This is the first of four volumes devoted to reading instruction, in a series of materials for teaching English as a second language to adult nursing aide students. The two units included deal principally with survival skills. The first unit is an introduction to Mahimahi Island, the imaginary quasi-Hawaiian locale used throughout the series. The second unit deals with time concepts and teaches the student how to read a bus schedule. Each unit consists of readings interspersed with Cloze passages, comprehension questions, vocabulary exercises, lists of suggested activities, and brief lessons in grammar and usage. Pictorial aids include action illustrations, maps, and sample schedules. This volume does not deal specifically with nursing skills. (JB)

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This text could not have been written without the interest and cooperation of the PLESA students, nor without the support of the other members of the staff. I am particularly indebted to Al Hoel, who, through his leadership and creative thinking and through his authorship of Mahimahi Island and Tamarind City, contributed immeasurably to this text. For her gracious criticism of the text I am especially grateful to Marybeth Clark. For their invaluable help in the classroom, their untiring commitment to the program, and for their editorial help in spotting sentences which were awkward or otherwise unintelligible, I am indebted to our bilingual teachers, Ofelia Berzabal, Yong-Ok Park and Tanh Van Phan.

I am also grateful to Donna Brodd, Alice Watanabe and Clara Curphy of the Allied Health/Nursing Department at Kapiolani Community College, Honolulu, Hawaii.

And of course, the text would never have been produced had it not been for the typing and editorial skills of Jessiefemai Fiquerrcs, Fay Ishikawa, Sheila Mun and Diane Yoshida.

Finally, though, responsibility for any errors or omissions in the text is solely mine.

Welcome to Mahimahi Island. This reading text will be your guide to Mahimahi Island. We hope you will enjoy your time on Mahimahi. Mahimahi is a special place. It is very similar to Hawaii, but it is not Hawaii. You will learn a lot about the culture in Hawaii when you read about Mahimahi. The culture on Mahimahi is like Hawaii's. And since the official language of Mahimahi is English, you will learn about English, too.

ORGANIZATION OF THE TEXT

This reading text contains three main types of readings.

1. It has stories about Mahimahi Island.
2. It has stories and short articles about medical information you will need as a nursing aide.
3. It has readings about language to help you improve your reading.

There are also cultural explanations dealing with life in the United States. And there are some crossword puzzles and short speed exercises scattered throughout the text.

There are twelve units in the text. Each unit is organized around a central topic. The units are coordinated with the nursing aide speaking and listening texts which are also a part of this series. However, the reading text is not dependent on the other two texts. You can use this reading text quite well without either the listening or the speaking texts.

At the end of Units I, III, V, VII, IX, and XI there are review exercises. The answers for these exercises and for all the reading exercises in the text are included in the last section of this text. Therefore, you can work through the units independently. You can check your own work as you finish each unit. We do feel, however, that class discussion over the readings is very helpful. We believe you will improve faster if you use the text as a part of a reading class where there is time to discuss the readings and to ask questions.

CLOZE READINGS

Some of the readings in this text are like puzzles. There are blanks in the readings. Your task is to fill in the blanks with the missing words. These types of readings are called "cloze readings." There are all sorts of clues to help you fill in the blanks in a cloze reading. The clues... are in the reading itself. You will discover that you will know what words fit in the blanks, or you will know what kinds of words you can't figure out. Don't stop reading. Just skip that blank and keep reading. Many times you will think of missing words after you finish reading the story. So it is very important to read the stories more than once. Sometimes you may need to read the stories three or four times to be sure you have filled in all the words.

The purpose of the cloze readings is to help you become a better reader. The cloze procedure will help you understand that reading is not a matter of looking at each word individually.
Reading means that you can understand the meaning of groups of words. Reading also means that you can make predictions about what is coming. So, usually, even if a word is missing, you can still understand or at least, guess at the meaning of a passage.

It is important that you not be afraid to guess. You will find in vocabulary work and in reading that guessing often helps you understand meaning. Now, we don't mean wild guessing, but intelligent guessing based on what you know about English. Even if you feel you know very little about English, we believe the cloze readings will increase your knowledge about the English language and also help you develop valuable skills which you can use when you do other things.

There are a few other things you need to know about the cloze readings. Refer to Reading 1 as you read the following points.

1. The first sentence of a cloze is complete.
2. Beginning with the second sentence every fifth word is left out.
3. If the missing word starts with a consonant, the consonant is given. Then there is a blank for each missing letter in the word.
4. If the missing word starts with a vowel, there is no first letter given. There is a blank for each missing letter.
5. The cloze readings have numbers, for example, Reading 1, Reading 1A. (There are some readings labeled "Short Readings." These are not numbered.)
6. Pairs of readings with the same number (1, 1A) are about the same topic. Reading 1A is a more difficult reading, so reading 1 should be done first.
A complete reading without any blanks is printed after each cloze reading. Try to fill in all the blanks in a cloze reading before you check the complete reading.

TRANSLATIONS

You have a translation manual which you will use with your reading textbook. Your translation manual contains translations of some of the material in the textbook. Each unit in the reading textbook starts with a preview. These previews are translated in your translation manual. There are also translations for words and phrases from each unit. In addition, as you read your textbook, you will see (Tr) after some of the material. The (Tr) indicates information that has been translated and that you can find in your translation manual. Four languages have been translated. There are translations in Ilocano, Tagalog, Korean, and Vietnamese. Check your translation manual for the unit previews and vocabulary, and whenever you see (Tr) in your reading text.

MAPS

There is just one more thing before you begin. There are three maps in this text. You will need to refer to them for some of the readings. There is a map of Mahimahi Island at the end of Reading 1 in the first unit. There is a map of Tamarind City in the middle of Volume 1 of this text. There is a map of greater Tamarind City in Unit II.

Now you are ready to begin. We hope you will enjoy your work in this text. And, especially, we hope you will find that the assignments do help to improve your reading skills.

Unit I is an introduction to Mahimahi Island and Tamarind City. It is also an introduction to some of the people who live on Mahimahi Island. As you read the stories and do the exercises, you will become acquainted with the people on Mahimahi Island. You will also see how the text is arranged and what kinds of readings and exercises you will be doing as you continue to work in the text.

Besides the stories, the main language exercise for this unit is to understand how we use some common prepositions. You will work with a few of the most frequently used prepositions — in, on, at, to and toward. There is a review exercise at the end of Unit I. You should complete the review section before you go on to another unit.

The answers for all of the exercises are in the last section of this text. Check your work and correct any mistakes as you work through the unit.
Mahimahi Island is in the Pacific Ocean. It is near the islands. The Hawaiian people came to Mahimahi Island first. The island looked like a fish. The Hawaiian people named the island Mahimahi. COMPREHENSION

1. How did the Hawaiians measure the island?
2. Did they draw a map of the island?
3. Who drew the first map of Mahimahi Island?
4. Where was the map?
5. List three sources of income for the island.
6. Where do most tourists stay when they come to Mahimahi?
7. How do you think most people earn money in Poi City?
8. Where is the agricultural land located?
9. Where are the plantations located?
10. Do you think everybody on Mahimahi speaks English?
11. Do you think it is necessary to speak English in order to get a job on Mahimahi Island? Can you think of any jobs on the island where English would not be necessary?

VOCABULARY

1. Most tourists prefer to stay in hotels east of Tamarind City.

prefer - to stay -

Stay is a common verb. It means to stop or to remain in a particular place or in a particular condition for some amount of time.

2. Read the following sentences.
   a. They stay at home on weekends.
   b. They stay in the house at night.
   c. They stayed in Tamarind City.
   d. They stayed at the beach.
She stayed for dinner.

f. He stayed on the boat.

g. Young-Hee and Ohul-Soo came to Hawaii last year. Bong-Sik stayed in Korea.

h. The boys stayed clean all day.

i. Manuel stays healthy all the time.

j. Be sure the room stays neat.

In the sentences above, put an X by the sentences in which stay means to stop or remain at a place. Put a V by the sentences in which stay means to remain in a particular condition. Mark the sentences now. Then go on to the next paragraph.

Look at the sentences in which stay means to stop or remain at a place. What kind of words come after stay in the sentences?

Notice that there are small words (we call them prepositions) right after stay. These prepositional phrases after stay help us understand that we are talking about stopping or remaining in a place. Read the examples below.

a. He stayed in the bathtub for an hour.

b. She stayed at the party.

Now read the exercise sentences again. Underline the prepositional phrases.

In some stay sentences, the prepositional phrase after stay indicates a place that is not specific. Read the examples below.

She stayed on duty (for three hours).

He stayed in the Army (for five years).

Look at the sentences with stay + condition. Are the words after stay the same as with stay + place?

English in Hawaii. In Hawaiian pidgin stay is often used for the verb be when we talk about location. Read the following sentences. You will hear sentences like these in Hawaii. You probably will not see them in writing.
Talking About People and Languages

The following list contains information about how we refer to people from other countries. It also contains information about the names of languages as we refer to them in English.

You should know how to refer to your own nationality and language in English.

A person from China is Chinese, and speaks Chinese. (Many people do not know that Mandarin and Cantonese are two Chinese languages.)

A person from Japan is Japanese and speaks Japanese.

A person from Vietnam is Vietnamese and speaks Vietnamese.

A person from the Philippines is Filipino and speaks Tagalog or Ilocano. (There are many other Filipino languages.)

A person from Korea is Korean and speaks Korean.

A person from Samoa is Samoan and speaks Samoan.

A person with Hawaiian blood is Hawaiian. There is a Hawaiian language, but not many Hawaiians speak Hawaiian now. The word Hawaiian means people with Hawaiian blood. It also means the Hawaiian language.

What would we call a person from Mahimahi? If they had their own language, what would it be?

A person from Mahimahi is a ________ and speaks ________.

(Tr3)

Where he stay?
(Where is he?)

He stay da house.
(He is in the house.)

She stay Hilo.
(She is in Hilo.)

CULTURAL EXPLORATION: INTRODUCING YOURSELF AND BEING INTRODUCED

You know how to introduce yourself now. Soon you will learn how to introduce others. This is one part of English which has a formula; that is, you can memorize how to introduce yourself and others. Now you must practice introducing yourself and others until you can do it smoothly. The most important part of an introduction is to pronounce everyone's name clearly.

NAMES

Americans generally have three names—a first name, a middle name, and a last name.

A first name is the name our friends call us. It is the name we say first when we introduce ourselves. It is the name we write first when we sign our names. There are many, many first names in English. Often a son is named after his father. That is, the son has the same first name as his father. Often a daughter is named after her mother. The daughter has the same first name as her mother.

A middle name is a name that comes between a first name and a last name. Often we don't use our middle names except when we sign legal papers. Many people use only the first letter of their middle name. This first letter is called a middle initial. For example, Mary Anne Jones may sign her name Mary A. Jones. Mary's middle initial is A.

A last name is a family name. American children generally have their father's last name. A married woman usually uses her husband's family name. She does not use her own family name any more. For example, Mary Jane Smith marries Robert Allen Jones. They are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen Jones. Her legal name becomes Mary Jane Jones. Her maiden name is Smith. A woman's family name before she is married is her maiden name. (A few American women use their maiden names after marriage.)

A legal name, then, is a person's first name, middle name and last name. The first and middle names are sometimes called given names. We call them given names because our parents choose them for us and give them to us. The last name is sometimes called a surname. A full name is a person's legal name.

INITIALS

Your initials are the first letters of your given names and your last name. For example, Mary Ann Jones has the initials MAJ. Some people, usually men, use their initials like a name. For example, a person named Billy Joe might be called BJ. We often use initials when we talk about some of our Presidents. For example, FDR (Franklin Delano Roosevelt), JFK (John Fitzgerald Kennedy) and LBJ (Lyndon Baines Johnson).

NICKNAMES

A nickname is a name you use instead of your legal name. Sometimes parents give nicknames to their children. For example, a boy named William might have the nickname, Bill. A girl named Elizabeth might have the nickname, Liz.

Sometimes people have nicknames that tell something about the way they look. Usually parents do not give their children these kinds of names. Often children give nicknames to each other. For example, a boy with very blond hair might be called Cotton; or a boy who is very thin might be called Slim. Sometimes nicknames are cruel. For example, a person who wears glasses might be called Four-eyes; or a person who is fat might be called Chubby or Fatso.

Here are some common American names which parents give their children.

Many people do not use titles with their names in introductions. However, when you first meet an older person, a supervisor or a teacher, it is best to use titles.

Titles go with last names. For example, Mary Lee is Mrs. Lee if she is married. She is Miss Lee if she is not married. She is Ms. Lee if she asks you to use that title or if you don’t know whether she is married or not. She is Mary if she is a friend, or about your age, or if she is a child. She is never Miss Mary, Mrs. Mary or Ms. Mary.

Some women hairdressers use Miss with their first names when they are working. If your hairdresser does this, then, of course, it is OK to use Miss with her first name. You should not address anyone else in this way, however. It isn’t rude to address a teacher, for example, as Miss Mary, but it is incorrect and it sounds very strange.

The title for a man is Mister (Mr.). There is no title in English to indicate whether a man is married or not. It is rude to address a man as Mister without using a family name. Jim Johnson is Mr. Johnson or he is Jim if he is your age or a friend or a child. He is never just Mister.

If you don’t know a man’s family name you can address him as sir. We use sir without the family name. Usually we use sir with men who are older or who are in positions of authority. Often waiters, waitresses and clerks use sir as a term of address to customers. We do not use sir with names: Sir Cruz Sir Johnson Sir Charles — this is possible in BrE if this person has been knighted. (BrE = British English)

SHAKING HANDS

You shake hands with your right hand. People usually shake hands when they are introduced. Men usually shake hands with each other when they are first introduced. Men sometimes shake hands when they meet socially or for business even though they have already met. Good friends shake hands when they meet if they haven't seen each other in a while, perhaps two or three months. You don't shake hands with people after you meet them if you see them every day.

Women can shake hands if they want to. Generally, a man does not extend his hand to a woman unless she extends her hand first.

EYE CONTACT

Eye contact is important in introductions. Eye contact means you look into the eyes of the person you are talking to. When you say a person's name in an introduction, look at that person.

BODY SPACE

All cultures have a certain body space that speakers keep between themselves. This is not taught formally in a culture—it is learned, often unconsciously.

Americans usually stand about two to three feet apart when they talk. Try to observe Americans as they talk. You will notice the body space they keep between themselves.

THE ISLAND-WIDE BUS

READING 5

Five years ago the people of Tamarind City bought two used buses. One bus is an_____ bus. That is, one bus travels between Poi City and Tamarind City. One bus is a city-wide bus. That is, one bus travels in T_____ City.

There was lots of discussion about the bus route. Everyone agreed that the bus should bring students and workers into Tamarind City weekday morning. So one bus had to start in P_____ City and come to T_____ City. Then a bus had to take all those people back home in the evening. During the day the bus had to go back forth between Tamarind City and Poi City.

There were lots of tourists who wanted to take the bus to the beaches between Poi City and Ahi City. And there were people on Mahimahi who wanted to come to Tamarind City to shop or to see the doctor.

So everyone said that the island-wide bus should travel between Poi City and Tamarind City.

The city-wide bus route was not so easy to figure out.

VOCABULARY

When there is a word in a reading you don't know, don't stop to use a dictionary until you try to figure out what the word means. You should read the sentence the word is in and then read the full paragraph. Often you can figure out what a strange word means without a dictionary.

For example, look at paragraph 1. Look at the words island-wide and city-wide.

Now look at the two sentences that begin "That is." When you see "That is," you know that a definition or a restatement of an idea is coming.

One bus is an island-wide bus. That is, one bus travels between Poi City and Tamarind City.

One bus is a city-wide bus. That is, one bus travels in Tamarind City.

Notice that a full sentence starts after "That is." The that is sentence gives you more information. When we see that is, we know that more information is coming to help us understand the previous sentence. Often more information appears in sentences after a difficult word. The information will help you understand the word. So keep reading; don't grab a dictionary every time you see a new word. Try to figure out the meaning first.

(Tr2)

Look at a map of Oahu. List 3 cities where an island-wide bus might stop.
Look at a map of Honolulu. List 3 parts of the city where city-wide buses might stop.

VOCABULARY EXERCISE

Read the following sentences. Write a definition for the underlined word. Do not use a dictionary. (Fr3)

1. She is very optimistic. That is, she believes that only good things will happen.
   - optimistic

2. There was a large influx of immigrants into the island. That is, lots of people moved to the island.
   - influx

3. His respiration was very slow. That is, he was breathing slowly.
   - respiration

4. What do you do in your free time? That is, what do you do when you aren't busy?
   - free time

5. He's the underdog in the fight. That is, everyone believes he will lose.
   - underdog

6. There was lots of discussion. That is, the people talked a lot.
   - discussion

7. There was lots of discussion. That is, there was much discussion.
   - lots of

8. They wanted to take the bus. That is, they wanted to ride the bus.
   - to take the bus
9. They work on weekdays. That is, they never work on Saturday or Sunday.

10. They work on weekends. That is, they work on Saturday and Sunday.
THE CITY-WIDE BUS

Everyone in Tamarind City was happy about the buses. The merchants were happy. The Royal Palm Hotel owners were happy. The college students were happy. And, of course, the residents were happy.

The merchants wanted the buses to stop at their businesses. The college students wanted the buses to stop at the college. The Royal Palm Hotel owners wanted the buses to stop at their hotel. They wanted the buses to run between the airport and the hotel. The residents wanted the buses to stop near their houses. The people wanted the buses to stop at the beach.

But there were only two buses.

Finally, everyone agreed that an island-wide bus would come from Pol City, through Ahi to the western suburb of Tamarind City. Then it would travel east on Banyan Street. This bus would stop at the schools and turn north at the end of the city and west on Nene Street. The bus company would build a bus terminal and garage near the end of Nene Street, several blocks east of the spa.

The city-wide bus would start at the terminal in Tamarind City and go west on Nene Street through the western suburb. Then the bus would go east on Banyan Street and then to the terminal.
Now people can catch a bus in Poi City or in Ahi City. They can also catch a bus on Dolphin Drive and ride into Tamarind City. They can take the bus to the beaches between Ahi City and Poi City, and they can take the bus to work in Tamarind City.

Finally, everyone agreed that the island-wide bus would come from Poi City, through Ahi City to the western suburb of Tamarind City. Then it would travel east on Banyan Tree Street. This bus would stop at the schools and airport, turn north at the edge of the city and then west on Nene Street. The bus company would build a bus terminal and garage near the end of Nene Street, several blocks east of the spa.

The city-wide bus would start at the terminal in Tamarind City and go west on Nene Street through the suburb. Then the bus would go east on Banyan Tree Street and then to the terminal.

   Can people catch a bus at any other place?
14. List 3 places not mentioned in the story where people can take the bus.
VOCABULARY

Find the following words in the story. Read the paragraphs where the words are. Try to guess what the words mean. Try to define the words without using your dictionary. The sentences in this exercise contain more information to help you.

1. Most American cities have suburbs. Hawaii Kai is a suburb of Honolulu.

suburb-

2. A term is a period of time with an end. A school term is the period of time (usually months) when people are in school. A term ends at a specific time.

A terminal disease is a disease which kills a person—it ends a person's life.

terminal-

bus terminal-

3. We have some specific words for numbers. A couple means 2; a dozen means 12. Read the short dialog below. What do you think several means?

A: Do you have several books?
B: No, I have two books.
A: Do you have only one pencil?
B: No, I have several pencils.

4. The bus went back and forth between Poi-City and Tamarind City. Demonstrate on the map of Mahimahi Island how the bus is moving.

back and forth-
5. a. She is catching the bus.
   b. She is catching the bus in Poi City.
   c. She is catching the bus on Mahimahi Road.
   d. She will take the bus to town.
   e. The people in the bus are taking the bus to town.
   f. You can take the bus to Ahi City.

We use 'catch' and 'take' almost the same way in the above sentences. Often to catch a bus refers to the time when the bus is stopped and a passenger gets on the bus. To take a bus refers to the journey on the bus.

He is going to catch the bus.
They are taking the bus to the town.

Alice is very angry. She is always on time. She calls to Suzie, "Hurry up, Suzie. You're always late. Comb your hair on your own time. It's time to go! We're going to miss the bus."

"Oh, Alice, you're always in a hurry," Suzie replies. "You never have time to pass the time of day with anyone."

"Well," says Alice, "Maybe I'm behind the times, but I think being on time is important."

"Just relax, Alice," Suzie calls. "You're working overtime tonight, so it will be a long day.

"That's right, I'm being paid time and a half, too. Hurry up, Suzie, let's go!"

"All right," says Suzie. "I'm ready."

"Well, you sure take your time. Why are you so dressed up?" asks Alice.

"The time is ripe for Ben to notice me. I hope he'll show up today. Come on Alice. We're going to be late."
