective states of Washington and Florida had been rather thin. We do not recall the inclusion of the word "Basque" on a hotel or restaurant sign indicating the pride of ethnic origin such as that shown in the communities of Nevada. It is this ethnic pride which first intrigued us. Planning a social studies mini-unit outline became a difficult task. The Basques, a cultural component of the State of Nevada, inspired the researchers to seek answers in many directions during their quest for material.

"The mystery surrounding the origins and history of the Basque race, the difficulty of their tongue, and the great reserve which they display in all their contacts with the outside world, a reserve to which is due, in all probability their survival as a race, have invested them with an air of remoteness and woven around them an atmosphere of romance."

We have found this characteristic of independence and pride of origin to have been transmitted from generation to generation without regard to location. The Basques of Nevada show these qualities in a minute's conversation. Travel to the "New World" could not have been possible without the inner security of the strong Basque personality. One example of this inner strength is the ability to be a shepherd on a range in Nevada. The vastness of the area occupied by a Basque and his flock would be an impossible habitat for the average person.

The original Basque immigrants came here with a dream of earnings beyond their imagination. Nowhere in Basque country could the vastness of the sagebrush and desert of Nevada be envisioned. However, their indenture was thus and they fulfilled their promise, returned home, and once again placed themselves in the employ of a rancher; the cycle would then be repeated. From these early voyagers have been established identically proud Nevada citizens.

To understand one's heritage is a part of the richness of living. The Basque people have this understanding and therefore are exciting, vibrant people. There has been much accomplished by the Basques. However, if you ask the average Nevadan, he associates them primarily with the sheep industry.

It is our purpose to enlighten the youngsters in class with guests bringing informative and human interest tales of their Basque culture; interesting activities; and resources from available sources. We shall hope to instill interest in the Basque people of Nevada and thereby prompt the class to study and enjoy a most vital nationality, strong reminders of transplanted people who have enriched us by their presence.

A. KNOWLEDGE GOALS

1. At the completion of the unit students will have acknowledged information of the history and origin of the Basques, one of Nevada's outstanding ethnic groups.
2. Through the study of the Basque character, students will understand the personality of the Basque culture.
3. Students will have a knowledge of the Basque family structure.
4. Knowledge will be attained of the Basque influence in Nevada and Basque involvement in areas of industry, arts and professions.

B. ATTITUDE GOALS

1. The class will become familiar with and develop an understanding of the individualism, traditionalism, and nationalism of the Basque culture.
2. Through their awareness of the Basque heritage, the class will develop a sense of respect for the ideals of this proud people.
3. By socialization, the class will be extending attitudes and strengthening values through learning the importance of cooperation and individual responsibility.

C. SKILLS GOALS

1. The class will explore language through the use of records, tapes and language books emphasizing the unique organization of the Basque language.
2. Listening skills will be strengthened by appearances of interesting speakers.
3. Oral questioning skills will be improved by many short questioning periods following guest speakers, listening to tapes and records, or classmates' oral reports.
4. Creative writing will be encouraged.
5. Group Interaction: Socialization will be necessary for accomplishing the unit's plan, e.g., information gathered stimulated by a Problem Census.
6. Research Skills: Information banks will be filled through research.
7. Following directions is an important skill: Learning dances, music, and games are only successful through following directions.
8. Construction skills will be developed through learning projects.
9. Evaluative thinking will be instilled.
10. Role-playing, through conceptualization is a valuable skill.
A. VISUAL

1. A display of books, travel folders, maps, artifacts, realia, intriguing to children, e.g., Pelota equipment and costumed dolls would be set up in class for a Monday morning introduction to the unit on the Basques.

2. A film or slides without sound could be shown and thereby curiosity will be aroused in the class. (Suggested audio-visual materials are available, refer to the resource guide.) Following the presentation a Problem Census would begin the investigative outline. An example of this suggested approach follows in Section III.

3. A Bulletin Board covered with interesting pictures, maps, etc., would be initiated with the children adding to it as the unit progresses. When completed it would represent a phase of Basque life. Groups could work together gathering materials and using them in an original scheme. Perhaps a puzzle arrangement could be used with each bit of information fulfilling a necessary required space until the jigsaw has been completed.

B. AUDIO

1. Guest speakers of Basque origin are a wealth of untapped resources and should be encouraged to visit the class.

2. Speakers of non-Basque origin who have visited the Basque country and can share invaluable experiences.

III. PROBLEM CENSUS

This is an effective method by which students submit questions categorized into topic areas. Concluding a series of motivational sessions, the census method was field-tested with students in the first through seventh grades. The questions on the following pages were submitted by the students. The variety of questions depends on your class. Encourage creativity and be prepared!

IV. UNIT ACTIVITIES OUTLINE

A. This section includes the unit outline which integrates curriculum areas during periods of group study.

B. Following is a key to the numbering of resource and bibliographic materials suggested for use in the unit activities.

RESOURCE GUIDE KEY

- R1 - 24  SUGGESTED RESOURCES
- B1 - 36  SUGGESTED BIBLIOGRAPHY
- V1 - 5   FIELD TESTED VISUAL AIDS
- A1 - 8   FIELD TESTED ACTIVITIES

We would like to emphasize that this is only a suggested outline and can be extended to meet the needs of the individual classroom.
OBJECTIVE: At the completion of the unit students will have information of the history and origins of the Basques. Knowledge will be attained of the provincial structure of the Basque country.

ENABLING LEARNING ACTIVITIES

   a. Have a guest speaker. Following the speaker have an oral questioning period. (R1, R2, R4, R6, R11)

INTEGRATED ACTIVITIES

1. Geography.
   a. Study navigation charts. (R20)
   b. Study globe. (R13)
   c. Make a relief map.

ENABLING LEARNING ACTIVITIES

b. Read various historical stories available. Use the information with role playing. Choose one of the following:

(1) Military history event.
(2) Personages in history, e.g., Magellan's navigator Del Cano.
(3) Basque mariner story (B34) (R11, R10, B11, B12, B15, B29)

c. Study the history of the Basque flag. (R10, R11, B31)

2. Present day Basques.

a. Local Basque Club speaker will explain provincial structure and meaning of Zazpiak Bat. (R1, R9)

b. Maps will be viewed showing provinces. (V1, R11)

c. Groups will study French and Spanish provinces by using travel folders.

(1) Will plan a trip to one.
(2) Each group will present a trip plan and reasons for choice based on research. (R11, R13, B13)

INTEGRATED ACTIVITIES

2. Political Science.

a. Compare democracy of early Basque government to our form of democracy. (B11)

b. Study present day government of both Spanish and French Basque Provinces by collecting news articles. Make comparisons. (R11, R22, B31, B13, B34)

c. Set up role playing in a theoretical convention with members of all Provinces represented.

3. Philosophy

a. Investigate importance of religious figures in early history of Basques through historical accounts. (R7, R11, B10, B13, B34)

b. Discussion period follows emphasizing importance of the Church today.
BASQUE INFLUENCE IN NEVADA

OBJECTIVE
Knowledge will be attained of the early immigrants from the Basque Province and how they influenced the early history of Nevada. Emphasis can be placed on the continued Basque influence on present-day Nevada.

OBJECTIVE: Knowledge will be attained during this unit of the importance of art, music and dance to the Basque culture.

ENABLING LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. Music.
   a. Basque music on tapes and cassettes will be played for the class. (R9, R11, R13).
   b. Construct a txistu (a Basque flute). (R17)
   c. Records and tapes can be played of Basque music during art period. A simple song with Basque words can be learned by the class. (R1, R9, R11, R13, V3, V3a)

2. Art.
   a. Explanation of the use of the swastika in Basque decorations. (A10, B9, B14)
   b. Construct a Basque swastika, applying individual color schemes.
   c. Examine examples of Basque tree carvings. (V4)
   d. Rubbings can be executed by using simple materials.
   e. Silhouettes of Balsa wood or recycled materials can be constructed, e.g., styrofoam trays, plastic bottles, foil, etc.

INTEGRATED ACTIVITIES

1. Home Economics.
   a. Make a Basque Costume (dance) for the girls. (R1, R11, R15, R22, A5)
   b. Make a beret for boys. (A2)

2. Language Arts and Drama.
   a. Read the story of the Basque beret. (B19)
   b. Impersonate a famous character known by a hat, e.g., Charlie Chaplin, Napoleon.

Note: Music, dance and all other art forms will be integrated whenever possible.
LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

OBJECTIVES:
1. At the completion of this unit the students will have been exposed to the Basque language and its uniqueness.
2. The students will have a knowledge of Basque literature.

ENABLING LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. Language.
   a. The students will study the Basque alphabet in comparison to their own alphabet. (A1, R11, R17, B34)
   b. At the beginning of the unit, the students can begin a Basque word bank. From the word bank, students will construct a Basque dictionary (complete with definitions, illustrations, and phonetic spelling). (R17)
   c. Needlepoint on burlap will be made using familiar Basque phrases, such as Welcome, Good Morning, etc. (R1, R9, R11, R15, A4)

2. Literature.
   a. Review several Basque children's books. (R11, R23)
   b. Students can set up a Basque reading center in the classroom. (B6, B15, B22, B26, B28, R11, R19, R23)

INTEGRATED ACTIVITIES

1. English and Foreign Language combined.
   a. Review various dictionaries, both English and foreign. (R23)
   b. Compare the English to foreign and foreign to English translations.

2. Creative Writing.
   a. Students can create their own original tales, incorporating writing skills, oral language, and creative drawing. (R22, B6, B28, A3)
   b. Students can compile their tales into a class book.
OBJECTIVES:

1. At the completion of this unit the students will have a knowledge of the Basque home as an architectural structure in the Basque Land and they will have knowledge of how the Basque family reflects the character of the Basque culture.

2. Students will have a knowledge of the Basque food as an important part of the Basque life.
ENABLING LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. Basque Home:
   a. Review magazines and folders with pictures of the typical Basque house. (R1, R9, R11, R15, R18, B9, B13, B14, B34)
   b. Construct a diorama depicting the Basque house, both exterior and interior settings. (B9)

2. Family:
   a. Students can read passages from Robert Laxalt’s In a Hundred Graves: A Basque Portrait and Sweet Promised Land. (B19, B20)
   b. Travel folders, festival articles, actual photographs taken at a Basque festival and magazines enable students to study the traditional dress. (Students should take into account regional differences.) (R1, R11, R15, R18, R24, B14)
   c. Design a Basque costume doll indicating regional preference. (B14)

3. Food:
   a. A guest speaker from a Basque club can speak to the students on the traditions of the Basque food. (R1, R7, R9)
   b. Juan Maguna is available for Basque food demonstrations.
   c. Students can study a series of Basque cookbooks. (R7, R9, R12, B28, B33, B35)
   d. Students can prepare a typical Basque food in class. (R7, B28, B33)
   e. Students can construct a Basque cookbook of Basque dishes studied.

INTEGRATED ACTIVITIES

1. Drama and Music:
   a. Play various roles using hats as symbols, e.g., construction worker, cowboy, nurse, stewardess. (R6, B19)
   b. Create an original song using Basque words. (V3, V3a)

2. Math:
   a. Use recipes to determine proportions, quantities, and amounts.
   b. Determine the prices of groceries to be used in the Basque recipes.

3. English and Art:
   a. Students can collect and draw pictures to illustrate their cookbooks.
OBJECTIVES:
1. At the completion of this unit, students will have a knowledge of the various Basque industries in Nevada and will have a knowledge of how the Basques adapted these industries to suit the Nevada terrain.
2. Knowledge will be attained of the importance of the Basque physical strength and the use of the same in their athletic events.
ENABLING LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. Industry.
   a. A representative of a Basque Club can speak to the students on the various Basque industries in Nevada. (R1, R9, R15)
   b. Plan a field trip to a sheepherder's outpost.
      While there, students will have an opportunity to interview the shepherd. (R1, R12, R15, R21, R24)
   c. Read the article in the July '74 issue of Sunset Magazine. (V2, B32)
   d. Design a mural depicting the various Basque industries in Nevada using the information gathered.

2. Adaptation.
   a. Compare the physical features of Nevada with those of the Basque Land using two area maps.
      (R11, V1)
   b. Using a variety of travel folders, study the different industries of the Basque Land and their locations. (R11, R15, R18)
   c. Construct a relief map of Nevada and indicate the Basque industries located there.

3. Physical Strength.
   a. Study the various Basque Festival events; e.g., wood cutting, granite ball lift. (R12, R14, R16, R17, R22, B2, B7, B9, B13, B14, B23)
   b. Study the National sport of the Basque country and its adaptation in Nevada. (B5)

INTEGRATED ACTIVITIES

1. Math.
   a. Estimate the amount of wool a sheep will yield when sheared. (R1, R24, B32)
   b. Estimate the amount of wool yielded during shearing time by a flock of sheep.
   c. Determine the amount earned by a Basque hotel owner during a Basque Festival time. (R12)
   d. Calculate the area size of the Basque Land as compared to the size of Nevada.

2. Physical Education.
   a. Learn to play handball.
   b. Study the rules of Pelote. (B14)
   c. Compare Pelote to Jai Alai. How are they similar? Different?
A Basque mini-festival will be the culminating activity. Not only will it be enjoyable, but also a continuing learning experience. To be sure the class will use all its' accrued knowledge; they will plan the festival. By observing, and directing when requested, much information can be gathered by the teacher as to the success of the previous weeks.

It will be suggested that the class share the festivities with their parents. An invitation can be sent. Festival activities are chosen from favorites collected during the unit and should be child directed. For example, the following list will give ideas as to the variety appropriate for the festival.

1. Athletics
   a. Weight lifting with weights adapted to grade level.
   b. Bota contest.
   c. Handball contest.

2. Musical
   a. Records and tapes can be played to provide background music.
   b. Children can sing Basque songs.
   c. Txistu and drum players can play the instruments they've made in class.

3. Dance
   a. Basque dances are difficult. However, a Basque dance teacher may be invited and an attempt will be made to learn one or two steps before the festival.
   b. The class may try to teach the invited guests steps they have learned — all in the spirit of fun.

4. Art
   A display of all the art projects during the unit study gives a colorful, festive appearance.

5. Language Arts
   A short play written by the class can be given on one phase of Basque life included in the unit study.
VI. EVALUATION

Self-evaluation.

A short question form can be discussed and answered individually by the class in their chosen area of unit study. Examples of questions suitable for self-evaluation are:

1. Did I learn all I could in my subject during the Basque unit?
2. Was I cooperative with those I worked with to the best of my ability?
3. Did I choose the information carefully and effectively?
4. What new knowledge did I acquire about the Basque people?
5. Did this new knowledge change or reinforce my personal feelings about the Basque people?
6. Have I acquired more than facts working with my classmates in this unit study?

Unit-evaluation

During the evaluation of the unit, the students should keep in mind the following considerations:

1. Did we achieve our objectives?
2. Have we answered each question thoroughly?
3. Did we consider sufficient viewpoints?
4. Did our questions as well as our answers further our knowledge of the Basque people as an important ethnic group in Nevada?
BASQUE CLUB MEMBERS — The members of the Basque Clubs are a wealth of information. Contact your nearest Basque group for guidance to research personages. We have included a map in this unit as a helpful guide to the location of Nevada Basque clubs.

BILBAO, JON — Dr. Bilbao of Basque Studies at the University of Nevada, Reno is a scholarly gentleman of distinction both in the United States and the Basque Land. His research and writings are recognized as invaluable in Basque studies.

COLISHAW, NORMA — Media Center at the University of Nevada, Reno. Miss Colishaw is most generous in assisting visitors to this interesting audio-visual center. Basque music and language tapes are on file and if new materials are available, information can be obtained from her or one of her efficient staff.

DOUGLASS, WILLIAM — Basque Studies, University of Nevada, Reno. Dr. Douglass, anthropologist, author, and teacher is another very interesting member of the Basque Studies staff. With Dr. Bilbao, he has co-authored one of the most comprehensive historical volumes on Basques in the New World — published by the University of Nevada Press (title listed under B11 in Bibliography).

U.S. IMMIGRATION SERVICE — The Officer in Charge is most cooperative. He welcomes inquiries about immigration and naturalization.

LAXALT, ROBERT — One of Nevada's most noted authors and a charming gentleman. His books have brought new insight into the Basque character. The book entitled Nevada is a children's history and may be obtained through your local library, as well as others written by Mr. Laxalt.

MAGUNA, JUAN — Foreign Language Department, University of Nevada, Reno. Mr. Maguna is a visitor to our country and we are most fortunate. Arrangements can be made to have a class Basque food demonstration with accompanying commentary by Mr. Maguna.

SAGARO, EDUARDO — 1715 Tyler Way, Sparks, Nevada. Noted artist, unique metal caricatures and paintings.

BASQUE CLUBS — Contact for information to obtain display materials.

BASQUE FLAGS — P.O. Box 1496, Battle Mountain, Nevada 89820.

BASQUE STUDIES PROGRAM, UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO — For materials, information, and Traveling Modular Library (see memo from Dr. Douglass enclosed with this unit).

BASQUE RESTAURANTS — e.g., Louie's Basque Corner, Gardnerville Country Club, and others in your locality.

MEDIA CENTER, COLLEGE OF EDUCATION, UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO — Basque music and language tapes are on file.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Mesdames June Gronert and Gloria Starrett
FROM: William A. Douglass, Coordinator, Basque Studies Program
RE: Audio-visual resources for Basque studies

This is to inform you that the Basque Studies Program of the University of Nevada is currently preparing materials that should prove useful as classroom teaching aids. We anticipate producing a narrated (on tapes) slide show dealing with the Old World Basques as well as the Basque-Americans. We also plan to prepare a library module consisting of a photographic display and between twenty and thirty English-language books and articles dealing with the Basques. This will be circulated upon request to municipal libraries.

Grammatical Notes

1. The Basque alphabet consists of 29 letters.
2. The letters C, Q, V, and W do not exist in the Basque language.
3. There are no known names for the letters J and R' in Basque. The Basque language is pronounced phonetically.
4. No word will begin with the letter R or R' in Basque. Those that do are foreign and have the letter E prefix to the word. This also applies to the letters F, L, and Ts.
Materials:
- Red and black felt
- Yarn (red and black)
- Large needles
- Scissors
- Compass

Procedure:
1. Draw a 10-12 inch circle on two pieces of matching colored felt.
2. Cut out.
3. In the center of one of the felt circles, make a 7-8 inch circle and cut out. Remove the center and set aside.
4. Place the two circles of felt together. (The solid 10-12 inch circle and the hollow 10-12 inch circle.)
5. Sew the outermost edge of the circles with yarn of matching color.
6. Turn the sewed circles inside out and the beret is complete.
Once there was a little Basque girl who lived in the hills and her father owned a farm. Every day she would go down the hill to see her friend, who was in the hospital. One day she brought her some flowers and the nurse said she had checked out. So the little girl went to her house. She thanked her friend for all the flowers. And they both played and were happy that day. Then she went home for dinner.

The next day when she went to her friend's house she was gone. Then she heard she had moved away. She went home and she told her mother about the day she had had. And they were both very sad.

Her mother was sad because her friend's mother was her mother's friend.

The End

Note: This original story, written in the style of a legend, by Beth Starrett is a perfect example of the simplicity of a child's philosophy of life — note the last line.
Make an attractive wall hanging.

You will need:

- A square piece of burlap (whatever size you wish).
- Various colors of yarn.
- Assorted colors of felt.
- An embroidery or crewel needle.

Thread the needle with a strand of yarn. Using the chain stitch, embroider the words "ONGI ETORRI" (which means "Welcome" in Basque). It can be spelled one of two ways, "ONGI ETORRI" or "ONGI ETORRI." After you are done with the spelling, decorate the burlap with some felt (flowers look pretty).
• PAPERDOLLS •

Paperdolls are an excellent way of presenting geographical areas or historical periods. Students may trace or draw the figures. Costumes may be made separately, as below, or included with the figure. Costumes may also be made from construction paper or fabric with cotton or yarn for hair. Brochures may be used as a guide for costumes.

THE FESTIVAL
An Original Play

Act One

Scene One

But Mother, why can't I dance at the festival?

Maria, I've told you three times already. We'll be going to Madrid to visit your grandparents the week of the festival. Your grandparents have been waiting all year to see you. You'll just have to wait until next year to dance in the festival.

Why can't we go the week after the festival?

Maria, all the plans have been made. Stop arguing — I'm not in the mood for it!

(Maria starts crying). Maria! Either stop that or go outside! (Maria runs outside and slams the door):

Scene Two

Outside

Hi, Maria! (stopping) What's the matter?

I can't be in the festival!

But — why not?

We have to go to Madrid to visit my grandparents the week of the festival.

But Maria, we were going to dance together! We've been practicing for months!

Oh, Heidi! I — I guess you'll have to find somebody else.
HEIDI: But there's nobody who can dance as good as you!

VOICE OFFSTAGE: Heidi!

HEIDI: Oh, I have to go to practice, Maria. See you! (Heidi runs off. Maria watches her go).

MARIA: Well, I guess I'll go down to the village and see if there's any mail. (She walks to the village store and gets a few letters). Oh, here's a letter from Grandma! (She runs back up the hill a bit happier).

Scene Three

MOTHER (reading): Dear daughter Maria, my dear son Louis, Jon, and little Maria. I have decided that instead of all of you coming to see us, your grandfather and I will come to see you. In that way, we can see your festival. We look forward to seeing you. Love, Grandma.

MARIA (joyfully): Then I can be in the festival! (She kisses her parents and runs to the door).

FATHER: Where are you going?

MARIA: Down to the practice! (She slams the door again, but this time it is in happiness).

The End.

Note: Performed at the Early Learning Center, University of Nevada, Reno in December 1974 by children grades 1-3. It was enthusiastically executed and received.
ARROLLTZE MOLETA
(Potato and Chorizo or Ham Omelet)

1 tbsp. olive oil
2 medium diced potatoes
⅛ lb. diced chorizo or ham
1 thin sliced onion
½ diced green pepper
4 eggs
salt & pepper

Peel and slice the potatoes; fry slowly in olive oil. Dice chorizo, or ham, onion, and green pepper, and fry them gently along with potatoes. Season with salt and pepper. Pour in well-beaten eggs, and cook gently. Serves 4-5.

Note: Sunset Magazine presented an illustrated article featuring a Basque omelet in the July 1974 issue (pages 52-53). Basque bread is available in most Nevada communities.

BASQUE CRULLERS

1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
1 cup boiling water
1 egg
shortening for deep frying
granulated sugar

Sift the flour and salt into a mixing bowl. Add boiling water and beat thoroughly. Add the egg and continue beating until the batter is smooth and glossy. Pour the batter into a pastry tube with a medium size star tip or spoon from a teaspoon; if squeezed, the batter should be in lengths of 1 to 3 inches. Fry in hot fat (375°) until golden brown. Drain on crumpled towel and dust with sugar. Makes about 2 dozen.

Note: Simple ingredients and delicious! Ideal for classroom preparation.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

FOR THE TEACHER
March 29, 1975

Dear Nevada Teachers:

Summary of a Mini-Unit
Field Tested December 1974

A modified version of the unit, The Basques of Nevada, was field tested December 1974 with children of grades first through third attending the Early Learning Center, University of Nevada, Reno. An outline of this presentation appears on the following pages. Included with this outline are three letters of impression submitted by children participating in the unit study.

I feel a more extensive elaboration on this presentation is necessary to emphasize the stimulating effect it had on the children.

To initiate the unit, the classroom was the main focus for motivation. Two bulletin boards were displayed. The first was of the Basque Zazpiak Bat Shield and scenes of the Basque Land. The second was a display of an authentic Basque dance costume surrounded by the Basque bereis (representative of the French [black] and Spanish [red] provinces) and the traditional Basque bota (wine skin). Throughout the room were pictures of Basque dancers, travel posters, flags, the Basque swastika, and provincial scenes of the Basque Land. It should be noted that many of these displays were "self" made by use of an opaque projector and a multitude of books on the Basques. Others had been constructed by the Starrett children and served as examples of child-directed impressions of the Basque culture.

A Basque resource library was available to the children, the materials were appropriate for the primary level. A similar Basque resource center will be available for your classroom upon request through your local municipal library to the Basque Studies Program, University of Nevada, Reno.

A map of the Basque Land was mounted and easily accessible in the classroom. A similar map can be obtained by writing the Basque Studies Program, UNR at a cost of $2.00. After reviewing all of the motivational materials, the children were self-motivated through the activities which correlated with each daily presentation.

The day before Mrs. Starrett's visit to teach the children a Basque lullaby, one of the children posed an intriguing question. Since this unit was presented just prior to Christmas the question was, "How do you say Merry Christmas in Basque?" Pursuing this question further, Mrs. Starrett abandoned her original plans and presented a brief summary of the Basque celebration of Christmas. She further created a Christmas song for them incorporating the Basque word for Merry Christmas, Zorionak. The children were captivated and delighted. I feel flexibility of one's daily lesson plans is essential for the incorporation of the student's interest areas. These interest areas are essential for meaningful learning experiences.

As the children's interests heightened, more and more resource materials came into the classroom. I had written a letter of explanation of the intended unit to the parents prior to the initiation date. I feel this encouraged their interest and participation, which extensively broadened my own resources.

A slide show was presented by a representative of the Basque Studies Program, UNR and served as an excellent source of information. These slide shows will be available through the Basque Studies Program's traveling module. Refer to Dr. Douglass' memorandum for further information.

Through inquiries of local Reno Basque residents, I was fortunate to locate two Basque dancers willing to visit the classroom. Each dancer demonstrated the Hota and encouraged the children to participate in the Broom Dance. The children's immediate enthusiasm was evident in the way they attempted to master each step and coordinate that step with the varied rhythms of the Basque music. This multi-sensory experience exposed the children to Basque dances, music, and regional costumes.
In reviewing the construction of the Basque house, the class learned of the significance of the Basque swastika. An excellent Language Arts project was the coloring of the swastika and the creating of original legends or mottos to accompany the design. These creative writings demonstrated their accrued knowledge of the Basques and were placed on display throughout the room, in order that the children could share in each other's impressions.

Most impressive was the children's interpretation of Robert Laxalt's vignette known as the Basque Beret taken from his novel A Hundred Graves: A Basque Portrait. The children had an opportunity to extend their oral language skills through role playing, which encouraged creative expression coupled with the acquiring of knowledge on cultural differences.

By the time the culminating activity day came the children were "thinking Basque." This unit had become an extension of their own curiosity. A positive enthusiasm was most evident during their mini-festival.

We initiated the festival with the play, The Festival, written by Catherine Starrett, seventh grade. The cast, consisting of first through third graders, employed their ingenuity and adapted the play to express their attitudes. The Basque dances had so intrigued the cast, that they decided to conclude their performance with their interpretation of the Broom Dance. This was to the delight of classmates and invited guests.

Refreshments (Basque crullers) for the festival were prepared the day before as part of the individualized math program. Basque crullers are easy to prepare in the classroom and provide a tasty treat.

The children participated in a bota contest and were masterful in their approach to the water-filled wine skin. The experience was beneficial in extending their understanding of Basque customs. Even the finger twirling of a bottle provided the kinesthetic understanding of the terms "inner strength."

A final tribute to the Basques was the singing of the Basque Christmas song for which Mrs. Starrett played the accompaniment. On this day, there was a feeling amongst the children which was felt by all observing. That feeling was awareness of the Basques, a vibrant and inspiring people.

I was pleased that Mr. Howard of the State Department of Education, Carson City, was able to attend the mini-festival and I am most grateful for his letter of impression.

Sincerely,

June C. Gronert

  Authentic Basque beret. (To correlate with the introduction of the significance of the Basque beret.)

- THURSDAY – DECEMBER 12, 1974
  Actual photographs of the Elko Basque Festival 1974. (To correlate with the discussion of Basque sports.)

Note: These items were all donated by the children and their parents to be used as supplementary resource materials.
III. INTEGRATED ACTIVITIES

INDIVIDUALIZED READING:
- Present the Basque play, The Festival, by Catherine Starrett.

LANGUAGE ARTS:
- Play various roles using hats as symbols: police hat, nurses hat, etc.
- Make a Basque dictionary (picture). Introduce such words as: txistu, bota, Basque, ongi etorri, agur, neska and mutilla.
- Write an original legend.
- Design a Basque swastika. Have the children create their own greeting or motto for their home.

MATH:
- Using various recipes, determine quantities and proportions.
- Have the children make Basque crullers. Discuss the meaning of measurement and the effects using proper measurements have on recipe results.
- Comparing newspaper advertisements, have the children evaluate grocery prices.

ART:
- Make a Basque beret.
- Make a Basque drum.
- Construct a diorama depicting one aspect of Basque life. Encourage diversity.
- Do a Basque needlepoint on burlap, using a common Basque phrase such as Ongi Etorri (Welcome).

Mrs. June Gronert
P. O. Box 1509, #88
Reno, Nevada 89505

Dear Mrs. Gronert:

I want you to know how much I enjoyed my visit to the Early Childhood class at the university. I was especially impressed with their interest in the Basque Studies unit they just completed. It seemed to me the children had enjoyed it and picked up a few Basque words, had learned some Basque dances, and were, in general, enthusiastic about Basque culture. I was especially impressed with their adept handling of the Bota, considering that they were handicapped with the use of water.

It seems to me that your Basque Studies has several unique features and a high degree of student involvement. This was reflected in the breadth of student learning and their delight in their learning.

Again, thank you for a most enjoyable experience.

Sincerely,

Edward H. Howard

Edward H. Howard
June Gronert taught a unit. I am going to tell about it. First I am going to tell about Basque foods. We ate Basque sheepherder's bread. Next I am going to tell about the Basque origin.
First thing I am going to say is that it has sections. Another thing is that it is between France and Spain. Now I am going to tell about the language.
It is a mixture of Spanish and French. We had movies and learned a lot from them. They were good movies.
We learned some Basque songs. They were the best songs
I ever heard. I saw some Basque flags. Now I am going to make a list of the things I typed above.

Basque foods, the Basque origin, and the Basque language, and last of all, the Basque songs.

This report on the Basque was made by:

Teresa Wright

Age 7
The Basque unit was very nice. We made Basque hats called berets. I was in a play too. We used a lot of berets. We danced. I think everything was nice. I learned that Spanish women wear red skirts and the men wear red berets. I learned that the French women wear green skirts and the men wear black or brown berets.

In the Basque unit I learned about their costumes. Basque people live in two places. Some live on the rim of France, some on the rim of Spain. Illustration 1: Spanish Basques wear white dresses, red tops and skirts. Boys wear white shirts with orange hats. The hats are called ibreas. Preparation: bras! Illustrations 2 & 3: French Basques (boys) wear white suits with black bras. Other girls wear green shirts, white skirts, black tops. All Basque girls wear white caps that look like shower caps. All Basques speak a special language called "Basque." We made bras. Illustration 4: You may try it if you want to. MAKE IT WITH FELT.

Children race. Groups enter strenuous contests. Races have been noted for their strength. They will run with weights around their necks until they fall down. Illustration 1.

They play a game sort of like handball, but instead of balls they have little nuts about 1 inch around. Illustration 2.

Many bases play like dance. Men bases have echoing contests. They try to finish cutting through a log before the others do. Illustration 3.

Everyone plays hopscotch.

How do you wear a brea?

If your happy you wear it to the left side of your head. Made almost over your eye. Sad on top. Feel like joke - on right side.
MORE SPORTS & GAMES
I DO NOT REMEMBER ALL OF THEM
BUT I WILL DO MY BEST

Children, basque children, march around a pole each holding a red, white or blue string connected to the pole at the top. Soon the pole will be covered, and the children will tie their strings at the bottom. Illustration 1. June Bonnet, we call her June, taught us this unit.

After Things We Did
Movies, asked questions, Art, too. We made things, and many other things.

WHAT I THOUGHT OF THE UNIT

I liked it very much. I did not think we should go over more or thought of more questions. It was exiting. We, that is some planets of mine & me did a play on it. Everything went wonderful. Nothing I didn't like.

Sincerely Yours,
Michele Arevalo
